The centre is designed to accommodate hockey, theatre productions and agricultural meetings. Its total show capacity is about 5,400 and the arena has hockey seating for 3,907 fans.

The building was constructed as a war memorial and was financed largely from public subscription. Federal and Ontario governments each donated $50,000 towards the estimated total cost of about $850,000. The building is not yet complete.

Mr. Massey said "I offer you sincere congratulations on your community centre which is community in the fullest sense, in which music and the arts have an appropriate place."

Famed Geologist Commits Suicide At Dallas, Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Everett Lee DeGolyer, 70, regarded by many as the petroleum industry's No. 1 geologist, shot himself dead Friday, authorities reported.

First reports from his office said he died of a heart attack but justice of the peace Glenn Byrd returned a verdict of suicide.

He had been in ill health for six years, DeGolyer, born in a sod house near Greensburg, Kan., rose to become head of numerous oil and geology firms.

In addition, he was noted in literary circles as chairman of the board of the literary weekly, the Saturday Review of Literature, and was a collector of rare books.

His fame was established in international oil circles as early as 1910 when he staked a location in Mexico for the Doheny No. 4 well, which came in for 100,000 barrels of oil potential daily. Owned by Mexican Eagle Oil Company, the well flowed wild for 60 days and literally produced 100,000 barrels.

In 1914 he moved to New York as consultant for Mexican Eagle, went to London in 1918 to sell Eagle to Shell Oil Company, and used profits from this deal to start the Amerada Petroleum Corporation.

As an outgrowth of his work with Amerada, he established Geophysical Research Corporation. In 1930, he helped organize Geophysical Service, Inc.

New York State Storm Kills 3

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—An early winter storm that caused at least three deaths moved into the northern New York state today.

It dumped more than a foot of snow in some sections Friday. Sleet, hail and freezing rain hit most other sections.

The weather bureau forecast up to six inches of snow, mixed with freezing rain, for the northern part of the state.

The eastern section of the states took the brunt of the snowfall. About 12 inches fell in Albany, 10 inches in Schenectady and 11 in sections of Rensselaer County.

Highway traffic was bogged down and other transportation disrupted. Albany airport was snowed under. About 40 plows and more sanders were brought into action to keep the state Thruway open. It was icy in spots.

Diefenbaker's Pay Now $27,000

OTTAWA (CP)—A parliamentary pay raise of $17,000 a year went to John Diefenbaker Friday when he won the Progressive Conservative party leadership.

He automatically became Opposition leader in the Commons, which carries a special salary of $15,000 a year, and $2,000 non-taxable automobile allowance.

As MP for Prince Albert, Sask., he continues to receive $10,000 a year. This includes an $8,000 taxable indemnity but a $2,000 allowance, which is tax-free for ordinary members, now will be taxable also.

MOVING DAY

Nurses hold six of the 48 youngsters who moved from the old children's hospital to the new Winnipeg Children's Hospital as the first major snowstorm of the winter hit the city. Despite five inches of snow and icy streets which snarled traffic, "operation transport children" went off on schedule and within three hours the children were snug in their cots in the new $3,000,000 hospital. Spectators parade through the hall in Ottawa during proceedings which led to the election of John Diefenbaker as national leader of the Progressive Conservative party. While most of the demonstrators shown here supported John Diefenbaker, a few supporters of the other candidates, Donald Fleming and Davis Fulton, got into the parade. (CP Photo).

10,000 Personal Loans a Year Made by Agency

OTTAWA (CP)—One of the biggest credit unions in Canada operates in Ottawa, catering to the needs of the capital's 32,000 federal civil servants.

Run by manager R. A. (Ron) Hyde-Clarke and a staff of 13, the Civil Service Co-operative Credit Society Limited handles some 10,000 personal loans a year.

"We've given them financial help in everything from divorces and education to buying, homes and cars,' the 36-year-old Ottawa said in an interview.

BIG AND SMALL LOANS

"The average loan is between $500 and $600, but the other day we made a loan of $27 with payments at $9 a month. The maximum personal loan is $2,000, and I'm sorry to say it's not a rarity."

The society has loaned almost $3,500,000 so far this year. Last year civil servants borrowed $1,231,000 to consolidate debts, buy houses and cars or take trips.

The society also acts as a savings bank for federal employees. Deposits and repayments of loans are deducted from pay cheques.

Of the 13,300 members of the society, about 6,500 have loans and about 6,000 deposit accounts. The others are inactive accounts.

The society was formed in 1906 as an educational and financial help to civil servants. According to the Ontario Credit Unions Act, it can operate only within a radius of 20 miles of its uptown office. Civil servants transferred to another city can continue to make payments on what they owe, but they can't borrow any more.

LOW-COST LOANS

Mr. Hyde-Clarke says he sometimes wishes he could take advantage of the society's services but can't because he is an officer. He had to borrow from a bank to build his house.

The society loans cost about one-third of what civil servants would have to pay if they went to outside agencies.

"Our size gives us strength, but it also creates difficulties that a parish credit union wouldn't come up against," says the chunky manager who began working with the society when he left school in 1939.

"We don't know our clients personally and as a result we need co-signers in most cases, and have to investigate the character of persons wanting loans."

The society has a two-fold purpose—to provide provident and productive loans and to promote thrift and savings. When a loan is paid off, customers are urged to continue having deductions made from their cheques and deposited with the society as savings.

All Provinces Respond to Plea To Aid Refugees

By The Canadian Press

All ten provinces now have responded to the appeal by Prime Minister St. Laurent to assist the federal government in bringing Hungarian refugees to Canada.

Premier A. W. Matheson of Prince Edward Island said Friday night his province had voted $500 based on the per-capita method of contributions used by the nine provinces which had responded earlier.

It was announced Friday that donations by Canadians to the Hungarian relief fund had reached $353,978, exclusive of $250,000 given by the federal government.

ROMANCE EVERYWHERE

In Toronto, First Presbyterian Hungarian church was the scene Friday of the wedding of Livia Ispan, 20, to Guyla Reinhold Uhlar, 23. The bride wore a new blue brocade frock given her by Jill Massey, a volunteer secretary at the centre for Hungarian refugees in Toronto. But she rejected a corsage of red roses.

"No red for me. . . everything at home is Red," she said, and wore a chaplet of white flowers in her hair instead.

General Electric Will Establish Warehouse Here

Established by the General Electric Company of a wholesale distributing warehouse in Belleville was announced today by Mayor Jane Forrester.

The new warehouse for the distribution of General Electric products will be opened on Harriett street across from the new Garage Supply building and is expected to be ready for business within the next two months. The warehouse will be operated as a branch of the parent company.

Negotiations for the location of the General Electric warehouse in the city have been going on for several months with arrangements being completed through Alderman William Argue as chairman of Industry.

The building which will house the new warehouse is being constructed by local capital and will be rented to General Electric. The site was made available through Phil Cane, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who owned the property. The building will contain an estimated 7-8000 feet, Alderman Argue stated.

The new warehouse is being constructed in the area known as "Coleman Flats" which, due to flat rock lying close to the surface, had until recent years been considered as waste land.

However, within the past few years the McCreary cold storage plant has been erected in the area, and within the past year the new Canadian Tire Store and the Garage Supply building have been built in the Harriett and Coleman streets area.

Negotiations are now underway by W. R. McCreary for the construction of a railway siding to serve his Coleman street cold storage warehouse.

Dulles Declares Progress Made In Healing Split

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles returns from Paris today to report to President Eisenhower that progress has been made toward healing the split in the Atlantic alliance caused by the British-French intervention in Egypt.

Dulles, due about 2 p.m. EST, was scheduled to go immediately to the White House for a meeting with the president.

Before leaving Paris Dulles said that his separate private talks with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau had done much "to bury if not dissolve entirely the differences existing in our unity."

TO DISCUSS NEHRU

In addition to reporting on what he obviously considered to be the success of his diplomacy in Paris Dulles was expected to discuss with the president final preparations for Eisenhower's talks with India's Prime Minister Nehru starting Sunday.

The Nehru conversations will run through Wednesday. They are expected to cover world problems ranging from Red China to Soviet intervention in Hungary and the future of the Suez Canal.

Reports from Paris quoted Dulles as saying the meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council had marked the turning point in development of the alliance. It was badly shaken last month when Britain and France attacked Egypt and the United States denounced their action.

Braved Flames to Rescue Child

Five-months-old Johnny Kraft, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kraft, Marshall Road, was snatched from his burning carriage by a neighbor Saturday evening, after Mrs. Kraft was forced to flee with her children as fire razed the home. The baby, seriously burned about the face was taken to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto. Shown in the rescue is the home with the charred carriage in the foreground. Inset shows Robert Keegan, who braved flames to rescue the child.

Mother, Neighbor Save 3 Children As Home Burns

Baby Rescued From Buggy Rushed to Toronto Hospital

A Saturday evening fire which forced a 23-year-old mother to flee, in night clothes with her three small children, completely destroyed the frame one-storey home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest "Gary" Kraft, Marshall Road, and put their five months' old son Johnny in the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, with critical facial and arm burns.

While her husband was away from home working at an evening job taken to earn extra money for their young family, Mrs. Kraft had put her children to bed at the same time lying down to take an after supper sleep.

Grabbing her two oldest children, three-year-old Rosalyn, and 18-months-old Debbie in her arms, she started for the door, at the same time trying to pull the carriage in which Johnny was sleeping.

The carriage caught in the door and unable to free it, Mrs. Kraft ran with her two oldest children to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keegan, next door neighbor, where she gave the alarm, at the same time telling them the baby was still in the burning home.

Mr. Keegan grabbed his jacket and throwing it over his head, fought his way through heavy smoke filled the blazing living room where he grabbed the baby from its carriage. The plastic cover of the carriage already was afire, he said. Melted roof tar spattered On Mr. Keegan's jacket attested to the heat as he saved the baby.

The baby was wrapped in blankets and rushed to Belleville General Hospital where examination by Dr. John Stock proved burns on the baby's face and forehead were critical and ordered the infant taken to the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto. The baby was taken Saturday night by Bush's ambulance.

Neighbors tried to fight the flames in the Kraft house by a bucket brigade until the arrival of the Belleville Fire Department, but the fire raced through the house and was beyond control when firemen arrived.

Firemen fought the flames with three pumpers, but despite their efforts the home was a complete loss.

Nothing was saved from the dwelling and all household effects, including a new television set, new kitchen suite, and bedroom furniture, as well as clothing was destroyed. No insurance was carried on either the home or contents.

An employee at Northern Electric Mr. Kraft had built the home in his spare time, only last summer completing the exterior with new siding. He had taken an evening job as waiter in the beverage room at a local hotel to earn extra money to assist in clearing up debts.

Sunday, Mrs. Kraft reported her doctor as saying the baby's condition in the house and very critical, was "critical."

"We had $2,000 worth of furniture in the house and very little of it is paid for," Mr. Kraft said. "Now it will be like paying for a dead horse."

"We had all our Christmas presents bought," Mrs. Kraft said. "Now we have nothing."

Today's Chuckle

"Sorry," the waiter said, "turkey," said the waiter.

"Then I'll have a chicken sandwich," said the man.

"Don't be silly," said the waiter. "If we had chicken, wouldn't we have turkey sandwiches?"

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The weather continues mild and cloudy, over Southern Ontario, and very mild over Northwestern Ontario. Snow is falling along the boundary between the mild and the cold weather which now stretches across Wisconsin and Central Ontario. The cold weather is pushing slowly southward and should reach the lower lakes this evening. Scattered showers in the mild area will change to snowflurries with the arrival of the cold weather. Tuesday will be much colder throughout Southern Ontario and continuing cold in Northern Ontario.

NEHRU AND IKE BUCKLE DOWN TO PRIVATE TALKS

Closer Ties Between U.S. and India Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru today planned private talks on world issues, including Russia and Red China.

Their basic aim is to achieve closer relations between India and the United States.

Eisenhower arranged to motor with his guest to the rural seclusion of the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa., where during this afternoon and evening they could engage in uninterrupted hours of private discussion without their advisers.

Nehru, who recently entertained Premier Chou En-lai of Red China is expected to tell the president that Chou sincerely wants to clear away "misunderstanding" between nations. Nehru himself would like

Police Battle Christmas Theft Wave in Montreal

Police said merchants and citizens have been robbed of more than $500,000 in goods and money since Christmas shopping began.

The four were arrested in connection with the theft of $40,000 worth of cigarets and other smoking supplies from a suburban Rosemount warehouse early Sunday. Police said the loot was recovered.

Unemployment Below Last Year

OTTAWA (CP) — The government today reported a below-normal decline in the Canadian working force for November.

A joint monthly statement issued by the Department of Labor and the labor department also said unemployment increased seasonally but was considerably less than a year earlier.

'LEGAL STATUS' OF SOVIET FORCES TO BE SETTLED

Zhukov and Shepilov Meet Premier Gomulka

MOSCOW (AP) — Russia's Defence Minister Georgi Zhukov and Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov flew to Warsaw today to work out the "legal status" of Soviet troops on Polish territory in talks that may set a new pattern for the Soviet Union's relationship with it East European satellites.

The Polish Communist party's "nationalist" leader, Wladyslaw Gomulka, in recent talks with Soviet leaders in Moscow agreed to let Russian soldiers remain in Poland, but won agreement that the Polish government would have the final word on their numbers and movements.

An announcement after the Moscow talks said the two governments would negotiate later concerning the "strength and composition of the Soviet troops" in Poland.

REPORT DEMANDS

(There have been reports recently of Polish workers demanding the complete withdrawal of Soviet troops. It is known that Gomulka's regime wants to keep the Russian soldiers in Poland to ensure Polish retention of territory taken from Germany after the war.)

The sudden departure of Zhukov and Shepilov took Western observers by surprise, and also threw a doubt the meeting of the central committee of the Soviet Communist party, which had been expected to start today. Both ministers are members of the party's all-powerful presidium, and it is considered unlikely that the committee would meet without them.

As usual, there had been no official announcement of the meeting, and Western correspondents expected none until the session was over. Correspondents recently were told by Shepilov:

"There is no secret about central committee meetings. We always issue a communique when it's over."

POSSIBLE SUBJECTS

From what the Soviet press has been talking about most in recent days, today's session on the committee's agenda would include:

Britain And France Begin Last Phase Of Withdrawal

Units Stage Power Drive Against Egyptian Guerrillas

PORT SAID (AP) — Anglo-French forces today began the last phase of their withdrawal from Egypt after a tank-supported attack on guerrillas in retaliation for the ambush slaying of a British officer.

The deadline for the final pullout was not announced. United Nations sources indicated that it might be Tuesday or Wednesday, but Lt.-Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, commander of the British-French task force, indicated that some of the Allied troops might still be on hand Thursday behind the 25-mile-wide buffer zone between Port Said and Port Said's harbor front.

Stockwell said he had agreed to a UN request to let 359 armed Egyptian police enter Port Said Tuesday and 350 more two days later "if the first contingent behaves itself."

Egypt has planned to have more than 1,000 black-uniformed police with rifles maintain order in the city after the British-French evacuation.

BEHIND WIRE

After the fighting Sunday the British forces withdrew behind the four miles of barbed wire around their Canal-zone beachhead area. The French meanwhile prepared to quit Port Fuad, across the harbor. The UN police patrol maintained order throughout the Port Said area.

British and French units staged their power drive against the guerrillas by moonlight late Saturday night and early Sunday through Port Said's dark streets and twisting alleys. The attack was launched after a British officer on patrol duty was killed by a grenade hurled from ambush.

Troops rumbled through the alleys, firing at the elusive guerrillas during the 3½-hour battle. Bullets zoomed over rooftops and tore holes through tarred corrugated iron lined the sky. British officers said the Allied forces "killed some Egyptians—we are not sure of the number," and captured 10 men in the battle area.

After the moonlight retaliatory battle, Egypt's commander-in-chief, Abdel Kader Hatem said in Cairo that Egypt would protest

Eden Presides As Cabinet Hears Report on Cyprus

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Eden presided over the cabinet today for the first time since his return Friday from a three-weeks rest cure in Jamaica.

The prime minister, pronounced fit after his vacation, was reported anxious to grapple with the economic and political aftermath of the Middle East crisis which reached a peak in his absence.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd today was a report by Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd on the outcome of weekend talks he had in Athens and Ankara on proposals for a liberal constitution for the Mediterranean Island colony of Cyprus.

Lennox-Boyd presented his report within two hours of arriving by air from his conversations with Greek and Turkish governments.

HOSTILE RECEPTION

An interested source here said the British proposals, which would permit eventual self-determination for Cyprus, had a hostile reception in both capitals.

The cabinet had a British government statement on current policy toward the Island is expected in the House of Commons Wednesday.

The cabinet also heard a report from Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd on last week's Paris meetings of the Atlantic pact council. Lloyd had vital private talks with Italian Premier Antonio Segni on the restoration of Anglo-American understanding following the Suez crisis.

The prime minister's first opportunity to assess how the crisis affected the government's—and his own—standing with Conservative members of Parliament will come probably Tuesday night, when the government's rank-and-file in Parliament holds its regular meeting.

Britons Seek New Homes Overseas, Called 'Greatest Scuttle in History'

LONDON (AP)—A great exodus is under way from this country where wages are low, taxes high, prices rising and automobiles shy of gasoline.

Thousands of United Kingdom residents have left Britain and gone to Canada, Australia, New Zealand and Rhodesia. Thousands of others daily are asking how to get into those faraway lands.

"It is the greatest exit in history," said one newspaper.

"The rush is fantastic," said an official at Canada's immigration office. "We've never had anything like it."

Immigration officer L. G. Cummings has to leave his desk, act as a doorman, handle the long lines of people and answer dozens of questions on the spot.

For several days this month the line of applicants spilled out of the immigration offices in a line 50 yards down a side street.

Other Commonwealth countries are pressed, too.

"We haven't doubled them up," tions by telephone, letter and personal inquiries," Australia's immigration office reported.

"If you been here since the end of the war," said a clerk in New Zealand's headquarters "and there has never been anything like this."

"There has never been a time when so many people wanted to leave Britain," said The Daily Mail.

Australia House handled more than 5,000 applications for entry in one week.

Technicians Will Take Second Sample of Slick

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lab technicians will take a second sampling of oil slick from Cultus Lake today in a second attempt to determine whether it is from a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star missing with 62 persons aboard for eight days.

Search officials expressed doubt that the substance will help locate the plane, which vanished in a wild windstorm over southern British Columbia the night of Dec. 1.

Oil company chemists were unable to determine the origin of the oil in a three-hour analysis at the B.C. Research Council here Sunday. They said the first sample was useless because it contained too much water—a result of faulty skimming techniques.

The chemists will compare the sample with oil and hydraulic fluid used on North Stars.

TRAPPER SAW IT

A trapper spotted the oil slick on the lake, 40 miles east of Vancouver. Though both TCA and air force search officials said they still did not think it a worthwhile clue, they directed ground parties to search the entire shore of the lake today.

A TCA official discounted the trapper's story that the oil slick had been on the lake for several days. He said the oil probably came from an RCMP plane which landed on the lake during the weekend.

The search will remain focused on the Hope area, 100 miles east of Vancouver. Several snow-crested mountains in the vicinity are the chief target of both ground and airborne searchers. Twelve RCAF aircraft searched the area without success when visibility improved Sunday.

REFUGEES' CHRISTMAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Red Cross said $25,000 has been made available from its disaster fund for Christmas celebrations in the refugee camps in Austria. Every effort will be made to enable Hungarian parents in the camps to give their children gifts.

Rail Freight Rate Increase Of 4 Per Cent Coming Jan. 1

OTTAWA (CP)—The railways were authorized today to boost freight rates by four per cent, Jan. 1 in addition to the seven-per-cent increase they got last June.

The new increase, which can be brought into effect Jan. 1, will give the railways a total boost of 11 per cent on their original application for an over-all increase of 15 per cent.

The board of transport commissioners, in announcing this decision, said also the order will be a decrease of 12 cents a ton on coal and coke, authorized last June, will be boosted to 18 cents a ton, also effective Jan. 1.

The railways' original 7-per-cent increase allowed last June was given as an "interim" measure pending final disposal of the case.

In its latest judgment today, the board described the newly-granted five to 11 per cent from-seven as a "measure of additional interim relief pending determination of the application."

This appeared to indicate that the railways still are not after a further rise later, perhaps up to the full 15 per cent they originally sought.

Officials of board officials were silent on this point. This may be explained by the board's judgment to be issued before Dec. 31.

The new rise authorized today will yield the railways another $15,600,000 a year in extra revenue. They got about $20,000,000 additional revenue from the June increase of seven per cent.

It was estimated their original 15-per-cent request would have yielded them about $50,000,000yearly in new revenue.

Tar order does not affect grain rates, and it does not affect rates by the Crownnest Pass statute of 1925.

It also does not apply to competitive rates, the lower-than-normal charges on the railway's to meet competition from truckers and water import. The railways can, can,pretty well change these rates at their own discretion.

The board also stipulated:

1. There will be no increases on traffic passed from Canada from U.S. point to another.

2. Joint international rates—except coal and coke—between Canada and the U.S. are not affected.

3. Export and import rates to and from Canadian ports—maintained on a parity with U.S. seaboard also stipulated are affected.

Rate differentials between straight rail hauls and those involving rail and water shipments may be preserved as far as may be practicable."

Strikes Sweep Arab World As Iraq Stands With West

BAGHDAD (CP) — Strikes and demonstrations swept much of Arab world were reported today following the weekend avowal here by Premier Nuri Said that Iraq would stand with the anti-West despite criticism from other Arab states.

He said Iraq will remain a part of the Western Baghdad alliance, which also unites Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Britain in an anti-Communist pact.

A complete general strike was observed in Amman, the Jordan capital, in protest against the Iraqi government's determination to remain in the pro-Western pact.

Government and private schools joined in the 24-hour strike, also sponsored by nationalists and labor groups in Syria and Egypt.

Student demonstrators in Amman shouted slogans against Nuri Said and in favor of Egypt's President Nasser and King Hussein of Jordan. One group led about a dog wrapped in the Iraqi flag with inscription "Nuri Said"—a gross insult to Arabs.

In Amman, crowds demonstrated in front of the British Embassy as well as the embassy of Turkey. A heavy police guard surrounded the Iraqi building.

Violent demonstrations against the Baghdad pact took place in Amman and other Jordan towns almost a year ago. Fourteen people were killed and the present Jordan premier, Suleiman Nabulsi, was one of the leading speakers who addressed the mobs then.

Premier Said vowed that the ties from other Arab states is against the controversial alliance with Britain, France and Israel, "solely to destroy Iraq" and put it at the disposal of Moscow.

The 56-year-old strong man told his people over Baghdad radio that Communists have reaped "results, fabrications and inventions" on Iraq's pact ties and that he is elected to be on the verge of collapse.

"Certain members of these parties have sought to make those fabrications a basis for inciting and stirring up disturbances, by creating panic among the public, by causing bombs to be exploded in public places and the building of secret embassies and trying to organized networks for assassinations."

Five Iraqi political leaders, including a member of Parliament, were killed in 1948 rioting during up trouble. Iraq has been under martial law since Nov. 5, 1948, when the cabinet clamped rigid press censorship imposed.

The premier declared Iraq has three enemies: communism, "aggressive Zionism" and Pharaonism, the latter propaganda campaign against the country, he said, is directed by the Communists.

The 11,000-word address was the premier's first statement since the British-French and Israeli invasion of Egypt plunged Iraq into crisis because of its membership with Britain in the Baghdad pact.

OTTAWA (CP)—A meeting of rascal workers from across Canada, rounding up findings of a three-year study, has decided that more money for improvements to educational facilities to train social work personnel.

Taxi Licences Traffic to End Gardiner Says

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan Chairman Fred G. Gardiner today promised an end to trafficking in taxi licences when the Metropolitan Toronto licensing commission takes over its duties Jan. 1.

"We are diverting our own methods of cleaning up the situation," he said, referring to Toronto city council's decision to set up a judicial inquiry to investigate reports that taxi licences worth $15 were being sold privately up to $5,000.

Up to now taxi licences have been issued by the Toronto police commission, which will be dissolved Jan. 1. A three-man police commission, covering Toronto and 12 adjacent municipalities, will take over.

But the issuing of taxi licences will be in the hands of the Metropolitan licensing commission, a separate body.

Threats to Bomb 10 Downing St., Commons, Made

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard rushed reinforcements to Parliament and Prime Minister Eden's residence today after receiving threats to bomb the building.

An extensive search was carried out in the Commons chamber but nothing was found to substantiate a mysterious telephone call to Scotland Yard reporting a plan to bomb Parliament and 10 Downing Street.

The special precautions were taken because of reports of a new burst of activity by the Irish Republican Army, but Scotland Yard declined to say that the threat telephone call was part of the Ira campaign.

Flesh Found on Diesel First Hint To Train Crew of Crash-Killing 11

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — An Indian tracker discovered car slammed into the Southern Pacific's Golden State Limited, killing 11 persons, 11 persons in the car.

The Limited, travelling at 75 miles an hour, continued into Phoenix Union Station, where two trains away, and only then did the train crew discover the accident.

Bits of human flesh and clothing found were the clues on the diesel engine.

A mortuary attendant said the dead were three children and eight adults, but the bodies were so badly mangled that he was unable to determine their sex.

The train crew said they felt only a "jar" when the car hit the train. Walter Vineyard, engineer, was driving nearby and saw the accident, said: "It sounded like a hammr hitting a two - by - four."

Bodies were strewn along a 30-foot deep gulch at the base of the crossing embankment.

Officers found a woman's stocking draped over one bush, a man's sock lying over another. The car's body was literally torn from the chassis and pancaked flat some 50 feet away.

The tragedy is believed to be the worst auto accident in the state's history. Three years ago 18 persons riding in an open truck were beheaded by a steel girder,

34 Christian Ministers Plead UN Help Jews

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirty-four Christian ministers today sent a letter to President Eisenhower Sunday urged a United Nations resolution condemning Red Iraq's alleged "the recurrence and sharpening of reactions against Jews in Egypt.

The letter, signed by heads of three denominations, bishops and other Protestant leaders, charged that Egypt is persecuting Jews and Jews violated the United Nations Charter on human rights.

Tug Rescues Ship

LONDON (Reuters)—The British tug Turmoil today towed the 4,500 ton Finnish merchant ship Petsamo, drifting out of control in a storm, to safety.

The Finnish ship, with a crew of 34, was on a voyage from Montreal to Gateshead, England, with a cargo of grain.

Obituary

G. L. CORKE
Hordon, Texas

J. Ben Corke and the Georgia Saloon has returned from Houston, Texas, where he attended the funeral of his brother, G. L. Corke, a jeweller in that city.

Mr. Corke is survived by his wife, two sons, three daughters, one grandchild and his parents, who reside in Winnipeg. Also surviving are three sisters and a brother, Mr. Corke of this city.

JOHN WESLEY MORRISON

STIRLING.—Relatives, friends, fraternal brothers and neighbors filled St. Paul's United church to capacity with many people standing throughout the service, on Friday afternoon, December 14, for the funeral of John Wesley Morrison, a former resident of Rawdon township and a member of Bethel United church on the Rawdon circuit.

Mrs. Arthur Pryear furnished organ music for almost one hour previous to the service as friends gathered from all over Hastings county and she also officiated for the funeral music.

A short service was held at the Duffin Funeral Home, Stirling, before the cortege proceeded to the church.

His pastor, Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., of Bethel, delivered the message of comfort to the bereaved family. Rev. A. Peckman, pastor of the Park United church, conducted the service. The hymns were "What a Friend we Have in Jesus" and "The Sands of Time are Sinking the Dawn of Heaven Breaks." The soloist, Mrs. Reynolds sang "There is no Night There."

Mr. Morrison, seventy-five Orange brethren attended the service at the church and cemetery under the auspices of Rawdon L.O.L. No. 442, with lodge members from Wellman's, Old O.L., Tanner I.O.L. and other points. They formed a guard of honor under the direction of Worshipful Master Percy Bateman.

The bearers were all members of the Loyal Orange lodge, Messrs. Earl McAdam, Charles Vandervoort, Kenneth Mumby, Everett Ketcheson, Burton Bateman and Howard Bateman.

The interment was made in Mount Nebo cemetery, Springbrook, the committal service was conducted by Clayton Burkitt assisted by Rev. Mr. Fletcher. Bearer, chaplain, Arthur Broadworth, Deputy Master and Percy Bateman, marshal.

WILLIAM JAMES ALLT

MADOC — The funeral of William James Allt, late of Faris and Brantford and a resident of Madoc, was held on Thursday afternoon, December 13th, from the Mac-Kenzie Funeral Home, Madoc, to St. John's Anglican Church where service was held by the Rev. W. J. Glovetti. Interment took place in Lakeview cemetery where service was under the direction of Madoc Lodge A.F.&A.M. No. 48, of which deceased was a faithful member for the past 30 years.

The bearers were R. H. Brod, E. T. Naylor, C. Derry, J. Henderson, C. Tanner and K. Kincaid.

JAMES MUMBY

The funeral of James Mumby was held from the John R. Bush Funeral Home, Highland Avenue on Saturday afternoon, Rev. H. E. Beare conducted the service in the chapel and also at the graveside in Mount Nebo cemetery at Springbrook.

The bearers were James and Ross Burton, Goldie McInroy, Ken Mumby, Arthur and Carman Hamilton.

GEORGE WRIGHT

A member of the Imperial Army during World War I, George Wright, R.R. 4 Belleville, died suddenly in his 69th year at Belleville hospital on Saturday, December 15.

He is survived by his wife, the former Alice Maud Harvey; two daughters, Mrs. William J. (Emily) Laney, Belleville, and Mrs. George (Lilian) Stenabough, Scarboro; two sisters, Mrs. William (Jane) Parrish, Belleville, and Mrs. George (Edith) Gregory, Brighton; and two brothers, Charles of Picton, and Harry, of Wellington.

Born in Essex, England, to the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, Mr. Wright was a retired farmer and lived at R.R. 4 Belleville, for the past eight years, prior to which he resided at Kingston and Picton. He was a member of the Anglican church.

General announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

MRS. ELIZABETH M. THOMSON
Ryrstone
(Contributed)

Ryrstone — On Tuesday night, December 12th, death came to Elizabeth Mabel Thomson, widow of the late Andrew Hay Thomson. Seven years ago she suffered a stroke from which she never fully recovered and a few days ago was totally paralyzed by another stroke.

Though she had been confined to a wheel chair, she was ever cheerful and glad to see anyone who called on her. She died at her home, where she was a resident for 47 years ago.

She was the daughter of the late William McKeown and Sarah Eastwood, and was born on the 12th line of Rawdon, on the farm now owned by her son William Thomson. She was in her 74th year. She leaves to mourn the loss of a loving husband, two daughters, Mrs. Alfred Runnalls, Stirling; Mrs. Murrey (Hazel) Fleming, Quinte; Mrs. Geordie (Jerrine) Sutherland, Stirling; Mrs. Lloyd (Leafa) Anderson, at Ryrstone; one son, William, 12th line; Ross, Billings Bridge, Ottawa; fourteen at home and Fred of Campbellford and 18 grandchildren. She is also survived by five brothers, Alfred of Conway, Thomas, of Springbrook, Alfred of Vancouver, B.C., Edgar of Bethel and Fred of Springbrook; also three sisters, Mrs. Will (Susie) Morrow, Peterborough; Mrs. Willis (Maggie) Irwin, Ryrstone, and Mrs. Harry (Kathleen) Walsh of Toronto. Her husband predeceased her six years ago. Another sister, Mrs. Victor (Edith) Lucas, also predeceased her. She was a member of Canton Hall Assembly.

She was laid to rest in Ryrstone cemetery, with memorial service in Ryrstone United Church. The service was conducted at the graveside and in the church by Mr. Ray Fox, Trenton, assisted by Rev. H. E. Beare, pastor of Ryrstone Church.

The many and beautiful floral tributes attested to the respect and affection in which Mrs. Thomson was held, in the community.

The bearers were the six oldest nephews, Reg. Clarence and Leslie McKeown, Lloyd and Ernest and Gerald Fitchett and Grant Morrow.

EDGAR LEDEU SHOREY

Resident of the city for the past 40 years, Edgar Ledeu Shorey, 77 Octavia street, died in the Belleville General Hospital early Monday. He was in his 77th year.

Born in Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Morton Shorey, he had lived for some time in Sidney township, returning to the city 40 years ago. He was a member of Holloway Street United Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former Beatrice Cross, one son Harold of Belleville, and three brothers, Morley, Algonquin, Maine; Hilton of Sidney, and Frank of Belleville.

TO GET PARCELS

OTTAWA (CP) — Relatives in Canada of Canadian service personnel in Egypt will be receiving gifts through a special airlift arranged by the Canadian Army. Army headquarters here said Friday a dispatch received from the Canadian U.N.E.F. contingent expressed hope that the lack of shopping facilities in Egypt would be brought to the attention of soldiers' next of kin.

Family Left Destitute by Fire

Left destitute by the fire which destroyed their home, together with all household furnishings and personal possessions, were Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hall, who live here with their two oldest children, Debbie, 18 months, and Rosalyn, 3, rescued by the mother. The father was at work when Mrs. Kraft woke to find the house afire. No insurance was carried either on the home or contents. Their young son, Johnny, 5 months, was rescued by a neighbor and is in the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children with severe burns.

Magistrate Sets Sentence Terms

At a special sitting of magistrate's court here on Saturday, six local youths faced Magistrate T. R. Wills to hear the terms of their suspended sentences and to learn the amount of restitution and court costs each has to raise.

Several weeks ago city and provincial police conducted up into city and district boys on suspicion of breaking and entering several service stations and stores in county and stealing various articles from the places. All were convicted. One was let off with a light fine because he played an insignificant part in one raid, another received six months definite and six months indefinite in reformatory, a third appears in court again tomorrow for the second day of his preliminary hearing, and the six who appeared in court on Saturday previously were placed on an suspended sentence fly two years.

On Sunday Garry Lewis, Bernard James Michael, Larry Rushlow, George Kenneth Fox, Neil Hubble and David McFarland, were told they had to pay, through probation officer, Donald McKinnon, a total of $679.20 restitution and court costs. Magistrate Wills set aside end of the six a fixed amount to repay.

Lewis Fox was paid $331.80 forthwith and his son is to repay him at the rate of not less than $100 with the months, another $100 by the end of another six months, and the balance in a year. Rushlow was ordered to pay his share of $22 forthwith. Fox was given five days to pay $33, as was Michael to pay $38.50. Hubble paid $20 down on his $67 assessment and the remainder is to be paid within one month. McFarland was also given one week to find $181. He will appear in court again on Friday to learn the rate at which he has to make restitution.

There were five terms given by Magistrate Wills in connection with the suspended sentences. Each must be in his own home at a "reasonable" hour every night during his suspended sentence, although no curfew was laid down. Each is to report to probation officer Donald McKinnon at times required by him. The boys are to remain employed, or get jobs, while their sentence is in effect. None can leave the county without first getting permission from the probation officer. And they cannot fraternize with one another for the next two years.

Four Stirling Youths Injured In Car Crash

Four Stirling youths were injured Saturday evening when the car in which they were riding slammed into the rear of a stopped army vehicle at the intersection of the town line and the Campbellford road on Saturday night.

Injured in the accident and still in hospital are Ralph Ray, 22, driver of the vehicle in which the four youths were riding, who suffered facial lacerations and chest injuries, and Kenneth Meyers, chest injuries and a broken ankle.

Also treated at the hospital and then allowed to go home were Gordon Berry, facial lacerations and broken ankle; and Douglas Scott, sprained ankle and abrasions.

Both the army vehicle and the car in which the four youths were riding were proceeding along the town line in the same direction. The army vehicle stopped for the stop sign at the Campbellford road intersection and the other car slammed into the rear.

Damage of between $300 and $400 was caused to each of the vehicles. Provincial Constable Shane of Madoc investigated, assisted by Constable J. Fullerton of Belleville.

IN MEMORIAM

WAGAR. — In ever loving memory of a dear husband and companion, Hubert L. Wagar, who went home on suddenly, December 17th, 1951. There is never a day we do not think of you, dear husband and pal, Nor a day that memory may stray, But I wish you could share it with me, I miss your love, your cheery ways, Your jokes I'll miss them always, That I down here, do not forget, I loved you dear, we did not part, To me he has left grief, sorrow, pain, But to God he has gone, Just another Lord's prayer answered home, And left the gate ajar.
—Lovingly remembered, Donna.

WAGAR. — In cherished memory of a dear husband and father who died 5 years ago, December 17th, 1951.
Dad's a loved one's memory,
His sleep is a silent grief,
The image is kept in beautiful garden,
Of sunshine and perfect peace,
It takes life's love,
But reality God knows best,
To be parted for many years,
Then gentle thoughts will linger,
Lovingly remembered, Lorna.

WAGAR. — In ever loving memory of our dear dad, who left us so suddenly December 17th, 1951.
Years of grief, years of pain,
Loving and gentle, the world of a man,
A cherished smile, a heart of gold,
And the decrest dad that the world held,
Happy memories, fond and true,
From our hearts a memorial wreath of love,
—Ever remembered and sadly missed, Jim, Ken and Gerry.

WAGAR. — In loving remembrance of our dear dad, who left us so suddenly, December 17th, 1951.
There is no parting from those we love,
No sadness or farewell,
For today in memory's garden,
We shall walk and dwell,
Each dawning day a thought of him,
And memories fill the day,
And in the hearts that loved him best,
He never will decay,
Sadly missed but lovingly remembered, Gerry, Geraldine and Ronald.

ARGUES. — In loving memory of a dear mother, Pearl May Argue, who passed away December 17th, 1955.
God knew you were suffering,
He knew you would never get better
In this world again,
So saw the road was getting harder,
The hills were hard to climb,
So He sent His angels to carry you home,
And whispered, "Rest awhile."
You left behind an aching heart,
Who loved you dearly,
We never have and never will Forget you, mother dear.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to express my gratitude to the staff of Nursery for the many visits; the many friends of Eastern Avenue, Belleville, Bridge Street, Trenton, and White Eagle, Stirling, neighbors and friends for cards, flowers, fruit and beautiful gifts of flowers, cards and gifts during my illness in Belleville General Hospital. All of which it deeply appreciated.
—Mrs. Alfred Cooper, Bleecker Avenue.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all by friends and neighbors who visited me during my illness, treats and visits while I was a patient in the Belleville General Hospital. Special thanks to Father Murphy, Rev. Mr. Fletcher, Dr. Bell, Dr. Belleau and their visits and treats also to Dr. Allan and Barry, Dr. Henry and Dr. Bateman and the nurses on 1st West, 2nd East, St. Lathergo.

I wish to thank my many friends, relatives and neighbors who so kindly remembered me with cards, flowers, calls and food during my recent illness in the Belleville General Hospital and since my return home. I also wish to express appreciation to Dr. Bell, Dr. Allan, Dr. Green, Dr. R. S. Thompson, Dr. Belleau and Dr. Bateman, Dr. Henry and Dr. Barker at St. Davis, my sincere thanks.
—Mrs. Rose Fisher, Foxboro.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP)—Profit-taking ruled morning stock market trading today but cautious selected buying among key industrials gave that section a slight index gain.

Base metals were hardest-hit by profit-taking and their index lost three-quarters of a point. Industrials gained nearly that much while western oils were virtually unchanged on their index.

Uraniums showed a slight edge on the upside with many of the issues which gained ground in last week's upsurge settled back a bit. Algom lost ½, Faraday added 11 cents.

Noranda was ahead ½ among senior base metals but other seniors moved fractionally lower. Coppers were firm.

Industrial price changes ranged to a point but were firm in tional. McColl and Algoma Steel were down a point.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Steers and yearlings were steady at the public stockyards today, heifers and cows firm, bulls unchanged.

Car Hits Bridge, Two Injured

Two persons were injured and traffic on the Bay Bridge Road was tied up for the best part of an hour Sunday evening when one auto struck the bridge abutment on the north span, then careened into another oncoming vehicle.

Taken to Belleville General Hospital were Maurice Lince, 21, of Rossmore, driver of the car, and Sharon Rowe, 15, of 66 Front Street, Trenton, passenger of the second vehicle driven by Carl Grosjean, Wooler.

Lince suffered a broken jaw and a severe gash on the knee, while Miss Rowe had injuries to her face, arms and legs, although it was not known if any bones were broken. Grosjean and a second young girl in the car escaped injury.

Police said the Lince car was almost a complete wreck as it slammed head-on into the other vehicle after hitting the bridge Grosjean's car was also badly damaged.

Provincial Constable G. M. Robertson investigated.

T. Eaton Staff Bids Farewell To Manager

Approximately 140 members of the staff, friends and neighbors gathered at the Club Commodore on Wednesday, December 12th, to bid farewell to Mr. J. R. Stanley, manager of the Belleville branch of the T. Eaton Company, who is leaving January 15th to take over the managership of the Sudbury store.

Grace was said by the Rev. Canon A. S. McDonell, followed by a sumptuous turkey dinner and all the trimmings.

J. R. STANLEY

Mr. Ron Manley presided as chairman for the evening, and called on Mr. Ted Jones to present Mr. Stanley with an automatic slide projector, while Miss Eleanor Waddell presented Mrs. Stanley with roses.

On accepting the gift Mr. Stanley expressed his appreciation, and spoke of how much he had enjoyed his stay in Belleville. The wonderful co-operation he had received from his employees and the enjoyment of the acquaintance of his many friends and neighbors.

Mr. Stanley came from the Pembroke store four years ago, having been manager of that store for a number of years. A year ago he celebrated his 25th anniversary with the T. Eaton Company. He joined the Eaton organization in 1930 as a member of the St. Catharines store and became assistant manager in 1934.

From there he was promoted to manager of the Pembroke and Deep River stores.

The esteem in which Mr. Stanley is held by his employees was conveyed through a letter read by John Tomaso from Mr. Roy Wallace, assistant manager, who was unable to be present.

Entertainment and dancing concluded the evening, the spot prizes were won by Fred and Gord Crake, Mary Kidd and Reg Terry, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. Legacy, and Mr. and Mrs. Laney.

Babies' Home At Plainfield Receives Gifts

In the midst of busy preparations for the Christmas season, some kind-hearted persons have taken time out to remember the true meaning of the season and have sent gifts to the Bibles' Convalescent Home at Plainfield. Whether they can understand it or not, even the mentally retarded child should have a visit from Santa Claus.

With the ever-increasing costs of running the home, the fees charged are hardly sufficient to meet expenses, leaving little to provide any of the joys that one wants for children at the Yuletide season. The Veilleman, who run the hospital, are unselfish in their love and devotion to, and care of, these children, and gratefully appreciate all that has been done by outsiders to help them in their work.

Some women's groups have donated linens, others have donated toys, while a group of men have organized as "Helpers for Retarded Children" held a raffle to purchase a record player and PA system so music could flow throughout the main building and into the pavilion. Merchants have donated turkeys and a local retail store is putting in a decorated Christmas tree, bright with many lights. What will be waiting underneath on Christmas for the retarded children at Plainfield depends on what St. Nick finds in his bag, and that will depend on what people find in their hearts.

Christmas Parties Order of Day Over Weekend

An event eagerly looked forward to by the younger members of the staff of the Brewers' Warehousing Company Ltd. for this district was held on Sunday afternoon at Columbus hall, on Front Street, when Santa Claus made his annual trip and distributed presents to the children of the staff members. About one hundred were in attendance with Ted Jones, district manager, and Danny Cox, assistant district manager, directing the traffic and assisting in the distribution. Lum Carson of the Recreation Club and his corps of assistants decorated the Christmas trees — gaily lighted for the occasion and placed the neatly packaged presents under the tree.

After Santa appeared, successfully impersonated by W. R. Purtell of Picton, the children were treated to cookies, ice cream and pop, while the older members present enjoyed a social hour.

It was a most successful party.

Christmas parties were the order of the day over the week-end with several local business firms, fraternal organizations and members of the city police department holding parties for the kiddies.

Members of the Elks lodges from Belleville and Trenton, held a joint party in Belleville with about 70 kiddies attending. Santa had gifts for all; a soft drink firm donated king-sized drinks, and an ice cream firm donated the ice cream.

The city police held their kiddies' party over the city police station with the junior set getting a big bang out of the timely arrival of St. Nick.

The management and staff of Ireland's Furniture and Appliance had their annual Christmas party at Golden Acres Inn. The party started off with a turkey dinner, followed by an exchange of gifts and a presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Ireland. Bingo, cards and dancing rounded out the evening's fun.

Sitdown Strikes In Budapest Appear Ended

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Hungarian workers' sitdown strike appeared to be ended today in Budapest and the provinces, but lack of coal and power still hampered production.

Work resumed at the Bejolannis electrical equipment plant, centre of the week's shutdowns and stildowns protesting last week's arrest of two leaders of the Budapest Central Workers' Council.

The two labor leaders, Sandor Kedar and Sandor Bali, have not been released by the Soviet-supported government of Premier Janos Kadar. But the threat of hunger and winter cold appears to have broken the strike.

A Hungarian army lieutenant barred Western correspondents who tried to enter the Bjolannis plant today to talk to some of the 6,000 workers employed there. The officer said the plant had been declared a military area and was occupied by Hungarian troops and police.

Along with the back-to-work movement, reports of widespread guerrilla activities in the Hungarian countryside and large-scale desertions by Russian troops generally were diminishing in Budapest. But most Western observers agree that the Russians have lost a satellite, and that Hungary will never slip back into the subservience of Moscow which characterized the regime of Stalinist Matyas Rakosi.

There is still much sullenness and grumbling.

The first summary execution in the government's reaction to the rebellion took place Saturday when a Hungarian was hanged for carrying arms at Miskolc, northeast Hungary.

The man, Janos Soltesz, and a compatriot, Lajos Nagy, were found guilty of illegal possession of arms and given the compulsory death sentence, but the court recommended mercy for Nagy. Budapest radio reported.

In another trial at Keszkemet, southwest of Budapest, a court convicted 19 year-old Ferenc Gobor of attempting to murder the director of a collective farm. However, the court recommended mercy.

TREASURE STOLEN

GORIZIA, Italy (Reuters) — A warning was sent to all European police Sunday that thieves had tackled the priceless treasure of Gorizia Cathedral. Police believe the thieves hid in the cathedral when it closed Friday night and ripapacked three showcases containing precious chalices and a gold embroidered cape given by the Empress Maria Teresa of Austria more than 200 years ago.

THE CONSERVATIVES' NEW LEADER

There is no question but that the Progressive Conservative party will be well served by its new leader, John Diefenbaker. The question is: for how long?

The moves and secondary moves in the nominations of his two opponents in the leadership race, Donald Fleming and Davie Fulton, stressed the frequent changes in the leadership of the Conservative party in recent decades. They pleaded that the convention select a man who is young enough to be able to stay at the helm for many years to come. In spite of that, the convention delegates voted overwhelmingly for Mr. Diefenbaker. The fact that they considered him the best qualified candidate for the position as leader may not have been the sole reason for this choice. There may have been many who considered that what the Conservative party needs is a "caretaker" leadership, that its future would be safest in the hands of a man, who also is improving its fortunes, would be adverse to relinquishing the leadership to some younger man a decade or so hence.

Of Mr. Diefenbaker's opponents for the leadership one, Donald Fleming, has been suggested, rightly or wrongly, as the nominee of the so-called "big interests" in financial circles in Toronto and Montreal. The other, Davie Fulton, was perhaps considered just a little too youthful, in need of just a little more seasoning. He, and other Progressive Conservatives, will get that seasoning if Mr. Diefenbaker is able to lead his party to power.

Mr. Diefenbaker is the type of man who could capture the imagination and win the support of a nation, if its people are interested in principles rather than in expediency. Though his success in winning elections in the unfavorable political climate of Saskatchewan attests to his skill in practical politics, he is best known throughout Canada for his unwavering support for what he, one must consider, is an unpopular cause, the drafting of a "bill of rights." One suspects that among the members of his own party there are some who regard this project as far removed from practical politics, as one of winning elections, as a wandering in the wilderness of theory. And so it may be, for though Mr. Diefenbaker's stand may win him the admiration of intellectuals and other political traditionalists, it will not win him their votes. This disregard for the popularity of a cause, this concern for principle, however, may be said to be the true measure of the statesman. It is a measure that will, in time, and has eventually win, the confidence and the support of many Canadians in all walks of life, in all provinces, of all faiths and tongues.

THE OTHER BRAVE MEN

Much has been written of late of the courage of those lovers of freedom who have fled from Hungary, giving up all their material possessions, launching out into the unknown world, fearlessly, because they believe that liberty is a prize above price.

When the Hungarian revolt started, some Hungarians were already outside its border. They were athletes, bound for the Olympic Games in Australia. The Games are now over. Some of the athletes have remained in Australia, because they prefer freedom as much as those who risked their lives to tramp to the border and cross into Austria. Others are part-way-home, their plane having landed at Milan in Italy. Some of them will make the break with the past, choosing to build a new life in some land far from the scenes of their childhood.

But some will return to Hungary. Because they are Communists? Not necessarily.

"I have my family in Hungary," said one man.

There, in that simple sentence, shines courage of another kind—the courage to go back to servitude, the courage to face hunger and fear and uncertainty, because loved ones, friends and relatives and because they must not be left to face them alone.

A NECESSARY ACTION

The Quebec government is reported to be considering the possibility of suspending the driving licences of alcoholics and narcotics addicts.

In view of the fact that Quebec has a particularly high traffic accident rate and that most of the 8,000 licences suspended in that province last year belonged to persons convicted of drunk or impaired driving — the adoption of this ruling appears to be a primary step in accident prevention.

Already the effects of drinking play a far larger part in traffic and all other accidents than is commonly known. Except in the most flagrant cases the use of alcohol is not publicized. A prominent Ontario traffic authority states "50 per cent of drivers involved in accidents have had a drink that day."

Since alcoholics and narcotic addicts are likely to be impaired at any time and are, therefore, a public menace while driving, the provinces have an opportunity to take truly effective and necessary action.

THE BUSY MAN

He was a busy man and yet
No friend who suffered he'd forget.
He rose at dawn, at night worked late
But found the time to pay a call.
He promptly kept each business date
But still remembered one and all.

Beside his desk for hours he stayed,
Transactions pleasantly he made.
When asked to call on some one sick,
He did.
Though many cares were on his mind,
He didn't say, as many will:
"I'm busy now, I'm sorry."

Though tired when he got home at night,
He'd go to share another's plight.
The hours seem few to all men now
And steep the hills they have to climb,
But to assist a friend, somehow,
He always seemed to find the time.

Excuses for ourselves we find.
We could be gracious, generous, kind.
Though he was busy night and day,
The clock kept ticking in the hall,
Yet often on his homeward way
He'd time enough to pay a call.

Radio Able To Survive TV

Ottawa Citizen

Figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that during the first nine months of 1956 Canadians bought more radios but fewer phonographs than they did in the corresponding period of 1955. Sales of radios rose to more than 456,000 units, an increase of 48,000, while sales of TV sets dropped by 56,000 units to about 403,000.

This is evidence, for one thing, that the great rush to acquire TV is over, and that purchases from now on can be expected to be on a replacement basis. Reverse accruing to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation from the 15 per cent excise tax on sets and parts is now declining, although the corporation's expenses are mounting as the demand for TV services grows. This is one of the problems which the Fowler Commission has had repeatedly brought to its attention as it studies every facet of Canadian television in the future.

A second interesting point in these figures is that the split of the excitement over television, radio-phonos is down. The dollar investment in new sets may be small compared with that for TV, because as a rule the buyer's preference is for table and portable models and not radios. But the continuing interest in sound broadcasting suggests that the medium has an important role to play in both the fields of entertainment and information. This is true from the standpoint of survival, there are such factors as convenience and relaxation to be considered. The Fowler Commission will no doubt look into the present and future possibilities of radio when preparing its report on broadcasting as a whole.

Post Office Better Game

Providence, R.I., Bulletin

Remember the good old game of "post office" — the kissing game in which you fit you were a boy had a chance to steal a kiss, a cut, and the girl who had the same number got smacked — sometimes jugly, publicly and to loud applause?

It was a wonderful game for young people suffering from what the psychologists call inhibitions in the presence of the opposite sex. Not only that, but it gave the younger girls a chance to get valuable experience she didn't often get. Nobody was her or be disqualified from further participation in the game.

It is hard to quite what to think of the variant of this fine, old-fashioned game, being played by adults at an ultra-respectable Berlin night club.

Here, the lights are dimmed and equipped with dial telephones and located conveniently close by is pneumatic tube — are arranged around a dance floor. If you want a dance you may be seated at Table 14, you call the table or booth through the tube. Then she comes over and gives you the up-and-down and the twice across look if she wants to see you, you, she does, and if she doesn't she doesn't.

Well, it may be all right, but it simply isn't "postoffice." The old fashioned kissing office game had an element of mystery and surprise about it which this business of dial telephones and pneumatic tubes lacks.

Besides, we can see where it might be a bit humiliating to have the lady at Table 14 leave the room and tell you the brief had just come off her shoe when you could see perfectly well that it hadn't.

We prefer the game as it was played in the Cleveland suburbs, Lyndhurst, with catch can rules and no nonsense.

Make Fodder Of Old Papers

Montreal Star

As if farmers across the continent were not plagued already with surpluses of one sort or another, a United States patent recently has been issued for a new type of fodder, processed from chopped up newspapers.

Scientifically speaking, the explanation for the new product is that newsprint, like hay, is comprised chiefly of cellulose, and appropriate to the lab and sizing have no effect on cattle.

Be that as it may, we scarcely can expect the innovation to be widely adopted without a certain amount of trepidation in our dairying and meat-packing industries.

It is true that cows traditionally are credited with a strong nature and seldom display the neurotic tendencies evident in certain other mammals.

But mental reactions are not the whole considerations. It must be borne in mind that over the past year or so there have been some notable instances in which certain prominent national leaders have suffered severe indigestionlatter some patches on their digestive systems. And it has been suggested that the fact that most of the factors in these ailments has been the frequently woeful and unsettling information contained in the headlines and despatches of the nation's newspapers.

Cows are endowed with an ingenious phlegmatic temperament item, but even allowing for four stomachs and all the advantages of regurgitation, the chance of a cow preying with pastoral peace to stuff our briefs on the overcover and sleeves of the human race.

Conceivably, the scheme might work in less sophisticated times, but when the newspapers of say, the past two months are fed indiscriminated to the mangers, the nation is almost certain to wake up some morning and find your milk on the doorstep.

Health Rules Are the Bunk

Toronto Star

That British doctor who said that fresh air, eight hours' sleep, regular exercise and moderate sunbathing don't do a bit of good probably thought he was joking. Some medicos often have quite a good sense of humour. The funny part is that what he said is literally true.

Having observed some quite extensive cures of nerve and anxiety cases carried out by an eight-year-old Toronto girl with no special guidance, we can confirm that all health rules are bunk.

We are willing to make it possible for certain people to watch TV 15 hours a day, to eat unbelievably substantial than cookies and wiener buns spread with grape jam, and all the fat they can absorb, and to end with energy when dear old dad is nodding over his accounts payable.

Our pigtailed researcher has also discovered that when you put your feet wet it isn't necessary to run home and change your shoes and stockings. If you just keep quiet they will dry right on your feet. Don't they? Well, that's a thought. But watch out for tracks on the kitchen linoleum. They can be a nuisance.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OLD FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
December 17th., 1936

Front street roadway was come planked and public exchanges held here, states James Cole who observed the 25th. anniversary of his birth on December 12th, at the home of his son, Mr. James Cole, 4th. concession Tyrendenago township in the absence of his parents. The principal event of the day was the serving of a most excellent dinner in his honor in the early evening at the home of another son, Mr. Earl Cole, Dundas street. It was a happy gathering and the following members of his family were present: Mrs. Robert Aliller of Consyrville, the only daughter, and his three sons, Mr. Earl Cole, Belleville; Mr. Charles Cole, Corbyville; Mr. James Cole, Tyendinaga township. Mr. Cole was born in 1861 in Ameliasburg township. At an early age his family moved to the 4th. concession of Tyendinaga township where he has lived on that township since that time.

A reporter of the Ontario Intelligencer called at Mr. Cole with Mr. Cole and found him to be a source of interesting information. He remembers Belleville very clearly in the early days of his life. There were only three streets, namely, Front street, Main street, now Coleman street and Back street, now Pinnacle street, just behind Buck street. His farm land which belonged to Sheriff Taylor of Hastings county. Bernard Moira street the land belonged mostly to the Meaney family and was called Murney's Hill. Belleville, he said, was once called Meyers Creek. Front street was a plank road in those days and the planking extended as far as Plainfield. Building of this road was believed to have been started by a large German lumber company which was situated at Plainfield. Lumbering was a very active industry at that time. Where the road ran through marsh land large trunks of trees were driven into the ground and the planking was placed on by running angle-wise.

At a wealth of marrying stone Moira River is wider at some points — especially near the upper bridge. Dundas Street, he stated, stood where it is now. It was here several hangings there in my time" Mr. Cole declared. Hangings were held in the open then in the midst of the people. This was the practice until the time when a man and his wife were hanged together. That was the last public hanging. Hundreds of people used to view the executions.

Mr. Cole was always active for his advanced years. He can see to read without the aid of glasses and he hears well. During his long life he has been active in the affairs of the Methodist Church, until age prevented him doing so; he is now a member of the United Church. In politics he is a Conservative and cast his vote at the recent by-election in East Hastings Riding in which Dr. Harold E. Welsh, Conservative, of Stella, was elected to the Ontario Legislature. Mr. Cole is of United Empire Loyalist descent.

LIVELY CURIOSITY

We wouldn't live a very interesting life if we had no curiosity, no desire to delve into the mysteries of this life and the wonders that confront us every hourly by what has given to the world most of its blessings. Curiosity is behind every step of the scientists and the researchers.

We owe to the curiosity and experimenters the discovery of many a remedy that has lessened the danger of disease that formerly wiped out thousands of lives. Who would suspect that the mould on bread, or other things, would some day do wonders in the saving of lives? The fear of poisons has been mostly dispersed.

Curiosity begins with the child and it should never be discouraged. The livelier the curiosity and imagination, the keener becomes the mind—alert, plastic and full of resilience.

The late Rex Beach spent some time in Alaska, and made the claim that would make it easy out that way. Later he became a brick salesman, and one day a friend inquired how he was doing. He just received from a magazine editor. Beach read the letter and said to himself, "I can write like that"—and he did! He drew upon his gold hunting days and began selling novels, among which were "Pardners," "The Spoilers," "The Silver Horde," "The Barrier," and many others. Had he never been curious to see what Alaska was like, he might have remained a salesman all his days and never dreamed himself to a wide audience that loved redblooded stories.

Many a time have I looked upon that crude though interesting small automobile which was the first that Henry Ford built. As a youngster he was curious about machines, and fired many a one for his friends. He liked to study things that people called impossibilities. That lively curiosity made him the world's first Billionaire. But far greater, a blessing to mankind

Choosing Toys Serious Task

Montreal Gazette

Besides the standard items of dolls and building blocks and sleds and coaster-wagons, a number of new lines have developed in toy departments this year. Many of them are electrical, such as telephones with real switchboards, and electronic devices in the way of toys and games is "creative play." The new cooking sets are patterned after those that grown girls in the preparation of food; sleeping-room furniture includes not only lessons in thrift buying but some lessons in parking the family car as well. Girls' games with an educational content are available; little girls can learn how to make costume jewelry and how to make costume and telephone line.

The problems and pitfalls of selection in short, are greater this year than ever before. Child education counselors say that it's really quite simple though. If a few primary rules are remembered.

Be certain, of the child's age group for which the toy is intended for that age. Some stores have lists of suggestions divided into age groups.

Don't be afraid to give boys and girls the same kind of toys. Boys may like housekeeping games as much as girls and girls may like to hammer and saw as boys.

Don't buy toys just because they are bargains. Some are not even attractive to the shopper's eye. Toys should be carefully selected with a specific child in mind.

Ask, Do Not Tell the Doctor

A correspondent describing the relief from painful nocturnal leg and foot cramps, relief he experienced soon after he began taking a daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, first implied that his doctor said the trouble was "poor circulation."

That seemed far-fetched, although it was borne out when my lay body doctors in lieu of a diagnosis. To day it is used among the incantchants of medicine who engage in the phoney "clinic" racket. Like a "cold," it is readily convertible at any subsequent moment into whatever the health-maze-advice boom decrees, so the victim remains unaware that the doctor was just guessing in the first place.

Although he enjoyed this relief for several months, his enjoyment was not lasting. At the golf course he became acquainted with a new doctor, who informed him that using calcium and vitamin D will bring on hardening of the arteries.

Now, what do I think? The correspondent hates to give up what has been so helpful, but his high blood pressure is only so-and-so-and-so and he has also to watch his keep.....

The poor fellow does not say what the bartender or the cop at the corner thinks about it. He does mention that the doctor at the golf course has never examined him except maybe casually, over a highball. But his new now bordering of the arteries is a ghastly idea, especially for one who has already given any serious thought to the effects of tippling, for instance.

If a daily ration of Ca & D to supplement the ordinary overrefined American diet caused hardening of the arteries, my arteries should be pretty precarious condition, for I've been using such a ration daily for many years.

Here I can only repeat that no pathologist, no physiologist, no physician of standing holds the notion that the daily intake of the quantity of calcium and vitamin D that I recommend will cause "hardening of the arteries" or "calcium deposits" or any other such ill effect.

The doctor-proposed whose query about painful cramps in leg or foot brought us this tirade exactly revealed that it was not the first doctor, but he himself that opined that the cramps were due to "poor circulation."

Let that be a lesson to us. When you consult a physician just state your complaint in your own words and then shut up. Don't try to stretch—a lump right here — tenderness and dull pain here — dizziness — slight bleeding at irregular times... and leave it to the doctor to make the investigation from there on. Don't try to impress the doctor with your knowledge of medical lingo and don't try to make the diagnosis for him. If you do he will feel doctor he'll ignore your yakety-yak or maybe he'll say, "Keep your own notions to yourself. If he's a merchant of medicine very likely he'll let you have your way as long as your bank account lasts.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Superstitious people in Britain are fretting over the appearance this past autumn of extraordinary numbers of the deadly head moth. They feel it is a harbinger of some sort of disaster. An elderly countrywoman in Cumberland with whom I corresponded about birds and other natural history matters has written me a long rigmarole, attempting to explain away the omission of the death's head moth in her recorded history of the harvest of 1956. Famine was predicted in Scotch bogeliver touring Canada, with whom I talked only a few days ago, also expressed his anxiety along the same lines. Country Life, the readable English weekly devoted to the old-fashioned and traditional, has published a letter reviewing this ancient superstition and explaining it in terms of simple natural history.

The death's head moth is a huge insect belonging to the hawk family as our hawk moths or sphinx moths which we see in the evenings, hovering like humming birds over our garden flowers. It has a wing span of over five inches and is a body almost as big as that of a field mouse. On its back, or thorax, is a remarkable white representation of a skull, or death's head. He caterpillar, which infests potato plants, is a spectacular big worm, five and a half inches long, two inches in girth, yellow green with seven blue stripes and lines in purple.

The death's head is not native to Britain, but flies across the channel from France. Normally extremely rare, with only a dozen or so then reported in a year, this past autumn there were reported in hundreds or possible thousands, and has been commonly reported not only in the south but all the way up through Britain and even in Ireland. It is an invader on a mighty eggs in Britain, and the worms thrive on the English potato plants. The moth is far at home in many of the puna; survive the British winter in the form of pupae buried in the near east and north Africa.

Naturalists assert that especially favourable weather in Europe last month in a large area of the moth there, and that favourable conditions in early September walled extraordinary numbers of them across the channel.

Like all of the other confusions that infest the British Isles this autumn, it is not much help to have old superstitions aroused amongst that section of the population that is gifted with credulity.

EARTHQUAKE

A traveller was showing pictures he had taken on a trip to Asia. Huge blocks of stone were strewn over a wide area. Only a year before the pictures were taken, a great earthquake had leveled a city. Some of the cliff and cast them all over the adjacent country.

A person who has spent much time in Asia once told me that an earthquake is always accompanied by a noise no one ever hears at any other time. He described this noise as primordial—something related to the original creation of all things. The terror produced by an earthquake is indescribable. One can keep his courage under almost all conditions, but when the earth begins shaking under his feet and the solid ground he has counted on to support him suddenly vanishes. Here is something terrifying to experience. When the earth begins to shake, all is shaken. The winds may blow and the waters rage, but this is simply the intensification of the familiar. But when the ground begins shaking it is as though the foundation which has about it the horror of the beginning of chaos.

Let us face the fact that we are living in an age when the moral life of the world is being shaken. Family life is experiencing earthquake. So are all our social relationships, so international life, but there lends the basic, primordial, worse even than the shaking of the ground beneath our feet.

W.T. Assoc. Holds Yuletide Meeting

WELLINGTON — The Christmas meeting of the Wellington Unit of the Women Teachers' Association was held in Bowerman's school recently, the guests of Mrs. Howard Hall. In spite of the bad roads, there was a good attendance.

The president, Mrs. Edgar Matthews, called the meeting to order while Mrs. Clifford McFaul acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Lyle Brannonde. Correspondence from Miss McCalpin and Mrs. Harry Bates was read.

Highlights of the president's bulletin were given by Mrs. Matthews. Mention was made of the recent re-organization in the Ontario Department of Education. Dr. C. F. Cannon has been appointed Chief Director of Education and the two deputy ministers are Mr. Stanley Rivers, in charge of elementary school work and Mr. Charles Booth in charge of secondary school education.

Col. Stanley Wilson now is superintendent of curriculum for both primary and secondary schools.

A general knowledge quiz on federation work was conducted which proved to be quite interesting. A donation from the collection fund is to be sent to the Hungarian Relief Fund at intervals in the spring.

Mrs. Howard Hall expressed a cordial welcome to all. Misses Linda Weir and Margaret Wood favored with a piano duet.

The girls were suitably thanked by Mrs. John Mayhew.

The remainder of the evening was spent in exchange of concert material. The Christmas gifts were duly unwrapped and many and varied were the articles available for classroom use.

Delectable refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

The January meeting will be held January 8th. in the Wellington Consolidated School. The guest speaker will be Mr. H. L. Knight, I.P.S.

'The Nativity' Presented by St. Thomas S.S.

The colorful beauty of The Nativity in its impressive solemnity was presented by the Sunday School of St. Thomas' Church on Sunday afternoon.

Teachers and members of the various classes occupied the front pews of the church while the congregation watched the impressive pageant unfold, from other pews.

Special lighting illuminated the scene as the young actors portrayed the various roles. The costuming was excellent and truthfully depicted the apparel of the times.

The newly-formed boys' choir was heard in appropriate Christmas carols as the pageant went from sequence to sequence, ending with the gifts of the Three Wise Men.

Much credit is due Mrs. G. V. Hosang and Mrs. Bob Jones, who organized, staged and directed the pageant.

Mr., Mrs. Wesley Ray Celebrate 45 Years of Married Life

RAWDON.—On the evening of December 13, a number of relatives and friends pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ray, Rawdon township on the occasion of the 45th wedding anniversary.

The family provided a tiered anniversary cake, trimmed in pink and white with appropriate lettering which centred the dining table, flanked by candelabra with lighted tapers. Pink and white streamers were used as decoration from table to ceiling.

A number of old friends from Selby district were in attendance. The evening was spent in reminiscence, cards and other games.

Kenneth Ray was master of ceremonies for the presentations, when the honored couple were seated in decorated chairs.

The sons and daughters presented their parents with a living room step table and electric lamp, and the brothers and sisters presented Mr. and Mrs. Ray with an upholstered occasional chair. They were also the recipients of several individual gifts.

Two granddaughters, Miss Carol Ray and Miss Shirley Bateman, served the refreshments which consisted of dainty sandwiches and cookies all nicely arranged on fancy plates.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray have five sons and two daughters, Kenneth Ray, Stirling; Stanley Ray, Hamilton; Leonard Ray, St. Catharines; Jewel Ray, Bancroft; Carman Ray, Toronto; (Edna) Mrs. Harper Bateman, Springbrook and (Stella) Mrs. Mark Williamson, of Brampton. One son Raymond Ray was killed in World War II. They have 14 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Mrs. Ray was formerly Martha Hawley of Thomasburg. She has three sisters and one brother, (Pearl) Mrs. Roy Miller, Buffalo, New York; (Mary) Mrs. Calvin Thomson, Brownsville, N.Y.; (Celvina) Mrs. Isaac Woodcock, Arden, Ontario; Percy Hawley, Cornell, U.S. One brother, Sqrler Hawley is deceased.

Mr. Ray has seven brothers and four sisters, Norman Ray, Stirling; Percy Ray, Harold, Ont.; Austin Ray, Foxboro; Samuel Ray, Toronto; Murney Ray, Vancouver, B.C; Stewart Ray, Belleville; William Ray, Thurlow township; (Lila) Mrs. Theodore Conner, of Rawdon township; (Margaret) Mrs. Thomas Tanner, Stirling; (Martha) Mrs. E. Tummon, Winnipeg, Manitoba; (Mary) Mrs. A. Sulberland, Alberta. A brother Irvin Ray, Rawdon, and a sister (Tillie), Mrs. John Fleming, Madoc, are deceased.

Suggests Way For Political Defeat of Soviet

TORONTO (CP) — The West should withdraw diplomatic recognition from all governments of Communist satellite countries as part of a program to effect the political defeat of Soviet Russia, Charles J. Kersten, former United States Republican congressman, said Sunday.

Mr. Kersten, former chairman of the House committee on Communist aggression, said the Soviets could be defeated more easily politically than militarily and urged a positive program to that end.

Speaking to 1,000 Ukranian-Canadians at a mass meeting protesting Communist subjugation of the Ukraine, the Milwaukee lawyer said the credentials of satellite representatives at the United Nations should be attacked and the delegates made to prove they represent the people they claim to.

He suggested an international juridical commission be formed to begin documenting Russian crimes in Hungary, and that an international trade commission be created to bargain with Iron Curtain countries.

The commission could grant trade concessions on condition that Communist restrictions on the travel of Western journalists and educationists be relaxed.

REID—WAY

A pretty winter wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, December 5, at 3:00 p.m., in Bridge Street United church parsonage, by the Rev. Harry M. Davis, B.A., pastor of the church, when Lois Delene Way, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Way of Picton, R.R. 1, became the bride of John Harold Reid of Plainfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reid.

The bride was becomingly attired in a winter-white suit, white hat, and black accessories, worn with corsage of American Beauty roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Carl Wright, of Rossmore, who also wore a winter-white suit with black accessories, and corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses.

Mr. Stanley Reid of Plainfield, attended the bridegroom.

Following the ceremony, an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Carl Wright, of Rossmore, which was tastefully adorned with pink and white carnations and a white wedding bells.

The bride's mother wore a steel grey gown with white and grey accessories, and corsage of yellow roses, and the bridegroom's mother, a mauve gown with black and white accessories, and corsage of rose corsage.

For the wedding trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and other western points, the bride wore her wedding costume. Mr. and Mrs. Reid are residing in Belleville.

Guests attended were from Plainfield, Picton and Frankford.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a sweater, scarf and matching earrings; to her bridegroom, gold cuff links and tie clip; the bridegroom's gift to his bride, a gold compact; and to his attendant, a leather billfold.

Previous to the wedding, the happy couple were presented with a pair of arm chairs and table lamp by members of the West Lake community. A shower was also held at the home of Mrs. Charles Reid, Belleville, when the bride was the recipient of many fine gifts.

Carmel Comrades Hold Fine Yuletide Party

Carmel Comrade Club recently held its December meeting at the hall with approximately 80 present. This meeting was in the form of a banquet with Gilead Friendship Guild catering.

Following a bountiful meal, Mr. Alex Allison, club president, presided over the following program; Mr. Stanley Green moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Gilead Friendship Guild to which Mrs. George Clare replied. Mr. Earl Dafoe, the club's first president after organizing, spoke on the progress of the club during the last 17 years.

Mr. Clare Barton, club treasurer, gave a detailed report and stated that over $900 had been turned over to the hall fund during the past three years.

Rev. Mr. McCrae gave some timely remarks and reminded all of the true meaning and reason for Christmas day.

With Mrs. C. Horton at the piano and Earl Dafoe, fiddler, all joined in singing Christmas carols.

Marysville O.T.U. Elects New Officers

The regular monthly meeting of Lodi 1871, Marysville, of the Ontario Farmers' Union was held in Marysville hall on Friday, chhaired by the president, Harold Murphy.

Routine resolutions were brought before the meeting; requested that presidents of locals be directors on the county executive of the Ontario Farmers' Union, and that the Ontario Farmers' Union press for permission of farmers to cut and sell their own meat products.

Mrs. Evelyn Prosser, lady president of Ontario Farmers' Union, was nominated to chair the election of officers of the local which resulted as follows: president, Mr. Harold Moon; vice- president, Harold Murphy; secretary-treasurer, Charles Brennan; social director, Mrs. Celia Walsh; legislative and publicity directors, James Brennan and Ken Chadwick; auditors, Mrs. Murphy, James McCambridge; organizational director, John Stafford.

The new officers were called on to say a few words to the gathering.

Mrs. Prosser was introduced by the president and gave a stirring address on the aims of a farmers' union, outlining the activities of Union in the past years.

She also gave a good account of the recent delegation of the International Co-operative Council to the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference held in Ottawa recently, and stated that the union was congratulated by the chief of the delegations and the union brief presented at that conference.

Bill Winchester, past junior president of the O.F.U., returning home last week in Eastern Ontario, attended the meeting and expressed in a few words to the gathering. He brought greetings from Simcoe county and pleasure-seeking the union.

How these people love dancing. Mambos, tangos, rumbas, and boogie, they know everything — except waltzes. You have to make a special request for a waltz in this home of the waltz, and then the other dancers always object. Everybody wants to if you mention the "Blue Danube".

For that matter the Danube river side is not blue, it's brown. The blue as the sparkling eyes of about three out of these lovely girls (seven in ten have brown eyes and dark hair) as they swirl by glancing invitingly from their bare arms and shoulders—of their partners.

What lovely figures they have. They are taller than average — 5ft. 6in. and 5ft. 7in. are common, or more. Their average measurements are 37 bust, 24 waist, and 37 hips.

But it is the rhythm of their movements which is so fascinating. As they walk they seem to sway in a dance of their own — rather like the ancient Greek — fashioned waltz, which they are all so tired of — but adapted with an unconscious provocative power of new-rhythm and love of living.

I started the dance floor to talk to beautiful Inge Schoenauer, 19-year-old model and even more svelte than the average Austrian girl — but with the same touch of movement and more provocative face.

Austrian girls have bubble cheeks, well-formed noses with rather wide nostrils and small heart-shaped chins. There are dimples at the corner of their mouths when they smile and they are always smiling.

They have such a pent-up power of devilment in them. They have almost shaped cat's eyes with Slavonic cheek bones and twinkle like the lights of Vienna as seen from the hills.

Inge makes her eyes look wider by lining them round with mascara, and uses much make-up — like nine out of ten of these girls. But it is unnecessary. She uses a foundation costing 12s. a pack and lipstick costing 12s. a tube.

"But it is the hairdressing that makes a girl so much more," she told me. "Every girl must have her own individual hair. We have an unusual variation of the windswept coats me £3 a month. I have to go to be added with a twinkle.

There must be hundreds of women's hairdressers in Vienna. I counted 20 in a street a hundred yards long. Viennese hairdressers usually win the international prizes and they certainly make good use of them. In a five-minute walk I passed 10 shops with the style variation of style. About seven in ten have permanent waves which cost 30s. All go to the hairdresser for a regular washes and sets (the exception is that Vienna is so dusty but it's really the cleanest city I've been in).

Inge can afford these things better than most. She earns about £25 a week and lives with her parents. Nearly 1,000,000 of the 2,-178,067 people working are women with an average salary of only £15 a month.

Queen Mary, Pr. Charles H-S Assoc. Presents Yuletide Program

The December meeting of the Queen Mary-Prince Charles Home and School Association took on a Christmas accent Thursday evening, as a Yuletide program of carol singing, plays and other entertainment was staged for the big turnout of parents.

During the brief business session a donation of $10 was given to the minor league team.

PROGRAM

Following the Christmas program a spelling bee was conducted with grades 6, 7 and 8, participating. Mrs. Bernard Hamill, C. I. Frederick, acted as spellmaster.

Both of the contest winners was presented with a silver dollar by Mrs. Chambers on behalf of the Home and School Association.

Vienna—City of Lovely Women

Even the old aristocracy impoverished by the war, works too-Take Graetine (countess) Elizabeth Kinsky aged 20 (all these girls have nicknames and she is always called "Puppe," the doll.)

She earns £22 a month as a chief secretary in an importing firm, but manages to have lots of fun besides paying for the single room — flats are rare and expensive — she rents in the city centre.

What is the secret of their charm?

That intriguing Hedy Lamarr who is the Austrian film star, starring in "Ecstasy" at 15 years of age, the lovely Lilli Palmer, and the rest of them in Eastern Ontario, attended the meeting and expressed in a few words to the gathering. He brought greetings from Simcoe county and pleasure-seeking the union.

What is the secret of their charm?

That intriguing Hedy Lamarr who is the Austrian film star, starring in "Ecstasy" at 15 years of age, the lovely Lilli Palmer, and the rest of them in Eastern Ontario, attended the meeting and expressed in a few words to the gathering. He brought greetings from Simcoe county and pleasure-seeking the union.

I write in the open air Volks-garten, one of Vienna's many places of pleasure, beside a circular dance floor of marble polished by the shuffle of countless feet. Coloured fairy electrical trees lights twinkle from dozens of tables for two.

How these people love dancing. Mambos, tangos, rumbas, and boogie, they know everything — except waltzes. You have to make a special request for a waltz in this home of the waltz, and then the other dancers always object. Everybody wants to if you mention the "Blue Danube".

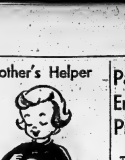
For that matter the Danube river side is not blue, it's brown. The blue as the sparkling eyes of about three out of these lovely girls (seven in ten have brown eyes and dark hair) as they swirl by glancing invitingly from their bare arms and shoulders—of their partners.

What lovely figures they have. They are taller than average — 5ft. 6in. and 5ft. 7in. are common, or more. Their average measurements are 37 bust, 24 waist, and 37 hips.

But it is the rhythm of their movements which is so fascinating. As they walk they seem to sway in a dance of their own — rather like the ancient Greek — fashioned waltz, which they are all so tired of — but adapted with an unconscious provocative power of new-rhythm and love of living.

I started the dance floor to talk to beautiful Inge Schoenauer, 19-year-old model and even more svelte than the average Austrian girl — but with the same touch of movement and more provocative face.

Austrian girls have bubble cheeks, well-formed noses with rather wide nostrils and small heart-shaped chins. There are dimples at the corner of their mouths when they smile and they are always smiling.



They have such a pent-up power of devilment in them. They have almost shaped cat's eyes with Slavonic cheek bones and twinkle like the lights of Vienna as seen from the hills.

Inge makes her eyes look wider by lining them round with mascara, and uses much make-up — like nine out of ten of these girls. But it is unnecessary. She uses a foundation costing 12s. a pack and lipstick costing 12s. a tube.

"But it is the hairdressing that makes a girl so much more," she told me. "Every girl must have her own individual hair. We have an unusual variation of the windswept coats me £3 a month. I have to go to be added with a twinkle.

There must be hundreds of women's hairdressers in Vienna. I counted 20 in a street a hundred yards long. Viennese hairdressers usually win the international prizes and they certainly make good use of them. In a five-minute walk I passed 10 shops with the style variation of style. About seven in ten have permanent waves which cost 30s. All go to the hairdresser for a regular washes and sets (the exception is that Vienna is so dusty but it's really the cleanest city I've been in).

Inge can afford these things better than most. She earns about £25 a week and lives with her parents. Nearly 1,000,000 of the 2,-178,067 people working are women with an average salary of only £15 a month.

THE PERKY circle of your youngster's pet pooch needn't be bad in washing. Before you think the bowl, choose a flea which about matches it in circumference. The plaid will serve as a fine blocker if you stretch and smooth the French bulldog's bowl over it.

Woman Directs Men's Stag Shop On Fifth Avenue

NEW YORK (AP)—The average man would rather sit out the rest of his life in a dentist's chair than spend five minutes at a lingerie counter buying his wife a nightgown for Christmas.

It takes a special kind of stylish flair, known only to the French and a few others, to finger the price tag on a frilly feminine item without flinching under the sarcastic smirk and the baleful glances of inquisitive fellow shoppers.

But be of good cheer, fellow males, this Christmas may be different. A revolutionary movement now gaining may yet rescue us from our concarices.

It's the advent of the sport-ment store stag shop, where men can do their Christmas shopping without rush or blush in an atmosphere as masculine as a backward room or a battleship. The furniture is sturdy and leathery; the drapes, thick and velvety.

Best of all, no women are allowed in except the sales help and a bevy of pretty models who will try on anything from a lacy negligee to a $20,000 mink coat.

WINS FRIENDS

"The idea," says Miss Lynn Phillips, who directs the stag shop at Saks-Fifth Avenue in New York, "is to win friends for the store and keep the male shopper coming back year after year as a trusting and contented customer."

In six years of operating its stag shop, Saks has learned that, with a little help, men can make excellent shoppers, better than most women.

A man with visions of Jayne Mansfield dancing in his head may unconsciously endow the object of his gift with her heroic dimensions, but an understanding salesgirl can usually bring him down to earth with a few deft questions.

Similarly, men always think of their wives as geographically unchanged since the days of their courtship, failing to take into account the spread of years. It's a flattering fancy that usually reverts to reality at the exchange counter in the week after Christmas.

Parkdale W.I. Enjoys Yuletide Program

The regular monthly meeting of Parkdale W.I. was held on Wednesday evening in the form of a Christmas meeting with the children of Parkdale entertaining the mothers with songs and dances as follows:

After the children were thanked and given bags of candy, the business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Arthur Quarry, presiding.

The secretary and treasurer's reports were given.

Roll call was answered with each member giving a gift of a toy or an article of used clothing by 30 members, which will be given to the Plainfield Children's Home.

There were six visitors and 18 children present.

Christmas carols were sung, followed by a social hour. Mrs. Harvey Bronson, "The Charming Beauty of Christmas."

Mrs. Arthur Quarry distributed the vanilla and pepper the girls are selling and saving to get their coffee urn for the hall.

Plans were made for assistance in the donation of sandwiches and pickles for catering to the Hydro Christmas party next Thursday.

Mrs. William Cone was nominated as the new representative to the Parks Board.

The hostess, Mrs. Charles Keeble, roberteers, Mrs. G. Palmer, Mrs. William Prentice, Mrs. J. P. Jones and Mrs. McAuley, served refreshments. An exchange of beef bouse brought the meeting to a close.

St. Margaret's Guild Elects 1957 Officers

After the usual business was completed, Mrs. Ellis, Parish Visitor chair for the election of officers. Mrs. D. Brown was nominated president and Mrs. L. Smith, vice-president. Mrs. Corby was re-elected secretary-treasurer and Mrs. Putman as flower convener.

It was also decided to change the name of the Guild from St. John's to St. Margaret's Guild. Afternoon branch. The Guild has had a most successful year.

Holloway St. W.A. Presents Farewell Gift, Life Memberships

The president, Mrs. Brown, presided over the program and extended a gracious welcome to all. She also read a poem in keeping with the advent season. Several Christmas carols were sung throughout the service.

Mrs. Dobbs presented a life membership pin and certificate to Mrs. F. Scott, impressive of her faithful services and help in all activities of the W.A.

Mrs. Scott, although taken by surprise, graciously thanked the members for this fine gesture and said whatever she had done in the past was not a sacrifice, but a rest' pleasure.

At this time, Mrs. Coulter came forward and presented Mrs. Weese with a life membership pin and certificate from the W.A. making her a life member of the W.A.

Mrs. Weese expressed her thanks, saying of all the organizations she hadn't yet had membership in the W.M.S. was her "baby" as the missionary cause was near to her heart.

Mrs. Larman was asked to stand at this point. Mrs. Smith voiced the appreciation of all members and presented her with a gift from the W.A.

Mrs. Larman said she would always be interested in the memories of their years spent in Holloway Street church.

The best wishes and prayers of the members go with Mr. and Mrs. Larman as they begin their new field of service at Pembroke.

Mrs. Templeman served with two lovely solos "Little Road to Bethlehem" and "Star of God."

Miss Tulle gave a lovely Christmas reading "The Littlest Angel".

Mrs. Ellis had charge of the devotional.

Mrs. Oliphant read the Scripture lesson from St. Luke 2, Mrs. S. Westover gave the prayer.

Mrs. Brown then called for look, "How Christmas is Celebrated in Other Countries." The shepherds and wise men were the first to hear when the Christ Child would come. Therefore they knew not the date the first Christmas would be observed. "We know that December 25th is the day set aside each year as Christmas Day. If the shepherds and wise men were ready at a moment's notice, we shouldn't we be ready after, having all year to prepare our hearts for Him?"

"Are we like the innkeeper devoting too much time and attention to material and physical things? Is it because we don't take time to get our hearts and souls into the quiet receptive mood for the Christ Child to enter in?

"As homemakers we can do much to bring the real spirit of Christmas into the hearts of our families. We must have the real spirit of Christmas in our own hearts first. We can do much to centre our family celebration around the spiritual rather than the material aspects of Christmas.

"If we do this, surely Christmas at our home will be a blessed vesper for our family, ourselves and our friends."

Mrs. Ellis closed the worship period with prayer.

Gratifying reports were given by the treasurer, Mrs. Oliphant, the secretary, Mrs. Symons; correspondence secretary, Mrs. Canning.

Mrs. Canning read a letter from the president of the Bay of Quinte Conference branch, Mrs. Wilford Elliott, stressing the importance of need of more candidates for the ministry.

Thank you letters were also read from sick and bereaved members.

It was decided to give $100/to Lake of the Woods Mission and $175 on the chancel; $50 to Albert College to aid a young girl studying for a missionary career; $25 to Dorcas and $10 to the Deaconess Fund.

Mrs. Larman was thanked for the fast Sunday evening in December after the regular church service.

Mrs. Smale moved a hearty vote of thanks to the Massanga ladies for their delicious turkey dinner.

Mrs. Brown thanked all those who had helped in any way to make such a successful meeting.

CLOTHES
Helpful hints for keeping your wardrobe in Tip-Top form during the holiday entertaining season

- After each party, let clothes air out at least overnight. Then inspect for spots, minor breakage splashes, perspiration or other soil.
- If okay, a little shaking or even brushing won't hurt to smooth out minor creases. Hang in closet on wide (not wire) hangers protected by garment bags . . . and don't crowd.
- Have soiled or badly crumpled things recondi-tioned beforehand. For this purpose nothing quite equals our Sanitone Dry Cleaning Service. So call us without delay.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

JEALOUSY INDICATIVE A LACK OF SELF-CONFIDENCE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 23 and my husband is 26. We've been married five years and have three children.

After being married all these years my husband is still very jealous. I can hardly even speak to another man. He accuses me of flirting, or maybe even having gone out with him.

I love my husband, but when he acts like that I wonder how he can be so mean. Sometimes, when he is in a bad mood, he'll even say that he thinks he'll divorce me. Then when he's in a good mood, he says he loves me and doesn't know what he'd do without me.

I hope you can give me some good advice.

Dear T.:

In this problem of your husband's jealousy, there are two important points for you to think about.

The first, of course, is this: Could there be any possibility that, even without consciousness of it yourself, you might behave in a coy manner when talking to other men, which a super-sensitive man like your husband could interpret as flirting? After all, you're still a very young woman, and it wouldn't be at all surprising if you played up to men you meet in much the same way you did before you were married.

Don't think I'm accusing you of doing this. I'm merely suggesting that it's something about which to think carefully, in order to make sure you're not in any way responsible for your husband feeling as he does.

The other important thing you should realize is that jealousy stems from insecurity and a lack of self-confidence in a person.

Whether or not your husband has ever said anything to you to indicate that he lacks self-confidence, he may, actually, feel that he is a less able, less interesting and less attractive person than other men. Consequently, when he goes out with you socially he looks at other men and thinks how much more attractive in every way they are than he is, and he's afraid you may think so, too.

Your program, therefore, should be to try—without letting him know that you are doing so—to build up self-confidence in him. This means that you'll be constantly on the lookout for every opportunity you can find to praise him; that you'll tell him often and earnestly how much you love him, even though he may be in a bad mood, and that you'll let him know, in all the little ways a wife has, that, so far as you're concerned, no other man can hold a candle to him. In other words, he's tops in your book.

Keep telling the children, too, what a wonderful daddy they have, so they'll look up to him.

If there is a natural chance to do so, ask him about his work occasionally and show a real interest in what he's doing in his field. Let him know that you think he's a real smart guy, and that he's go far in his chosen business or profession.

When you're out together, be careful not to neglect him. Keep an eye out to make sure he's never standing alone in a corner, as can happen to shy and self-conscious people at a party, and try to see that he's brought into the conversation when you're in a group. You can do this by watching for an opportunity to tell him to tell some little incident that may appropriately tie in with what is being discussed, and in that way show him that you think he has something to contribute that others will be interested to hear.

Don't expect that, even if you meticulously follow this program it's going to bring about a wonderful change in your husband immediately. It will not. Any change will come very gradually. For insecurity and distrust of one's self are deep-seated difficulties that cannot be torn out all at once, like uprooting a plant.

So now put your best, most intelligent efforts to work and see what you can do. As let me know how you get on, so that I might give you further suggestions from time to time.

Rednersville W.A. Headed By Mrs. J. Hall

The December meeting of the Rednersville W.A., was held at the home of Mrs. George Roblin with 17 members present. The meeting opened with a recording of Christmas carols.

Mrs. H. Adams read the 139th Psalm.

The devotional called "God's Gift of Light", was given by Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Stafford, Mrs. Wannamaker and Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Hall led in prayer.

The treasurer read her report which showed a nice balance on hand. Thank you notes were read from two of the members.

Shut-in friends are to be remembered. A quilt is being sent to the Salvation Army. A special white gift collection was taken and the money is to be sent to the Children's Aid Society.

The Rev. W. L. Dovey was in charge of the election of officers. The following were elected: honorary president, Mrs. R. Stafford; president, Mrs. J. Hall; vice-president, Mrs. T. Thompson; social president, Mrs. R. Roblin; secretary, Mrs. C. Hillman; assistant secretary, Mrs. George Roblin; treasurer, Mrs. L. Dickie; correspondence secretary, Mrs. Harry Adams; pianist, Mrs. Rorabeck, assistant pianist, Mrs. L. Ward; press reporter, Mrs. C. Hillman.

Mrs. Hall thanked the ladies for their co-operation during the year and hoped they would continue the good work for the coming year.

Mrs. Dickie moved a vote of thanks to the hostess for opening her home and to the lunch conveners for the refreshments.

GOOD MANNERS

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT TO A CHILD

"He who gives a child a treat
Makes joy-bells ring in Heaven's street."

A CHRISTMAS CARD TO HER EMPLOYER AND HIS WIFE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been reading your advice about various questions concerning Christmas. Now I have a problem of my own regarding Christmas-gift-giving between employer and employee. I work in a one-girl office, and last Christmas my employer gave me a gift of money and his wife also sent me a small gift. What is the appropriate way for me to show my gratitude this Christmas? Would a special kind of greeting card be suitable, or could you suggest a gift that would be appropriate?

A Reader

You would be very wise, I think simply to send a Christmas card addressed to your employer and his wife at their home address. Choose a good-looking card of a conservative kind and, if you wish, add a personal message to the printed message. For example, something like this: "My friendly Christmas greetings to you both. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis, and every good wish for your happiness in the New Year. Mary Thompson."

It is not necessary, or really appropriate, for you to send a gift, and I am sure they would prefer just the card. You start any gift giving procedure to them.

SHE NEEDN'T HAVE AN ENGAGEMENT RING!

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm to be married in our church quite soon. But I haven't an engagement ring, and in this circumstance do my parents put an announcement of my engagement in the newspaper? — R.D.

The fact that you haven't an engagement ring has nothing to do with the reality of your engagement. Since you are engaged, your parents may send the formal announcement of your engagement to the newspaper whenever you and your fiance and your parents wish.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

NEW CREAM PROTECTS HANDS AND ELBOWS IN WINTER WEATHER

Hand cream, massaged into elbows, prevents and heals dry, cracked skin.

Skin lubrication is of year 'round importance, of course, but at this season it's doubly essential since cold rains, snow and icy winds, coupled with overheated rooms, are intensely drying. And, because dryness and wrinkles go hand in hand, skin neglect is to be avoided at all costs.

Make a resolution now to use your favorite creams and lotions faithfully—not only at bedtime but each time you go out of the house. Don't wait until the dryness has already appeared. If your skin is inclined to be dry at all times, an extra dab of night cream around the eyes will take care of any squint lines which may be lurking there. But, generally speaking, a thorough creaming, followed by complete removal of the cream before retiring is sufficient.

For hands, elbows, knees and heels, which also tend to become dry, rough and red under winter weather conditions, use hand cream and plenty of it! Our favorite of a long time has been one that while not entirely new, is now available in a different formula which, tested by 1,000 dermatologists, has proven highly satisfactory. The medical men who cooperated in the tests found that even when a bacterial condition of the hands had been complicated by detergents to such an extent that the skin was cracked and raw, regular use of this cream not only helped heal but restored the hands to a soft, smooth, fine texture.

It has already been discovered by the dermatologists that dryness results from lack of moisture under the skin. Many hand creams merely give a temporary softness to the surface, with no penetrating action. This formula, however, has a unique new ingredient, "colestrol," that works on a different principle. It is a lanolin derivative which serves to hold moisture within the skin tissues itself. And, according to one famed clinical director, "the colestrol is both oil soluble and water absorbent, so that it forms a liquid bridge for diffusion of solutes from the cream it allows perspiration to pass through."

The cream works at the right stage of skin growth and renewal. The fact that it allows perspiration to pass through normally prevents that clammy feeling so often associated with many creams and lotions. Neither is it sticky or greasy. You can apply it to the elbows before donning a long-sleeved frock or sweater, to knees and heels before slipping on your nylons and it's so smoothly unobtrusive that, except for the fine results it produces, you'd never know you were wearing it.

Tender Turkey Talk

By Mary Moore

Plenty of inexperienced cooks ask what size of turkey to buy for a stated number of people. Some experienced cooks ask the same question. I am asked what roasting temperature I recommend. Could the stuffing be put in the bird the day before Christmas? May the bird be partially roasted and finished on Christmas Day?

So that your bird will be a golden-brown tender-moist beauty — a joy to behold and to eat—I have listed a few of the important steps in preparing His Nibs.

HOW MUCH TURKEY TO BUY

Roughly stated you should allow 1 lb. of undrawn turkey per serving or 3-4 lb. oven ready (eviscerated) turkey per person.

Note—These notes apply to a bird weighing between 10 to 14 lbs.

HOW TO STUFF

Stuff the turkey just before roasting. The stuffing may be made the day before if wet and dry ingredients are kept separated and refrigerated.

POPULAR BREAD STUFFING

Fourteen cups breadcrumbs or cubes, 2 teaspoons herbs (I prefer Rosemary leaves) but you may choose either sage, poultry dressing, thyme, or marjoram; 1 cup butter, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1-2 cup grated onion, 2 cups finely diced celery (or mushrooms or chestnuts or oysters), 1 cup giblet broth (if desired), 4 teaspoons salt.

Saute onions, celery and herb in butter gently. Mix with remaining ingredients.

RICE STUFFING

One cup raw rice, 2 cups cold water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 medium onion grated or chopped finely, 1-4 cup chopped parsley, 1 cup chopped celery, 1-2 teaspoon thyme or rosemary, 6 or 8 tablespoons butter, 2 beaten eggs, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, additional salt and pepper. Melt the butter gently, add the rice, onion, parsley, herb and celery and saute until rice is golden and vegetables are limp. Add water and salt and cover and cook 15 minutes over lowest heat. Remove from heat, add breadcrumbs and when cooled somewhat stir in eggs.

HOW TO ROAST

At 325 deg. Fahr. On shallow pan on very shallow rack. Do not cover; do not add water. Rub skin of bird with unsalted best quality fat or tuck aluminum foil around it loosely. If thermometer is used insert at centre of stuffing. Turkey is done when temperature is 185 deg. Fahr.

ROASTING TIMES

Ready-to-cook stuffed weights: 6 to 10 lbs. 3 3-4 to 4 1-2 hours; 10 to 14 lbs., 4 1-2 to 5 1-4 hours; 14 to 18 lbs., 5 1-4 to 6 1-2 hours; 18 to 24 lbs. 6 1-2 to 9 hours. Half Turkeys—6 to 8 lbs., 3 1-2 to 4 hours; 8 to 12 lbs., 4 to 5 hours.

Note:—(1) It requires at least 24 hours in storage (not freezer) part of refrigerator to defrost a turkey, (2) A rule of thumb for testing doneness of turkey is to move the drumstick. If it moves easily and does not spring back to natural position bird is tender. Don't overroast your bird, or the drumstick will droop.

TOURS POWER PROJECTS

MASSENA, N.Y (AP)—James S. Duncan of Toronto, recently-named chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, Friday got his first view of the St. Lawrence river projects. He also viewed work on the seaway. On the Canadian side, he visited the new village of Iroquois and Ontario Hydro's new townsites in the Cornwall-Morrisburg area.

22 of 26 Persons Killed Die of Motor Mishaps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 26 persons died accidentally in Canada during the weekend, most of them on highways.

Of the total, 22 were killed in traffic accidents, with road mishaps accounting for 14 of the 22 Ontario deaths.

In all, however, the accidental death toll throughout the country was relatively low. In a Canadian Press survey taken from 8 p.m. local time Friday until midnight Sunday, two provinces—Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland—reported no fatalities.

Ontario's 11 was the highest. Manitoba had four and British Columbia and Quebec three each. Alberta had two deaths and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick one each.

Ontario deaths:

Howard Wabdale, 51, of Glen Arm and Harold Bailey, 36, of Bracebridge, when car skidded off road Saturday at Beaverton.

Leona St. James, Kingston when hit by car Saturday.

Cecil Parker, about 50, of Tay Township, when a car hit a tree at Barrie Friday night.

Warmer Weather Forecast for Western Canada

EDMONTON (CP) — Warmer weather was forecast for the western Prairies today, ending a cold spell that began 16 days ago.

The weather office at Edmonton reported that a disturbance from the Pacific Ocean is expected to cause Chinook conditions in southern Alberta and moderation in other sections.

But in the meantime overnight low temperatures from 20 to 45 degrees below zero were predicted with the lowest minimum—45 below—forecast for Prince Albert in north-central Saskatchewan.

Clear and "very cold" weather was forecast for the eastern Prairies with the temperature expected to sink to 25 below at Winnipeg overnight.

Snow ranging up to 3.8 inches was blamed for several accidents including one fatality. The 3.8 fall for the 24-hour period up to 5 a.m. MST Sunday was reported at Namao airport in suburban Edmonton.

The cold spell began Dec. 1. The highest temperature recorded since then at Edmonton was seven above on Dec. 7, and the coldest at Edmonton was 36 below on Dec. 6 when Penhold in central Alberta reported 41 below.

SPED 35 IN FOG

NEWMARKET, Ont. (CP)—Police testified Friday that they chased a car on country roads at speeds exceeding 55 miles an hour during a thick fog with visibility less than 50 feet. Elmer Rose, 28, of Sutton was fined $300 and costs and had his driver's licence suspended for one year on a charge of criminal negligence.

Bloomfield

BLOOMFIELD — Messrs. J. E. Baxter, Homer Walters and Earle Smith attended the canners' convention at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parliament and Lyle spent Sunday with the former's mother, Mrs. Arthur Parliament, of Amelliasburg.

Friends are glad to hear that Mrs. Claude Simmons has returned home after being a patient at Kingston General Hospital for several weeks; also Mrs. Hubert Mann, who was a patient in P. E. county hospital.

Mrs. Harold Walters and Mrs. Douglas Tayler visited Mr. Tayler at Hotel Dieu hospital, and Mrs. Homer Walters at Ongwanada hospital, on Wednesday and spent the tea hour with the former's sister, Mrs. C. M. Spafford.

Mr. Bill Rabbie, who spent the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Rabbie, left Malton for Edmonton on Saturday. From there he goes to the 'Dew Line' in the Arctic to work as radar technician.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Barker, of Hussar, Alberta, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barker for a couple of weeks, and will spend the rest of the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Turpin, Barbara and Barry were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McEthron, of Stirling.

Mr. Gerald Spencer, who spent a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Spencer, has returned to Weston.

Gas Rationing Now in Effect In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—Motorists left their cars in garages and went to work in crowded buses and trains today as gasoline rationing returned to Britain.

Gasoline rationing, introduced during the Second World War, ended in May, 1950. It was reintroduced today after the blocking of the Suez Canal cut off a large supply of Middle East oil.

Most car owners began rationing with a full tank after waiting in long lines at filling stations Sunday to squeeze in the last drop of coupon-free gas. Gas stations today reported plenty of gas—but no customers.

As the London rush hour began this morning, trains and buses were more crowded as thousands of motorists anxious to save their monthly allowance felt back on public transport.

The ration plan has raised protests throughout the country, and a list containing 44 questions about "anomalies" faced Fuel Minister Aubrey Jones in the House of Commons.

BIG DEBT GONE

NIGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The Niagara parks commission announced Friday it has liquidated an indebtedness of $3,456,000 which was outstanding when the present commission was appointed in 1945.

You can't go ALL-OUT

If you feel ALL-IN

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. The strain on body and brain makes physical illness easier to bear—harder to repair. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "tired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follows. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Ask for Dodd's Kidney Pills at any drug counter. 23

Chrysler Workers Vote to Accept New Contract

WINDSOR (CP)—Chrysler Corp. of Canada workers Sunday night voted theiSelves an early Christmas present when they accepted the company's new contract guaranteeing them an immediate eight-cent-an-hour raise.

The contract, to be in affect for a 30-month period ending Aug. 15, 1958, will give the company's 8,000 union workers from 30 to 34 cents an hour in increases and fringe benefits.

The new contract is expected, to cost Chrysler an estimated $5,000,000 yearly.

ALMOST UNANIMOUS

The union members of Local 444 of the United Auto Workers of America, voted almost unanimously to accept the contract. About 4,000 union members took part in the show of hands vote.

Chrysler's present contract expired on Aug. 1 but stayed in effect while negotiations were in progress. Contract talks opened in May and reached a stalemate late in November. An Ontario government conciliation board stepped in and it was on the conciliation report that the union voted acceptance of the contract Sunday night.

Highlights of the new contract, that goes into effect immediately but will not be signed until a few loose ends are cleared up, include:

An eight-cent-an-hour general wage increase; an additional six cent-an-hour effective Aug. 1957; an escalator clause based on cost-of-living index and adjustable quarterly, with first payment in 1957.

ADDITIONAL PAY

In addition, employees in skilled trades classifications, about 800 workers, received an immediate additional five-cent-an - hour increase as did 3,000 inline assembly workers.

Re-classification upwards of all minor assemblers employed on power - drive conveyor lines, to major assemblers and the doubling of the midnight shift premium were other clauses.

Weekly health and sickness benefits were also increased by $8 to $40 a week.

Chrysler President Ron W. Todgham, said the new contract "should give the Chrysler workers the highest return for his labor to be enjoyed by an employee in the automotive industry in Canada."

KILLED IN CRASH

BARRIE (CP)—Cecil Parker, deputy reeve of Tay Township, was killed Friday night when his car apparently skidded on a curve and crashed into a tree on a highway near here.

Little Benny's Notebook

Miss Kitty was telling the class about appreciating our blessings, saying, One of our greatest possesions is our memory, yet of all our blessings we appriciate it the least. Hundreds of happy unexpected things have happened to us all, and if we even remember one tenth of them, we will all have enough pleasant memories to keep us contented under all circumstances. Now let's see how many of us can recall some fortunate occasion that made us happy. Yes, Charles? she said.

Mreming Puds Simking waving, and Puds said, One time I lost a cent down a crack in our garage, and I tried for 2 hours to get it up with wires and diffrent things, but I could not get it back, and it's still down there.

Er! I dont understand, Miss Kitty said. You were glad you lost a cent? she said, and Puds said, Sure, it mite of been a dime.

Well, that's an optimistic point of view, at any rate, Miss Kitty said. Perhaps someone elts remembers an even better instance, she said, and Lucky Leroy Shooter waved both hands, saying, Last year all the fellows were having the measles and catching them from each other, and I was rite in their houses talking to them and everything elts, but I didn't catch a slagle measle.

It's very nice to keep one's herlth, that's true, but I'm sure you wouldn't want to give the impression that you are crowing over your less fortunate play mates, Miss Kitty said, and Lucky Leroy said, No mam, G, it was just so lucky for everybody, be cause the lucky part was, there wasn't any school for a whole week.

We will proceed to arifmetic, Miss Kitty said.

Which we did.

Spaak Named New Secretary General of NATO

PARIS (AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak is one of the greatest living orators in the French language. He will need all his persuasiveness in the challenging post he will assume next spring—secretary general of NATO.

Spaak's job will be to weld into greater unity the 15-nation organization now expanding its sphere from the military to include also economic and political international relations.

He will resign as Belgian foreign minister to take up his new duties in April. He will succeed Lord Ismay of Britain, NATO's first secretary general, who will retire.

Spaak is not the shrinking type. He held off accepting the NATO assignment until the organization's council agreed to give the post much more authority and prestige than Lord Ismay had. Spaak will be a combination administrator and moderator, with power to intervene in disputes among NATO members — the Cyprus case, for example.

Nearly a generation younger than Sir Winston Churchill, Spaak vaguely resembles the British leader. Some of his admirers regard him an even more moving orator than Churchill, whom he respects greatly.

On the floor of Parliament or at a rowdy mass meeting, Spaak is at his oratorical best. He can turn a crowd of suspicious hecklers into cheering enthusiasts with a well-placed quip or a brilliant phrase. He is able to switch from the highly emotional to a blast of sarcasm and incisive ridicule.

Known in his youth as the Firebrand of Belgium, he has mellowed into a moderate Socialist respected throughout the Western world as one of the rebuilders of western Europe.

A native of Brussels, he will be 58 Jan. 25. In 1938 he became the youngest premier in Belgian history at 29. He had served previously as foreign minister, a post he has held so many years a friend once called him Belgium's "permanent foreign minister."

When the Nazis swept over the little country he fled to London where he helped set up the Belgian government in exile. At the end of the war he returned to his country's politics. H also plunged into the campaign to unify Europe and the Atlantic world. He worked hard in the United Nations, becoming first president of the General Assembly in 1946.

Exhausted by Rough Voyage, 120 Refugees Reach Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Still exhausted after a rough trip across the Atlantic, 120 travel-worn Hungarian refugees climbed aboard a Toronto-bound train Sunday night with grim memories of their battle-torn homeland.

The refugees arrived here on the Cunard liner Ivernia late Saturday night, disembarked Sunday morning and spent the day answering questions of reporters and immigration officials.

Sympathetic interpreters, many of them refugees from other countries, aided the Hungarians, whose ordeals reflected in worried eyes and strained faces.

STORIES OF VIOLENCE

Most told, sometimes with humor and usually without bitterness, stories of violence and flight, poverty and heroics.

"Rebellion has been in our minds and hearts for 12 years," said bearded engineer Jozef Nanasy, 37. "The unrest couldn't be pent up any longer."

Romanian farmer Vass Denes, 31, his wife and daughter, were visiting Budapest when the rebellion broke out.

Denes, who found himself hauling down a street in Stalin with a group of rebels, said: "I wanted to help Hungary because I hoped the movement would spread to Romania."

In the west Hungarian town of Keszthely, with a population of 16,000, rebels heard of the outbreak on Budapest radio. Long prepared, they took the town after fighting Hungarian police, the feared AVH—secret police—and Communist overlords.

CONTROL TOWN

"We controlled the town for a week, until Premier Nagy's Now. If order and peace arrived," said Nanasy. "Then we had to leave. They'll kill any rebels they catch."

Another refugee told of Russian guns moving down Russian troops.

"They were attacking Veszprem, about 75 miles from Budapest, from both sides before the Russians withdrew. Russian tanks were hitting soldiers attacking from opposite ends of the town.

"Some of the Russian troops, standing by to go to the Middle East, actually wanted to fight in the Suez," he added.

"Because of my husband's record as a political prisoner, we had to leave our country home quickly," said middle-aged Mrs. Imre Rahjali.

"We avoided the Russian troops," she said. "They were brutal and ignorant, mostly Russo-Chinese Kulaks."

Mr. Rahjali was principal economist in the Russian state farm system before he was charged as being "politically untrustworthy."

Laszlo Szatmary, 27-year-old mill worker, told of trading a Russian soldier two pounds of bread for a machine gun.

"Some were desperately hungry," he said.

"Sometimes the Russians closed their eyes for us," said Nanasy. "They're nice people in many cases, you know, but when they fight they are savages."

FIRE HITS NEWSPAPERS

QUEBEC (CP) — Fire caused light damage to the editorial rooms of the newspapers Le Soleil and L'Evenement Journal Sunday morning. There were no injuries. Firemen said they believe workers using blow torches near the ventilation shaft Saturday started the fire. Damage was confined to the shaft and the roof above it. The editorial rooms on the top floor were damaged by smoke and water.

Cardinal Condemns Film 'Baby Doll,' Admonishes Catholics Not to See It

NEW YORK (AP)— In a rare pulpit appearance, Francis Cardinal Spellman has sharply condemned the film Baby Doll and advised Roman Catholics not to see it "under pain of sin."

He denounced the Warner Bros. adaptation of a story by playwright Tennessee Williams as "evil in concept . . . certain to exert an immoral and corrupting influence upon those who see it."

"I exhort Catholic people from patronizing this film under pain of sin," the Archbishop of New York said Sunday in St. Patrick's Cathedral.

His denunciation drew immediate responses from Williams, Warner Bros., and Elia Kazan, producer and director of the picture. Kazan denied that Baby Doll was immoral and declared:

Cardinal Spellman last mounted the cathedral pulpit in February, 1949, when he condemned the Communists for imprisoning Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty.

In discussing the film, Cardinal Spellman declared:

"The conscienceless, venal attitude of the sponsors of this picture constitutes a definite corruptive moral influence. Since these degrading pictures stimulate immorality and crime they must be condemned and therefore . . . 'in principle for the welfare of my country, I exhort Catholic people from patronizing this film under pain of sin'."

Kazan said the film "has been approved by the Motion Picture Authority of America, which is administered by men of discretion and conscience."

In a statement, Williams declared:

"I cannot believe that an ancient and august branch of the Christian faith is not larger in heart and mind than those who set themselves up as censors of a medium of expression that reaches all sections and parts of our country and extends the world over."

Warner Bros. said the film had elicited "highly favorable reactions" in advance showings to exhibitors and representative elements of the press and various other organizations.

The film has a southern setting and involves a jukebox, gin owner, his child bride and a young man she befriends.

Conservatives Hope for Change In Voting in West Provinces With Election of Diefenbaker

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Choice of a westerner as the new Progressive Conservative chief has aroused speculation on the effect it may have on party chances in the West in the next election.

The party which chose Saskatchewan lawyer John Diefenbaker last week now holds eight of the 70 Commons seats representing the four Western provinces.

Mr. Diefenbaker, MP for Prince Albert, is his party's only Saskatchewan representative.

One of the main Conservative aims, stressed in repeated convention speeches, is for a return to "the two-party system". To Conservatives that means whipping the CCF and Social Credit parties in their Western Canada strongholds.

Of the 2 CCF Commons members, all except one are from the West where the party governs Saskatchewan. All of the 15 Social Credit members are from Alberta and British Columbia where their party governs provincially. The Liberals have 24 MPs from the four Western provinces and hold control in the Manitoba legislature.

TRENDS WATCHED

Conservatives hoping for better future in the next election are looking not only to their western leader but also to trends in the last three elections.

At the last federal vote in 1953, the country's ballots went 43.6 per cent to Liberals, 31.4 per cent to Conservatives and 19 per cent to other parties—chiefly CCF and Social Credit.

The Conservative share of the popular vote rose from its all-time low of 27.6 per cent in 1945 to 29.8 per cent in 1949. The "other party" share reached its peak of 30.9 per cent in 1945 and dropped sharply to 20.1 per cent in 1949, a switch to the Liberals being mainly responsible.

Liberals now are dominant in the Commons with 169 seats compared with 51 held by Conservatives, 22 by CCF and 15 by Social Credit. There are three independents and five vacancies.

Mr. Diefenbaker, looking to the election in his leadership campaign speeches and instead looked to the popular vote picture.

Conservatives can win power, he had repeatedly said, with a change-over of 3½ per cent of the popular vote and a fair share of support from young people coming of voting age.

Actual figures of the popular vote in 1953 show Liberals leading them by 12½ per cent. Thus the Conservatives would have to capture just over nine per cent of the Liberal vote to overtake their chief rival.

Expect Boost In Newsprint

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission, at the request of Senator Charles E. Potter (Rep. Mich.), is checking up on newsprint prices in the United States.

Potter wrote FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne Nov. 30 that Canadian manufacturers soon are expected to boost newsprint prices, and asked that the FTC look into the situation.

Gwynne, in a letter made public by Potter today, replied: "I am taking this up with some members of the staff and also members of the commission, and will write you further in the near future."

Potter, a member of the Senate commerce committee, had told Gwynne that "the sky-rocketing price of newsprint is working a hardship on both American and Canadian publishers and business interests. He suggested that Canada might be willing to co-operate with the FTC in a program "to counteract restraint of trade and price-fixing wherever they exist."

Will you really enjoy your retirement... or barely scrape along?

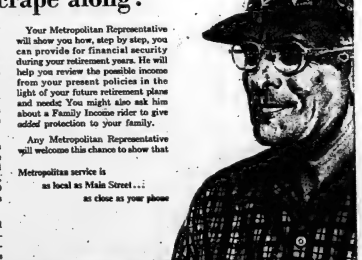
You have probably given a lot of thought to how you would like to spend your time after retirement . . . maybe you have even figured how much income you would need to do the things you want.

Is the amount you can presently count on enough? Think how much peace of mind an extra $100 a month would contribute!



The question is: "Where is this extra $100 coming from?" Maybe you expect to save it. If so, it would take $30,000, invested safely at 4%, to provide a gross income of $100 monthly. Few people have the means to do this.

However, there is a simple, safe and sure way of providing for extra retirement income — a Metropolitan Retirement Program. This also provides Life insurance protection for your family in case something should happen to you before retirement. The cash and loan values in the policy can be used as nest eggs in the event of unforeseen contingencies.

Your Metropolitan Representative will show you how, step by step, you can provide for financial security during your retirement years. He will help you review the possible income from your present policies in the light of your future retirement plans and needs. You might also ask him about a Family Income rider to give added protection to your family.

Any Metropolitan Representative will welcome this chance to show that

Christmas Tree Prices Across Canada Higher Than Last Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Shoppers are finding out that Christmas tree prices, like other prices, have gone up.

A Canadian Press survey indicates that prices across Canada are from 20 to 25 cents higher than last year, but that the quality of trees is generally better.

Growers are taking more pains to ensure attractive, sturdy trees, but rising transportation and labor costs have forced retail prices to an all-time high. Trees are selling at anywhere from $1 to $20, and the average, five-foot tree is priced at $2 to $3.

Estimates that more than 16,000,000 young pine, spruce and fir trees have been cut in the last few weeks indicate that 1956 will be a record year for the $8,000,000 industry.

Cutting of the 1956 harvest began in late October, and cutters have been earning as much as $40 a day in some areas, although their wages, as determined by contracts, are usually from $10 to $20 a day.

Domestic consumption has remained fairly constant in the last few years, but a booming export market, which has nearly doubled in the last seven years, is taking more than 13,000,000 trees from Canada this year. Most of these trees will go to the United States which receives about one third of its Christmas trees from this country, but exporters have already reported shipments as far south as Mexico and Cuba.

The majority of the exported trees are from eastern Canada—some 4,000,000 spruce from Quebec, and more than 6,000,000 fir from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

British Columbia producers are sending Douglas firs and a few pines to the prairie provinces and the U.S., while Ontario growers are cutting large crops of newly-seeded scotch pines.

Recent years have seen many innovations in the growing and marketing of Christmas trees. Growers now are pruning the trees in the summer to stimulate hardy, symmetrical growth, and spraying operations are conducted to control insects as with other large cash crops.

Retailers report a growing popularity of trees sprayed with various compounds, producing fluorescent trees of many other shades than the natural green. The spraying also helps the trees to retain their needles after they begin to dry out.

The growth of the industry has caused provincial governments to take a new interest. Quebec now has a restocking program aimed at providing 3,500,000 new trees each year, and Ontario officials estimate that 15,000,000 scotch pine seedlings were planted this year alone.

In Alberta, the provincial government has allowed for the first time the cutting of trees on crown lands. Cutters obtained permits and paid dues of from three to nine cents for every tree they cut.

Buick Century 2-Door Riviera

What's it Got that Everyone's After?

We figured folks would go for the '57 Buick—and big.

But we sure didn't figure this—the most rousing reception we've ever seen in all our years of selling new Buicks.

We're getting more enthusiastic talk—along with the signed orders—than ever before. And, neighbor, if you want to know why—listen:

This '57 Buick has that sleek low-sweep styling that today's moderns want—and it's here in extra-long measure, in the lowest Buick yet.

It has the room they want—for Buick's new wide-frame chassis permits a sports-car silhouette with more interior roominess than even last year's spacious Buicks.

It has the newness everywhere, and newness that's wanted...

A smart new panoramic windshield of vaster dimensions and greater visibility. The sweet, solid surety of a new "nested" ride. A brilliant new handling and cornering and levelized braking that come of an ingenious new ball-joint suspension. It even has the modern answer for today's driving—a new Safety-Minder* that watches your miles-per-hour for you.

But even more important, this rakish sweep of automobile has a new kind of instant response—and that's the biggest reason for the soaring popularity of the newest Buick yet.

For here is performance—smooth as spun silk—unleashed by a totally new V8 engine 364 cubic inches big, and with the highest compression, torque and horsepower in Buick annals.

And here, to deliver that might, is the power-pitch action of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflow*. A Dynaflow of such instantaneous obedience, such smooth and versatile control in "Drive"—the need for "Low" is virtually ended.

In all truth, you've never bossed a car so keenly alive, so smooth in motion, so solid in feel. It's ahead of its time, ahead of the industry—even ahead of your great expectations.

Come check up on all this for yourself. Come drive this shoulder-high sweetheart with the strong he-and-she appeal. Come be our guest—today.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Supercard Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special. Safety-Minder standard on Roadmaster only.

Reds Win Pair Take Over Top In American Loop

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Providence Reds, with linemates Camille Henry and Paul Larivee getting four goals each, and two assists, won a pair of games by lopsided scores during the week-end and moved ahead of Hershey Bears into first place in the American Hockey League.

Henry and Larivee had two goals and two assists each game as the Reds tied Hershey for first by beating the Bears 6-1 at Providence, Saturday night, then took over sole possession with an 11-4 victory over third-place Cleveland Barons Sunday night.

One-sided scores were common during the five weekend games, the only exception being Buffalo Bisons' 3-1 win over Springfield Indians Sunday night.

SCORED 9 GOALS

Rochester Americans, with Ab McDonald getting a pair, scored their greatest number of goals in a game in walloping Hershey 9-1 Saturday. Cleveland, paced by light winger Dan Poliziani's four goals, blasted last-place Springfield 10-3 in Sunday night's other game.

The 11 goals Providence scored Sunday night were the team's largest count of any game this season. Ron Murphy got three, Ray Hannigan and Bill Sinnett and Ray Cyr one each in addition to those by Henry and Larivee. Fog Cleveland Ken Hayden scored twice and Steve Kraftcheck and Jimmy Moore got singles.

The four goals by Poliziani at Cleveland brought his total to eight in three games. Gord Vejprava, Poliziani's linemate, got two for the Barons while Moore, Bo Elik and Kraftcheck scored one apiece. Springfield scorers were Doug McMurdy, Gerry Ehman and Dale Anderson.

GOALIE SHONE

At Rochester, goalie Charley Hodge was outstanding while Dunc Fisher's shot in the second period the only one to elude him. Besides McDonald, 6-2 in net, the scorers were Paul Masnick and Ronnie Ciesz with 17 points each and four assists as well, Gord Hannigan, Earl Balfour, Joe Lund, Ed Mazur and Gordie Jorvath.

Buffalo, holding down fourth place only four points behind the leaders, won over Springfield on a second-period goal by rookie centre Barry Ross. Ken Wharram gave the Bisons a 1-0 first-period lead and Buddy Boone tied the score in the second.

Chicago Bears Wallop Lions; Cards Nip Browns

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago Bears, runner-up in the league standings the last two years, won a pro football title in 1946, finally made it to the top Sunday, thrashing Detroit Lions 38-21 to set up a championship playoff with New York Giants at Yankee Stadium Dec. 30.

With Rick Casares leading the way with 196 yards in 17 carries in a riotous game at Wrigley Field, the Bears avenged a 45-10 loss to Detroit two weeks ago to win the western conference championship.

The Giants, also without a division title in 10 years, clinched the eastern championship Saturday by defeating Philadelphia, 21-7.

The Lions lost quarterback Bobby Layne after he was barreled into by Ed Meadows, a defensive end for Chicago. The Lions announced they would attempt to have the former Duke star barred from football.

In other games, Pittsburgh defeated Washington 23-0, Chicago Cardinals defeated the Cleveland Browns 24-7, San Francisco defeated Baltimore 30-17 and Los Angles walloped Green Bay 49-21.

It was the final game of the regular season for all except Baltimore and Washington, who have a makeup game at Baltimore next Sunday.

Ontario Senior A Hockey

EASTERN DIVISION

Released by George H. Carver, League Statistician

Whitby's Bobby Attersley, leading in assists, held his biggest margin in the Eastern Ontario OHA Senior "A" scoring race this week, a ten-point bulge over runner-up Minnie Menard of Belleville. Menard, the loop's leading goal-scorer with 21, gained only one assist this past week and has failed to score in the team's last four games.

Attersley has 44 points. Menard has 34, closely followed by Bus Gagnon, of Whitby, with 33, Jean-Paul Payette of Belleville, with 31, and Bruce Giesbrecht of Pembroke, with 30.

Gillis Bolsvert of Ottawa Canadiens, tops the goalies with an even 3.00 average, while Jack Donlevy of Whitby, and Bolsvert have the loop's only shutouts.

Belleville's bellring defencemen, Moe Benoit and Floyd Crawford share the league's badman honors, each having served 72 minutes in the penalty box.

Felchik Takes Sanford Open

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Mike Felchick wrote a climax to his first big season on the professional golf with victory in the $15,000 Sanford Open Sunday by a record score of 263.

Not only will the $2,400 first prize make a pleasant bulge in his Christmas stocking, the way he played the 72 holes give promise of more such paydays ahead.

After an opening 65 put Felchick in second place, two strokes behind New Yorker overlook Dow Finsterwald and Frank Stranahan with a 67 in the first round and again had to fight off Stranahan on the closing day.

Felchick shot a safe 68 in the final round over the 6,255-yard Mayfair course. Even when Stranahan crept within one stroke going to the next to last hole, Felchick kept his iron nerve and parred the final two holes.

"I didn't have to take any desperate chances—and I didn't take any," Felchick said.

Stranahan, 33-year-old millionaire spark plug heir from Toledo, Ohio, also shot 68 in the last round and finished two strokes behind Felchick at 265. He collected $1,800. Finsterwald, the year's second biggest money winner of the golf tour who plays out of Bedford Heights, Ohio, came in third with 268, good for $1,200. The final 18-hole round was even par 70.

Al Balding of Toronto, who became the first Canadian to win a major PGA pro tournament when he captured the inaugural Sanford Open last year, finished out of the money at 68-73-71-72—284. He shot a winning 269 a year ago.

Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., collected fourth money of $1,200 for 270. Jay Hebert of Sanford and Dave Douglas of St. Louis each shot 271 and won $900.

Bogey Recognized In Revised Golfing Rules

NEW YORK (AP)—After ignoring him for many years, the United States Golf Association finally is extending official recognition to Col. Bogey ,"a quiet, unassuming gentleman, uniformly steady but never overbrilliant."

But in doing so, the association is likely to cause a lot of confusion among American golfers who are used to referring to one-over-par as "bogey."

In its 1957 Rules of Golf booklet, soon to be published, the association will officially define "bogey" for the first time, authorize clubs to establish an official bogey, as well as par, and—an even greater departure from custom—authorize the use of scores made under "preferred lies" or "winter rules" for computing handicaps under certain conditions.

CHANGE PAR RULES

The booklet also lists the first change in competing normal par since 1917. The scale for par four holes is extended from 445 to 470 yards and all holes longer than 471 henceforth will be par fives. Par six has been abandoned. Formerly holes longer than 600 yards normally were rated as par sixes.

According to the association definitions, "par" is the score an expert golfer would be expected to make for a hole.

"Bogey" is the score that a moderately good golfer would be expected to make for a given hole. Bogey is the same as par except when the committee declares it to be one over par because of the difficulty of a particular hole.

The term "bogey" has been used in golf since the 1890s. The British Golfer's Handbook says it originated at the Great Yarmouth Club when a player described what then was called the "ground score" as a "regular bogey man." The United Services Club conferred the title of Colonel on this imaginary man who was "uniformly steady but never overbrilliant."

NEW YORK (AP) — President Tom Lockhart of the Eastern Hockey League Saturday fined Charlotte Clippers $100 for using an ineligible player in a game against Philadelphia Ramblers Friday night.

Lockhart said the Clippers used defenceman Bob Maxwell in Charlotte's 4-1 victory over Philadelphia despite orders that he should not play. Maxwell played for the Clippers two years ago at Baltimore, but was with Pembroke, Ont., last season. The league president said Maxwell was ineligible because he failed to get a release from Pembroke.

Lockhart ordered Charlotte to drop Maxwell immediately.

Hap Shouldice Honored by Ottawa Friends

OTTAWA (CP)—Many times in the last 25 years, when he had to call back a goal or game-winning touchdown, Hap (Happy) Shouldice often wondered if he had a friend in the world.

"I shall never have to wonder again," he said Saturday as some 600 members of the Ottawa Sportsmen's Association held a testimonial dinner for the beefy and football referee who retired this year.

"To you, my friends, and what a warm word that could be, from the bottom of my heart I thank you for your goodness to me," he said.

Shouldice, 49, received life memberships in the Ottawa and District Hockey and Football Referees' Associations and a large framed cartoon of himself by Ottawa artist Clair Forster. Later he will receive a word and picture record of the event attended by local and outside sports celebrities. Tributes came from many parts of Canada and the United States.

Minor Hockey

Maple Leafs, Rangers and Bruins picked up points in the minor hockey standing in the bantam section of the Belleville Minor Hockey Association. Rangers blanked the Canadiens 3-0. Maple Leafs downed Red Wings 3-1. Bruins edged the Barons 2-1 while the Barons and Black Hawks tied 3-3.

Stu Muirhead paced the Browns in their tie, scoring two goals, while Ray Gaffney got the other one. Rodney Turner drew an assist. Steve Quesnel, Jim Jewell and Paul Brown tallied for the Hawks. Norm Boulter, Derrell Johnston and Chas Chase had assists.

Robert Burr fired the deciding marker as the Bruins shaded the Barons. Bill Brant had the winner's lone goal while Billy Carson had one assist. Teddy Rowland potted the Baron goal.

The Rangers' 3-0 shutout over the Canadiens was the blueshirts' initial victory of the season. Bill Wood played the lead role with two goals while Eugene Flunder also scored and Barton Durant helped on one goal.

Stu Mallor netted one goal and set up another in the Maple Leafs' win over the Red Wings. David Chestnut and John Lewis also scored while Peter Armstrong assisted on one. Hector Pointer fired the Wing goal on Graydon Scott's assist.

Segura Joins Kramer Troupe

MELBOURNE (AP) — Pancho Segura will fly to Australia to join Jack Kramer's professional tennis troupe, it was announced here today.

He will replace weird professional champion Pancho Gonzales who flew back to the United States Sunday to get treatment for a tumor in his right forehead. Kramer's troupe will open in Melbourne Thursday night.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

ONE BIG HAPPY FAMILY

Any alibi that came out of Whitby following their whooping by the McFarlands Saturday night, is purely force of habit. The Dunlops were at full strength, led by their ingratiating Ben Gagnon, whom we are told, had the literal wool pulled over his eyes in no uncertain manner by one Moe Bennett, who it appears, was not the least worried over reports of Gagiun's pugilistic ability.

The Dunlops were at full strength minus Alfie Treen,-who has been out for some time, while the Macs played without Bep Guidolin, who aggravated a practice groin injury in the Friday night tilt against the Ottawa Canadiens.

In any event the Macs were full value for their win. They were just that much better than the Dunlops, and right in their own backyard. Minnie Menard regained his scoring eye, coming up with a pair while the Mighty Mac scooped one down the ice in the dying seconds of the game to move on an empty net while six Dunnies were valely trying to knot the count—and Blair was hair-tearing over the players' bench.

The "overwhelming favorites" to win Eastern Ontario Senior "A" title, as Toronto sportswriters dub their favorite suburbanites, went all out to maintain their prestige, but they were beaten by a better club on the night's play and anything that comes out of Whitby to the contrary is purely of an alibi nature.

Rene St. Hilaire, who can spot Gagnon not a few pounds, tangled with the "tough guy," whipped off his gloves and sailed into the fray with the ferocity of a mad rhinoceros. He had been rewarded previously by a slash across the neck that necessitated four stitches. "Two minutes for fighting," was the official verdict.

Gagnon, it appears, also made the unfortunate mistake of selecting Moe Bennett as target for his wrath. Moe was right in his element and politely pulled the sweater over the Gagnon head, and proceeded to pummel what was underneath it. "Two minutes for fighting," but Moe had ten dollars worth of fun and it took two minutes for Gagnon to get his hair back in place.

MOVE OVER, BUB!

Don't look now but these Cornwall Chevies are now close enough to the Whitby Dunlops to not only read their licence plates but see who's in the back seat.

For the Chevies came up with a right noble job of pack-chasing over the weekend, knocking off Pembroke 2-1, then blanking the Ottawa Canadiens 6-0 in 30:cl.

The Chevies have pulled away from our side in second place and lead the third-tiel McFarlands by three points. However, they have crept to within four points of the league-leading Dunlops and have now caused some neggs-cratching up in Bideford especially after the Macs stomped the Dunnies before their home-town admirers.

The biggest surprise of the weekend was the 5-3 defeat of the Ottawa Canadiens by Kingston, who snapped an eight-game losing skein. It was an auspicious start for Kingston's new coach, Ted Lindsay, and it should be remembered, the radio guys walloped Ottawa 5-2 when Les Douglas in the driver's seat.

Both Ottawa defeats came after a rugged battle in Belleville, when they edged our side 4-3, and it could be the Mats were the official "referee-uppers" for the other clubs. After all three games in three days, plus travel, is bound to have an effect on any club.

The Cornwall resurgence and the McFarlands' proof that Whitby can be beaten in their own backyard, has reserved the "runaway" angle from the league that Toronto and Whitby sportswriters shouted from the housetops earlier in the season.

With Kingston under new coaching authority and new, experienced players entering the fold, the Eastern Senior League threatens to develop into one of the hottest races in history. The Pembroke Lumber Kings, who are here tomorrow night, are no shrinking violets either, and the turn of the year should see rivalry at its keenest and hockey at its best.

The McFarlands have played the least games of any club in the loop. To date they have battled in 20 games. Whitby has played 21; Cornwall 26; Pembroke 23 and Kingston 22. The Ottawa Canadiens have filled 23 of their scheduled 30 engagements.

Even Hawks Enter Win Column With 3-1 Victory Over Wings; Bathgate, Howe Top Scorers

By KEN WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' big, slope-shouldered right winger, may never be remembered with the adulation fans reserve for more colorful players, but at 29 he has already assured himself of a place with the National Hockey League's top goal-getters.

During the week-end Howe turned in two hours work that put him right behind the greatest scorer of them all—Maurice Richard.

Saturday he scored his 325th and 326th goals to break a tie for second place in lone-wolf goalscoring with Nels Stewart. On Sunday he counted again, his 327th.

In spite of Howe's performance Red Wings managed only a split with the last-place Chicago Black Hawks, winning 3-1 Saturday in Detroit, losing 3-1 Sunday in Chicago.

RETIRS STAY AHEAD

None of the top three teams did any better than a 1-1 division during the weekend, but Detroit Bruins, who lost 4-3 to Montreal Canadiens Saturday, took Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2 on Sunday night to stay three points ahead of the Wings.

After winning at home Saturday, Canadien dropped a 4-2 decision in New York Saturday as Rangers' Andy Bathgate potted two goals in the last minute of play. Bathgate's win over the third-place Montrealers kept them in fourth place, two points up on Boston, who beat them 3-1 in Toronto Saturday.

Now that the 25-game mark in Richard is nearing the end of his playing days, Howe may be able to get his fifth first goals on one or the other of the great right-winger's records. This far he has been kept even with Richard's feats, each having taken about 10½ seasons to break Stewart's mark of 324 goals.

Howe may never surpass the Rocket's scoring record, which stands now at 469, but may well beat him in the total points column. So far Maurice has 620, while Howe has 742.

OTHER SCORERS

Howe's two, and one each by Alex Delvecchio, Johnny Bucyk and Ted Lindsay, Howe's winger and the skilled native NHL player with more than 300 goals, completed the scoring for Detroit, before 12,028 customers Saturday. Hank Cleata counted for Chicago.

Sunday, Hawks went to it the Wings for the second evening in a row, Howe again made it count. They had 45 shots at Glenn Hall Saturday while Al Rollins had dished out 37 and there was 42-27 for the Hawks as they broke a 10-game losing streak with their fifth win of the season.

Howe opened the scoring at 1:08 of the first period but Hale turned it on before a stim crowd of 6,971 and made it a pair of goals by Nick Mickoski and one by Jack McIntyre.

Montreal took advantage of a shaky start by Bruin goaltender Worm Dekiice and built up a 4-1 lead early in the third period before 13,883 fans. The Bruins replied with three goals in three minutes but it wasn't enough.

SIX WHO SCORED

Six Canadiens divided their team's six goals—Richard, Jean Beliveau, Floyd Curry, Bert Olmstead, Dickie Moore and Claude Provost. Scoring Mackell and Vic Stasiuk each had a pair for the Bruins.

Sunday the situation was reversed before 11,054 fans as Bruins threw 13 shots at Toronto's Ed Chadwick in the second period and scored four times, their night's total.

Jerry Toppazzini, leading Boston point-getter with 36, scored the third Bruin during the week, and to score twice in a game, Leo Labine and rookie Larry Regan got the others. Veteran Sid Smith scored in the first period for Toronto and sophomore Dick Duff got the second in the third period, his 14th this season.

At New York Sunday, Bathgate picked up his 15th, 13th and 14th goals of the season as he led the Rangers to their ninth victory of the year. Two of his goals came in the last minute of play.

HEBENTON COUNTED

At Toronto it was Duff's third-period goal that sent Rangers to defeat before 12,529 for the smallest NHL crowd in Toronto this season. Rookie Bob Pulford was the other Leaf scorer. Hebenton gave Rangers a brief 1-0 lead with his goal early in the second period.

But for the outstanding work of Ranger goaltender Lorne Worsley, Leafs might have rolled up a higher count. He stopped 35 shots as compared to the 26 saves made by Chadwick.

Quebec League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicoutimi Sagueneens strengthened their hold on the Quebec Hockey League leadership Sunday while the second-place Trois-Rivieres Lions' chances of overtaking the third-place Shawinigan Falls Cataracts dimmed.

Meanwhile, Montreal Royals advanced into a fourth-place tie with the Lions by defeating the Falls 4-3 in overtime.

Aces were idle, shading Trois-Rivieres 2-1 on Saturday.

'Brum' Wallops Manchester U; Hotspurs Draw

LONDON (CP) — League-leading Manchester United lost to Birmingham 3-1 Saturday, thereby almost ending its hopes of setting an English Soccer League point record.

Manchester now must make 34 points in its remaining 21 games to tie Arsenal's record of 66 points set in 1931. This means that under the point system — by which a team is awarded two points for a victory and one for a tie—United can't lose more than three games.

Centre forward Eddie Brown, with two goals, and inside right Brian Orrell, with one, provided the scores for Birmingham, which led 3-0 at the end of the half. Manchester finally scored at the 60th minute on a shot by inside right Bert Whelan, but the Birmingham defence stiffened to maintain the team's unbeaten home record.

Second - place Tottenham Hotspurs fought to a 1-1 draw with Preston North End and now trail Manchester by three points. The United Team has 32 points to 29 for the Spurs.

Industrial Hockey League Results

Holway's B.A. downed Corals Lock 5-2 while Bakelite defeated National Steel 6-3 over the weekend in a pair of Industrial Hockey League games.

Lorne Muracle of Bakelite turned in the top individual performance of the day, firing no less than four goals in his club's victory. Ray Lucas and Jack Lucas each scored one goal for the winners. Jim Sheridan, Ron McDonald and Bernie Boulter were the National scorers.

Dave Feeney netted a pair for Holway's with the others going to Wayne Bovay, Bill Storms and Wes Kellett. Cy Radford and Jerry Seland are the Corals markers.

Wayne Bovay, one of the loop's top badmen, added a ten-minute misconduct to his penalty total.

Talbert May Use Kid Cuppers In Aussie-American Finals

By WILL GRIMSLEY

PERTH, Australia (AP)—U.S. Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert, well aware Vic Seixas and Herb Flam figure at best as outsiders against the likes of Aussie tennis stars Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall, today was toying with the idea of using his Kid Cuppers against Australia in the challenge round.

As the American team prepared to fly to Adelaide to begin practice for the cup final beginning Dec. 26, Talbert said he might tour to 19-year-old Mike Green of Miami and Sammy Giammalva of Houston unless Seixas and Flam prove to him in workouts they have a chance to win.

"We have to start developing some time," Talbert said, "and this might be the year. As of now, no man has his job clinched on this team."

SEIXAS WAS GOOD

And, as all observers pointed out, it is one thing to beat players like India's Ramanjeet Krishnan and Naresh Kumar and another to handle Hoad and Rosewall, the world's top amateurs.

Green, considered best U.S. bet for the future, has had little international experience and showed it while substituting for Seixas after the series with India had been clinched. He lost in straight sets to Krishnan, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3.

BEAT INDIAN

Glammalva, 22, had more success—teaming with Seixas in the clinching doubles match—6-2, 3-6, 7-5, 6-4—to defeat Kumar, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2 in the last singles.

Harry Hopman, the little boss of the Aussies, was speaking with unusual optimism after watching the inter-zone matches.

But Hopman doubted Talbert would decide to play the match for experience alone.

"Seixas is always a dangerous man and he is able to reach top form quickly," he said. "Flam must improve but he has nine days to do so."

HOW TO BUY A GOOD USED CAR

LOOK FOR OIL LEAKS

Leaks can be costly in oil lost —and sometimes costly in repairs if the leak is from main bearings.

Inspect the underside of the car's engine — with a flashlight if necessary. Gasket leakage will allow oil to be blown back over the engine and usually this is a bad sign in a late model used car.

Don't avoid disappointment and expensive repair bills, choose your car dealer as you would your doctor or dentist. It's simple and inexpensive to "recondition" a car as far as appearance is concerned, but the attention to hidden mechanical defects is what really counts.

Pinder's have acquired a reputation for thorough mechanical inspection — which means COMPLETE DEPENDABILITY in the cars they sell.

Henry Aaron Wins National Batting Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Aaron, only major league baseball player to collect 300 hits in 1956, was the second youngest man ever to win the National League batting title.

The 22-year-old Milwaukee outfielder, who batted .328 in the official averages released Saturday, missed being the youngest of all time by one month and 14 days. Pete Reiser, who won at Brooklyn in 1941, just beat him out.

Aaron led the league in hits with 200 and also doubles with 34 and triples with 14.

The top 10 hitters in the official figures were:

McFarlands Whip Whitby In Own Backyard

Brilliant All-Round Effort Earns Well-Deserved Victory; Minnie, Moe Sink Whitby Ship

WHITBY (Staff) — Playing positional hockey, checking like fiends and backed by sensational goaltending by Gordon Bell, the Belleville McFarlands defeated Whitby Dunlops in Whitby on Saturday night by a score of 3-1. It is not often that one can say that the Dunlops were outplayed from goal to centre in a game but such was the case on Saturday night. It was one of the better efforts of the McFarlands during the season and they have had many good efforts since the season opened. The nearly 1,200 fans that looked on were not happy with what they saw and the winners were a jubilant crew as they trooped into the dressing room.

The game had its misfortunes. Johnny Muretich was heavily checked across the back of his left hand and there is a possibility a small bone may be broken. Rene St. Hilaire was nicked for four stitches on the back of his head when roughhouse Gagnon took him on along the boards but Bus found a guy who mastered up to his style when aroused and he was somewhat ruffled when he was led away to the penalty box. The same player also tried to whittle Maurice Benoit down to his size, which is small to say the least, but Moe was not having any and the McFarland player came out of the fray with flying colors. Why roughhousing gentlemen were called only the referee, Gordon Favreau will know as both of the bouts were hitherless and Favreau went with Gagnon on the receiving end both times.

MINNIE MENARD
... Fired Two Broadsides

MAURICE BENOIT
... Sank the Ship and Skipper

NO SCORING IN FIRST

There was no scoring in the first frame because of the tight checking and perfect defence thrown up in front of Gordon Bell. McBeth went away for tripping before the customers were warmed up and toward the end of the period Eddie Redmond and Rene St. Hilaire were sent away for a high sticking duel. The early part of the second frame was a repitition of the first but Minnie Menard, ever pressing when on the ice and goal hungry because he has been kept off the scoring sheets for a couple of games, belt Jack Doulcey with a rising shot in the top corner with Benoit and Paul Payette helping out. Doulcey was playing for the pass but Menard outguessed him by firing from just inside the blueline and he was beaten cleanly. The penalty parade was light, with Willie Menard and Don O'Connor getting the gate together for high sticking, Botley for holding and Lemonde for interference.

Although there were many thrills packed into the first two frames the third stanza really brought the fans to their feet. The two teams appeared as if they had not played 40 minutes of strenuous hockey in their record from end to end. The McFarlands used a fine defensive system by clamping the puck out in the centre zone at every opportunity and at the same time bottling the Dunlops up when they were in their own zone with the result the McFarlands had the better of the terrficial play practically all the time. Then, finally the winners got a break when three broke away with only two defenders back and Minnie Menard stroked home a pass set up by Floyd Crawford and completed by Rene St. Hilaire. It was the best goal of the night.

SCORED NEAR END OF SECOND

Whitby was only in the game shortly before the second period ended when Bobby Attersley was allowed to wander in from the blueline and the rebound of his terrific shot came out to George Samolenko and he drove the rubber home with Bell having no chance on the play. In the third frame, after Bonello had been given the gate for holding and Gilbert had been given a ten-minute misconduct for remarks to the referee, Gagnon and Benoit staged their roughing bee. They had no sooner got back than Minnie Menard was tagged for hooking and the shorthanded McFarlands held on. When St. Hilaire and Gagnon hooked up the fur flew for a little while but the Dunlops had to put on the pressure.

With about two minutes to go, Gagnon pulled his goalie, when a faceoff occurred in the Belleville zone. Six attackers rallied to the zone but the McFarlands remained calm, took their time and iced the puck to relieve the pressure, in all six faceoffs in the McFarland zone were called in that short space of time but Maurice Benoit, ever the opportunist, hooked the rubber away and it went sailing to the other end and plump into the centre of an empty net and that was the hockey game. A stick was thrown at the flying puck and it automatically became a goal whether it went into the net or not, but Benoit made no mistake.

REF UNABLE TO PLAY

Bep Guidolin, coach of the squad, was unable to play due to his groin injury but ably handled the team from the players' bench. After Johnny Muretich was rendered almost useless by a bad hand and Rene St. Hilaire went away to have stitches in his head, Bep juggled his lines, players did extra time and in all put on a display that was real heart warming. Minnie Menard stood out with his two goals but Gordon Bell was the real hero of the pastime. He did everything but eat the puck. He was a stonewall and the players did not let him down up front. Every man gave his very best. The defence was like a rock all night with Lionel Botley turning in his best game of the season. Crawford and Benoit worked themselves into exhaustion.

Minnie Menard, Maurice Benoit, along with George Samolenko picked up the stars of the night which no quarter was asked nor none given. Ted O'Connor, Bobby Attersley and Samolenko looked the best for the losers from this corner.

Referee: Gordon Fevereau, Toronto; linesman: Lockem Barnes, Oshawa.

Bilts Rally To Beat Irish; Teeps Blank Petes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Teams in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series have discovered this year that it is nearly impossible to keep Guelph Biltmores at bay during three full periods of hockey.

In 23 games this season, they've won 18 and lost only five. They have often won on last-period scoring spurts.

For two periods Sunday, it looked as though St. Michael's College Majors might hold off the sharp-shooting Guelph players. The score was 1-1 starting the third period.

But Biltmores turned on St. Michael's goalie Bob Savage with a vengeance, scoring four goals to Majors' one, for a 5-2 victory.

MAJORS DROP TO THIRD

The defeat dropped Majors into third place, as Toronto Marlboros downed Barrie Flyers 3-1 in the second game of a twin bill in Toronto.

In Saturday's only game, St. Catharines Teepees edged to within one point of Majors, defeating last-place Peterborough Petes 3-2 at St. Catharines.

The Guelph line of Ed Sask, Bill Sweeney and Bryan Webber accounted for Bilts' heavy barrage in the last period.

Sweeney scored twice, Webber and Shack once each. Bob Robinson scored Guelph's first goal. Darryl Sly and Frank Mahovlich were marksmen for Majors.

MAJORS IN LEAD

St. Michael's led 1-0 halfway through the first period, but Robinson's goal tied the count just before the period ended. After a scoreless second, Guelph set out in earnest.

With Bilts leading 3-1 in the third, Mahovlich stickhandled through the Guelph team and outfoxed goalie Bruce Gamble to put Majors within striking distance. But the winners scored two more goals late in the game to take the win.

Scoring for Marlboros were Gord Haughton and Harry Neale. Al Norrena counted for Barrie 15 seconds before the end of the game to rob Jacques Caron of his first shutout.

Caron was playing his third junior A game since an appendix operation forced regular netminder Le Broderick out of the Marlboro lineup last Wednesday. Caron made 17 saves.

At St. Catharines, Ron Quenville was the big man for Teepees with two goals. John McKenzie got the third. Teepee goalie Roy Edward stopped 34 Peterborough shots to register his second shutout this season.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cornwall Chevvies may turn out to be the Cinderella team of Ontario senior hockey this season. Chevvies had plenty of trouble when the season started in the Eastern Division of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A series. They dropped quickly into the cellar.

They now are challenging the leading Whitby Dunlops. Two weekend victories and a defeat to Dunlops left only four points between the two clubs in the standings. At one point, Whitby led by nine points.

Chevvies downed the Pembroke Lumber Kings 3-1 Saturday, then blanked the highly-regarded Ottawa Junior Canadiens 4-0 in a Sunday game. In other action Saturday, third-place Belleville McFarlands downed Whitby 3-1 and Kingston CKLCs defeated Ottawa 5-3.

KINGSTON IN CELLAR

Kingston remained in the cellar, but only one point behind Ottawa and Pembroke, tied for fourth spot five points behind Belleville.

In the Western Division Saturday, Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen downed Chatham Maroons 3-1 to keep pace with the leading Stratford Indians, who won 3-2 over Owen Sound Greys and Sudbury Ontario series in an interlocking game. Third-place Windsor Bulldogs whipped Guelph Royals Chicurys 5-4.

In NOHA action, Sudbury Wolves saw their second-place lead challenged as they dropped two games.

They lost 4-2 to Soo Greyhounds Saturday, then bowed 4-3 to Soo Indians Sunday. North Bay's loss to Stratford kept them from stretching their nine-point lead over Sudbury. Greyhounds are two points out of second place.

TIMMINS INCREASES LEAD

In the Porcupine Mines League, Timmins Flyers increased their lead to three points Sunday by shutting out runner-up South Porcupine Hornets 5-0.

Attibbi Eskimos ran their winning streak to four games when two wins over Kapuskasing Huskies. Scores were 3-2 Saturday and 6-3 Sunday.

Sunday at Cornwall, it was Chevvies' fourth win in their last five outings and goalie Gerry Delaney's first shutout of the year. Ron McIntyre had two goals, Mort Belmore and Pete Payette getting the others.

Ted Toppazzini counted twice for Kingston, singles coming from Gerry Moore, Don Bellringer and Frank Chiarelli. Gerry Wilson had two goals for Canadiens, Dick Duncanson adding the third.

ABBOTT FACED BULLDOGS

Reg Abbott paced Bulldogs with two goals at Windsor, singles coming from Walt Pawlyshyn, Frank Bathgate and Joe Klukay. Bock Forslund, Frank Bergman, Kent Douglas and Bill Hagen were the Owen Sound scorers.

At North Bay, Byrle Flick, Tommy Walker and Dinny Flanagan counted for Indians. Stan Maxwell scoring both goals for Trappers.

Greyhounds won Sunday. Laurie Peterson connected twice to lead Indians. Eddie Joss and Johnny Bolland, two of the others. Joss Zorica, Andy Milne and Billy Watson scored for Sudbury.

SPORT IN BRIEF

REID CHAMPIONSHIP

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Olin, 40 former light heavyweight boxing champion, died early Sunday of his car of a heart attack.

Olin was a resident west of Central Park, just above Columbus Circle. He won the light heavyweight title from Maxie Rosenbloom in 1934 in New York City. He lost it the following year in St. Louis to John Henry Lewis.

Born in New York City, Olin had his first professional fight when 21. He hung up his gloves in 1939 after winning only two of six fights in a year.

Rousing Welcome Given Oarsmen In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP) — With his hand raised in a gesture of victory, coach Frank Read led British Columbia's medal - winning Olympic rowing teams into a hero's welcome here Saturday night.

He was the first to step down the gangway from the train which had brought most of the University of B.C. and Vancouver Rowing Club athletes home from Melbourne.

Following Read were 19 of 14 rowers who had carried off gold and silver Olympic medals, and five other athletes, among them Gerry Ouellette, a sixty pounder from Windsor, Ont. He won a gold medal in the small-bore rifle competition.

WON FIRST MEDAL

Canada won her first gold medal at the 1956 Olympics when the four without coxswain — Archie McKinnon, Walter d'Hondt, Lorne Loomer and stroke Don Arnold—raced to victory five lengths ahead of an American crew.

Shortly after, the eight settled for a silver medal in a bow-to-bow race with the victorious Yale crew from the U.S.

Speaking for the provincial government, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said they "were heroes in every area of the word."

Each rower received a gold watch from the city of Vancouver and signet rings from B.C. Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross.

A university rowing squad and a police band bagpiper staged a glamorous welcome. Then the rowers boarded a glass-domed bus which paraded them through the city.

Four- and eight-man rowing shells were mounted high on one float in the parade. These were the shells which the rowers had used in crowded Vancouver harbor during months of arduous training.

Richardson Is Top American Tennis Star

NEW YORK (AP) — Hamilton Richardson, who plays tennis only when he can take time off from his studies at Oxford, Sunday was named as the No. 1 United States tennis player for 1956.

Richardson, 23, of Westfield, N.J., heads the men's singles rankings drawn up by the United Lawn Tennis Association and with Vic Seixas of Philadelphia as his partner, Richardson also is listed as No. 1 in men's doubles.

Richardson, a Rhodes scholar at Oxford who had to give up his membership on the U.S. Davis Cup team because he couldn't spare time for the long trip to Australia, succeeds Tony Trabert as the No. 1 player. Trabert turned professional after the 1955 season.

Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., who replaced Richardson on the Davis Cup squad, was ranked second to Richardson. Seixas was dropped to third place.

U.S. champion Shirley Fry, the only female player who had Althea Gibson's number all season, was given the No. 1 ranking in American women's tennis for 1956, with Miss Gibson second.

These two players, both 29 years old, dominated American and international women's tennis completely during the last year that there hardly was any competition. It was Miss Fry, from Akron, O., and St. Petersburg, Fla., who won the big ones.

TV—Radio Column

TV Fare at Home Mediocre To Poor This Year Says Writer

EDITOR'S Note: How have things been looking on your TV set this year? In the first of two articles, AP radio-television writer sums up how things look on his.

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The year now drawing to a close has not been outstanding in television. The fare on the home screen, with notable exceptions, has ranged from mediocre to poor.

The networks say they have been hamstrung by rising production costs and federal inquiries into their activities. These statements are not especially related to uninspired programming. Production costs may be up, but no network finds its back to the financial wall.

There is one thing, above all, that worries the newsers. That is the release of motion pictures, not all of them old, in "packages" to TV stations throughout the country. The viewing public appears to enjoy many of these movies. Certainly individual stations are enthusiastic about them as money-makers, as demonstrated by the fact that at least two big stations have sold percentages of their capital stock investments in order to obtain choice film packages.

NETWORKS LOSE

What the networks fear from this development is the loss of viewers, in prime hours. When a station may decide to run a movie instead of a program in which a network has made a large investment, the network is the loser.

Partially as a result of concern over the competition of movies, the networks have generally sought to follow tried formulas of "sure fire" entertainment this year. What has proved successful in the past would prove successful in the present, they seemed to feel. But the high casualty rate among this fall's new programs is beginning to make them realize that there is no "sure fire" formula.

The retire industry was tremendously jolted by the first nonseasonal success of The $64,000 Question in 1955. Chiefly as a result of its success, there are 18 quiz programs of varying complexity currently appearing on the networks in prime viewing hours. Not all these programs will survive into next fall. It's doubtful if even half will last. No one in television seriously expects them to survive, but packages and networks have been forced to continue to gamble with them rather wistfully, hoping always for the big success that made Question such a hit.

ANALOGOUS QUESTION

There is a tendency in every entertainment and communications medium to try to duplicate a success. But there are laws even to the extreme of television. What television has done with quiz programs this year make one ratio this analogous question: After the tremendous success of the novel Gone With the Wind several years ago, why didn't 18 publishers set 18 of their best hack novelists to work on novels of 1,000 pages or so about the American Civil War?

The answer, apart from the fact that book publishing doesn't work that way, is that the reading market wouldn't support the effort. Neither, eventually, will the TV viewing market support the quiz program effort.

As the big original question has been to the spate of new quiz programs, so have the continued success of I Love Lucy, Father Knows Best and December Bride been to the plethora of what is unkindly referred to as "situation comedies." None of the many new comedy series introduced this fall has been a resounding success; to the contrary, the majority will not be with us a month hence.

In all established programming forms, as with these two, there is more of everything this year. But there is little really new.

Movie Column

First Change in Movie Code Will Bring Franker Films

By BOB THOMAS

Editor's note: Last week marked the first major known revision in the movie code since it was adopted in 1930. The actions in Hollywood have an effect, for better or worse, depending on your own look at it, on films of the future. Following is the first of two columns interpreting the changes.

You'll see franker movies, but not necessarily sexier ones. You'll see more charte kissing, hear more "damns" and "hells." You'll see treatments of moral and social problems that have previously been banned from the screen.

Last week's announcement of the first big change in the film industry's self-censorship code in 26 years was much expected. Recently producers have been rankling under hard-and-fast rules. They wanted more freedom to deal with topics their rivals in TV could tackle frankly.

SOME RULES TIGHTEN

The film creators' demands got action, but not complete grow colder. They felt they needed more freedom of expression to have the final say on films.

But the code revisions brought not only freedom. Some rules became stricter. This was the result of other forces. Foreign censors have long complained that Hollywood movies are too brutal. Church groups have declared increasing sexiness of films.

So provisions concerning brutality and sex have been tightened. Other elements in the code changes:

1. Miscegenation is no longer mentioned in the code. That gives the green light to the recently filmed Island in the Sun.

2. Narcotics, while slavery and dope addiction, completely banned until now, may be treated on the screen, but with restrictions. This doesn't mean a wholesale attack on such subjects. The industry will merely abandon its ostrich attitude toward them.

TONE DOWN KISSING

3. Open-mouthed kissing is banned. Unlike TV, which permits marathon kisses, the movies have long put a time limit on kissing. Some directors sought other means to portraying passion. Now stars like Marilyn Monroe will have to pucker up before osculating.

4. The code now admits the use of "hell" and "damn" can be dramatically valid, but advises restraint.

5. More limitations are placed on seduction, rape and details of crime.

6. Nudity is still forbidden, but, oddly, infants' sex organs can now be shown.

7. Words on sex perversion, venereal disease and sex hygiene still remain.

The results of the code revision will not be completely seen for a year or more. Most movies are in the screen. Even then, the changeover will be gradual. Hollywood has learned not to make drastic changes in its moral positions, lest a multitude of censors sweep down on the industry.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Today's vibrations are good for home and family affairs, religious service, interests pertaining to the heart and mind, domesticity, social matters. Relax where possible.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Favorable influences for you. Your planets, in splendid position, encourage domestic and religious pursuits. Enjoy family and friends.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Start the day by making up your mind this is as important a time to renew good intentions and wipe away ill feelings as is New Year's ed. This should be a happy, peaceful day. Aid little children, lonely folk.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Your active, energetic Scorpio folks need more relaxation and rest than you usually think you do and you need a change of activities, too. Enjoy this day to its fullest.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — This can be an enjoyable period if you maintain your usual optimistic disposition and spread good cheer and encouragement in the lonely places the sick room, among children.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Favorable rays. Enjoy the true Christmas spirit; thank God for His many blessings and try to make the day one of good deeds.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Some stellar influences now warn against making needless drastic changes. Pay attention to family needs, enjoy your church, wholesome pleasures.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Speak softly, act decisively, but with only good will and modesty complimenting your words, deeds. Meditate on the true meaning of this day, so appreciated by those who have so little.

You born today are the steady, dependable and self-sacrificing Capricorn type. High mental development, industriousness and true charity are strong in this Sign. Diversified talents, great capability are yours. You may have a tendency to overwork and thus injure health. This will not pay. Keep physically and mentally fit for the big things expected of you. You can find a position of authority, perhaps in large organizations or can be a skilled worker in whatever your chosen field. Avoid any inclination to gamble.

Birthdate: Jesus Christ, Divine Saviour.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Some worthwhile contacts are favored today. Be careful, pleasant day. Essential duties need not be trying. It is mostly up to you—and how graciously you accept responsibilities and carry them through.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Some so-called "quiet" days are more productive and satisfying than excitingly busy ones. In fact, they are most constructively. Today indicates quiet, albeit pleasant, influences. Reflect, pray, be content.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Home, family, church, community interests highly favor-

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Don't think about yourself, your problems or disappointments today; find what you can do to improve home, community, worthwhile interests. Then you will truly benefit yourself.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — This can be a useful, pleasant day. Essential duties need not be trying. It is mostly up to you—and how graciously you accept responsibilities and carry them through.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Some so-called "quiet" days are more productive and satisfying than excitingly busy ones. In fact, they are most constructively. Today indicates quiet, albeit pleasant, influences. Reflect, pray, be content.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Home, family, church, community interests highly favor-

LET'S BE REALISTIC — If you moved in a new community, all the homes today are designed for the average family. But are they? Is it not surprising that when you come to offer them today to the young family that they cannot afford, but only provide the usual worries about the cost of repairs, guessing about the more personal problems of how the need upset with the neighbors BUT happiness is the key word. Your new home is designed to suit your needs and there's a garage. This is not the home for you, but if you have a real estate people but it would be a wise investment to look at this new home and see what it has to offer. Storebrooke and wants to sell you a home. Why not do it right. $13,500. We are prepared to work out the very easiest of terms.

FAST DEAL
THE OWNER OF THIS HOME HAS TO SELL. It is situated in a mile from town and on the highway. Only $1,000 down and the price is now an utter." We believe the owner is a real sport and we are wise to make an offer. Only $1,000 down and the price is now $8,500. A well-kept home will be honest — this home requires some finishing off and any handyman could do it up for $500. There's living room, dining room, 2-piece bath, utility room, and kitchen on the main floor, with 2 bedrooms upstairs. $1,000 down and you may be surprised to know that you could own your own home. Have you $1,500, or $1,000.?

HAVE YOU A TICKET ON THE SWEEPSTAKES?
HAVE YOU NO MONEY?
IF YOU THINK THAT YOU ARE LUCKY enough to win a sweepstakes may cause in first, then you are a dreamer. Save up a little modest home at only $5,000, only $500 down payment and a garage. If you would like this home you will be asked to make us your offer. We have no feelings.

BRITONS SEEK

"We haven't lotted them up," said a Canadian official here. He'd estimate we are getting 10,000 in quotas a week with a large percentage of them asking for the forms to questa for entry."

Immigration queues have been swelling at the Commonwealth offices since last January, but the big get-out trends started Dec. 1. That was one day after the chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan, announced gasoline was going up to about 90 cents a gallon because the oil shortage caused by the Suez Canal blockage. It was feared that the income tax might go up if things got worse. British income taxes already are the highest in the world.

A 100-per-cent tax on luxury items, including automobiles, stiffened restrictions on installment buying and the generally low salaries all contribute to the lure of living in other countries of the Commonwealth. In addition there is a widespread feeling among young people that Britain no longer is a land of opportunity.

EDINBURGH ON TOUR

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh was welcomed to New Zealand Sunday by Prime Minister Sidney Holland after he landed at Christchurch airport. The duke is making a four-month tour of the southern hemisphere.

'LEGAL STATUS'

1. The recent events in Hungary, Poland and Yugoslavia will have an effect on the process of de-Stalinization. A decision on whether to tighten or relax the Kremlin's grip on the satellites could stem from the discussions.

2. Possible changes in the Moscow leadership.

3. Housing—discussions of this perennial shortage have appeared frequently of late in the Soviet press.

4. Production of consumer goods —the old problem of heavy industry and arms production vs. goods to make life easier.

Thomas P. Whitney, a former Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, described the lineup in the central committee meeting as the Soviet Communist party congress last February this way:

At the extreme right are "hard line" or "orthodox Stalinist" Communists who grew around party Second Secretary Mikhail Suslov and Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov. They favor an anti-Western party policy, maintaining strictest control over all aspects of life in the Soviet bloc.

In the centre are party chief Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin who have attempted to ride the wave of popular "liberalization" in Russia and the satellites, but have backtracked toward hard policies since the outbreaks in East Europe.

At the left is a faction headed by former Premier Malenkov advocating a "soft line" and more concessions to popular demands.

In announcing arrival of the Russian 3 - man Communist delegation arrived in Warsaw today in order to conclude agreement between the governments of the U.S.S.R. and the government of Poland on the legal status of Soviet troops temporarily stationed in Poland."

The significant word in that sentence was "temporarily." The earlier Tass announcement that Serpilov and Zhukov had departed did not use that word.

Parishioners at St. Michael's Church, where the family are members, have been asked to contribute what they can in aid of the stricken family. Already furniture and clothing have been donated. Saturday night the Salvation Army offered food and Aid. Ellie McCabe, chairman of the Disaster for the Red Cross assisted in co-ordinating relief for the stricken family. The Red Cross is supplying new bedding and clothing for the children, while the Salvation Army is looking after Bridget's family. Mrs. Tony Mason and Robert Brennan of the Northern Electric, are trying to get her a new home for the family.

Sunday, Mrs. Kraft was worried about a possibility that they would have difficulty in finding accommodation because of their two children.

"But people have been so kind," she said.

Unaware of the fire loss, Mr. Kraft's plane was diverted en route to Belleville from the west to spend Christmas here.

Egypt Seen to Be Pushed Into Unbreakable Ties With Russia

PARIS (AP)—Egypt, at the moment the acknowledged leader of the Arab world, is seen by Western observers as walking into a dangerous trap of her own making.

Events of the last two years, climaxed by the seizure Suez Canal, apparently are pushing Egypt ever closer toward unbreakable ties with Soviet Union and the Communist bloc.

A system of political trade—at which the Russians have become expert—threatens to chain Egypt to politics of the Soviet bloc, and already has gone dangerously far along the road.

This correspondent has just returned from a swing through the Middle East, where he found much clear evidence that Arab leaders in other countries are becoming frightened at Egypt's danger.

Egypt's current policies, hardled by the British-French-Israeli attack, seem to have closed off the last time long and readily accessible avenues of rescue from the West. At the moment President Nasser has the power to change the direction of Egypt's course, but he himself is a servant of his own policy.

It is still not too late for Nasser to seek a way out of his trap. He still can attempt to return to the original aims of the Egyptian revolution, turning the attention of the people toward their own monumental problems. He can try —possibly with Western help—to build Egypt into a position of internal strength that would make themselves in disagreement. But the Egyptian Army officer class, the prime ministre and Vice-President Nasser strengthened this spirit of agreement rather than discord.

The meeting occurs at a critical moment in Egyptian history. Nixon predicted that it will "not only contribute to the better understanding between our two governments and our two peoples, but that it will contribute to the cause of world peace."

The two countries share a "common dedication and devotion" to freedom, independence and peace.

OF PERSONAL PLANE

Nehru came to Washington from London on Eisenhower's personal plane, and was met by Nixon, State Secretary Dulles and more than a dozen other representatives of Commonwealth and Southeast Asian countries.

Eisenhower greeted the 67-year-old Indian leader at the north portico of the White House, which is flanked by two big Christmas trees, welcoming him "to this land—and to this house." It was the beginning of Nehru's second U.S. visit. He last was here in 1949.

The two men then held their first talk across the luncheon table, surrounded by members of their families. Nehru was accompanied by Mrs. Indira Gandhi, his daughter.

American and Indian officials agreed that neither wants to wring any definite commitment from the other.

RAWDON

Mr., Mrs. Walter Scott Mark Golden Wedding Anniversary

RAWDON — The home of Mrs. Jack Hutcheon, Alderwood, in the Toronto area, was artistically decorated on Sunday for the 50th wedding anniversary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott of Rawdon township.

The family dinner party was held on December 9th. A decorated anniversary cake was the highlight of the dining table.

Following the dinner guests, sons, Gary, Brian and Bruce Hutcheon presented their grandparents with a 21-inch RCA Victor table model television set.

Mrs. Scott was formerly Maude Hubble, the only child of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hubble of Wellman's, the Rawdon township.

Mr. Scott is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ezekial Scott, fourth concession Rawdon.

He has one brother, William Henry Scott, residing at Mount Pleasant.

They have one daughter, Helen (Mrs. Jack Hutcheon,) and three grandsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott spent a few days in Toronto and since their return to Wellman's they have been the recipients of a large array of anniversary cards and numerous individual gifts, which included a decorated towel set from Wellman's W.A., which was presented by Mrs. Charles Dunham and Mrs. John Carlisle on behalf of the WA group.

Weather Milder In New York

NEW YORK (CP)—Mild weather returned today to New York state and New England in the wake of a weekend storm which lashed the area and was blamed for at least 30 highway deaths.

Fourteen persons died in New York state car crashes blamed on icy roads, three in the toll in the New England states was set at 15.

Connecticut was crippled by what authorities called the worst ice storm in 35 years. During the height of the storm, more than 85,000 homes or businesses were left without electric power, and a state of emergency was declared in the northern part of the states.

FUND PAST MID-MARK

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Hungarian Relief Fund passed the halfway mark of its $500,000 objective during the weekend. The total so far is $253,356, said cochairman G. S. Thorvaldson of Winnipeg.

DO YOU WANT TO BE ABLE TO GET AWAY INTO THE COUNTRY ANY TIME YOU WISH DURING THE TWELVE MONTHS OF THE YEAR?
Winterized cabin on fifty foot lot is available at Treasure Cove Beach, located on County Road eight miles east of Picton, or thirty-two miles from Belleville. This road is hard surfaced and open 12 months of the year. The lot is well shaded with large white pine trees with excellent view of Bay of Quinte.
This property carries certain restrictions so that you can be reasonably sure of congenial neighbors, and has right-of-ways on a sandy and safe beach for children. The beach is not more than 300 feet from this cabin. Good fishing and hunting — some of the biggest bass in the province are caught nearby. For the hunter, the vicinity offers rabbit, fox, coon, partridge, duck etc. Winter and summer — for sport and for the table, or just fresh air and exercise, you will find this a great spot.
The cabin is twelve by sixteen feet and is lined with rock wool insulation and panelled with plywood, equipped with four built-in bunks, stranger covers and shutters, medicine cabinet, smoke stack, and wired for hydro. All this for a total price of $1,500. and you can enjoy this spot the year round.

GIANT TRANSPORT TO CARRY GUIDED MISSILES FOR U SAF

Designed to play the role in the air that a supply ship does at sea, the Hercules prop-jet-propelled cargo liner has been added to the U.S. Air Force. Able to travel at 370 mph, the big airship can carry even the guided missile "Nike," shown here being loaded, to any spot where danger threatens. In air force language it will speed "men, supplies, ammunition and spare parts to bomber fleets anywhere in the world, any time." (Central Press Canadian).

to the UN against "British-French attacks on the civilian population in Port Said over the weekend."

Prior to the British-French action, troops of the UN emergency force in Port Said fired for the first time on harassing guerrillas. Three grenades were thrown at a Norwegian UN jeep patrol Saturday, and the patrol fired back. Later other Norwegians fired on guerrillas attacking a French jeep. Egypt has insisted that except for a brief preliminary period to restore order, the UN units sent is to guard the peace must take up positions along the uneasy Israeli-Egyptian armistice line that existed before Israel and the British-French task force penetrated Egypt.

WILL PULL BACK

Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, Canadian commander of UNEF, said Sunday at Lydda airport in Israel that Israeli troops now holding a line 21 miles east of the Suez Canal will pull back farther this week. He could not say how far. Burns made the statement after an hour's conference with Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israeli army chief of staff.

Israeli sources insist that their country must get assurance that Egypt will never again use Sinai to mount raids on Israeli territory. They have said that any final Israeli withdrawal from the area will depend on political developments.

RETURNS WITH SMUGGLED DAUGHTER

Mrs. Eleana Deiczok, of Detroit, carries her daughter, Tanya Chwastov, from the plane in which she arrived from England. The 18½-year-old child was smuggled from the U.S. by her Russian father, Alexis Chwastov, but was snatched from a Russian-bound ship by British autorities. A British court gave custody of the child to her mother. Tanya is clutching the doll Mrs. Deiczok brought her from the U. S. when she went to England to fight for the child. ## Eisenhower Tells House He Wants To Confer With Eisenhower

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Eden said today he would like to meet with President Eisenhower. He added that "my desire . . . is very well known" to the United States government.

The British leader, answering questions by the opposition in the House of Commons, said, however, he had no detailed statement to make at this time about the possibility of early face-to-face talks with the president.

Both Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet are known informally to have consulted Washington in recent weeks about prospects of a conference of the western big three heads of government.

Eisenhower has cold-shouldered the idea for the time being, diplomats have reported. The United States has not wanted to be associated—even indirectly—with the British-French policy of intervention in Egypt.

Post Office Stamps Cards Woman Forgot

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Roy Henry dropped the last of her 50 Christmas cards into the mailbox near her home Monday—and then remembered that she had forgotten to put stamps on them.

She hurriedly called the post office to find out what could be done. Would the cards remain in the post office? Would her friends have to pay postage to receive their greetings?

A post office spokesman suggested that she bring in a complete list of names and addresses and the stamps to go with the cards already mailed, Mrs. Henry did so.

Province Will Not Authorize A[illegible] Investigation

TORONTO (CP) — The status of a proposed judicial inquiry into licensing of liquors in Toronto was up in the air today after Attorney-General Kelso Roberts indicated the province will not authorize an investigation into alleged illegal dealings in the liquor licences.

Rejection of the inquiry left the matter in the hands of the Metropolitan licensing commission, which takes its orders from the Toronto police commission on Jan. 1.

Civic officials were indignant. Controller Ford Brand, acting mayor, said the attorney-general is effect had the civic "to go to the devil."

Alderman Philip Givens said: "It makes it look as if somebody is trying to protect someone."

DRIVER SURVIVES

The Star quotes a veteran taxi driver as saying that in addition to a payment of $2,120 for a cab, including meter and taxi sign on the roof, another $3,000 in cash must be paid under the table for transfer of a licence. The driver asked his name not be used.

Actual cost of a taxicab licence in Toronto is $15.

LASHES FOR TRIO

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C. (CP)—Three men were convicted of rape Monday and each sentenced to four years imprisonment and 10 lashes. Puga Singh, 22, and Kie and Jumbo Singh, both 24, were charged with raping a 22-year-old Vancouver woman.

Today's Chuckle

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Warmer air from the central states will begin flowing back over Ontario tonight, and will result in a rapid return to milder temperatures. The cold spell in Ontario Monday night was White River with 45 degrees below. Tonight lows will range from 15 above in the south to 10 below in the north, but temperatures will be rising from midnight on in most places.

GRAIN SHIPPERS REPORT "VERY GOOD YEAR"

365 Million Bushels Handled This Season

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Grain shippers Monday reported "a very good year" as elevators poured about 600,000 bushels of grain into the last three ships to head east, bringing the year's total to a healthy 365,000,000 bushels.

The total is well above the 1954 total of 292,000,000 bushels and the 266,000,000 bushels in 1955. More than 420,000,000 bushels were shipped in the record year of 1953.

The Renoyvie, the Everton and the George Hindman, the last vessels to leave the lakehead departure list. The Hagerty and the Glenealgles were expected to arrive here to load grain before going into winter berths in the Kam River. They will bring the year's arrivals to 1,305, compared with 909 in 1955.

Icebreakers have been keeping slips open.

KEEP U.S. LOCKS OPEN

Determining factor in shipping cut-offs in most years is the operation of the locks at Sault Ste. Marie. Although the locks usually close Dec. 15, those on the American side will be kept open until Jan. 1 this year to allow passage of ore shipments delayed earlier in the year by a strike. Insurance rates rise progressively as winter conditions set in.

Heavy shipments of grain mean more ships are needed for the later shipments from Prairie elevators. Most elevators now are early and ships are bringing in grain at a normal rate.

Navigation at the Lakehead opened this year April 5. The last move of the season, expected to be completed, will be the removal of lighthouse keepers from their posts after the Hagerty and the Glenealgles are escorted to their winter berths.

Eden Commences Attempt to Patch Splits in Party

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Eden today began the difficult task of patching together Conservative unity, threatened by the government's Middle East policy.

Eden, whose future as prime minister is regarded in some political quarters as being in the balance, faces strong opposition from Conservative members when either disapproved of British intervention in Egypt or the subsequent withdrawal from Suez.

Eden was cheered by his supporters as he entered and later appeared before the House of Commons for the first time since the Suez withdrawal came in Jamaica. But there was ominous silence not only among Labor party members but among certain wings of his own party.

Eden is to confront some 250 Conservative members of Parliament at a meeting tonight. Some of them, according to political observers, will be seeking his scalp, wholesale changes in the party's leadership.

Sunday's newspapers differ in their interpretations of the warmth of the receptions given to Eden, but no report describes it as enthusiastic.

Airliner Search Will Continue

VANCOUVER (CP)—The search for a North Star airliner, missing for more than eight days with its passengers and three crew members, "will continue indefinitely," a Trans-Canada Air Lines official said here last night.

The search, crippled by harsh weather and taunted by a series of worthless clues, is in its second week. It centres on a mountainous area between Chilliwack and Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver.

The eastbound North Star vanished over the area Dec. 5 after its pilot reported engine trouble and received permission to head back to Vancouver airport.

SNOW MAY HIDE SIGNS

RCAF search officials say the 18 inches of snow which has fallen during the last week may hide any trace of the wreckage until spring.

Britons Appear to Be Counting Pennies Instead of Spending Them This Xmas

LONDON (Reuters)—Britons appear to be counting their pennies instead of spending them this Christmas.

With only five more shopping days to go, shopkeepers report an unaccountable slump.

Even at Petticoat Lane, London's great outdoor market which annually attracts thousands of pre-Christmas bargain hunters, the Cockney stall keepers admit that business is "better at the cemetery."

More than a few hundred Londoners turned up at the Lane on the next to the last Sunday before Christmas. Those that came gloomily looked at the bargain sprays, the perfectly good marked-down teddy bears, the unbeatably priced cutlery and dinnerware sets. But few bought.

The dockers' strike apparently has not been so bad for 35—no 40—years. "People just haven't got the money this year," a toyseller said.

But there is encouraging word from the turkey breeders that holiday-makers will at least be able to fill themselves — if not their stockings—according to traditions.

A price war has begun, with record quantities of turkeys—up to 28 pounds—selling for as little as 55 to 70 shillings each.

Christmas cake manufacturers are still smiling. A record number of 1,000 tons of cakes were exported in Britain this year.

Even the drink trade is optimistic for mistletoe. The first batch has arrived from France. Half stayed in London, the remainder went to the rest of the country.

Gambling nationalized is likely to make this a stay-at-home Christmas, but British railroads are optimistic. They are also arranging extra holiday specials on 2,000 trains.

Canada's National Production Climbs 11 Per Cent in Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's national production may hit a record more than one-third of the expansion caused by new investments, the bureau of statistics indicated today.

Reporting on the state of the economy in the first nine months of the year, the bureau said it "seems likely" the gross national product will be about 11 per cent higher than last year's $26,800,000,000.

Gain in physical production likely would be about seven per cent, with the rest of the rise caused by higher prices.

Included in the forecast is the value of 1956 crop production, estimated at roughly $800,000,000. That would be a gain of $150,000,000 from last year.

National production in the third quarter was at an annual rate of $30,000,000,000, rising two per cent from the preceding three months.

The bureau said evidence suggests that about half of the third-quarter gain is accounted for by higher prices.

Major factors in the July-September increase were gains of more than three per cent in labor income, of two per cent in personal expenditures on consumer goods and services and of seven per cent in business investments for plant, machinery and equipment.

Residential construction declined eight per cent from the second quarter, but spending on new house-building still was 5.8 per cent ahead of a year earlier, totalling $1,500,000,000.

Investment income declined two per cent in July-September from the previous quarter but profits were up three per cent.

Non-residential construction was up 15 per cent from the April-June period.

In volume terms, physical productivity is expected to grow by about seven per cent this year compared with nine per cent in 1955. Prices in the first nine months of the year were three or four per cent higher than 1955, and higher prices accounted for about half of the third-quarter production gain.

Total purchases in the economy increased 11 per cent in the first nine months of the year.

Power Shown by Israel's Army Turns Arabs Towards Russia

PARIS (AP)—A close adviser of Canal Abdel Nasser told me in Cairo a few days ago that the Egyptian president hopes and expects that the Suez Canal dispute will be settled soon—but does not expect to have to retreat from his stand against international control of the waterway.

The next question is the first big hurdle in the way of re-establishing order in the Middle East. It becomes the biggest problem of all—the Arab-Israeli question.

Arab leaders are willing to talk and talk and talk about the danger checked. But the fear of Israel, the immediate enemy, is greater. This fear turned Nasser to the Russians for the arms the West refused him.

There is little question that the Israelis alone would have defeated Nasser — perhaps toppling him from power—had not the British and French intervened.

Now the economy of Egypt is in perilous condition and there is little effective opposition to Nasser in his army. They know the Israelis destroyed, in the Sinai Desert, where the Israelis trained through at will.

Arab leaders seem to have produced in Egyptian leaders an eagerness to come to some sort of terms with the West.

Nasser can take the road to friendship and accept internally strong and a stabilizing influence in the Middle East, or he can make his country virtually a satellite of the Soviet Union. If he chooses the former, he must surrender some of his dreams of Arab empire.

Gas Rationing Leaves London Streets Deserted

LONDON (AP)—Britain's first day of "Suez" gasoline rationing left some city streets as deserted as a village lane Monday and brought strange turn-of-the-century vehicles out of hiding.

In Edinburgh, Harold Marshall perched himself in the saddle of a high-wheeled bi-cy-cle from grandma's day and pedalled to his work as a research engineer. At Leeds, Fred Trevor entered his chestnut mare six miles to his real estate office in the heart of Yorkshire.

A London firm used an electric-powered delivery truck to travel Paris in 1900 to transport its directors.

A chain-driven; solid-tired electric truck of 1922 vintage, which was used for years during the gasoline shortage of the Second World War, crept back to work in the Shepherd's Bush area.

Thousands of Britons left their cars in garages and turned to crowded public transprit systems to get to work.

Calgary Firms May Develop Athabasca Sands

CALGARY (CP)—The Alberta says large-scale development of the Athabasca oil sands in northern Alberta "is now a matter of $65,000,000 to $100,000,000, is being planned by Calgary oil companies.

The newspaper says drastic reduction of oil supplies from the Middle East has led to revived interest in marketing the oil sands product through the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

It is understood that a group of companies interested in the oil sands are now preparing an application for an overall project costing from $65,000,000 to $100,000,000, according to varying estimates.

Greatest Wonder For Hungarians Is Freedom

OTTAWA (CP)—To Tibor Fedak and his Hungarian refugee family, Canada is a wonderland. And its greatest wonder is the freedom.

"It's hard to believe, it's all so wonderful," he told a reporter as he, his wife and two children settled into a comfortable home, arranged to go to work in a garage.

"In Hungary, we were not allowed to own a car, to go to work, to do anything without permission," he said through an interpreter. "Here it is so free."

The Fedak family are part of a group of 59 Hungarian refugees who now have found homes in the city.

Two couples will be married immediately. Most of the other Hungarians have arranged to begin school or working by next week.

"I can't believe how fast we got here," said Mrs. Fedak. "It is just three weeks ago we were in our home."

"We received excellent hospitality in Austria, a poor country," she added, "if it can be surpassed it will only be Canada that can surpass it."

Put on Probation

MINOT, N.D. (AP)—Fourteen hunters who admitted bringing in 100 pheasants and geese from Canada were fined Monday and put on a year's probation.

In addition, Judge George S. Register ordered that during their probationary period the men not carry or use firearms, except in the national defence.

ELEVATOR BURNED

RAILWAY FREIGHT INCREASE BRINGS MANY PROTESTS

Regret Increase Depending on Road to Coast

OTTAWA (CP)—Expressions of regret were voiced—both in coast Monday night in the wake of the newest increase in railway freight rates.

The board of transport commissioners Monday empowered the railways to increase rates by another four per cent Jan. 1—the second increase in six months.

The boost gives the carriers a total of 12 per cent of their basically-requested 15-per-cent rise. The board said a "final determination" of the original request would be made later, and farm spokesmen interviewed here this week mean another rise, perhaps to the full 15 per cent.

"The case should be closed now," said Dr. Ernest Hope, Carcidian Federation of Agriculture economist. "The board has had a number of months to consider the case and should not keep dragging it on.

"We don't believe the present increase is justified but it looks as though there may be even another increase."

SPREAD WIDENS

Dr. Hope said the new rise would widen the spread between the farmer's selling price and the price he pays manufacturers. This would lead to increases in farm prices, he said.

At Edmonton, R. H. Hughes, deputy provincial treasurer, said the Alberta government is particularly bad effect on Alberta which has developed a "protective factor" rate structure.

A Saskatchewan Wheat Pool representative said a pool protest would be lodged with the board.

Premier Duff Roblin of Manitoba farmers' unions, said it would consider presenting formally to the federal government.

In announcing the new "interim" increase, the board allowed the railways to increase the charge on coal and coke by 10 cents a ton—up from the 12 cents authorized last June.

In addition, an Alberta government spokesman said the new busines-cent rise may "drastically affect" Alberta's coal industry.

The railways appealed for a general rate rise in June, after seizing a wage dispute with employees by arbitration to higher wages and other benefits.

All provinces—except Ontario and Quebec—had their spokesmen for coal operators, farmers and other shippers registered opposition.

MANY COMPLAINTS

C. S. John's, Nfld., Arthur Johnson, deputy minister of economic development, said Monday the new increase will be a "terrible burden" on the cost of living in Newfoundland.

In Victoria, Attorney - general Robert Bonner of B.C. said the increase is "something to be regretted."

Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia said in Halifax that he will confer with other Atlantic provincial governments before the Maritime Transportation Commission to "see what can be done" about the increase.

7-Foot Omelet Scraped off Road by 'Dozer

SOUTH BRUNSWICK N.J. (AP) A huge omelet was cooked on the road Monday morning when a truck loaded with eggs overturned and caught fire near here.

Police said the omelet was so well done that a bulldozer had to be brought to scrape up a seven-foot-high pile of it that blocked the highway for nearly an hour.

British, French And UN Agree On Salvage Plan

Salvage Fleet Agreement Subject to Nasser's O.K.

PORT SAID, Egypt (Reuters)—United Nations representatives and the British-French command today agreed to conditions under which the British-French salvage fleet would help clear the Suez Canal.

Two key conditions said the UN Emergency Force will provide protection for the salvage fleet flying the UN flag and British naval personnel would wear civilian clothes with UN armbands.

The conditions are subject to the approval of Egyptian President Nasser.

British officials estimate it would take seven to eight weeks to clear the canal completely if the Egyptians co-operate. Ships and personnel were used. They estimate it would take at least twice as long without their vessels and crews.

WANT CREWS TO STAY

The British so far have refused to permit their salvage ships to be utilized without their crews, and suggested a week ago by Lt.-Gen. Raymond Wheeler, the American salvage expert heading the United Nations canal clearance mission.

Nasser has said he would use British navy personnel on the job, but the British have insisted that it is to the interest of many countries, that the clearing of the canal should be tackled with all available reserves of whatever country.

Some 300 British-controlled Egyptian police, the vanguard of more than 1,000, moved into Port Said this morning and the last unit of the British-French fleet which will leave Egypt troops from Egypt was completed.

The Egyptian police forces will police Port Said, the Suez Canal's northern gateway, once more under the rule of President Nasser's Cairo government.

UNEY WILL LEAVE

The British intend to pull out as soon as possible after the British and French troops, leaving Port Said's administration strictly to the Egyptians.

Indications were that the complete withdrawal of British and French forces would take place by Saturday or Thursday. Meanwhile, the garrison remained barricaded behind barbed wire at the docks.

One Vote Cast For Walter Jones As U.S. President

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 531 members of the Electoral College cast their votes Monday for president, but in Alabama one Democratic elector refused to vote for Adlai Stevenson.

This, then, was the indicated outcome:

| | |
|---|---|
| For Dwight D. Eisenhower | 457 |
| For Stevenson | 73 |
| For Walter Jones | 1 |

Jones, of Montgomery, Ala., a circuit court judge, won the vote of Alabama despite despite the fact that Stevenson carried Alabama.

The electors took place in the General Assembly—on the unanimous recommendation of the 11-man Credentials Committee.

Japan's admission had been held up for two years by the Soviet vetoes. Russia withdrew its opposition following the signing of an agreement with Japan Oct. 19 ending the state of war between the two countries.

Assembly president Prince Wan Waithayakon welcomed Japan into the organization and invited the Japanese delegation to take its seat at the council table. The Japanese delegation was headed by Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

Near-Blind Boy Awaits Precious Birthday Gift

MONTREAL (CP)—No birthday party is planned for Jean-Paul del Bianco but today, on his 13th birthday, he may receive one of the most precious gifts fellow humans can bestow—sight.

Jean - Paul is waiting in the Montreal General Hospital for an operation which will replace part of the cornea of one eye. In another hospital is a dying person who has bequeathed his eyes for corneal transplants.

Jean - Paul almost missed his birthday. Born with a film on his eye, he was on the hospital list for an operation but his family moved and he got from the hospital a forwarding address.

He was found only after an intensive newspaper and radio publicity campaign and was taken to hospital to await the death of the unknown benefactor.

QUICK ACTION NEEDED

The surgeon said they had to prepare for the transplant operation in advance, for the sooner the corneas are removed after the death, the greater the chance of successful use of the tissue. The donor was reported in a deep coma and expected to die in a few days.

Doctors said the transplanting operation is rare and not always successful. They said it was possible one day the eyes would be operated on now, the other later. They selected him for the double because he is young, a suitable case and his family is poor.

Jean-Paul's doctor said the boy has about a 75 per cent chance of limited sight through the operation. If the operation failed it would mean the boy would remain poor sight of the selected eye would in any way worsened. Neither will it preclude chance of a successful second attempt later.

FRIDAY DETERMINATION

Hospital officials did not disclose the reason for the boy's failing sight, but said his vision has been "steadily deteriorating" since early childhood.

However, under careful supervision, the black-haired youngster was able to read in the waiting room of a textile firm and fellow-workers expected him as an efficient employee.

Another patient on the hospital list, who preferred to remain anonymous, is to receive the dying person's eyes when he dies. Doctors said the transplants must be made within 24 hours of death if the tissue is to survive. If the operation is to have a chance of success.

United Nations Admits Japan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Japan was admitted to the United Nations by a unanimous vote today, the last of the 80th member of the world organization.

The assembly took place in the General Assembly—on the unanimous recommendation of the 11-man Credentials Committee.

Japan's admission had been held up for two years by the Soviet vetoes. Russia withdrew its opposition following the signing of an agreement with Japan Oct. 19 ending the state of war between the two countries.

Assembly president Prince Wan Waithayakon welcomed Japan into the organization and invited the Japanese delegation to take its seat at the council table. The Japanese delegation was headed by Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu.

British Lifts Its Veil of Secrecy On Jet Plane Which Lands Vertically

LONDON (AP)—British aviation engineers lifted slightly today the veil of secrecy around a jet-plane combining fast forward speeds with the ability to take off and land vertically.

Newspapers hailed the plane—the SC-1—as putting Britain ahead of the United States and Russia in the race to develop jets that can operate from small airfields independent of long runways.

The SC1—SC stands for Strange Contraption—underwent its first taxiing trials in Belfast Monday. Only one official photograph was released—carefully posed to show a silhouette of delta wing.

Manufacturers of the delta shaped plane, the Short Brothers and Harland Co., said it is powered with Rolls-Royce jet engines. Two of the engines, pointing downward from the fuselage, are used to raise and lower the aircraft vertically. The three other engines propel it in level flight.

The plane also has an "autostabilizer" which controls it in the air while it is shifting from vertical to level flight.

FRED W. BRIGHTWELL NOW INSURANCE MAN

Former Salvation Army senior captain Fred W. Brightwell who served in Belleville a couple of years ago, has entered the life insurance business. He is now associated with Canadian Premier Life Insurance Company.

CAROLERS TO VISIT BOTH HILLS

The citizens of Belleville have given a generous response to the appeals made by the Salvation Army for funds this Christmas season. The Army is most appreciative of all that has been done but would remind the residents in the Highland Avenue and Churchill Heights districts that the carolers will be heard by them this evening. This will be the last night the band will be heard on the streets with the exception of the main street carols on Saturday night.

NUMBER OF FUNCH BOARDS PICKED UP BY O.P.P. SQUAD

Members of the Ontario Provincial Police anti-gambling squad from Toronto visited Belleville and immediate area yesterday and confiscated a number of punch boards found at local business establishments. Reports were that the squad members came armed with search warrants. It was not learned whether any charges were preferred where punch boards were found on the premises.

VALUABLE CAMERA TAKEN FROM SHOP

Procedure By-Law, Agreement With Rawson Bus Lines Given Council Approval at Meeting

At a four-hour special session marked by spirited debate on both major issues, members of city council, Monday evening, gave final approval to the new council procedure by-law and also to the agreement with the Rawson Bus Lines approving a 8 per cent increase in fares as well as certain cutbacks in route service.

Finalization of the new council procedure by-law came after it was that all standing committees will be disbanded as of December 31, with the new year to see complete adoption of a city manager type of municipal government.

The formal approval of the Rawson Bus Lines' agreement will see adult fares increased from three for a quarter to two for a quarter, or 12c cash fares, and children's fares increased from five to seven cents.

Also the Crosstown bus will be discontinued and the West Hill route of the Dunbar-Cedars bus will be re-routed to provide service in the Bayview and Wellington street areas. On the East Hill the route of the Parkwood Heights bus will be down Victoria Avenue, instead of Bridge Street.

Although both by-laws had been given council approval in committee last week there was much discussion on both issues with council at one point going into caucus for over half an hour to thresh out whether Alderman Ben Sills should be permitted to divulge figures of the independent audit of bus operations provided by the company on the understanding that the information would be confidential.

PRESSES POINT

Alderman Safe held the company had an exclusive bus franchise and as result was public business and its business should be made public. He claimed the independent audit of bus company books by the city auditor, had shown the position of the bus company was not as bad as was painted.

Mayor Jane Forrester on the other hand said it was "grossly unfair" to publish the figures when they had been given in confidence and only for information of council members.

Louis Marzakas, solicitor for Mr. Rawson, said it would not be fair to quote isolated figures from the financial statements without reading the entire report. He said a copy of the report was on file at city hall and could be read at any time by any member of the public.

After discussing the matter in caucus council returned to the council room where it was asked to consider an amendment by Alderman Dr. Ward Wright questing that the Rawson Bus Company publish the auditor's report at the expense of the city and that the by-law be laid over for consideration by the 1957 council.

Mr. Marakas said the company had no objection to publication of the complete audited report, when upon Alderman Argue noted that if the report was to be published there should be no objection to Alderman Safe commenting on the report providing Mr. Rawson was given the right to reply.

GIVEN PERMISSION

Granted permission to speak Aldr. Safe then quoted figures from the report showing that in the year ending March 31st, 1956, an amount of $15,145 had been taken out of the bus company revenue for electrical power, also that the audit covering the past five years had shown varying amounts ranging up to $21,315 that had been taken out for depreciation. The report showed that for next year Mr. Rawson had agreed to accept considerably less.

"If there was no money for bus replacement it was the fault of the bus company management, and not of the city," he said.

In reply, Mr. Marakas said that in handling the audit the auditor had disagreed $15,000 should be taken out in executive salaries and for the purpose of the audit had figured $10,000.

"Part of the $15,000 taken out had been in repayment of a loan to Mr. Rawson," he said.

Money taken out for depreciation has been applied to purchase new charter bus in 1955 at a cost of $30,000, it was stated.

Mr. Marakas went on to say the auditor had said in his report that since 1952 the bus company had not been earning a fair return on the fares paid by passengers.

Mr. Marakas pointed out there had been no complaint about the company's service and that it was hoped the increase would put the company on a paying basis.

PRE-ROUTING SATISFACTORY

To a question from Aldr. Sills as to whether the cutback of the Dunbar-Cedles bus would be satisfactory to West Hill residents, Mr. Marakas said that the route had been carefully studied and that pre-routing was satisfactory. The trees recommended to be removed by Parker and Wellington streets.

The by-law covering the bus company agreement was carried 11-2 with Aldermen Sills and McCabe opposing. Approving were Mayor Forrester and Aldermen Ward, Graham, Grandame, Mrs. C. L. Hyde, G. Hyde, Keegan, Beck, Tweyne and Argue.

Procedure by-law was scheduled for Monday, December 24.

Although the new council proposes holding its meetings in camera, it was a strong move to have the matter laid over until the new year.

Alderman-elect Don J. Wheeler, in the initial request at the outset of the meeting asking that the by-law be laid over to allow new aldermen to have a voice in the matter.

This was followed up by requests from Aldermen Safe, McCabe and Argue that the by-law be delayed. It was the "duty" of council to defer it until the new year, "Council starting committees have been appointed to act until December 31st," he said.

Mayor June Forrester declared, however, that the onus was on council to pass the by-law before the year end, noting this had been the practice for years and that the city manager was appointed six months.

She said the committee system had not been as efficient as it was anticipated, noting that committee meetings had fallen far short of full attendance.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

An amendment to table the by-law until next year was defeated by a 9-4 vote.

With the by-law again up for discussion Alderman Safe said he hated to see standing committees completely abolished. He said the result that aldermen could become merely "rubber stamps" and this would be a mistake.

Mayor Forrester noted there would still have to be special committees for annexation, sewage disposal plant, planning and traffic, and other special problems. This was supported by city manager Dennis Herring who said it was the practice in other centres with city manager form of government to have traffic and planning committee, although with heavy citizen membership.

Alderman C. D. Tice felt committee heads should be retained to assist the city manager in various departments. "No city manager can look after the business of a city this size without help from council," he said.

Mr. Herring replied no man could serve two masters and this would be the case in the instance of a city manager where there were administrative committees.

He said council had decided to go into a city manager system of government without administrative committees. "Either you want the system or you can throw out smoke screens," he said.

When the by-law came up for vote it was gone over clause by clause with amendments and counter amendments added here and there before seeing final approval.

TURN DOWN BY-LAW

The by-law was carried by a 10-3 vote. Approving were: Mayor Forrester and Aldermen David, Graham, Grandame, C. L. Hyde, G. B. Hyde, Keegan, Wood, Safe and Tice. Opposing were: Aldermen Argue, McCabe and Temple.

Council turned down a by-law which would have given city approval to an amendment to the city zoning by-law which would have given approval to a change from residential to commercial for a section in the Moira and Sidney Street area to allow construction of a new service sta-

| West Ward 2 & 3 | 118 | 55 |

Christmas Tree Market Hit By Inflation

Inflation has hit the Christmas tree market, it is being found by the householders shopping for their annual Yule tree.

No longer are Christmas trees to be purchased for 50 cents, and vendors even look askance at $1. Minimum price for trees on the local market today was $1.50 with the tall specimens up to $5 for tops.

"Our costs have gone up the same as for anyone else," one vendor reported today. "The trees cost us more, gasoline prices are up, and even with the better prices we are making less money than last year."

Ald. Art Keegan as chairman of city planning, said the move had been approved by the suburban planning board; also the oil company in question was agreeable to granting the city ten feet areas along both sides of the property to allow for widening and straightening of Moira Street at this point.

He assured that residents of the area would have full opportunity to voice objections when the matter came up for approval at a hearing of the Municipal Board. He said the oil company had not yet purchased the property in question.

C. H. Broadbent, regional civil defence co-ordinator for Eastern Ontario, briefly addressed council requesting consideration of setting up a civil defence organization in the city.

EXPENDITURES SUBSIDIZED

He noted that expenditures for civil defence were now subsidized by the provincial and federal governments with the participating municipality required only to pay 25 per cent. He asked that a civil defence headquarters be set up, built around existing services such as police, fire and health services.

Fifteen counties in the Eastern Ontario district were now organized for civil defence, according to Mr. Broadbent.

He said that civil defence advocates were not war mongers but stressed that preparedness was necessary.

"If a Third World War comes, the people, will not be safe nor organized; if we are not organized the people could lose it," he stressed.

Killed Horse, Man Gets Year

SUDBURY (CP) — Albert Villeneuve, 24, lumber camp worker, Monday was sentenced to one year in jail at hard labor for wilfully killing a horse. He was convicted Dec. 7.

Testimony was that Villeneuve put a skid chain around the horse's neck and pulled it behind a jeep for half a mile at a camp near Westree, 60 miles north of Sudbury.

WINS ACQUITTAL

TORONTO (CP) — A county court jury at nearby Cooksville Monday acquitted Roland Lewis, 41, of a charge of possessing $12,000 worth of stolen bonds. Counsel for Lewis, Arthur Maloney, said that although the crown had proved the bonds were part of $27,000 stolen from Mrs. Annie Crowder of Georgina Township and that Lewis had deposited them in a bank, it did not prove Lewis knew they were stolen. Lewis said he got the bonds in a real estate deal.

Rotarians Enjoy Turkey Dinner, Special Program

In keeping with the Christmas season the Belleville Rotary Club yesterday celebrated the Yuletide in a fashion that put every member in the real Christmas spirit.

The special program was arranged by John Deacon and Egerton Boyce, and participating in the festivities were Rev. Harold M. Davis, pastor of Bridge St. United Church, Rev. Keith Hamblin, minister of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Mr. Boyce, who is club music director, and Archdeacon J. B. Creegan, rector of Christ Church.

Mr. Davis gave a brief sermonette at the conclusion of a fine turkey dinner and said, "It would be difficult to find a happier sight in the whole 12 months than that of the children opening the Christmas package he finds under the tree on this festive season. No time his size that he has hung on the mantle. For sheer unadulterated happiness and pleasure and wonder than the sparkling eyes and prancing form of a wee laddie or a little girl early Christmas morning.

"When God wanted to send His first wonderful Christmas surprise to His earthly children, he wrapped it up, just as we wrap our Christmas gifts in bright and beautiful trappings, tinsel ribbons and sparkling paper. The wrappings and the tinsel with which the great Divine Gift Finance were angelic songs, the Shepherds' visit, the Magi's pilgrimage. What I mean by wrappings were not the heart of Christmas anymore than the wrappings on a parcel are not the real thing, but what is wrapped up in it.

"There is a real danger of people completely missing the real object of Christmas in their preparations and celebration of the Divine event. Christmas is more than bright colors, tinsel lights, cheerful adornments, bedecking home and friends. It's more than an accelerated increase in sales at each succeeding Christmas. It's more than a succession of gifts, cards and conveniences in our homes or offices. Many men and women have discovered to their sorrow that these things of themselves are the externals of life and do not of necessity guarantee our happiness. Christmas is the reference to the best attested facts of ancient history. So it is both sense and sentiment, fact and fancy."

STRESSES QUALITY OF HAPPINESS

Mr. Davis stressed that the quality of happiness will always be determined by the motives that prompt it. When happiness is prompted by selfish motives it becomes superficial and shortlived because it is within it the selfish seeds of its own decay.

"One of the important things Christ came to earth to bring is life with purpose, harmony and peace, all which can only be experienced in a life of good will, whether it be a nation or an individual," he said.

"For 2,000 years history records that the first celebration of Christmas on a public scale was held in Rome, the centre of opposition that threatened Jesus' life when He was born.

"The world could do no better thing than to put the Forgotten Man back in His own birthday festival. We would not dream of writing or dramatizing the play Hamlet with the character of Hamlet left out. The important part of the fourth object of Rotary is 'the advancement of good will and peace . . . among business and professional men united in the ideal of service.' Our good will only grows in our lives when we share an unselfish love for our fellow man, when we cast out of our hearts all things that keep people apart," concluded Mr. Davis.

Following the sermonette Rev. Keith Daniel offered a few vocal solos and led the club in a song of appropriate Christmas music. At the conclusion Mr. Daniel and Archdeacon Creegan rendered a baritone and tenor duet "Good King Wenceslaus" with Rotarians joining in. Egerton Boyce provided fine piano accompaniment.

Belleville Service Darts League

RCAF tightened its grip on first place in the Belleville Service Darts League last night, downing CNR 2-0 as the second half of the schedule got under way.

The league suspends operation now for five weeks because of the Christmas and New Year holidays. The next league games are scheduled for Monday evening, January 7th.

Getting back to last night's action Houston Lumber defeated Canadian Legion One by a 2-0 score, ANAF downed Northern Electric 2-0, Central Taxi won over Murray's Seafoods 2-0 while CJBQ defeated Canadian Legion Two by a 2-0 score. RCAF is still undefeated.

The league standing shows RCAF with 20 points, Houston's and ANAF with 14 each, CNR, CJBQ, Murray's Seafoods and Northern Electric with 10 each, Legion Two with 8 points while Central Taxi and Legion One are tied for the bottom with but two points each.

Sent for Trial On Breaking, Entering Charge

Howard "Muzzy" Dean, 22, of Belleville, this morning was committed to stand trial on a charge of breaking and theft.

Magistrate T. Y. Wills made the committal order after crown witness Neil Hubble, of Trenton, testified that on the morning of November 22 Dean carried an armful of men's wear from Patterson's store in Stirling after Special Constable Rodney Sharpe kicked in the front door and scooped up an armload of new clothes as a result.

On Thursday Sharpe testified that Dean never put the clothes he got while the clothes were being stolen. Sharpe, who is serving six months definite and six months indefinite in reformatory for his part in the raid, swore that he was the only one who entered Mr. Patterson's store.

Bail has not yet been arranged. It is believed Dean will stand trial here in January or June. He elected trial by jury a few weeks ago and is being defended by Belleville lawyer Sam Sandler. Crown Attorney John A. Pringle is for the prosecution.

Nehru, President Talk Full Day At Gettysburg

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru were due back in Washington today after a full day of private talks on world problems.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said their talks Monday took more than 12 hours. They were "entirely personal," with no aides on hand.

Hagerty quoted Eisenhower as saying he and Nehru "discussed many things in the international field." Asked what kind of things, Hagerty replied: "They did not describe them 'many things.' Neither did they describe or break them down into topics."

Some of them seemed obvious: Possible recognition of Communist China, the Suez crisis, economic aid, the Soviet satellites, disarmament.

Some word on the course of the conferences is expected from Nehru tonight, when he makes a 15-minute broadcast over American and Canadian networks.

TOUR FARM

Eisenhower, dressed in tweeds and a western-style hat, conducted Nehru on a tour around the farm Monday. Nehru, wearing his Indian pajama-like costume, showed obvious enjoyment and the tour.

Aside from the hour they spent outside, Eisenhower and Nehru spent most of their time talking on the farmhouse sun porch, where they had lunch and 4 o'clock tea.

They didn't dress formally for dinner, Afterward, they sent at their talks again, this time inside the house rather than on the porch.

None of their easy informality was in prospect for Nehru in Washington today. His schedule included lunch with Vice-President Nixon, a reception at the Indian embassy and dinner as the guest of State Secretary Dulles, followed by his radio-TV talk.

He will fly to New York City Thursday and then go to Ottawa Friday for a weekend in Canada. On Monday he will fly to London.

IRA Continues Ulster Raids

BELFAST (AP) — Unscheduled drama was added Monday night to a television address Northern Ireland's prime minister made against attacks by the Irish Republican Army.

As Lord Brookeborough stepped before the cameras in London he was handed an urgent telegram. He read the message and then told his TV audience: "An attack on a patrol car is going on at the very moment I speak to you."

The engagement between police and republican extremists was fought near Lisnaskea, only a few miles from the prime minister's home. A short time later a bomb exploded beside a police station at Newtown Buller, also near the Brookeborough home. It caused little damage.

TWO CAPTURED

The attacks were the latest in a fresh series of raids blamed on the outlawed IRA. In the ambush on the patrol car, one policeman suffered two bullet wounds in the leg. Two of about a dozen faceblackened raiders were captured.

A Job to Be Finished

Ever been sick for Christmas? Horrible thought, isn't it? Yet thousands are every year. It can't be helped when surgery has to be done, broken bones have to mend or some similar misfortune calls for hospital care. What is sad is that every year several thousand Canadians (this year about 17,000) spend Christmas in hospital because of a preventable disease that hasn't been prevented — tuberculosis.

But the number gets a little smaller every year and one reason is that every year we do a bit more to prevent tuberculosis. More people buy Christmas Seals from their Tuberculosis Associations, for one thing. It is one reason why preventive services have expanded steadily.

The statistics regarding tuberculosis are among the most cheering we know — as long as looking at what we have accomplished doesn't blind us to what is still to be done. It is wonderful to think how rapidly the death rate is falling, but let us not forget that illness from tuberculosis is not falling nearly as fast. In Canada alone 10,000 men, women and children who were living when the year began will die before the end of the year. There were more than 10,000 men, women and children for the first time. Others went ill for a second or third time.

It's easy to be sat ten thousand, or to find that someone near and dear is one of ten thousand. The only sensible thing to do is take a hand in making the number smaller. What not improve preventive services and hope that bit more to prevent tuberculosis. More people buy Christmas Seals from their Tuberculosis Associations, for one thing. It is one reason why preventive services have expanded steadily.

The statistics regarding tuberculosis are among the most cheering we know — as long as looking at what we have accomplished doesn't blind us to what is still to be done. It is wonderful to think how rapidly the

BARBER SHOP MALE SANCTUM AGAIN

Some editors have raised their eyebrows, and their pens, as the result of a recent story from New York, reporting that a citizen of that supposedly sophisticated burg had actually gone to court to stop a blonde from chasing him.

It is widely believed that men like being chased by blondes. Unfortunately, it does not fit well with an equally widely held theory that men are constantly being bothered by women—and that they resent that fact.

An editorial in the Windsor Star reminded us of the latter theory — and of the changing tide of battle in men's efforts to avoid being bothered by women. The Star remarked that the barber shop traditionally has been an emporium of masculinity." This sentence was written either by an editor who is very old—and who glibly get around much of the current hair styles and early thirties—or by a young pyrout who believes everything he reads. For, though the barber shop and the male were supposed to be designed for each other in the early days of the century, there was a brief period when this sanctum of the male was invaded by an army of women, to the accompaniment of screams of anguish by the male. When last we visited a barber shop we found a hair-style and not a means of keeping the rain out of the bed-room, women suddenly vied with men for the barber's "Next."

Men said they resented this. If they did, they have reason to sing paeans of praise for the beauty parlors, which emptied the barber shops of women as suddenly as the bob had filled them. The barber shop is once again almost as exclusively the territory of the male as in the days before the advent of the safety razor.

There may be problems in which men have been relieved of the ordeal of being bothered by women. If so, though, this has aroused little comment. This gives rise to wonder whether men object to being bothered by women as much as they make out. Perhaps the answer is provided by the general male amazement that anybody would resort to the law to rid himself of the attentions of a blonde who was bothered by women, though men are as proud as the five-year-old boy who met a new friend, also male, on the street.

"I'm five," he announced proudly. "How old is you?"

"Dunno," replied his new-found friend.

The five-year-old considered the problem with a frown. Then his face lit up. He had an inspiration.

"Does women bother you?" he inquired.

"Naw!"

"You's four," said the five-year-old.

WHY COMMUNISM SPREADS

Unfortunately the facts in much of Asia do not fit that belief. Communism has in some areas spread so rapidly had it not received widespread support from the masses of the people.

As simple, yet as complete, an explanation as one could wish was provided in a recent report from Peiping by David Lancashire. In a story in The Ontario Intelligencer on a visit to a Chinese co-operative farm, he met a woman who said: "Before we had co-operatives, nothing, no land, no money. Now look." Lancashire looked. He saw one room with two wooden chests, a smoking coal stove and a brick platform for sleeping, where five persons slept. Yet this one room with the barest essentials represented undreamed of luxury to this 55-year-old grandmother.

This is both an explanation as to what has happened in China and a lesson as to how similar happenings can be prevented in other Asiatic lands. Give the poverty-stricken person a little, such a very little, and they will be overjoyed.

MAYOR WHITTON'S SWAN-SONG

And even Miss Whitton waited until her career as Mayor of Ottawa was over, until she was serving a "lame-duck" month before she took the election of a new mayor and his assumption of that office.

At the Progressive Conservative convention in Ottawa, a Montreal delegate suggested that the city of Ottawa might show more consideration for the delegates than to plaster parking tickets on their cars.

Did Mayor Whitton apologize? Did she offer to "take care" of the tickets?

She did not.

"I remind you that you have been calling for the restoration of the death penalty for rape. (The Canadian Press chose "snapped" as the verb in its report of the incident).«, "Well, you're getting the rule of law. Don't ask me or the police force of this city to break the law for you . . . you'll get the law yourselves."

If Mayor Whitton were not a prominent Conservative, that rebuke might be considered somewhat churlish. Her well-known political sympathies, though, leave no doubt that here is one person in public life who believes that the law is for everybody, even close friends.

Some may say that this is not the way to win friends and influence people. We suspect, however, that the world would be a better, safer, happier place in which to live if more people had Mayor Whitton's outlook on the law.

LONG WEEK

This is, and children make it clear,
The longest week of all the year.
All other weeks may come and go
With just one birthday each to know;
But this week, different from them all,
Brings Santa Claus to pay a call.

Although my hair has grayed a bit,
This week delights me, I admit.
I like the planning, I like the cakes
The cook for Christmas always bakes.
I like to tell the women fair
The size of gloves and shirts I wear.
I like the package labels gay:
"Don't open until Christmas Day!"
And though discovery is denied,
I like to guess just what's inside.
As far as Christmas is concerned,
My sense of years I haven't turned.

Head Office Directives

By James H. Gray writing from Winnipeg in the Windsor Star

WINNIPEG — When Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe appealed in Milwaukee for American industry to give Canadians a better break both in equity participation and personal advancement, he struck pay dirt among Canadian branch managers.

I discussed this problem a few days later with Howe's speech in the manager of a larger mechanical industry. This man had made an excellent showing in Canada. However promotions to greater responsibility had not looked as big as he put it:

"For 15 years I've had to educate a procession of sales managers about the elementary facts of life in Canada. Then just when they are in the process again and I'm fit to be tied. . . .

His complaint went like this. The local newspaper in the home town of this big American company had carried a one paragraph story on the fact that the Canadian head office harvested another bumper grain crop. Immediately the local office organization leaped on the item.

First came a letter from the credit department. It asked whether the crop news and urged the credit manager to immediately begin a vigorous drive to collect outstanding accounts. The sales department wrote the sales manager about the big crop news and assumed the consequent increase in sales would be substantially increase sales in the last quarter. The letter suggested the artificial sales barriers be increased at once. Then the parts department got busy to have the spare parts manager who said as the crop would increase sales how he could be able to increase orders for spare parts?

Nowhere in this great organization was there an awareness of the fact that this grain marketing system or the problem of delivering Canadian grain. And this ignorance of the crop correspondence was on file advising the home office of the way in which quotas on wheat and coarse grains had changed the buying habits of Canadian farmers.

"You can say this for the British," my friend added, "they are at least studied up on how to be good traders. When they have soaked up experience, they are called home to put the experience to good use. Unfortunately this seems conducted on the assumption that the world outside the United States is another America state. If business men with money invested want to take the trouble to understand our problems, what can we expect from politicians?"

This story was related to an American oil man who runs a branch of a large company in Canada. He topped it. When the Suez crisis broke the home office

Leftovers In 'Frigs'

Ottawa Journal

Horace A. (for Arubah) Winkelwhiffer, the poll man of Woodpeck-er Ridge over in Hiltown says he has taken the opportunity to check the contents of 17 refrigerators in as many homes. Through one pretext or another, he inspected the interiors and made a count of the little jars and dishes of leftover delicacies. His statistical approach to a major problem. Basically it is a matter of feminine psychology. Housewives hate to throw away well when she wraps a tablespoon-ful of cranberry sauce in a bit of waxed paper and tucks the parcel back to the rear of the second shelf in the 'frig.

In her heart she knows that Mabel Smith across from her committee meeting tomorrow on Ways and Means of Restoring Esthetic Hand Sensibility to Modern Kitchen Walls she will make herself a peanut butter sandwich and a cup of tea instead of eating left-overs.

Philosophers and psychiatrists appreciate that the situation symbolizes a serious situation. We need a well organized and logical approach to our social, economic and cultural problems.

All progress begins on a basic foundation, and the home is the bottom of the pyramid of civilization. Another "Welt" will do no harm added to the 184 or so we now celebrate, and when the refrigerators are cleaned out millions of housewives will feel a pleasant

State Medicine Has Many Flaws

While many Canadians clamor for nationalized medicine they would not accept the regimentation, inequalities and inadequacies inefficiency of Britain's National Health Service, Napier Moore writes in Maclean's Magazine.

Under the National Health Service, illness in the average British family "need no longer be accompanied by the dread of financial disaster," writes Moore, who spent several months in England studying the scheme, "but from the standpoint of the individual there has also been a fly in the."

Mainly, according to Moore, these flaws are:

1. Far from being free medicine, "the cost is astronomical". The government limited itself to $1 dollars in taxes in the next year for all England.

2. "Even with a Conservative government, the tyrannies of regimentation, of the cult of equality, persist. "Patients often must sit up for hours in waiting stations or hospital beds, since the average doctor in the Health Service has 2,700 patients and there is a serious shortage of hospital accommodation.

3. Doctors and dentists are overworked and underpaid. (The average doctor gets $5,700 a year, out of which he must pay office expense, equipment, car and income tax. "Every day my surgery is crowded long after visiting hours," said one, "and by making calls early in the morning and late at night I see the bulk of most doctors I know.")

4. "State medicine does not mean uniformity of standards, except on paper." Week after week writes Moore, "one sees reports of hospital blunders and disregard for the welfare of patients, some of whom die from neglect.

"No political party dares to oppose the principle of state-assisted medicine," says the Maclean's writer, "but if I am to judge the vast majority of Canadians aren't the sort of people who would accept any regimentation the reglimentation that is an inevitable part of it."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

The Argyll Light Infantry here has been converted to a Tank Battalion under recent Militia changes.

The annual Christmas party for the members of Brownie packs under the direction of Sister Eva Sills will be held on Tuesday in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Hall. Games and contests of many kinds were enjoyed. The Brown Owl, Mrs. W. N. Poston, was assisted by Mrs. Lorne Green and Tawny Gwis Edna Gilroy and Jean Sprague. The Brownies expressed their appreciation for the donations of cake from Mrs. May, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Diamond and Mrs. Rankin and also for the sandwiches from the Tawny Owls.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King observed the 63nd. anniversary of his birth yesterday and he received messages of congratulation and good wishes from many parts of the Dominion, United States and Great Britain. "I am feeling fine," the Waterloo (now Kitchener) on December 17th., 1874.

Mr. and Mrs. George Duff, who have been residing in Paris, Ontario, during the summer months, have returned to their home on the West Road where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Grills left today for Toronto, from where they will sail from there Saturday for Bermuda, Monarch, for Bermuda. They will be the guests in Bermuda of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grills and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Vallis.

In connection with the opening of the new Albert College on Dundas Street west it is interesting to note that Dr. W. J. Jeffers Diamond, barrister, of this city, attended the Belleville Collegiate, which had the predecessor of Albert College and the Victoria Harbour land on the college buildings now vacated on College Street. The Seminary was opened in 1857 by the Methodist Episcopal Church as was Albert College originally and the Tabernacle on Church Street was the church of that body. Later the Methodist Church built the one on the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and the Bridge Street Church, entered into union. Mr. Diamond attended the Seminary in 1857-8 during which time he easily within the reach of the youth of Canada of all of youth of Canada at that time as regards school accommodation, young man has the facilities to obtain a liberal education at nominal cost. The only artificial light used in the Seminary in the class rooms and dormitories was shed by candles. Wood which was plentiful in those days was used for the big heaters and the School boys helped to gather the firewood. Mr. Diamond still actively engaged in the practice of law here and is the efficient secretary of the Board of Education which position he has held for many years.

Awarding of Distinguished Service Order. In the November 28th, 1918 edition of "Canada", an English publication, reference is made to Major Rosmer Vanderwater of Sidney township with regards to the awarding to him of the Distinguished Service Order decoration and the item reads as follows: "For conspicuous gallantry in action. He commanded his men splendidly by his fine determination and held and consolidated the captured trench. He personally supervised the digging of the new communications and his handling of guns has done fine work."

The local lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen has offered a handsome cup for competition between their local hockey teams.

At a meeting of the city council Ald. Ponton asked if the snow by-law is to be enforced this winter and we do not understand property be asked would the city clear the snow from the sidewalks and charge the expense of doing so in the taxes on the property so served. Ald. Panter said that the public works department would have to clear the snow from the sidewalks along vacant property until a new ordinance was made. In the past he said that it had been customary that the public works department would remove the snow and the reimbursed when the taxes had been collected. A lot of snow was removed on this understanding and a lot of money spent in doing so. Now the taxes could not be taxes collected was ever credited to the public works committee. Ald. Knox insisted that something be done in this matter but failed to get any action.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHAT'S A FRIEND?

In one of my recent evenings I took from my book shelves a book I had not read for many years. It was a book by Christopher Morley called The Prose of Edward Rowland Sill. His name would be lame, however, if it the poem that he wrote on "Opportunity," for the prose is delightful. My little book of his was bought over fifty years ago!

In this book is a chapter about advertising for a Friend. Sill suggested that if you advertised for a wife, or a man person in business, why not advertise for a friend? One of the gems I find in one's entire life!

I was thinking about the meeting of Wendell Phillips and Nora Perry, the poet, upon the streets of Boston. Miss Perry asked him where his friend was going. "To see a friend," he replied. "Oh, take me with you," said Phillips. "I want to meet one."

We can go only a long life and fail to discover this valuable asset of a friend. We may have a multitude of acquaintances, but a genuine friend is something else. The discovery of a friend is an event. One 'worth celebrating. When we are encouraged, low in mind, and perhaps hurt in heart, to have an understanding friend is a balm, however, it is like having a safe haven in one of the great storms in life. That is possessed of a friend! Ready. Understanding and sympathetic. Never upbraiding. One who don't want the flatterer or the booster but a genuine friend with whom to supplement ourselves.

I think a friend is someone that you, through the years of good luck, meet inside of you, when you are in your most unlovely mood and you don't know which way to turn, or to whom to go for advice, and your friend is a friend is a friend—and that's all there is to it!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADT

A Stupid Habit

It is a serious mistake, I think, to use any kind of mineral oil as an "internal lubricant" or as an "aid" to the action of the bowel. Mineral oil in small or large quantities inevitably interferes with absorption of minerals and vitamins and so is a source of development of malnutrition.

Instead of mineral oil, I suggest taking one or two teaspoons of unground flaxseeds daily. Wash the flaxseeds down with water or swallow them mixed with jelly or any breakfast cereal.

Flaxseeds. There they are. Take 'em or leave 'em, but don't say me about it. If I didn't know flaxseeds are wholesome and even have some food value, I wouldn't suggest taking them.

Purpose of flaxseeds is to approximate the natural mucus, the very slippery fluid which coats the lining of the healthy intestinal tract.

If have no opinion to give about the advisability of steeping your daily dose of flaxseeds in water to make a cup of flaxseed tea to drink instead of the whole flaxseeds. No harm in trying it, if you wish.

Worry, fear, irritation, anger or annoyance directly or indirectly, even reverses the digestive process. Appetite, digestion is retarded, peristalsis, the rhythmic wave movements which convey the food, are slowed up and digestion through the canal at just the right rate — when not interfered with.

The emotional factor which interferes with the automatic (autonomic) regulation of these digestive processes as much as any other factor, enough, mental concern or introspection in regard to "keeping the bowels open."

Most misguided customers with the laxative, saline, liver pill, physic, enema or "internal bath" habit will think they know better, but from long and extensive research I can state, without fear of competent contradiction, that there is no foundation in physiology or pathology for the notion or fear that poisoning or "autointoxication" is inevitable if for any reason the usual evacuation is delayed a day or two.

Prior to 1950 the people of Trinidad de Cuba, famed for their perfect teeth, almost exclusively on natural, unrefined foods. I was then amazed to find the average they sent to our ship before we landed bore. They said they'd be grateful for gifts of clothing, books, candles, matches, or food, but no pins, please, as the natives don't bring us toothbrushes or dentifrices, and so don't use them.

The action of the bowel is controlled by the same part of the nervous system that controls the action of the heart and lungs. Every physician would laugh at the notion that the heart won't breathe if one takes the daily dose of digitalis or strychnine. A daily liver pill is just as foolish.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL I. DOUGLASS

WHAT IS IT ALL ABOUT?

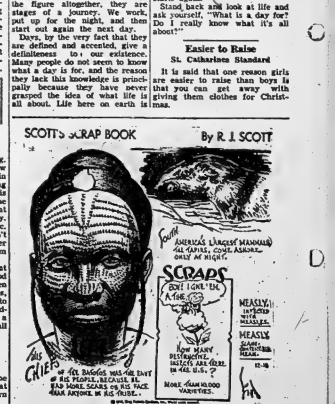
Let us try to imagine an arrangement of our lives which would involve our life span being divided into days. Suppose it just started and went on without a break and we did not.

Days are like little rooms which we occupy and then pass out of. They are like little drawers in which experiences are collected and held every 24 hours. Or, to change the figure altogether, they are like baskets into which we can put up for the night, and then start out again the next day.



Days, by the very fact that they are defined and accented, give a definiteness to our existence. Many people do not seem to know what a day is for, and the reason they lack this knowledge is simply because they have never grasped the idea of what life is all about. Life here on earth is an opportunity to grow. The world is a training ground, not a proving ground. People may live in the depths of a jungle or in the icy wastes of the Arctic or on bleak countrysides or in crowded cities. They may live under what seem much alike. These problems all test character. Every day is a time to test what we are, sleep and then the period of testing starts again.

Stand back and look at life and ask yourself, "What is a day for? Do I really know what it's all about?"

OTTAWA (CP)—Dan Wallace, 46, chief secretary of the national defence department, has been transferred to Prime Minister St. Laurent's office as executive officer. He will undertake various special projects and analyze information for the prime minister's use.

Poland, Russia Sign Agreement About Troops

WARSAW (AP)—Poland and the Soviet Union have signed a formal agreement spelling out many of the technicalities to govern future operations of Russian troops in Poland.

The accord concluded Monday night followed up the broad agreement reached last month in Moscow during the visit of Wladyslaw Gomulka, Poland's "nationalist" Communist party chief.

Stipulating that Soviet troops are in Poland "temporarily," the agreement declares again that Polish sovereignty will be respected and that Soviet forces will not interfere in Poland's domestic affairs.

The new Soviet - Polish agreement elaborates on the previous concession in Poland of veto powers over the size and movement of Russian troops in the country, even on training manoeuvres. But key items left subject to later "special agreements" include the size and deployment of the Russian detachments, regulations governing the movement of Soviet troops in and out of Poland and the use of Polish military installations or public utilities by the Soviets. Agreements on these items are scheduled to be worked out within three months.

Greener Thumbs

BY JOYCE SMITH

A gay chanticleer can carry a Christmas message and be used in the Season's decorations. We are told that of all the fowl and animals gathered at the Nativity, the rooster was the first to express the joy of the occasion with his lusty crowing. Perhaps that's why, to this day, he struts about with such importance.

Editor-in-Chief Will Retire

QUEBEC (CP)—J. E. Barnard, 78, one of French Canada's outstanding editorial writers, will retire at the end of the year from the post of editor-in-chief of Le Soleil and L'Evenement - Journal.

Mr. Barnard, widely known as "Joe," has been in charge of the editorial pages of L'Evenement-Journal for 47 years and of Le Soleil's since 1924.

For years, L'Evenement-Journal readers have read Mr. Barnard's thoughts and opinions in 'front-page rhymes. The white - haired, unattached physical giant has been one of Quebec's most familiar figures.

Mr. Barnard's successor will be Raymond Dube, 48, associate editor-in-chief of both L'Evenement-Journal and Le Soleil since August, 1955. Mr. Dube came to Quebec after 25 years with Le Nouvelliste, Trois-Rivieres daily.

Mrs. T. Anger was in charge of the devotional with Mrs. C. Holmes reading the Scripture and Mrs. K. Bird playing several appropriate Christmas carols.

This was followed by a short prayer bringing the devotional to a close.

Business was dispensed with, and the speaker for the evening, Mrs. M. Robson, was introduced by Mrs. G. Ackerman.

Mrs. Robson, a past president of the Aid, depicted the Christmas story taken from the book "The First to Kneel", by Catharine Parmenter Newell. This was well presented and was greatly enjoyed.

An exchange of gifts followed. Several hilarious contests, conducted by Mesdames Heid, Maclean and P. Hall, took place. The prizes for the games were won by Mesdames Smith, Ransom, and Ackerman.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the executive, bringing a most enjoyable evening to a close.

Bridge St. W.A. Names New Slate of Officers

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Bridge Street United church was held in the Sunday school rooms on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Arthur Clare, president, opened the meeting with prayer and a reading of the poem "When Jesus Came."

After a short business meeting, and committee reports, Mrs. W. S. Northcott spoke for the Red Cross and the urgent need for clothing of all kinds, but especially for children, aged two to 14 years.

The afternoon's program was in charge of Mrs. T. McMullen. Mrs. Clare Morgan and their group.

Mrs. J. G. Demeza sang the beautiful Christmas song "Gesu Bambino". Mrs. J. R. Guthridge accompanied her after which Mini Jessie Tulte told the lovely Christmas story, "The Woolly Lamb," with the Shepherds and Little Timmy, who gave his precious gift to the Christ Child.

Mrs. Clare Morgan read from the Scriptures the simple story of the birth, and the poem by Helen Crawford, "The Christ."

Mrs. Tom Hinsley, a student at Albert College, sang the carol, "What Child is This?" He was accompanied by Miss Hoare, a member of the staff at Albert.

Mrs. T. McMullen read the names of all the members of the group and expressed her and their Christmas wish to all: fair skies, heaven's blessing and Christ's dear love.

Mrs. Arthur May thanked all those who had taken part in the program.

Mrs. C. Clapp brought in the report of the nominating committee for the coming year.

NICE NOCTUZZE

By VERA WINSTON

Sheer nylon tricot, two layers of it is used, for a charming nightdress. The bodice is pin-tucked with very narrow shoulder straps and there is matching Alencon lace at the top and outlining the U-shaped, built-up midriff. Then there is more lace, used as a border and motifs at the hem. A nice gift notion!

Edith Cavell Lodge Installs 1957 Officers

Edith Cavell Lodge No. 649 Lady Trainmen, held the regular monthly meeting Wednesday, in the Engineers' Hall, with president Vera Reynolds in the chair.

After the opening ceremony, and usual order of business, Past President, Mrs. W. Smith, took the chair and proceeded to install the following officers for 1957: president, Mrs. L. Reynolds; vice-president, Mrs. G. Clapper; secretary, Mrs. P. Beaul; treasurer, Mrs. S. Morgan; conductress, Mrs. C. Shannon; chaplain, Mrs. R. Fergusson; warden, Mrs. C. Coleman; inner guard, Mrs. H. Quinsey; outer guard, Mrs. G. Diment.

Mrs. C. L. Hyde, Mrs. W. D. Gilbert.

Mrs. A. Clare expressed her best Christmas wishes for all and invited all to stay for a cup of tea and a social half-hour.

25th Anniversary Marked by Fine Gifts

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Marner of Carlowrie, were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening, when approximately 50 neighbors, friends and family relatives feted them on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mr. Robert White gave a brief talk congratulating Mr. and Mrs. Marner on this special occasion and presented them on behalf of the Marner family, with a large plate glass mirror and other lovely gifts from those present. Mr. George Denyes also spoke briefly, adding his congratulations and best wishes to those of Mr. White.

Following the presentation, refreshments were served.

Later in the evening, a sing-song of favorite pieces and dancing, with Mr. Bruce Hunt presiding at the piano brought a festive time to a conclusion.

CHRIST CHURCH GUILD

The Christmas meeting of Christ church guild, Thomasburg, was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Sherry on Friday evening.

The Rev. Dalton Woodward led in prayer and read the Scripture Lesson taken from Isaiah 9.2-7.

The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Clare Grills, "And Love Came To Stay" and "No Room in the Inn", by Miss Ruth Morgan; "The Innkeeper," Miss L. Woodward; "When Christmas Went Outdoor," a group reading and "The Hope of Christmas", by Mrs. D. Woodward.

The members exchanged gifts. The hostess served refreshments.

The next meeting will be the annual meeting held at the home of Mrs. Dalton Woodward, Roslin.

The bazaar and card party that was held recently was most successful. There were 15 tables of euchre the prizes going to Carman Davidson, high score, playing as a lady; Mrs. Elmer Morgan, low; Harold Geen, men's high; Donald Geen, low.

An enjoyable time was had by all.

More Coffee?

Brazil has been testing portable aluminum irrigation systems to increase the coffee crop. Results are startling: yield per tree is more than doubled. Even if applied only to half of Brazil's coffee crop, production would be increased by 3,700,000 bags!

Our own Canadian farmers have found endless ways to use Canadian aluminum: Piping for orchards, field crops and stock . . . foil for mulching . . . roofing and siding for barns, brooders and silos . . . cans and pails for dairy farms.

Canadian output of primary aluminum is being further increased to supply the makers of them and a thousand other products useful in agriculture, industry, defence and the home.

Rev. Peter Deyneka Addresses Y.F.C.

On Saturday the Rev. Peter Deyneka was the special speaker at Youth for Christ, in the Masonic Temple. Author of the book, "The Twice Born Russian," and founder and general director of the Slavic Gospel Association, he is endeavoring to reach the Russian-speaking people with the gospel.

Jim Blackwood announced the rules of the attendance contest, the winning school team to be treated to a banquet. This was followed by a trumpet duet, "Silent Night," by Garry and Brent Daniels.

The Christmas story, from the book of Matthew, was read by Jim Blackwood, and Mr. Deyneka led in prayer.

Jack Koziol and Mr. Deyneka sang, "I Know the Lord Will Make a Way," in Russian, after which Mr. Deyneka delivered his message.

He spoke briefly on his conversion and call to the ministry of the Slavic people. Just back from Uruguay, he told how the people there think nothing of traveling 100 miles one way, by cart, to service.

It was announced that Barry Moore, former Director of London Youth for Christ, would be speaker on December 30th.

DON'T LET TIRED FEET SPOIL HOLIDAY PLEASURE

Christmas shopping can be fun —if feet don't ache!

It's not the time and trouble, it's the aching feet! That's what many a woman has in the back of her mind when she sets forth to do the last of her holiday shopping.

Most of us have to make every minute of our shopping time count. We simply haven't the leisure to buy one gift today and two more tomorrow. We have to plunge in with list in hand, and get a lot done in each shopping spree. This year, select it. If you start out with comfortable feet, you'll find the whole project can be actually pleasant. Get your feet in good condition so you can stand patiently and await your turn with the busy salespeople. Be able to forget your feet, so you can walk from store to store and still keep your mind on the merchandise!

Nothing in the world will give you more foot comfort than the simplest sort of foot treatment. Soak your feet in hot soapsuds for as many minutes as you can spare. Scrub them vigorously with a brush. Massage your own home-made softening cream into your toes and instep. Make it from a handful of soapflakes, a dash of cream with a little water. Add a tablespoon or two of mild oil. Rub this all up and massage it into those red or calloused places on your feet. Then rinse your feet —first in warm, afterwards in cool water, and dry them thoroughly. Put on clean hose, a change of shoes, and you'll feel like a new woman.

Another help for aching feet is elevation. Prop up at a decisive angle, on pillows, a hassock, or the seat of a chair, while you lie down comfortably, not only relieves the weariness of the feet but stimulates the circulation and relaxes your nervous system, too.

Make all these little attentions part of your shopping program— not only at Christmas time but all year 'round. Try them before you start out, and again after you get home. They do wonders for your disposition!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SPECIAL GREETING CARD TO A SPECIAL DOCTOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Because of a recent death in our family, my husband and I are not sending Christmas cards this year. However, we would very much like to send some kind of memorial greeting and message to our family doctor, who has always been so good and kind to us, and who has been particularly thoughtful to us during our bereavement. We have always paid his usual fee, so this gesture of ours is not instead of paying; and also I wrote him a note to enclose in our payment of his last bill, thanking him for his kindness to us. So we would like to have this card just a greeting for the season.

1. Do you suggest that we send him a Christmas card, or wait a bit and send him a New Year's card?

2. Since we have never met his wife and family, should I address the card to him only and send it to his office or should I address it to him only and send it to his home address — or should I address it to "Dr. and Mrs." and send it to his home address?

3. Will you please suggest the wording of the card? And should I sign it "Mr. and Mrs.—"?

— Reader

1. You may send him a Christmas card if you wish, but since you are not sending your own Christmas cards and since he is so familiar with your bereavement, it might seem to him more fitting if you send him a New Year's card and message.

2. It is best form, more gracious, to send the card to the doctor and his wife at their home address. This is proper, although you have never met his wife and family. Address the envelope to: Doctor and Mrs. William Bryan. (Best form to spell his title in full on this mood, mail.)

3. You might word your greeting-message something like this: "Greetings for the New Year to you and your family, and every good wish. From George and Margaret Allen." Don't sign "Mr. and Mrs.—" your signature is the message on a card should be simply informal name. And since, as I judge, you will sign this card, you politely write your name last.

WEDDING USHER ALWAYS SHOULD OFFER HIS RIGHT ARM

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our daughter is to be married soon in our church. The church has a centre aisle. Please tell me if an usher always offers his right arm to a woman guest at a wedding regardless of the side of the church she is in or not.

2. The bride's father is to give her in marriage. Should he wear the same type of attire the groom and his attendants are to wear?

— Mother.

1. Yes....an usher at a wedding always offers his right arm to a woman guest.

2. Yes. When the bride's father is to give her in marriage, he is a member of the wedding party, and wears the same type of attire worn by the other men in the wedding party.

Special Menu for The Big Feast

By Mary Moore

Are you ready for the menu? Is there one woman in this broad land who does not hope that her special Christmas dinner turns out to be a happy feast? The very best yet! No? There is not!

We save, we plan, we hoard little luxuries, we bake, we hide —dreaming of the festive glow on church choons and sparkling table.

To choose the perfect typical Christmas dinner menu for the average Canadian family would be impossible, for out of this great wide, our tastes so varied, our origins so different.

A week from today is Christmas day and most hostesses want to know by now what items to list on the grocery order.

If it safe to build Christmas dinner around a roast turkey so we'll make him the feature attraction and be grateful. You can change the first course to oysters on the half shell or citrus fruit cocktail or omit it.

(R) means recipe follows or will be given this week or was in yesterday.

Yesterday I gave you the up-to-the-minute information you may need for preparing and roasting the turkey. I have given you this menu today and two recipes tomorrow and Thursday I will continue with the recipes for the items on the menu that you may not know how to make.

CHRISTMAS COCKTAILS

Cook gently together 2 cups cleaned cranberries and 2 cups water until cranberries are soft. If desired three whole cloves may be added. Strain. Add 1 cup sugar and cook 5 minutes gently. Cool and add 1-4 cup orange juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Serve over crushed ice in cocktail glasses.

OYSTER BISQUE

Over very low heat cook 1 cup oysters in their own liquid until edges curl. Remove oysters finely. Add them and their liquor to 3 cups hot milk in top of double boiler with 1 bay leaf and 1 tablespoon grated onion, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 1-3 teaspoon salt. When very hot stir this into a mixture of three tablespoons melted butter and 3 tablespoons flour stirred to a smooth paste. Stir until slightly thickened.

Note—There are many variations of soup that celery may be added to the oysters when they are first cooked. This is very pretty served with a small sprinkling of extremely finely chopped parsley.

Note—Watch for recipes for other unusual dishes (R) tomorrow and Thursday.

Evening Aux., Fellowship Club Hold Yuletide Meet

The annual joint Christmas meeting of the Evening Auxiliary and Fellowship Club of Holloway Street United church was held at the home of Miss Jean Calnpbell, 18 Charlotte Street.

Jean welcomed her guests at the entrance made festive with a lighted Christmas wreath and the living room and dining room were lovely with evergreens, lighted candles and Christmas decorations.

Christmas carols were sung after all had assembled. After brief business meetings on the part of both groups, Roslyn Robertson took charge. A beautiful recording of "Silent Night" was played and the Christmas story read at recorded in Luke.

Roslyn told a beautiful story about a shepherd who had no tangible gift to bring to the manger of the baby Jesus, but who gave his gift of enduring love.

Marion Richardson offered prayer and following the carol "O Little Town of Bethlehem." Norren Frederick told the story of "Christmas Around the World." Noreen has the wonderful talent of carrying her listeners along to each land, in her word portrayal of their Christmas celebrations.

The Fellowship Club served refreshments.

Jean and Mrs. Campbell were thanked for having the meeting in the lovely Christmas atmosphere of their home.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A SMART GIRL WOULD IGNORE BOTH OF THEM

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 22 years old and love a man very much and know he loves me. Yet a friend of mine is making a play for him just out of jealousy. I've spoken to her about this several times, but it doesn't do any good.

Now this man I love is starting to date her and make a big fuss over her. I know she loves another man and that she is only after mine because she wants to show me she has power over all men because she's older than I am.

What shall I do? — A.F.

Dear A.F.:

If any other young woman is able to get your young man away from you that easy, then I think you're indulging in wishful thinking when you say you know he loves you.

You're being very foolish, too, in discussing this with your girl friend, because if she really is trying to show you "that she has power over men," then you're just giving her a lot of satisfaction by virtually admitting that she is proving it to you.

A smart girl would ignore both the girl and the man by busying herself with other friends. She wouldn't want any man who can be so easily influenced.

DON'T BE TOO READY TO GIVE AWAY KISSES

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm a girl 17 years old who has never been out on a real date and never been hugged or kissed.

The only reason why I haven't been out on a date is because I wasn't allowed to go. Now I'm allowed to go if one of my older sisters is along. Most girls would not be satisfied with that arrangement, but I am satisfied because it would be some fun at all.

When I do go out on a date, do you think it would be all right if I let a boy kiss me after the first date? — H.F.

Dear H.F.:

Since your parents evidently feel you should have an older sister along when you go out, I think you'll have to go along with them in this. If you show yourself willing to follow their wishes, they are likely to give you more freedom soon — knowing that you won't do anything they would not approve.

As for letting a boy kiss you after your first date, I'm against it. Don't start off your dating period by making your kisses easy to get. The right sort of boy will like you the better if he values your kisses for the time they will really mean something.

Turkey Prices Will Be Down Due to Popularity of Birds For Canadian Christmas Dinner

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Turkey for dinner is becoming more and more a part of the Canadian Christmas. The turkey's popularity is the reason why Canadians will get cheaper birds this year.

Prices are expected to drop five to 10 cents a pound across the country from last year's average of 60-65 cents a pound. The drop is attributed to a rise in the turkey population both in Canada and the United States.

An estimated 5,270,000 turkeys were on farms at Aug. 1, a 3%-per-cent increase over last year's count of 2,895,000. A jump of 18 per-cent in the U.S. turkey population also helped slash prices, since birds must still be imported in quantity despite increased Canadian production.

YEAR-ROUND DEMAND

The turkey is beating out all other fowl for popularity at Christmas, and an increased year-round demand is boosting production, a Canadian Press survey shows. So far this year the per capita turkey consumption of Canadians has been 6.3 pounds, as compared to 5.8 pounds in 1955.

Demand for other types of fowl is falling off, and chicken prices are expected to be 10 to 12 cents a pound lower than last year. The popular turkey weight is considered about 12 to 15 pounds, and the trend continues to oven-ready, eviscerated birds.

In Ontario, traders were stockpiling for the main rush and reported ample supplies. Birds are expected to sell between 50 and 60 cents retail, with lower qualities even cheaper. A Toronto wholesaler said that chain stores may feature turkeys at cost price or even less. Ducks and geese are almost a forgotten item, said retailers.

Quebec turkey production is up 25 per cent over 1955, but a growing market for turkeys at Thanksgiving is cutting into the Christmas stock. Imports from western provinces and the U.S. will help meet the demand. Prices were expected to be down five to 10 cents from last year's 63 cents average.

POPULAR IN MONTREAL

Despite the increase in production, the estimate in Montre was that fewer turkeys will be available than a year ago, because people are eating more often. A plentiful supply of ducks and chickens is reported but there are few geese. One big store said geese are being sold ready to cook for the first time.

British Columbia reported turkeys in good supply with prices down about seven cents a pound from a year ago. Prices this season range from 39 to 65 cents. Birds weighing about 15 pounds are in greatest demand. The prices of fresh-killed geese and ducks are about the same as in 1955, geese about 52 cents and ducks about 49 cents a pound.

Turkeys are reported much more plentiful in Alberta this year, with a price drop of from five to six cents. Manitoba sales are expected to increase 25 per cent over 1955 figures.

Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island both report a plentiful supply, and in P.E.I. prices may drop to 50 cents, 13 cents below the 1955 average. In Nova Scotia prices are expected to be down four to five cents.

Car Inventories In U.S. Climbing

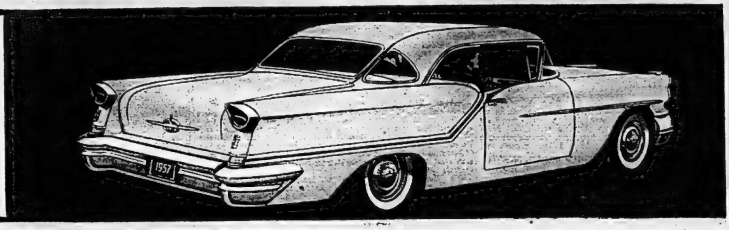
DETROIT (AP) — New-car inventories in the United States are moving upward after a steady decline over the preceding six months.

Automotive News reports that cars in dealers' hands or in transit on Dec. 1 totalled 386,253 compared with 277,975 Nov. 1 and with 729,107 on Dec. 1, 1955.

The present inventory, the trade paper says, is about a 20-day supply at the current selling rate. It adds:

"At mid-December of this year sales reports are still good, while production rates are running in excess of the 165,000-a-week levels. Among the signs stirring inventory confidence on the part of dealers across the nation are the following:

"1. The scattered model shortages, which plagued Chrysler Corp., Mercury and some GM divisions last month, are 'working out.' This, dealers report, should help sales through the winter quarter.



"2. Absence of the troubled factory-dealer relations which existed a year ago.

"3. Greater profits per unit turned over, attributed to the sweeping design changes of 1957. This is linked with consumer acceptance of price increases, which a majority of dealers report were 'expected' by the general public."

PEMBROKE TONIGHT

The Pembroke Lumber Kings, no doubt, with victory fire in their eyes will be the guests of the McFarlands tonight and the tussle should not be any panty-waist affair by any stretch of the imagination. The Kings are tied for fourth place with the Ottawa Canadiens with seventeen points, five behind the third-place McFarlands and it is a cinch the lads from the shadow of the Petawawa hills won't be any pushover for the Bep Guidolin crew.

The McFarlands will go into action bearing the scars of battle with the Whitby Dunlops Saturday night, Johnny Merrifield, who received a bad smash on the back of a hand, will probably play but he will be wearing a "playing cast" on the injured flipper. Bep Guidolin, who stayed on the bench Saturday night due to an injury sustained during a practice bout, may or may not be in the line-up, depending on the condition of the injury.

Pembroke needs a victory tonight for the word has gone out that the Kingston CKLC's, judging from their performance over the Ottawa Canadiens last Saturday night, when they defeated the Baby Habs 5-3 are a new team under the equally new coaching of Joe Levandoski. Observers stated the Kingston crew played heads-up hockey and deserved their victory. Nicholson, sturdy defenceman of the Kingston club, has rejoined his old mates and should be an asset to the blue-line brigade of the CKLC's.

By the same token the Macs will be going all out for a win since the upsurging Cornwall Chevrolets, who have won four and tied one in their last five outings are threatening to pull away in the second place slot. They are three points in front as it is, and the Macs can't afford to have the margin extended.

As it is they face a tough schedule over the week-end, one that will tax their endurance abilities to the utmost. They meet the fast-travelling Chevies here Friday night and that should be one for the book.

On Saturday they take off for Pembroke where they battle the Kings in their own courtyard and on Sunday they take on the Chevies in Cornwall. Then on Boxing Day they hike off to Whitby again where they hope to repeat what they did on Saturday. That's a weekend chore in any man's league.

SENIOR "A" MEETING HERE

The "brains" of the Eastern Ontario Senior "A" Hockey League go into conclave in the Queen's Hotel here tonight, starting at 7.30, so, it is hoped, some of the boys can witness at least part of the game between the McFarlands and the Pembroke Lumber Kings.

The confab will be under the mallet of OHA vice-president Kerne Cook, who informs this department that President Frank Buckland will be on hand to listen in — and, probably hand out some constructive advice. And if Frank Buckland has the other kind to offer, you can bet your granny's store teeth he won't pull the punches. Frank is not that kind of a guy.

Just what is on the agenda is not known by this department at the moment. It is rumored player deals may come up, as may a change in the schedule.

Kingston sources state that the Wren Blair caper of blasting other teams through the medium of a newspaper column will be brought to the attention of the body and the brass. That should be good listening.

The McFarlands got a huge kick, and appreciation, from a Christmas card they received the other day and which is now posted on the dressing room bulletin board. It reads: "To a grand hockey club from their hundreds of admirers from Sidney township." To the sender and the Sidney fans, the Macs extend their thanks and greetings for a Merry Christmas.

Huge Purses Attract Dobbins To Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—More than $5,000,000 in purses has touched off a record invasion of foreign-breds to Florida tracks for the 1956-57 racing season.

The daily purse distribution of $42,800 for Miami's 128-day season has brought thoroughbreds from Canada, England, Ireland, Italy, France, Argentina, Chile, Venezuela, Puerto Rico British West Indies, Cuba and Australia.

Horses here or en route include Ace Marine, Canada's "horse of the year" in 1955 owned by Larkin Maloney of Toronto. Intrusa, standout Argentine filly; Peter Boy and Tatan, also from the Argentine; Marini and Skindles Hotel, both from Ireland; Pistolero, winner of five stakes, from Chile; and Thin Ice, a two-year-old from England.

Frisco Dons Finally Beaten; Stopped at 60

Illinois Monday night defeated San Francisco Dons 62-53, snapping a 60-game string. The Dons had not been beaten since the third game of the 1954-55 season when UCLA whipped them 47-40.

OLSON IN BUSINESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, former world middleweight boxing champion, went to work Monday managing the Zutz, a Vancouver, Wash., night club.

Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager and business partner, said the ex-champ is taking over the management on a permanent basis.

Giant Star Helped Himself To Nine Points Last Week; Howe, Lindsay Even in Second

MONTREAL (CP) — If Jean Beliveau keeps up his present pace he will break three National Hockey League records this season—total points and total assists by any player and total points by a centre.

The giant Montreal Canadiens star helped himself to a fat collection of nine points in three games last week—five goals and four assists—and ran his string of total points this season to 45.

At his current rate of 3½ points a game, Beliveau will hit 105 for the season. That would be 10 more than the present record of 95, made by Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings in the 1952-53 season, and 17 more than the record 88 for a centre, set last season by Beliveau himself.

In his 30 games to date, Beliveau has counted 29 assists. At the same rate he will round out the season with 67 or 68, well ahead of the record 36 made last season by wing mate Bert Olmstead.

GOALS DOWN

On his current goal production Beliveau is not headed for any records. He has 16 in 30 games. At the same rate he will finish the season with 37, compared with his 47 in 1955-56 and his record-breaking 50 made by teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard in the 50-game 1944-45 season.

Beliveau's pace last week was too hot for both Howe and Ted Lindsay of Wings. Howe counted three goals and three assists and Lindsay reversed the figures. The two are tied for second place with 34 points, 8 behind Beliveau.

Olmstead came up with two goals and four assists to edge into fourth place with 29 points, one more than Norm Ullman of Detroit whose production was three assists for the week.

Jerry Toppazzini of the first-place Boston Bruins scored two goals and four assists, moving from an eighth-place tie to sixth place with his 27 points. Henri Richard of Montreal with three assists, dropped from sixth to seventh place, five points behind brother Rocket Richard, who returned to action after missing seven games, counted two goals and three assists. The five points boosted his total to 25 and moved him from 14th to 10th place.

With his three goals last week, Howe now leads the league in that department, with 18. Beliveau leads on assists with 29.

Goalie Jacques Plante of Montreal gave up 10 goals in three games but relaxed his leadership among the netminders in the goalies' battle for the Vezina Trophy. His goals-against average now is 2.17, including goals against his relief man, Gerry McNeil, while Plante was injured. Terry Sawchuk of Boston has a 2.27 average and Glenn Hall of Detroit 2.33.

WOSSA Wants School Reduction

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — A proposal now before Ontario schools of the Western Ontario Secondary Schools Association will, if accepted, reduce membership in the association by as many as 28 schools.

The proposed change would shift the 28 schools into a new association centred around the present Interscholastic Rugby League and the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph to relieve the present top-heavy and growing WOSSA setup.

WOSSA now embraces 92 high schools in Western Ontario. All the schools were officially informed of the proposal by mail last week-end by secretary Bill L'Heureux of London, on instructions of the executive.

The idea has been in the formative stage for some time and originated with the IRL. Negotiations have been going on with WOSSA, the Ontario Agricultural College and the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations (OFSAA).

MET MONDAY

Charlie Box, OFSAA secretary, went to Guelph Monday to discuss the problem of facilities with Bill Mitchell, director of athletics at OAC.

The annual meeting of WOSSA in April could turn down the proposal, if passed, and if "it wasn't in the better interests of the remaining schools," it is thought. A rejection of the plan was unlikely.

The new boundary lines for WOSSA would be as follows:

A line running due south north of Goderich from Lake Huron; southeast to a point north of Stratford then to a point south of Galt and extending then south of Brantford.

OUT FOR WEEK

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP)—Soo Indians of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Southern Group will be without left winger Joe Malo when they make their swing through North Bay and Sudbury today and Wednesday night.

Malo suffered a severe bruise on his side in Sunday's game against Sudbury Wolves when he ran into the goal post. X-rays revealed no bone-to-bone contact. Indian trainer Jack Boag said Malo would be out of action for a week.

Greaves Loses To Scortichini

NEW YORK (AP)—Jake Mintz, a fight manager who is never at a loss for words, had a ready explanation in the dressing room at Madison Square Garden Monday night after Wilf Greaves of Edmonton dropped a unanimous decision to Italo Scortichini at St. Nicholas Arena.

"They bumped heads," said Jake, explaining both the first-round knockdown and cut left eye suffered by his newest "tiger."

"He didn't know where he was for four rounds," he said Mintz. "You didn't see the real Greaves fight."

Scortichini had a different version of the knockdown.

"It was my right hand," he said holding the hand on high. "Next you know he'll be saying somebody else hit him."

FIRST KNOCKDOWN

It was Greaves' first knockdown in his brief 16-bout pro career since leaving the amateurs. It was also his first cut, said Mintz, a gash that required eight stitches.

Greaves leaves for his Edmonton home Wednesday to spend the holidays.

LAST-MINUTE FAVORITE

Scortichini, veteran of 59 pro fights who operates out of New York, had been installed earlier by Greaves who turned pro only last year, went into the ring a 7-to-5 favorite.

Referee Mark Conn voted 9-1, Judge Nick Giordiani 8-1 and Referee Bert Grant 7-3.

Greaves was bulling Scortichini around the ring in the first round when he was dropped by a sudden flurry of punches. He was up at two but had to take the automatic eight count. His left eye was bothering him and continued to stream from it although Dan Florio, his second, did his best to stop it.

Greaves, trying to protect the eye, attempted to fight from long range but his jabs couldn't hold off Scortichini and every time the Italian closed in the cut reopened.

Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the New York State Athletic Commission visited Greaves' corner after the first and second rounds but decided to let the bout continue despite yells from the crowd to "stop it."

Quebec League

MONTREAL (CP) — Chicoutimi's Carol Vadnais scored one goal and was credited with a single assist in the week's Quebec Hockey League play but his scoring lead stood up.

The 19-year-old had 19 assists for 34 points, Hicks leads teammate Bill Hawkey by two points.

Other leaders, with goals assists and total points:

Hicks, Chicoutimi, 6-25—31; Tessier, Quebec, 11-11—28; L. Smzke, Chicoutimi, 11-11—28; Wray, Shawinigan Falls, 14-12—26; Perreault, Chicoutimi, 5-21—26; Teal, Quebec 9-17—26; Bolduc, Chicoutimi, 7-17—24; Corriveau, Montreal, 7-17—24.

BULLDOGS UPSET

STRATHROY (CP)—Piling up a three-goal lead in the first period, Strathroy Bulldogs of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B series upset Windsor Bulldogs of the Senior A group 6-3 in an exhibition game Monday night.

Winger Buddy Evans starred for the Rockets with three goals. Other scorers were Hall, Timms and McCreight.

Recommend Grant For Blue Bombers Head Coach

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sportscaster Jim Kelleack of radio station CKY said in his regular broadcast Monday night that a recommendation will be made to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers' executive that Bud Grant be named head coach for 1957 with Wayne Robinson as playing line coach.

Kelleack said that manager Bill Boivin and players committee chairman Ralph Parliament will make the recommendation. The executive is expected to make a definite announcement on the coaching situation Jan. 2.

J. T. Russell, Bombers' president, said Kelleack's report is based on hearsay. He said no decision has been reached as yet.

Grant, 29, who was named to the Western Interprovincial Football Union all-star team as an end in 1953, 1954 and 1955, joined the Bombers in 1953 after playing in the National Football League for two seasons with Philadelphia Eagles. He played college football with the University of Minnesota.

Kelleack also said that Nell Armstrong, a former Bomber end, was among the 14 applicants for the Bomber coaching job, left vacant when the Winnipeg club failed to take up the option of Al Sherman, who had completed a three-year contract as coach of the Bombers.

Lions Want Player Life Bar Boss Bell Says 'Crucifixion'

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Lions want Ed Meadows of Chicago Bears barred for life from professional football. Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League says the player is being crucified.

The charges and denials arose from Sunday's NFL Western Conference title game when the Bears whipped the Lions 38-21 in Chicago.

Quarterback Bobby Layne, key to the Lions' offence, was smeared and injured on a play in the second quarter. He was out for the rest of the game. The Lions reported he suffered a brain concussion.

Edwin J. Anderson, president of the Lions, dispatched a three page letter to Bell Monday night accusing Meadows, a defensive end, of deliberately slugging Layne. He asked Bell to bar Meadows for life from the NFL and to fine the Bears and their coaches, claiming the injury was a "premeditated assault."

ASKS FOR PROOF

In reply, Bell said:

"The Lions ought to look at motion pictures of the game and get any other evidence they think they have, before accusing that boy of deliberately injuring another player.

"The Lions have no right to crucify the kid, so right to talk of banning him from the game, unless they have real proof that he was guilty of an illegal act."

Anderson suggested Bell call for the motion pictures of the game. He said he didn't know whether the Lions' movies would show the incident "since we instruct our photographer to follow the ball and Layne already had gotten rid of it when he was attacked."

Anderson wrote that "Meadows has a bad history and if you (Bell) will check for other games you will find that he deliberately slugged Layne when he (Meadows) was with Pittsburgh last year. . . .

DENIES CHARGE

Meadows, a 225-pounder, said in Chicago he might sue the Lions for defamation of character. He said the tackle that led to the injury was accidental and that he didn't know Layne had handed the ball away.

"He'll have to think of something better than that," Layne commented. "If he was fooled, he was the only one in the whole stadium that was."

Layne, who returned to Detroit with the team Sunday night, was pronounced in good shape by Detroit doctors. He said he didn't know at the time who hit him.

"I'm not surprised to find out it was Meadows," Layne declared. "He's done it before."

EXPECTS NO ACTION

Layne said he didn't expect any action by Bell.

"Meadows will be around next year," he said, "but the other players in the league will take care of him. They have a way of straightening guys that out."

George Halas, owner of the Bears, said that as far as he could see it was a good tackle Meadows gave Layne.

Bell said he had talked to the game officials and that they reported having seen nothing illegal about the play. No penalty was called.

Meadows was banished from the game in the closing minutes for unsportsmanlike conduct involving Bill Bowman and Joe Schmidt.

Buddy Parker, head coach of the Lions, said he was getting sick and tired of what he saw as a trend to deliberately dirty play in pro football, sick enough to consider quitting. But late Monday he conferred with Anderson and said report said he agreed to a long distance call to be signed Thursday at a board of director's meeting.

Sweeney Leads Junior League Points Race

TORONTO (CP)—Bill Sweeney's manager claims the Guelph Biltmore centre is the most underrated player in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, and this week he has the figures to prove it.

After trading the league's pointgetting lead back and forth with linemate Eddie Shack for the early part of the season Sweeney has pulled up a commanding eight-point margin over his left winger. After Sunday's game he had 24 goals and 22 assists for 46 points. Shack has 14 goals and 24 assists for 38.

"Sweeney never seems to get the credit he should," says manager Roy Mason. Perhaps not, but he gets the goals and his 24 are best in the league, as are Shack's 24 assists.

A third Biltmore, Danny Belisle is in third spot, tied with two forwards from Toronto St. Michael's College Majors. Belisle has 18 goals and 15 assists, while fragile Frank Mahovlich and Bob Boucher have the same number. Mahovlich has 24 goals and 12 assists; Boucher 2 goals and 11 assists.

Len Broderick of Toronto Marlboros, out of action for a spell, has the best average of the goal tenders. Broderick has allowed 40 goals in 17 games for a 2.35 average and has recorded three shutouts, the same number as Bruce Gamble of Guelph, who's in first place with a 2.46 average after 13 games.

Lew Burdette Tops in ERA In National Loop

NEW YORK (AP) — Lew Burdette, 30-year-old Milwaukee righthander, has been awarded the earned-run leader among National League pitchers with a 2.71 average.

Burdette, who won 17 games by late August and finished with a 19-10 won-lost record after tiring in the stretch drive, also topped the Milwaukee staff in shutouts with four of them in succession in early July.

Burdette's closest competitor in the earned-run department was teammate Warren Spahn who finished with 2.79 while compiling a 20-11 record, his seventh season as a 20-game winner.

With Burdette and Spahn running 1-2, the Milwaukee staff led the league with a low earned-run average of 3.51 to runner-up Brooklyn's 3.57. The least effective staff was Philadelphia's with 4.26.

Other top pitchers in earned-run average were Johnny Antonelli of New York 2.86, Sal Maglie of Brooklyn 2.87 and Don Newcombe of Brooklyn 3.06.

ROUGH ON ROBIN

Newcombe, the most valuable player in the league, was tops for the second straight year in wonlost percentage with a 27-7 mark for .794. He completed 18 of 36 starts.

Bob Friend of Pittsburgh, the earned-run leader a year ago dropped to 12th in 1956 to lead the workhorse of the league with 314 innings and 32 starts.

Although Robin Roberts of the Phils had one of his poorer seasons, he still led in number of complete games, 22. Robrtts, however, also gave up the most runs, 155; the most hits, 328; and allowed a record number of home runs, 46.

Sam Jones, the Chicago righthander who was traded to St. Louis last week, again led in both strikeouts with 176 and bases on balls with 125 to compile his erratic record. Jones had a 9-14 won-lost season. Elroy Face of Pittsburgh appeared in the most games, 68.

ASSUMPTION WALLOPED

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (CP)—Niagara, playing its first home game of the basketball season, handily downed Assumption of Winsor, Ont., 77-44 Monday night.

The purple Eagles showed complete mastery of the visitors' zone defence and ended the first half ahead by 33-20. With 12½ minutes remaining, Niagara sent in an all-reserve squad to finish up.

Hamilton Trims Peterborough 6-3

HAMILTON (CP) — Fifth-place Hamilton Cubs defeated short-handed Peterborough Petes 6-3 Monday night in a rough Ontario Hockey Association Junior A contest.

The cellar-dwelling Petes could only muster 13 players for the game, and lost one of them, Guy Black, because of a second period injury.

Murray Oliver, Whitey Youngberg, Brian Smith, Gerry Sullivan, Tom Amadio and Jack Hendrickson scored for Cubs. Bill Mahoney, George Montague and Len Babcock were the Peterborough marksmen.

The game was enlivened by three fights including a last-second battle between Amadio and Ralph McNiff of Peterborough.

Clean up Arena Or Face Boycott Orders Council

TORONTO (CP)—If the operators of the St. Catharines Garden Arena don't clean up a bit of weeding, the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series says it will boycott the rink.

The league council approved that ultimatum at a meeting Monday after it heard team officials complain the rink boards in the arena, home of the Trepecs, were so dirty the puck sometimes couldn't be seen against them.

The league will issue no deadline for the "point-up, fresh-up" campaign but will request hurried repairs by the St. Catharines parks commission.

Waterman Retains Welter Crown

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) Rugged Peter Waterman successfully defended his British welterweight title Monday night by stopping Frank Johnson in 10 furious rounds of a scheduled 15-round bout. Both boxers were bleeding freely when the fight was halted.

Waterman, a London boy, weighed 143½ pounds. Johnson, from Manchester, weighed 146.

"In the fourth round, the challenger was warned by referee for a count of nine and the champion was encouraged to finish the fight.

Waterman came back in the sixth with two hard rights to the face. After the seventh round Johnson's manager, Jimmy Duffy, and Waterman from both sides of the ring climbed up on Johnson's eyes were injured, and though he was slightly ahead on points, he could not go well enough to answer the bell for the 11th.

Aussies Will Blank Yanks; Says Sedgman

MELBOURNE (AP) — Former Australian Davis Cup star Frank Sedgman says flatly the United States will not regain title of regaining the cup in the challenge round at Adelaide later this month.

Writing in the Melbourne Sun, Sedgman, now a professional, also gave a victory for Australia.

"Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall on the form they have shown will be too strong for the Americans and must be overwhelming favorites in both singles and doubles," Sedgman wrote.

Scottish Curlers Tour Canada In January

TORONTO (CP)—The Dominion Curling Association Monday announced details of a four-week tour of Scottish curlers next month, when Canada will be bidding to win back the Strathcona Cup the Scots have held since 1949.

The Scots, who took home the trophy on their last visit in 1949, retained it in the 1950 series in Scotland to square the competition for the 45-year-old cup at four victories each. The winners are to be decided on the aggregate scores in a 20-game series played from coast to coast. The Canadian opposition will be representatives of 13 curling associations throughout the country, who are financing the tour.

The 25-man Scottish contingent, captained by W. G. Piper of Perth, is due to land in Montreal by air Jan. 5. During the next four weeks it will be flown across Jan. 31, will travel 7,000 miles by air, land and rail in a program covering every province except Newfoundland.

The Strathcona Cup matches have been shifted at irregularly-spaced intervals since Lord Strathcona put up the trophy in 1909 to commemorate the visit of the first Canadian team to Scotland. Canada won in 1909, 1912, 1923 and 1926.

Canadian officials hope to start the series on a regular basis, but United Kingdom currency restrictions on the visitors have upset their plans. Also the cost in Canada is much more popular than in the land of its birth. The Scots have only 4,000 curlers to choose from compared with 100,000 active players in Canada.

The first Strathcona Cup game is scheduled the day the curlers arrive in Montreal. From there they fly west before returning east across by train and stop off at Fort William Jan. 19. They will be at Sudbury Jan. 20, Haileybury Jan. 22, Toronto Jan. 23 and Hamilton Jan. 24.

Thinks Aussies Will Win Cup Says Captain

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Harry Hopman said Monday he expects his Australians to defend the Davis Cup successfully against the United States later this month. But he still fears Vic Seixas.

"Vic is a great player who can reach form quickly," said the little captain of the Aussies. "Against the Indians he looked as if he was near peak form. He is still conditioning his mate and a hard fighter."

The challenge round is scheduled Dec. 26-28 at Adelaide and, in conformity with tradition, both captains named their singles squads 10 days before the meeting.

Hopman, surprising no one, named Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall, Neale Fraser and Ashley Cooper — the same squad which wrested the cup from the United States last year at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Larivee Shares Lead With Elik In American Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—Accompanying his team's push to the top of the American Hockey League standings, Paul Larivee of Providence Reds has moved into a tie with Cleveland's Bo Elik in the point-scoring race.

Larivee collected eight points last week to share the lead with Elik at 44 points. They hold a five-point advantage over Cleveland's Fred Glover. Another member of the Barons, Jimmy Moore, is next with 37. Hershey's Willie Marshall completes the top five with 35.

Dutchie Line Top Scorers In West Loop

TORONTO (CP)—The three big lines of the three top teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Western Division have skated their way into a virtual monopoly of the league's point-getting race.

Theberge is the triggerman for the line and leads the league's scorers with 23 goals. Lamman, as befits a good centre, is top in assists with 28, while Scholes, a right winger, has been content to putting them in, has 14 goals and 22 assists.

Mickey Roth, Dinny Flanagan and Billy Flick of the first-place Stratford Indians have produced the second-best point total among the league's lines. They have 94 among them, with Roth's 33 on 13 goals and 20 assists taking third place and breaking up the Dutchmen hold on the three top spots.

Jim Lloyd, Ron Ellis and Jim Pasutis tie him with Theberge for goals and Flick is in sixth with 29 points for 14 goals and 15 assists.

Don Head of Bulldogs leads the league's netminders with a 3.1 average after 20 games. Marv Edwards of fourth-place Chatham Maroons is second with a 3.38 average after 21 games and is tied with Head in shutouts. Each has two.

Zulueta Wins Split Verdict Over Boardman

BOSTON (AP)—Orlando Zulueta the Cuban cutie, jabbed and danced top lightweight challenger Larry Boardman into futile wildness Monday night for a split 10-round sports decision. Zulueta weighed 135, Boardman 137½.

Boardman, the 20-year-old Marlborough, Conn., boy who came in as a 12-1 favorite, gave it everything he had in the 10th round but punched himself out against the artful veteran, who holds out of New York.

On the 10-point scoring system judge John Norton voted for Zulueta 98-95 while judge Joe Santoro gave it to the boxer 97-95. Referee Jimmy McCarron had it even, 96-96.

Uranium City Rapidly Settles Down Into Regular Community

URANIUM CITY, Sask. (CP)—This lusty offspring of the Athabaska uranium hunt is rapidly settling down into a regular community, but is losing none of its optimism in the process.

"The boomers' have come and gone," says Paul Vincent, first mayor of the newly-formed municipality. "We've settled down to serious business."

When Mr. Vincent arrived here in 1953 tents were used for a grocery store and a claim-recording office. A crude sign said: "This is Uranium City."

Now there is network of streets cutting through the evergreens to a sitting together a townsite population of 2,500 and 42 places of business. The population within the municipal boundaries, which include surrounding mines and their residential sites, is 5,500.

BRIGHT FUTURE

"I might be optimistic but I'm sure this area hasn't started to grow," says Mr. Vincent, a former salesman for oil products. He forecasts a population of 10,000 by 1960.

Indications of metals other than uranium in the area may result in more mines being developed. Today, nearly every square foot in a 25-mile radius from the townsite is prospected staked out, but still the prospectors come and go.

Houses are replacing shacks left vacant when the first prospectors wandered off to find new frontiers. Neat stucco - finished shops now are almost equal in number to the rougher box-like structures erected hurriedly by the first merchants.

Edmonton, 450 miles to the southwest, still is almost the sole supply centre for the area, which receives most of its goods during the short summer navigation season.

SUPPLIES FLOWN IN

Barges carry supplies from the end of steel at Waterways over the 300-mile water route across Lake Athabaska. About eight tons of perishable food is flown to Uranium City each week—not including supplies flown in privately for mining company personnel.

Prices, of course, are higher than in Edmonton. There is an extra five cents added to the price of a chocolate bar. Cars are about $200 higher here. There're about 500 cars and trucks for the limited road mileage.

The burgeoning community is having trouble finding the money to provide services to its growing population. Mayor Vincent estimates that $3,200,000 will be needed for capital expenditures in the next two years.

The town already has a $1,000,000 hospital. It plans a new elementary school which will cost $270,000, a high school, and the community's first sewer and water system, which would require approximately $1,500,000.

A $25 poll tax levied this year on mine employees living outside the townsite brought a clamor of protest. The tax finally was reduced to $20.

The municipality argued the tax would pay for townsite services used by the outsiders. But the mill and mine workers replied that they rarely entered town.

They supported their case with the story of one official who lived and worked in the area for a year without visiting Uranium City. Then he went to the town site out of curiosity.

Canada Wants Ship Canal to Protect Trade

MONTREAL (CP)—The Gazette says Canada's proposed new canal for an all-Canadian St. Lawrence Seaway channel near Cornwall springs from fear that the United States maritime policy threatens her world trade position.

Canada is expected to press for low St. Lawrence seaway tolls as an incentive to trade, says the newspaper, and the U.S. to hold out high rates to protect its subsidized merchant fleet.

The newspaper quotes a "highplaced Ottawa authority" as saying:

"Canada has always encouraged foreign - vessel traffic. Without it we would be unable to dispose of as much of our produce as we do."

Several days ago, Canada made public its reservation of right to duplicate a channel near Cornwall, which is the only portion of the seaway confined to American soil. The U.S. expressed its displeasure at the disclosure.

INCENTIVE SEEN

The Gazette further quotes its source:

"If Canada is to promote the sale of her goods—at the price she asks — some incentive must be present to encourage it. In this case, it is the use of her navigational facilities at a low cost."

An all - Canadian seaway route would permit foreign vessels access to Canadian inland ports at Canadian - set rates, whatever prices might prevail in the American channel.

Chairman Lionel Chevrier of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, was not immediately available for comment on the editorial.

But in an address here Monday he said the difficult subject of toll rates continues under discussion in Washington.

CANAL NEARLY COMPLETE

He told the alumni reunion of Sir. Marie College that at year's end "we can say that nearly half the St. Lawrence Seaway work has been completed."

He said 60 per cent of excavation work is done, 40 per cent of the dredging and nearly 70 per cent of the concrete work.

Contracts granted last year nearly $150,000,000. The navigation and hydro-electric phases of the project would cost more than $500,000,000 — a higher figure than originally estimated.

Television Viewers More Critical Than Ever Before

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — American television appears rather tired as the years end nears. It's curious, for the medium does not seem to have tired too hard in 1956 to be even moderately experimental.

The result has been an undistinguished year. The best things visible now on the home screen generally were being done a year ago.

Just as there are more quiz programs and "situation comedies" than ever, so there are more "variety" shows. There are more regular dramatic programs, each inconsistently successful in its unobvious search for new material.

There is more of everything — even more television viewers. But they are more experienced—and thus more critical—than ever before. As a result, the paler imitation programs of established successful ideas proved unable to energize the audience-eating blues. Some horrors which touched the start of the season have been ridden to death.

ADULT WESTERNS

One program form which has sprung in stature and popularity is the "adult western." Such programs as Wyatt Earp and Gunsmoke have paved the way for stories of western backgrounds which attempt to treat character with a maturity lacking in the TV westerns of a couple of years ago.

On the other hand, comedy programs aimed at a limited audience of youngsters are having acute sponsor problems and may eventually become extinct.

Regretfully, one must report the perpetuation of a trend noticeable a year ago. The programs a critical viewer calls the best often are not commercially successful. Where between the horns of idealism and business pragmatism does the future of television lie?

AT THE PARK — Head Up — Neville Brand, leader of a gang of outlaws, wreak a reign of terror on Audie Murphy and Jeanne Carmen in "The Three Outlaws," opening Thursday at the Park Theatre. Brenden Brand, action film actors Alex Nicol and Bruce Bennett. On the same program the greatest Rock 'N Roll music played by Bigger Than Life Alan Freed and his rock of Heaven, "Rock, Rock, Rock," starring Alan Freed and his Rhythm band. Both hits are first showings.

AT THE PARK — Rock, Rock, Rock — Alan Freed is starred in the musical extravaganza "Rock, Rock, Rock" coming to the Park Theatre Thursday. On the same program "The 3 Outlaws". Both are first Belleville showings.

Without Movie Code Film Business Would Face Chaos

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— The film production code, which got its first major overhaul last week, has been sniped at and undermined since the start a few years ago. Yet it has managed to survive and serve the industry well.

The code has long been the target of intellectuals. It is true that strict application of its laws has often constricted film material. But without a code, the movie business would face chaos.

The code was originated for self-protection. In 1929, the films had found a voice. Forced to abandon pantomimes, the producers went to the stage to find film subjects. They filmed plays that had been originated for sophisticated theatre audiences.

AROUSED MORALISTS

Racy dialogue, daring plots and nudity aroused the moralists, who were already suspicious of Hollywood because of the news scandals of the '20s.

A plan arose to have the film industry censor itself. This was furthered by appointment of Will Hays, who knew the dangers of having censor boards in every state, country and town as well as pressure from religious and other groups. He thought it would be better to ward off such interference by having self-regulation.

Hays set up a code to be withstood its attackers. Producers who tried to skirt the code found rough going. They couldn't get playing time in the big theatre chains, which were owned by the major studios.

The situation changed when the United States government made the theatres and studios divorces for anti-trust reasons. The studios were still committed to the code, but the theatres weren't necessarily.

WERENT APPROVED

Thus pictures like The Outlaw, The Moon is Blue, The Man with the Golden Arm and I Am A Camera could get good playing time even though they were refused a code seal.

Last week's revisions loosened many of the restrictions on subject matter while tightening others on brutality and passion. The code office is profoundly aware of public pressure on film content.

When the brutality of films like Blackboard Jungle and Crime in the Streets was attacked here and abroad, the code censors advised producers to slow down on such subjects. Now Baby Doll is being lambasted by the Legion of Decency and others, and the code office is profoundly aware of public pressure on sex in films.

LONG TRADITION

India's navy traces its history from the founding in 1622 of the East India Company's marine service.

SPORT IN BRIEF

REDS IN BLACK

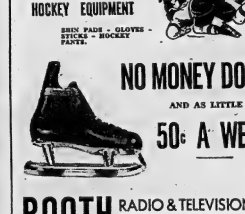
CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Redlegs made a net profit of $276,569 in 1956, it was announced at a meeting of the board of directors Monday.



The baseball club, which finished third in the National League race, had a record attendance of 1,125,928 at home, Gabe Paul, general manager, said. The previous mark was 981,443, set in 1929, when the team finished first.

DOAK MAY COACH

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Doak Walker, former all-America and pro halfback with the pro Detroit Lions, is being considered for the head football coaching job at his alma mater, Southern Methodist, the Dallas Morning News says.

He would succeed Woody Woodard, who resigned just before the end of the season.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, December 19, 1956:

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A somewhat mixed day. Review your schedule carefully to eliminate waste of time and energy. Then proceed firmly but conservatively. Be patient, thoughtful.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Your planets mildly friendly, encourage personal attainment if you manage the day's affairs wisely and with an eye to future results. Sound, wholesome, useful activities and interests favored.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — On smart management and astute co-operation with the right forces will depend your accomplishments today. The influences are not entirely favorable, but substantial interests and domestic affairs are honored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Delicate and artistic matters, professions requiring finesse and skill are encouraged now. Home, daily duties, difficult work, industrial trades also honored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be conscientious, thorough and patient if you wish to achieve satisfactorily today. The influences are more favorable than otherwise. Show your skill for management.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Proper allocation of tasks will help a great deal on this off-again, on-again type of day. Some things will run much more smoothly than others. Patience!

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — More favorable aspects than for most days but you will have dealings with others that may call for extra fortitude, forbearance. Be cheerful, confident; you can achieve a great deal.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Your attitude, manner and determination will turn this day into a success or leave it defective — as you direct. Shifting vibrations are mostly suspicious, however.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — It won't be nearly as difficult as it seems to be steadfastly determined and to achieve in essential matters now. Your day can be a fine one.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Today's aspects are somewhat negative but, within the next couple of days, you will have better aspects under which to work for a stronger future. In the meantime there is much to be done. Be especially careful of details.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Maintain an even pace, don't worry, and you can go about your affairs with less strain, fewer errors. Accept setbacks in a philosophical way.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — You may be obliged to change tactics, even a few opinions. Do what is reasonable and rightly put to you. Don't doubt success because of previous missteps. Forward.

You born today have a variety of skills which you should develop and use daily. Your direct approach to a matter is admirable; but try not to be too blunt. You may be a good talker, but remember, listening is important, too. Your duplicity, untruthfulness; you excel as organizer. Your intuition and insight can attain quick results, if you avoid rash action. Birthdate of: Albert A. Michelson, scientist; Edw. M. Stanton, statesman-jurist.

CHILDREN & OLDERS

LET'S BE REALISTIC! — It was noted in business circles that the Belleville area had a very gorgeous living — that all is well and prosperous. We have a desire to offer today to the young family that will not only provide the usual worries and cares, but will provide a home overlooking the beautiful countryside — perhaps even the cool mist with the sunlight BUT the children will be in this home. The kitchen is large, the bedrooms and there is a large lot all fenced in for the children to play in and there's a garage. This is a home that you can live in for real years to come and when you want to sell it, you will find that it will be sold. We'll Sherbrooke and wants to sell NOW! Price $15,500. Terms to suit right. $15,500. We are prepared to work out this very reasonable terms.

FAST DEAL

THE OWNER OF THIS HOME JUST CHECKED IN AND decided to make it town in and on the highway. Now he has to sell it. Here is a home that is all set up. You will not have to move in and do anything. You really want it as your offer will be accepted. Here is a 3-bedroom home with a large living room, dining room, kitchen, bedroom, 4-piece bath, and a fully decorated interior. Act fast on this bargain.

HAVE YOU A TICKET ON THE SWEEPSTAKES? HAVE YOU NO MONEY?

IF YOU THINK THAT YOU ARE LUCKY THEN tell us that you have may come in first, then make it the modern home of your dreams. Here is a home with all the modern conveniences that you could ever want. Has 3 bedrooms, large living room, dining room, kitchen, 4-piece bath, and a fully decorated interior. Has been priced so that you needn't be afraid to make a good offer. We have no feelings.

Charities Given Greater Part $6,200,000 Estate

TORONTO (CP)—The annual income and part of the capital of the $6,200,000 estate left by the late John W. Billes is to be willed to charities, scholarship funds and medical research, executors of his will said Monday.

His widow and three children are to receive some of the capital in the form of annual fixed payments, the announcement said. Application for probate of the will is being made.

Mr. Billes, president of Canadian Tire Corporation, died here Nov. 17 at the age of 60.

The will directs that income from the estate is to be divided into 10 shares. Ten are to go to deserving theology or divinity students at Victoria University, Trinity College, Wycliffe College, Knox College and McMaster University, in other academic fields, seven are for medical research by the Banting Institute, and the remaining 66 are to be distributed among 16 charities in Toronto.

His widow's annuity is to cease on her death, but a fund totalling $750,000 is to be set aside for her children's survivors.

The will directs that capital remaining at the time of distribution be divided among the same institutions in the same proportion as the annual income. Distribution is to take place upon the death of the last survivor of the widow and children.

Mr. Billes started Canadian Tire a chain of retail automobile parts stores, 43 years ago and established centres from the east coast to the Lakehead.

Deported Jews Reach Israel

TEL AVIV (AP) — A plane carrying 78 Jews deported from Egypt landed here today. One passenger carried what was described as an Egyptian deportation order and said he had managed to get out by hiding it in his clothes.

The latest arrivals said that when Israel invaded the Sinai Peninsula, Egyptian soldiers and police searched their houses and in some cases took away members of the families for questioning.

Some arrivals said members of their families were beaten. They said all recounts of delays in the expulsion orders and requests to take possessions with them were refused.

"They took away all our valuables including wedding rings," said one arrival. "The Egyptians did not hesitate to take clothes which looked good to them. Now they took something they would say 'this is for Port Said' or 'this is for the aggression in Sinai.'

Challenge Reds To Let Observers Study Charges

WASHINGTON (AP)—The state department Monday challenged Russia to allow United Nations observers into Hungary to determine the truth of Soviet charges that the Hungarian revolt was "stimulated from the outside."

Press officer Lincoln White said the Hungarian government is obviously under control of the Soviet Union and that with a UN inspection "the answer to who stimulated whom would become very evident."

Another development today was a Russian rejection of an American protest against massed Soviet tanks "threatening helpless Hungarian civilians" outside the U.S. legation in Budapest.

Arrest Man For Helping to Rob Aga Khan

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban investigation in Havana on Monday it has arrested Paul Mandolini, 40, wanted by French authorities for helping rob the Aga Khan and his wife of $850,000 in jewels in 1949.

Twelve men were accused of plotting and staging the French highway holdup of the leader of the Moslem Ismaili sect. Six were tried and were sentenced to prison terms ranging from 4 to 10 years in 1951, three were acquitted, two were never caught and Mandolini jumped bail. He was tried in absentia and sentenced to life imprisonment. All but $240,000 of the loot was recovered.

Police said Mandolini arrived here Sept. 20 with a false Canadian passport under the name of Rolland Samiel and had been operating a small night club here since.

Santa Claus Parade Draws Huge Crowd

TRENTON. (Special). — The annual Santa Claus parade sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce attracted a huge crowd here Saturday as children, accompanied by their parents, lined the route from College Public school grounds in the Sergeant school grounds on the west side of town.

Over 5,000 bags of candy were distributed among the youngsters climaxing one of the finest shows staged by the local commercial people several years ago.

The Central Ridge entry, built on the theme of Snow White, was awarded first prize. The bridge company's float caught fire on Thursday night and burned almost completely. Not to be discouraged, company workers put the float back in its original state by the time the procession moved off Saturday morning.

Second prize went to the Campbellford Public school entry, while the Kiwanis float was judged third.

The parade moved along smartly to join the Quinte Highland Pipe Band, the RCAF Band and the Lions Club Band, Barthasheer's "Majorettes" setting the pace out in front, following Mayor Eric Burtt in the lead car behind a police escort.

$630 FOR SALVATION ARMY

The annual Jim Uttley Christmas party turned out to be the biggest success ever. When the receipts were counted last Saturday Mr. Uttley announced a gift of $650 will be provided the Salvation Army for Christmas work.

BATA GIVES $500

The Bata Shoe company has elected to give to the drive for funds for the Trenton Community Centre, Jack Baker, chairman of the project, received a cheque from Bata in the amount of $500.

CLEAR WRECKAGE

In connection with the construction of the Community Centre, damaged by a gale three weeks ago, the contractor, Arnold Steele, has started the job of clearing the wreckage in preparation for resumption of block laying and footings in front of the arena. Wind caused an interval to collapse on the front wall to crack. The loss was estimated around $40,000 and was covered by insurance.

Pineau Suggests That Hungary Be Made Neutral

PARIS (Reuters) — Foreign Minister Christian Pineau of France urged today that the Hungarian problem should be solved by making Hungary neutral.

He was addressing the National Assembly at the start of a four-day debate on foreign policy which is due to end Friday with a vote of confidence in Premier Mollet's 10½-month-old government.

Pineau said the French government recommends for Hungary "a solution of neutrality similar to that which has been given to Austria and which would meet the desire to see more liberty to Hungary and provide guarantees for Soviet Russia concerning the international consequences which this freeing would bring about."

Communist deputies turned out in full force but sat sullenly in their seats as the debate began. Premier Mollet was absent.

Ex-Premier Georges Bidault, a member of the Christian Democratic party Mouvement Republicain Populaire, was warmly applauded by all but the Communists when he demanded reform of the United Nations.

"The United Nations should be reformed so that it is no longer a simple auxiliary of collective insecurity," he said.

Pinecau, intervening in the debate although his main speech will be Wednesday, again hammered his favorite theme that the UN has two sets of standards — one for the democracies and the other for dictators.

"France feels shame for the inaction of the United Nations (on Hungary)," he said.

UEL Association Does Not Want Statue Torn Down

HAMILTON (CP)—The United Empire Loyalist Association complained Monday to the Hamilton board of control about its treatment of a UEL family.

The family in question is made of stone and used to stand in front of the Wentworth County courthouse. It was put up 28 years ago and became famous as the subject of a Canadian postage stamp.

Now the courthouse is being torn down and the statue has been taken down too. It is to be replaced on a lower pedestal.

L. L. Merritt, past-president of the association, said in a letter to board of control that the destruction of the old pedestal, quarried from stone at the 1813 battlefield Queenston Heights, was "unnecessary and wanton."

He asked that the monument be replaced exactly as before. He also charged that a time capsule placed in the cornerstone had disappeared.

Alvin Prack, an architect, told the board a new pedestal is needed because the new courthouse is taller. He said there was no sign of the box when the monument was taken down

Hopes that the UNEF would remain in Port Said at least until the Suez Canal is reopened were defeated by the statement of Maj.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the UNEF commander, that his mission would get out of Port Said as soon as possible after the withdrawal.

Israeli troops in the Sinai Peninsula pulled back another 15 miles today, to bring their withdrawal to a line about 47 miles east of the Suez Canal.

125 MILES TO GO

There was no official indication how soon Israeli forces will pull back the remaining 125 miles to the frontier.

Lt.-Col. Moshe Pearlman, chief Israeli army spokesman, said in Tel Aviv: "We are sure that this is being pressed on us at a time when the United Nations has not transmitted to us any undertaking from the Egyptians regarding freedom of shipping, ending of bases on Sinai or fedayeen (commando) activity."

Asked about reports that Egyptian troops were moving back into Sinai in the footsteps of the advancing Yugoslavs, Pearlman said: "We can't conceive that the United Nations will tolerate such a situation. This will mean a reoccupation of the Sinai peninsula by situation that existed before the campaign."

The Israelis actually have withdrawn most of their forces from the peninsula leaving behind only patrols and garrisons at forward positions and key military centres.

MAY HOLD PORT

There was no doubt here that the Israelis would evacuate Sharm el Sheikh, a Red Sea port on the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula which commands the approaches to the Gulf of Aqaba.

The Israeli chief of staff, Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, said Sunday the withdrawal was now under way in the direction of Sharm el Sheikh and he would pull out of the Tiran Islands, at the mouth of the gulf.

Egyptian guerrillas harassed the departing British and French forces at Kantara Monday, killing a French Foreign Legionnaire as he boarded a landing craft. Legionaires rushed ashore, flushed out a sniper hideaway and arrested three guerrillas.

BIG PROJECT

New transmission facilities are spurring the search for oil and gas in Western Canada. In Saskatchewan alone five different pipeline projects are under way and at the first snowfall this year 2,500 men were at work on transmission projects in that province. Biggest of all the projects is the Trans-Canada natural-gas pipeline which will carry gas from Alberta to markets in Eastern Canada. This photo shows a section of the Trans-Canada line, the pipe weighed with concrete blocks, as it is about to be carried under the Assiniboine River near the Saskatchewan-Manitoba border. (CP Photo.)

Rash of Pipeline Building On Prairies Helps to Make Big Year in Saskatchewan

REGINA (CP)—A rash of pipeline construction on the prairie south of Regina has helped to make 1956 Saskatchewan's biggest oil year.

New transmission facilities have spurred the oil search to a record level. They have provided market access for increased oil production which this year will reach 18,000,000 barrels, nearly double Saskatchewan's 1955 out put.

Five different pipelines have been involved in work this year and the total expenditure in this province alone has been estimated at $80,000,000. The first snowfall saw 2,500 men and their machines still working in the area.

BIGGEST PROJECT

The greatest of the five projects is the western leg of the massive Trans - Canada natural gas pipeline, the first step in a $378,000,000 development to deliver Alberta's natural gas to roughly a third of Canada's population.

Yet here in Saskatchewan, distribution is handled by a government agency, the other four transmission lines actually have created keener local interest.

Three of the pipelines are, or will be, handling the province's crude oil, feeding it into the inter-provincial pipeline laid across the prairie in 1950. The other is a natural gas project.

One of the three pipelines is the $6,000,000 line built by Westspur Pipe Line Co., an oil - gathering firm owned by 13 companies which have developed the Estevan area in southeast Saskatchewan as the current hotbed of western oil activity.

The Westspur line runs 106 miles from new fields—such as Alida, Nottingham, Midale—to a point near Cromer, Man., where it connects with the interprovincial system. Using this channel, producers have been able to increase their output which previously was retarded by slower truck deliveries to rail points.

66-MILE EXTENSION

The second line is a smaller but equally vital extension of the South Saskatchewan Pipe Line Company's main pipeline into the southwest corner of the province.

Built at a cost of $3,000,000, it stretches 60 miles from the Canstar field—starting point of the main pipeline into Regina—to the Dollard, Bone Creek, Gull Lake and North Premier fields.

Still under construction is a $900,000, 36-mile line tapping the Weyburn-Halbrite fields just north of Estevan. Again the target is a junction with the interprovincial system.

The builders, Trans-Prairie Pipe Lines, Ltd., expected to complete the line before the year-end, barring deep frosts. Present plans are to expand the system with expenditures of roughly $150,000 annually between 1957 and 1962.

The fifth pipeline, spanning 120 miles, connects the cities of Moose Jaw and Swift Current to the Success gas field in the southwest—a $2,500,000 undertaking by the crown - owned Saskatchewan Power Corporation.

All this construction has provided a new incentive for oil exploration and production in the province which for years has tried to achieve some balance to a top - heavy economy which has fluctuated with the wheat farmer's luck.

Most of the immediate benefits have been to the contractors' crews, given steady jobs in an off-peak employment season. But farmers and ranchers along the pipeline routes have had their share in the development, too.

The construction firms have been paying $45 an acre for pipeline right-of-way which usually is 66 feet wide. That works out to approximately $300 a mile, and some Saskatchewan farms are more than five miles long on one side. They also have made generous compensation for crop losses.

Railway companies have shipped roughly 700 miles of big gas transmission pipe into the province. Effect of the United States steel workers' strike on the shipments was barely noticeable, for only Trans - Canada crews were caught shorthanded.

PIPELINE TO LAKEHEAD

Present indications are that this activity will continue through 1957. Plans already are being made for another pipeline to cut entirely across Saskatchewan.

Instead of natural gas or oil, the proposed line would carry liquid hydrocarbons from Alberta's "wet" fields to the Lakehead. Such a project would cost in close to $60,000,000.

Canadian Hydrocarbons, Ltd., of Winnipeg proposes to build the entire line to the Lakehead where tankers would take the petroleum products into Ontario. Superior Propane, Ltd., of Toronto wants to build the Winnipeg - Lakehead link for $15,000,000.

Both companies soon will make submissions requesting permits from the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board and the Board of Transport Commissioners at Ottawa.

Westspur plans to extend its gathering system deeper into the Eastend area, and Trans-Prairie will spend some $116,000 next year to expand its project.

Meanwhile, the Saskatchewan Power Corporation is pushing plans to stretch its line 30 miles to Regina from Moose Jaw. And at the other end of its gas system it will move 90 miles farther west to tap the gas in the Hatton-Many Islands field on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

FBI Arrests Four In Theft Of Maps 'Worth Millions'

Top-Secret Oil Exploration Documents Stolen Year Ago

NEW YORK. (AP) — The FBI has arrested four men here in connection with the alleged theft of top-secret oil exploration maps of a government spokesman says are "worth millions."

The maps, federal authorities said, were stolen from the Pittsburgh offices of the Gulf Oil Co. by an employee who wanted to sell them to pay off gambling debts to New York racketeers.

The arrests apparently followed a raid on the offices of the U.S. Tackless Corp. here. FBI agents said they recovered many of the oil company's geological and topographic maps at the offices of the carpet firm.

Among the four arrested on federal charges of transporting stolen property across state lines was Odie Richard Seagraves, 19, well-known Texas oil and natural gas promoter. Seagraves denied any connection with the alleged theft of the oil maps.

Also arrested was Emanuel Lester, 32, already in jail awaiting sentence for trying to extort more than $500,000 from the late financial manipulator, Serge Rubinstein. Federal officials said Seagraves was a former partner of Rubinstein in the early 1940s, but that the two businessmen's connections were coincidental, as far as they knew.

The others seized were John Marvin Levin, 34, of Orange, Tex., and Edward Lieberman, 30, of New York, listed as president of U.S. Tackless and identified as Lester's brother.

If convicted, each could get a 10-year prison term and a fine of $10,000.

In Pittsburgh, Archie D. Gray, general counsel for Gulf, said the thefts, involving maps of potential oil-producing areas in the southwest states, Canada and the Middle East, were discovered by the company a year ago.

LANDS SNAPPED UP

He said Gulf became aware that the maps were missing when the company discovered leads it had developed in the southwest were being snapped up by wildcat operators looking for oil and gas leases on them. Gray said Gulf immediately assigned private detectives to watch the handful of trusted employees who have access to "top-secret" data.

No Gulf employee has been arrested, but in Pittsburgh, federal prosecutor Malcolm Anderson said an employee there had pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling with New York racketeers and took a leave of the maps to square himself." Anderson said the information contained in the maps is worth many millions to the company. He did not identify the employee.

Anderson said the government's chief concern was to get back all the maps. Now that most of them have been recovered, he said, the investigation will be conducted at a "somewhat more leisurely pace."

Authorities said the ring netted only tried to sell the maps but actually set up drilling operations in the southwest and tried to cash in on Gulf's oil surveys themselves.

Cyprus Offered Large Measure of Self-Government

LONDON (Reuters)—Proposals for a liberal constitution for Cyprus presented to Parliament today offer the island's colony a large measure of self-government but with control of external affairs, defence and internal security remaining in the hands of the British governor.

The proposals, made by legal expert Lord Radcliffe, appointed last July to draw up a liberal constitution to end strife - torn Mediterranean colony, would give Cyprus a mainly-elected Legislative Assembly which would be virtually certain of having a Greek Cypriot majority.

There would be important safeguards for the rights and representation of the island's Turkish minority.

Apart from defence, external affairs and internal security, all other functions of government, subject to crisis reservations, would be controlled by a chief minister and cabinet drawn from the Legislative Assembly, whose 30 elected members would specifically include the Turkish Cypriots.

Cyprus, where a terrorist campaign is backing Greek Cypriot demands for union with Greece, has a population of about 500,000 of whom 400,000 are Greek Cypriots and 100,000 Turkish Cypriots.

DELAYED BY TERRORISM

In a covering note to his report, Lord Radcliffe said it is not assumed that the proposed constitution can come into effect in present conditions of terrorism.

And the report emphasizes that it does not cover the question of the island's ultimate future.

The "reservations" referred to stem from the requirement that any new constitution should be given to the special interests of the various communities and races on the island.

This mainly affects certain aspects of education, broadcasting and matters of special interest to the Turkish community.

TURKS PROTECTED

The governor would be entitled to legislate by ordinance in reserved matters. The assembly would make laws in all other matters. But laws affecting Turkish Cypriot affairs, including education, would be subject to a special majority in the legislature.

The assembly would not have power to alter the constitution, except in certain specially defined respects.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Southwestery winds brought a return to milder weather in most of Ontario today with mainly sunny skies and some gusty winds. Light snow in Northern Ontario. A comparatively weak system of cold weather is expected to drop temperatures again in Northern Ontario - overnight, with less cloudiness in that part of the province Thursday. In Southern and Central Ontario Thursday's temperatures are expected to be little changed from today's, with, however, likelihood of a brief period of rain or snow tonight.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The country's best distinguished rooks, George, has made his last migration. He has settled, permanently, in Pasadena.

George has been in the public print often. Originally he was an Ohio rook. In 1952, when he was a fledgling, he fell out of his nest, and Mrs. Thomas rescued him. She gave him whisky and water with an eye-dropper.

George snapped his beak and decided then and there that flying was for the birds, but he was going to stay close to the supply of bourbon. He travelled everywhere with the Thomases, spending the winters in the south. He went to Canada for the fishing season, and into Alaska.

On a Canadian trip he manfully swallowed some Canadian rye and enjoyed it more.

Now his owner has retired from business and will live in California. And so, too, will George.

PEARSON SEES MORE DANGER IN LOCAL CONFLICTS

May Equip NATO Forces With Atomic Weapons

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson has suggested there is more danger of local conflicts at present than of an all-out war.

Speaking Tuesday to a press conference after attending last week's Paris meeting of the NATO council, he also said the possibility of NATO armed forces in Europe, including Canadian units, being equipped with tactical atomic weapons is "under consideration."

Mr. Pearson said NATO members generally feel the possibility of "all-out nuclear war is considerably less likely than it was, but there is a very real danger" that conflicts may escalate.

There was concern over "the danger of a peripheral war becoming an all-out military one by the use of the wrong weapon."

AGREED ON DIRECTIVE

The council meeting had agreed on a "highly secret" political directive to NATO military commanders on possible use of tactical atomic weapons.

"I can see all sorts of difficulties developing when a tactical weapon becomes almost a political weapon," Mr. Pearson said.

There had to be provision for political control when a military commander had the power to use a weapon which, by its destructive force, could bring about an all-out war. A lot of thought was being given to the problem.

Mr. Pearson said he knows of no countries other than the U.S. that have tactical atomic weapons at present. But Britain had nuclear weapons and it wouldn't be long until other countries had them.

Egypt Formally Assures Safety Of Salvage Crews

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Egypt has formally assured the safety of British salvage ships and crews engaged in salvage work in Port Said harbor.

Lloyd told the House of Commons "this will be necessary to assure the masters and crews of the vessels on this point. I understand that the Egyptian authorities on the spot ll endeavor to do so."

"I am awaiting confirmation that there are no further difficulties and that the work can continue — that is, the work done by the Anglo-French fleet now in Port Said."

STOLE CADI'S PROPERTY

COOKSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—While Magistrate R. I. Blain sat in his courtroom Tuesday surrounded by 15 policemen, a thief walked boldly into his office and stole the magistrate's brief case and his secretary's fur coat valued at $500.

BOY'S HOPE FOR RESTORED SIGHT POSTPONED

Jean-Paul Del Biondo of Montreal, shown above with his mother will not receive the birthday present he was expecting, a chance at restored sight. The 15-year-old boy, who celebrated his birthday Tuesday, has been in Montreal General Hospital since Monday awaiting surgery which might save him from blindness.

Jean-Paul was to have received one of three transplants, but on Wednesday a spokesman for the patient at the hospital, who is hovering near death, has willed his eyes for cortneal transplants. but on medical grounds the additional operation makes an operation inadvisable at this time. It was not immediately known whether some one else will receive the transplants. The hospital has a list of persons whose sight might be restored through such an operation.

Dag Hammarskjold Expected To Reject Salvage Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold is expected to turn down recommendations from his envoy visiter in Egypt that British-French salvage crews be used to help clear the blocked Suez Canal.

Informed sources indicated today that Hammarskjold feels the salvage fleet he has been organizing will be able to do the job quickly and efficiently with out any help from Britain and France.

The secretary-general said in a statement Tuesday night that the UN has built up a fleet "able to begin operations immediately."

The UN is reported to have 30 salvage ships ready to go to work immediately on removing the sunken ships, derricks and other debris from the waterway as soon as the last British and French units leave Egypt. The salvage vessels have been drawn from Denmark, The Netherlands, Germany, Italy and Belgium.

Another 10 ships are scheduled to reach the canal area by Thursday and 11 others are due there later this month.

Hammarskjold also is said to have 600 crew members, divers, salvage experts and others lined up to begin the clearing operation, which diplomats estimate can cost as much as $60,000,000.

A UPI spokesman said Hammarskjold's decision to use neutral seamen for the canal work was his own idea and not Egypt's. Egypt has declared it will not permit British and French crews to be used.

Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd has said the canal can be cleared in about seven weeks if British and French experts and equipment are used. If they are pulled out, he contends, the job might take twice that time.

Officials of Egypt's Suez Canal Authority have disputed this claim claiming that Britain has been trying in vain to prevent that Egypt is clearing the canal clearance.

Sizes continued to mount today that the final withdrawal by British and French forces will be accomplished by Thursday. A vanguard of Egyptian police already is in Port Said, and UN forces in the city were to take over all civil government functions from the British and French today.

A bitter new Middle East debate began in the General Assembly here Tuesday as Israel and France traded charges with Egypt over the alleged mistreatment of their respective nationals.

Surviving Dionne Quints Away From Home for Yule

MONTREAL (CP) — The four surviving Dionne quintuplets are planning to spend their second successive Christmas away from the family home in Callander, Ont.

Marie, owner of a prospering flower shop here, said she and her three sisters probably will spend Christmas in her mid-town Montreal apartment simply because they will not have enough time left to go home. However, she added, they hope to manage a short visit to Callander sometime during the holidays.

A family rift developed a year ago when the quints remained away from home at Christmas. Subsequently the girl made a trip home and the family kissed and made up.

Yvonne and Cecile are nursing-in-training at Notre-Dame-de-Perpetual Hospital in Montreal. Annette is a music student at a Nicolet, Que., convent. The fifth quint, Emilie, died during an epileptic seizure in August, 1954.

Marie said in an interview she expects to close her shop for a few days right after Christmas, and may get home for a short time then, when Yvonne and Cecile are also to have free time.

Last year when the quints remained here for Christmas their father said they had been "influenced by intruders" to shift away from the rest of the family.

The quints came into a $1,000,000 inheritance on their 21st birthday in May, 1955, and their father gave this as one reason for their growing independence.

Marie said the four quints were reported to have settled a substantial part of their trust fund on their parents, as a final healing of the breach.

Their financial adviser, L. M. Edwards of Guaranty Trust, Montreal, said Tuesday the girls would say the girls are still intent on keeping their estate free from parental influence.

Marie opened her Emilie Flower Shop, named for the fifth quint, last May, and is reported "doing a thriving business."

A few months ago was said to have caused little harm, since the shop was not open then. This week it was bright with an array of lighted Christmas trees, and Christmas candles in flowery holders.

Next spring the other surviving quints must decide their future. Annette will then be graduated by four-year music teacher's course, and Yvonne and Cecile expect to graduate as nurses.

TREASON TRIAL OF 151 OPENS IN SOUTH AFRICA

Crowd of 5,000 Sings 'Let Africa Come Back'

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Five thousand persons today sang hymns and anthems as 151 South Africans of various races were taken into a makeshift courtroom to face treason charges.

The prisoners—100 Africans, 23 Europeans, 20 Indians and eight persons of mixed blood — sang Mayi buyi Afrika (let Africa come back) as they were brought to the army drill hall in closed trucks.

The crowd took up the song and added hymns and anthems, including the African national anthem.

The court adjourned until Thursday after several of the accused complained that they could not hear what was going on. Defence lawyers said some of the accused could not understand English and did not have interpreters. The magistrate ordered headphones to be installed and separate accommodations set aside for nearer to the police cells.

LIKE CHUCH SERRVICE

Outside the courtroom it was like a huge open-air church service.

A motorcycle policeman had to drive through the crowd to make way for the prisoners. They were taken into the courtroom in groups of 20 for a preliminary hearing.

Police plucked one of the accusers from the crowd and charged him with treason. He was Mosiuoa Lerotholi Gregory Jr., whom a warrant previously had been issued.

The defendants include a white member of Parliament, several ministers of religion, lawyers and a university professor. The MP, Leo Lawrence Marquard, represents African interests for the Cape Western region.

LAWYERS' GROUP

The International Lawyers Organization, which sent observers to the Reichstag fire trial in Nazi Germany, is attending the hearing, expected to last until the New Year.

Leading personalities, including the Anglican Archbishop of Capetown, have sponsored a fund to help the accused.

The accused include Rev. Douglas Thompson, president of the South African Peace Council, Fred Carneson, a former member of Cape Provincial Parliament, several prominent members of the Indian Congress of South Africa, Prof. K. Mathews, acting principal of Fort Hare African University College, and former Zulu chief Albert Luthuli, presidential general of the African National Congress.

Pope Will Speak At 5 a.m. Sunday

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican press office announced today that Pope Pius will begin delivering his annual Christmas message to the world Sunday at 5 a.m. (noon CST, 1 p.m. EST).

His address is expected to last about 15 minutes. Translations of the address will be banned later by Vatican radio in 30 languages to countries everywhere.

Canadians Spending up to 12 P.C. More on Christmas Gifts This Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Merchants across the country report that Canadians are spending 10 to 12 per cent more on Christmas gifts this year.

"The public is in a buying spree," said an official of the Retail Merchants' Association in Winnipeg.

"Volume Jim's as far ahead of last year as was expected a while back, but there's little doubt this will still be the biggest Christmas for retail sales," said a retailer in Vancouver.

"It seems as though people have a bit more money to spend this year," reported an Edmonton merchant.

"An estimate of 10 per cent for this year's increase would be on the conservative side and the really heavy shopping period is ahead," declared a department store official in St. John's, Nfld.

"Our Christmas sales in October are even higher than the seven per cent increase enjoyed by all merchandising this year," said a sales executive of a Canada-wide department store chain.

RCAF Will Train 360 West Germans To Man Aircraft

3,000 Will Work Two Years To Fill $75,000,000 Order

OTTAWA (CP) — The government announced today sale to West Germany of 225 Sabre jets and said the RCAF will train 360 German aircrew in Canada to man the aircraft.

Trade Minister Howe said in a statement West Germany will pay more than $75,000,000 for the aircraft and spare parts which will be produced by Canadair Limited, Montreal. The job will provide employment for more than 3,000 persons for two years.

This will be the first time that German aircrew have been trained in Canada. The Germans are expected to start training sometime in 1957 and it is expected training will be completed by about April, 1959.

Mr. Howe said the aircraft and spare parts are required "by the Germans to fulfill their obligations as full partners in NATO."

Last July Canada made a gift of 75 Sabres and spare parts to West Germany. This gift, valued at about $35,000,000 was sent under the mutual aid program of the NATO partners in Europe.

West Germany entered the North Atlantic Treaty Organization last year and has been authorized to build a 1,350-plane air force. By comparison, strength of the RCAF is some 3,000 planes at all types.

The Sabres being bought are Mark VI powered by Orenda jet engines and capable of sub-sonic speeds up to about 650 miles an hour.

The defendants include a white member of Parliament, several ministers of religion, lawyers and a university professor. The MP, Leo Lawrence Marquard, represents African interests for the Cape Western region.

Decide Against Eye Operation For Montreal Boy

MONTREAL (CP) — Doctors have decided to postpone indefinitely an operation on a 15-year-old boy waiting at the Montreal General Hospital for sight restoration by the transplant of eyes from a dead person.

A spokesman for the Montreal General Hospital said doctors have examined Jean - Paul Del Biondo and have found that his condition makes an operation inadvisable at this time.

Del Biondo entered hospital Monday after a dying person bequeathed his eyes for corneal transplants. In the operation, doctors were to have replaced a part of the cornea in one of Jean-Paul's eyes in an effort to restore his vision.

The person who made the bequest still hovered near death today.

It was not immediately known whether some one else will be found to receive Del Biondo's place. The hospital has a list of persons who might have their sight restored through a transplant operation.

McLaren Says Promise of Job Not Carried Out

TORONTO (CP) — Joseph McLaren, 60, who said in October that he was dismissed after charging that a construction company was trying to do substandard work on Highway 401 near Belleville, said today a government promise that he would get his job back has not been carried out.

The Ontario highways department, however, denied his statement, and said that it was Mr. McLaren's own fault if he was not back at work.

Mr. McLaren left his job as a department inspector on the construction job here before he made his charges. He said he was dismissed, but the department said he had resigned.

His charges, against the H. J. McQuarrie Construction Company were investigated by a private consultant who found the company's work comparable with most construction firms in the province.

When the report was made public in Toronto Monday Premier Frost and the firm—R. Moat and Company—immediately declared it bunkum.

Warrants have been issued for the arrest of two men, both in their early 20s. A third and older man is believed by police to be implicated.

Car Agency Partners Look Forward To Successful Business Life In Belleville

"One of the most important factors of a successful automobile agency is the ability to estimate the value of trade-ins correctly within 5,000 miles for cars up to three years of age without looking at the speedometer.

"In most cases a visual appearance is almost as accurate as a mechanical examination. Cars with a good appearance are likely to be well preserved mechanically."

These secrets of the trade were revealed by Herb C. Hanley, new co-owner and general manager of Hanley-Coleman Ltd., successor to the Belleville Motor Car Company, Ltd.

Mr. Hanley has spent most of his business life in the motor car field in various capacities.

A native of Ottawa, he was reared, known there in sales and promotional work. He came to Belleville in 1954 as manager of Elliott Motors.

Mr. Hanley with Don. C. Coleman, recently bought the Mercury-Lincoln-Meteor dealership from Belleville Motors.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanley live at 152 Dufferin Ave., living with their two daughters, Aila, who is employed by Lattimer's Drug Store, Dayna, attending Queen Elizabeth School and Bobbie, five.

SON JOINS STAFF

Mr. Hanley's elder son, Barrie, has been employed for three years, several years sales experience in Ottawa. In an active partner in the Hanley-Coleman sales staff. He and his wife, Joanne, live at 19 Coldlake with their two-year-old son, Peter.

Mr. Hanley obviously loves his work. When asked to name his favorite hobby he replied, "my favorite hobbies are selling cars and being with my family. Both Barrie and myself are interested in horses and I hope the opportunity to enjoy this hobby will present itself again."

Mr. Hanley is a member of the Belleville Club. His summer recreation is golf.

Mr. Hanley is proud to be associated with Don Coleman who was well known here in the automotive business for three years prior to becoming comptroller of Belleville Motors and who has established a fine reputation in business management.

Mr. Hanley, in commenting on the new business, said, "Don and I look forward with great satisfaction to a very successful business operation, well aware that ultimate success is based on complete customer satisfaction at all times. We believe in an efficiency process of conving criticism, sincere or otherwise."

In giving an impression of his adopted city, Mr. Hastey said that, "Although my family and I have only been here a short time we could not expect to enjoy a city and its people more than we do."

The progress made by manufacturers in the automotive industry in improving motor cars is a never ending source of wonder to even this experienced critic. Mr. Hanley believes that in all the cars he has introduced throughout the years, the 1957 Meteors, Mercurys and Lincoln are the most exciting models he has ever had to offer the public.

NATIVE OF TORONTO

Don Coleman's career affords an example of the progress achieved by ability and application. Born in Scarboro, with a junior matric from a high school in Toronto where he has lived most of his life, he joined the RCAF. Following the war, he went back to school for his senior matriculation for continuation of studies for a BA according degree. Finding the living expenses allotted by the government insufficient to support his family, Mr. Coleman joined a Toronto industrial sales agency working all day in the accounting department at the same time carrying on correspondence studies on this subject in the evenings.

A participant in most sports, Mr. Coleman continued this interest after finishing. Elliott Motors here as an accountant in 1952. He played in the softball league and later coached a pee wee hardball team. His favorite recreations are bowling and golf. At the latter sport he admits a beginner's score but regards this summer pastime as ideal for relaxation and pleasant business contacts.

Mr. Coleman, who has been living at Islington since returning to Toronto from Belleville, in 1955, has always lived and worked in the suburbs. He likes the living conditions of smaller communities. His wife Elizabeth is interested in oil painting and music and is looking forward to taking up the latter seriously.

The eldest of the three Coleman children, Ann, 13 will be looking for a new school in a district as yet unknown pending location of a home. The younger students are planning to rent or buy. Bruce, 8, and Catherine, 3, await that pleasure.

PLOTTERS ARRESTED

HAVANA (AP)—About 50 persons accused of plotting an attack on a Cuban army barracks were arrested Tuesday in Camaguey, 329 miles southeast of Havana. Police said the group—many of them minors—were followers of the exiled student leader, Fidel Castro, accused of waging unsuccessful rebellion early this month.

Harry Trepanier New Agent for Goodyear Tires

Harry Trepanier, operator of the Trepanier Tire Tread Company, 2 Dundas Street East, has completed the distributing agency for Goodyear tires in the Belleville marketing area, it has been announced.

HARRY TREPANIER

Mr. Trepanier takes over the distributing agency from Cliff Tires. He assumed the Goodyear agency on December 1st.

The new Belleville area distributing agent is not Goodyear's first experience in the tire sales and tire repair fields and holds the exclusive franchise for Hastings and Prince Edward area for the Jackhammer method of tire treading. He will continue his business at his present Dundas street location.

A native of Ottawa, Mr. Trepanier came to school in the capital city and came to Belleville, 16 years ago from Timmins, where he was sales manager for Imperial Machine Company branch. He left this position to start business when he came to the city.

As agent for Goodyear Mr. Trepanier will handle tires primarily but will also be agent for other Goodyear rubber products.

The well known Trepanier service giving complete servicing of all types of tires, including the "off the road" construction type tires, will be continued. The shop is equipped to give repair and tread service for any size or type of tire.

Since coming to Belleville Mr. Trepanier has been an active member of the Kiwanis club and is a former director of the organization. He is also a member of the Belleville Club.

Kiwanians Bid New President Bud Punchard Hearty Welcome

Last night Belleville Kiwanians met at the Kiwanis Centre on Dundas Street East, to say good-bye to their 1956 president, Ted Dryedale, and to bid their 1957 president, "Bud" Punchard, a hearty welcome, and also to meet new chairmen and committees scheduled to take over the reins as the year 1957 rolls in. A delicious turkey dinner was served before the business meeting got underway.

After dinner President Dryedale expressed thanks to club members for their support during the year and said: "The support you put out this year was more than any president could expect. I hope you will give your president-elect, "Bud" Punchard, the same support you gave me."

The retiring president said that any club is only as live as its club members make it. "You won't get anything out of this club unless you put something into it. Don't rely on other fellow to do the work—do everything you can to follow the suggestions and instructions of the new committee heads. I am honored to have been the president of a club with such fine fellows in it, and I will always have that feeling," he said.

Bill Slade, vice-chairman of the ways and means committee, introduced the incoming guest, Dr. M. Parker, of Trenton, who is the newly-elected lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis district. In his introduction Mr. Slade said that in 1951 the Belleville club organized the Trenton Kiwanis club, but would not have made its swift progress were it not for the leadership and drive of Mr. Parker. Getting Ted Parker interested in Kiwanis activities, then inducing him to our club was one of the finest moves we ever made, said Mr. Slade, "and I believe the Trenton club was formed mainly because Ted thought we had to come over to one or two of our outings."

Lieutenant Governor Parker is a past president of the Trenton Kiwanis Club, the vice-president of the Belleville Golf and Country Club and the managing director of Morton-Parker Ltd., Trenton.

In concluding his introduction Mr. Slade said: "Lieutenant Governor Ted will do one of the best jobs ever done in this district by a lieutenant governor."

OUTLINES OBJECTIVES

Lieutenant Governor Ted Parker took the defensive when he held the floor and said: "Had I known I was in the Kiwanis club I would have been in Trenton anyway."

The guest of honor then outlined the 1957 objectives of Kiwanis International. He said the purpose of Kiwanis International still clings to its six primary objectives: to give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than to the material values in the life of individuals and the daily living of the Golden Rule in all human relationships; to promote the extension and the application of higher social, business and professional standards; to develop, by precept and example, a more intelligent, aggressive and conservative citizenship; to provide, through Kiwanis clubs, a practical means to form enduring friendships, to render altruistic service and to build better communities, and finally to cooperate in creating and maintaining that sound understanding and good will. I urge you all to try and live up to these objectives."

The lieutenant governor said he would like to see a net increase of four new members in each club in his district next year and suggested the formation of a child Key Club in Belleville. One of the more important tasks facing Belleville Kiwanis club in 1957 will be the building of new clubs in District 6A. Mr. Parker suggested Bancroft as being a likely place to start another Kiwanis club.

In conclusion Lieutenant Governor Ted Parker outlined the objectives of Kiwanis during the strict and local levels. "I urge you all to take aggressive steps to honor and sustain the home, church, school and intensify constructive services, especially by Key Clubs and Circle "K" clubs. I am personally prepared like to see two Circle "K" clubs formed in Belleville and a Key Club in Trenton.

"I urge you all to promote the acceptance of personal leadership responsibility toward public office and government; sound community development, and the need for our mutual defence.

PRAY FOR WORLD PEACE

"I ask a moment of meditation our nation by conservation of natural resources, better urban-rural relations and the success of Farm-City Week. Also I would ask you to sponsor safe-driver safety planning and co-operate with accident prevention agencies as you have in the past. Support recreational and cultural programs for the ever-increasing number of senior citizens and the use of their talents and abilities. You should emphasize stimulating public understanding of the mental illness problem and advocate adequate care, treatment and professional treatment. I would ask you to perpetuate the friendly relations between Canada and the United States through better understanding of mutual problems. Support UNESCO and the U.N. and pray for world peace and support those services of the United Nations which promote discussion and reconciliation of differences and tolerance."

President-elect Bud Punchard said, "Mr. Kiwanis has given up of busy people and busy people are usually happier when they have a busy schedule to fill. I need your support for 1957."

The new president stressed the importance of inter-clubbing and suggested at least two inter-clubs be held each month. He urged full attendance record be improved during 1957 and the Belleville club is in the number of members who keep up their attendance and help out in club projects." Mr. Punchard said all major committees should have a meeting every month whether or not they have any problem to discuss or any new ideas. He also said he would like to see written minutes kept of every meeting and more arrangements made for informal social meetings. Mr. Punchard pointed out the lieutenant governor's suggestion of increasing club membership by four and the number who might drop out during the year. He emphasized the need for a child welfare chairman in welfare work and said, "Our club is measured by what we do for other people." In conclusion Mr. Punchard said he hoped the enthusiasm that throughout 1957 each will be given three or four meetings for the club to put on a "show" or a program.

The retiring president introduced the new committee chairmen and members of each committee and the new chairmen in turn introduced do his best to maintain the club's outstanding record and keep it standing among other clubs in Belleville.

In 1957 the directors of the Belleville Kiwanis Club will be as follows: Chairman, Ralph Dulmage, Alderman Ralph Graham, Bill Harvey, the Sketch; Don Rose, secretary; George Tripp, The officers will be: president, Bud Punchard; vice-president, At Drydale; secretary, Ted Charlie Lusk; treasurer, Jim Burkett, and auditors Arnold Wollenden and Ken Bowerman.

Vice-president Charlie Lusk is chairman of "Kiwanis Serves Youth," which is divided into five committees: boys' and girls' work, Don Rose and Don Templeman; vocational guidance, Ralph Graham and George Tripp. The officers will be: president, Bud Punchard; vice-president, Charlie Lusk; secretary, Don Rose

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market turned to the upside today in morning trading but the advance was narrow and buying selective.

Base metals was today's best winning section with an index gain of three-quarters of a point. Industrials added more than one-half point but western oils were off more than one-quarter.

Chibougamau Jaculet Mines Ltd. whose stock gained 30 cents to $4.20 Tuesday dipped 35 cents today.

Industrial gains ranged to 4¼ points, led by Toronto Iron Works, but most advances were less than a point.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was barely steady on Grade A large with receipts in excess of a quiet demand. Other grades were firm for a good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, in fibre cases graded: A large 39; A medium 32-33; A small 27-28; B 32-33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 42; A medium 37-38; A small 33-33; B 37-38; C 31.

Butter solids: Canada, first grade, Ontario tenderable 58; non-tenderable 58½; western 58½ (nominal). Trading was extremely light.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

Receipts were 145; calves 65; hogs 240; no sheep and lambs. Carryover from Tuesday 1,200 head.

Prices: good steers 19.50-20.50; medium 16-19; common 12-15; medium heifers 13-16; common 11-13; boner steers and heifers 8-10; medium fed yearlings 17-21; good cows 10.50-11; medium 9-10; common 8-9; canner and cutter 6.

School Board Holds Final Meeting of Year

The Belleville Public School Board wound up its business for 1956, as members convened for their regular November meeting held in the board room Monday evening.

The meeting was a quiet affair with only routine matters coming to the attention of members. Attending the meeting were board chairman G. H. Trill, and members Mrs. Dorothy Tugnett, Bruce Bishop, William Ironside, Lyle Langabeer, Morley Lovelace, Don McKinney, George Olsen, James Ritchie, Dr. J. Russell Scott, Mac Smith and James Ward.

Mrs. Ralph Morden was reappointed as the board's representative to the Bay of Quinte District High School Board for 1957.

The board authorized purchase of an appropriate shield for presentation to the winner of the spelling contest now being conducted in city schools. Home and School Associations are conducting the spelling bee on a province-wide basis; the local winner will go on to compete in the provincial finals.

NO CHARGE FOR SCHOOLS

In response to a enquiry from the city clerk, board members decided that for this year there will be no charge to the city for use of schools as voting booths during the recent municipal election. According to the department regulations the board may charge the city for us of schools for voting.

Winding up the board's business for the year, retiring chairman, Mr. Trill, expressed his pleasure at the co-operation which he had received from members during 1956. He was especially pleased about the work accomplished in renovation and repairs at various schools done under the committee chairmanship of Bruce Bishop.

John C. Farrell Again President Canadian Legion

TRENTON (Special) — John C. Farrell has been returned to the job of president of Trenton Branch 110 of the Canadian Legion for the second term. The five other candidates nominated declined to stand for election Monday night and Mr. Farrell received an acclamation to office.

Results of the election are as follows: president, J. C. Farrell; immediate past president, W. E. Donaldson; first vice-president, H. Ketcheson; second vice-president, O. Smith; treasurer, W. McLaren; secretary, W. Warner; executives, R. Wright, J. Williamson, R. Milligan; trustee for three years to replace retiring trustees Mayor Ross Burtt, Arthur Ray; padre, F.L. C. W. Bryce, No. 6 Repair Depot, RCAF, Trenton.

MANY TOYS REPAIRED

Santa Claus in the person of members of the Trenton Fire Department made sure that Christmas is going to be an extra good one for children in the Trenton area. Between 300 and 400 toys have been repaired and have been turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution. The firemen's toy mending activities increase from year to year since taking on this benevolent work.

HELPING REFUGEES

The Bata Shoe Company and its employees have gone all out to relieve sufferings of Hungarian refugees in Austrian camps.

The company donated 500 pairs of shoes for shipment to the ill-fated people overseas. In addition a three-day blitz for used clothing is underway and receiving will treat success. A clearing depot has been established by the shoelagers and the wearing apparel will be packed and prepared for shipment direct.

11 Cottages At Beach Entered, Two Arrested

TRENTON (Special) — Two young men have been arrested and charged in connection with a series of break-ins in the Cedardale Beach resort area, 10 miles west and south of here.

On Sunday Provincial Police of Brighton began investigating after discovery that Cedardale Lodge and 11 cottages in the vicinity had been entered recently.

Monday police picked-up Floyd Sexsmith, 16, of Carrying Place, and Francis William Mills, 16, of Trenton. After questioning they were formally charged with causing wilful damage to property, and placed in custody to await trial before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in Brighton court on Thursday.

Police, who found no evidence of theft, estimated damage to property in this series of break-ins would amount to more than $350.

Earlier Brighton Provincial Police caught a trio responsible for scores of break-ins and thefts in the Barcoven and Presqu'ile resort areas. Two youths and a juvenile from Brighton township were later convicted on all 128 charges.

Three Houses Being Built for Provincial Police

Building permits for the construction of three residences in the $14,000 - $15,000 class have been taken out in Belleville by the Ontario Department of Public Works, it was learned today from Adam Stalker, city building inspector.

It is understood that on completion the new dwellings, which are of three-bedroom with attached garage design, will be occupied by Ontario Provincial Police personnel. Homes of the same general type have been constructed for police personnel at Kaladar.

The city building inspector said construction was expected to start within the next week. The homes, of brick construction, will be built on province-owned lots on Humewood and Hyde Park Ave. in the Parkwood Heights district.

NO FAMILY MATTER

It is understandable that the delegates who assembled at San Francisco to establish the UN should have been eager to prevent it from meddling in affairs which were none of its business.

It is extremely doubtful, though, whether they foresaw the use to which this provision would be put.

It has been invoked to block concern with affairs which are certainly of international importance.

Russia, for instance, has maintained that events in Hungary are no business of the United Nations, because Russian intervention was requested by the Hungarian government. That puppet regime has taken a similar stand.

The Communists, however, are not the only ones who have leaned heavily on this clause in the charter.

France walked out of the UN when that body voted to consider the unrest in the French colonies in North Africa.

At the other end of that continent, South Africa has insisted on the right to treat its black and colored residents as it wishes, without international interference.

"South Africa," says the Montreal Star, "is rapidly voting itself out of the democratic world. It has virtually voted itself out of the United Nations and will fulfill none of its obligations under the charter. This results from pique. Despite protests, the UN General Assembly on November 15 placed the issues of South African treatment of Indians and the policy of racial segregation on the agenda for discussion at the current session. South Africa has withdrawn all but one of its delegations, who remains with a weakening brief and nothing else. Its excuse for this is the excuse of Hungary and the Soviet Union: that the United Nations is interfering in the domestic affairs of member nations. At home the government persecutes people under the guise of combating Communism; abroad it uses the methods of Communism to escape UN censure."

The Montreal Star declares that "the Union's domestic affairs have come to public notice abroad only when they have touched upon human dignity and freedom." That, perhaps, provides a hint as to the real purpose behind the UN charter. The treatment accorded certain groups of its own nationals by any nation should not be exempt from examination by an international body dedicated to the preservation of peace and the furtherance of justice. The manner in which the Russians treat not only residents of the satellite countries but also their own people; the fact that serfdom still exists in the Arabian peninsula still permit slavery; the persecution of Jews in Egypt and other lands—all these are matters which concern not merely the governments involved and their unfortunate victims but the whole world.

Even if it be maintained that to remove the ban on interference in domestic affairs of a member nation would be dangerous, the UN could attempt to limit the scope of this ban. Such actions as the Russian repression of the Hungarians and the South African treatment of its black and colored people carry a distinct threat to the future peace of the world. Repercussions are certain to be felt far beyond the borders of the lands who regard these events as their "domestic affairs." In such cases, the UN ought to be free to act, even while the present clause remains in the charter. In the case of Hungary and of South Africa, it is doing so, but there ought to be some way to bring the last vestige of hypocritical such protests as those voiced by Russia, satellite Hungary and South Africa.

THE ARABS AND THE JEWS

Thirty-four Christian ministers in the United States have signed an open letter to President Eisenhower urging a United Nations resolution condemning "the recurrence and sharpening of racism" against Jews in Egypt.

Reference to a foot-high corduroy-bound dictionary on a filing cabinet to our right brings reassurance that there is no such word as "racism." The English has no intention of referring to them. They may be found, however, when "the dictionary" is defined more legitimate newcomers to the scene, like "thermonuclear" and "rock-'n-roll," but if there ought to be such a word as "racism" "The Intelligencer" would have it on its onion-skin sheets.

The ministers, though, did have a problem in their search for the right word. They could not say "anti-Semitism," for the Arabs (but not the Egyptian citizens) are also Semites as could hardly be accused of that.

We wonder whether, even if there were such a word as "racism," it would have been the right word under the circumstances. The Jews have long been the people to be based mainly on opposition to Israel, just as their hatred of the British is based on their opposition to British policies in Palestine. The Jews have been gangbusted by Islam down through the centuries, but if the Arabs had matched the Nazis in their persecution of the Jews "the people of the Book" would have disappeared from the Near East many years before the Balfour declaration and a British mandate over Palestine led to the eventual birth of the state of Israel.

In those years when Islam was a power, its followers had a creed which by the standard of the times, was merciful - - - join us, pay tribute or die. In the religious wars which swept the Christian world in those years, the last was often the only alternative offered to heretics.

THE FUTURE

At ten the years seem far ahead
And dreams are merely dreams.
A boy has many miles to tread—
To keep how it seems.
But weeks and months go racing by:
To stay [illegible] none contrives.
But youth is just as quick to fly
And then the man arrives.

The young a little while may
Play romp and dance and sing,
But strength in time will slip away,
For it's a fleeting thing.

But when the eye has dimmed a bit
And legs and arms are weak,
For those who do not choose to quit
There still are goals to seek.

The future waits for those who strive
And failing, try again,
And show the world they're still alive;
No dream they hold in vain.
The glory road is long and steep,
With climbs that test,
But he who can his courage keep
May to the summit get.

Dog's Life Is Good One

By Charles Carey in the Los Angeles Times

There is some doubt about whether man is better or worse off than he was years ago, but not so for dogs.

Reports in the Wall Street Journal, the trade magazines and conversations with economist friends in it clear up the lot of man's best friend was never better.

Pet fanciers in the United States are spending over 10 times more on pets (three billion dollars a year) than 20 years ago, as contrasted to the per capita of spending for humans that has just a little more than doubled during the same period.

In fashionable parts poodles are emerging in their new winter outfits: imported flannel jackets, argyle sweaters, rhinestone collars and alluring perfumes. Taxis and limousines are taking area locals of the dog world to beauty parlors where poodles and their masters are shaped for style.

A pet shop in New York advertises a special line of hats for male and female dogs, and zipper pajamas for poodles are reported to be a favorite.

The nation's food producers are constantly expanding to raise quantity and quality for finicky canine tastes.

In addition to such delicacies as dog candy, has been created for fattening dog biscuits in six flavors —cheese, liver, meat, vegetable, chicken and fish—all but one of the biscuits shaped like the flavor, i.e., fish shaped in the form of a milk bottle, etc.

According to a dog research centre American has year spent more than $275,000,000 for prepared dog foods, rapidly, so may $2,500,000 dogs, an increase of 57 percent over 1950. The research ers estimate that the dog population will be up to 28,000,000 by 1965.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals estimates that the average life of the dog has increased from seven years in 1930 to 12 years in 1956. Part of the reason is diet; part improved medical care.

Dogs are treated for heart trouble, kidney ailments, arthritis, even sickness of the mind by dog "phychiatrists." The latest surgical techniques, antibiotics, hearing aids, eye glasses, health insurance, even happy pills are available to the worthy animal.

And, to crown it, a corporation from the daily grind of pet life, there are dog dude ranches, kennels with swimming pools, canine games and walks in the hills.

Finally, when that day of sorrow comes, dog owners can almost always find a cemetery for their own, with services and endowment for the upkeep of the 2 by 3 foot plots.

As yet there has been no verification of the [illegible] rumors that one of the major political parties is carrying the possibility and advantages of giving dogs the right to vote. The problem doubtless being in determining on which side the dog majority would be and the how to appeal to the underdogs.

Farmer Faces New Problems

Farmer's Advocate

Mechanization has come upon agriculture so rapidly, so suddenly in fact that the average farmer's knowledge of repair requirements and maintenance methods has not kept pace with the constantly growing need.

The mechanical departments of agricultural colleges and schools have graduated many instructors, engineering fledglen in Ontario are providing a highly useful service and the trader organizations of the soil tillage industry are training young people in the maintenance and operation of this power unit.

There is large, however, farmers have equipped themselves with costly and complicated machines and have not yet had time to acquire the necessary mechanical skill to maintain and operate them in the most efficient manner.

More short courses and training centres might well be provided so [illegible] operators and their sons could be built for the slap-bang method of operation to which many of the [illegible] regards new machinery. This heavy, high-powered equipment is a valuable aid if properly operated but if not machinery-minded, a farmer can save himself a lot of worry and trouble by employing a mechanic or engaging a dependable custom operator.

Speed in relation to soil tillage is the important factor that does not receive the attention it deserves. Many a field was left in the spring like that of 1956, but engineers and soil specialists all agree that when soil is worked, the speed should not be in excess of five miles an hour.

Any thoroughly mechanized farm in these times should have a well organized workshop equipped with the necessary tools.

In addition to being a business manager, an animal husbandman, a soil and crop specialist and an expert in the control of all kinds of plant and animal diseases, the farmer must now be a skilful mechanic to as well. In any other industry, with such qualifications, he would be a highly paid, indispensable official.

'Gagging' the Patient

St. Thomas Times-Journal

It is uncanny how often a patient in a hospital will be telling a visitor something he thinks is interesting when a nurse comes along and pops a thermometer into his mouth.

Good Training

In an East London Juvenile Court a magistrate told a 14-year-old son has figured out how many hours, minutes and seconds he has to go before he can legally quit school. That boy may have a future as an efficiency expert.

Britannias Rule Skies

Montreal Gazette

Last week Northeast Airlines, operating out of Boston to Montreal and New York, received permission to operate services to Florida. Immediately following [illegible] appearance of their application for the new services, the airline completed arrangements for purchase of the aircraft they believe are best suited for the new runs.

The aircraft now on order are five Bristol Britannias, which at present market on Front Street in Canada here in Montreal. This is the first Britannia sale in the United States [illegible] already on order by Canadian Pacific Air Lines for its several international services.)

Not a great deal of fuss is being made about this latest U.K. aviation sale in this hemisphere; sale of five British civilian aircraft and turbine engines is becoming commonplace. But it is only 30 months since the first British "breakthrough" in the U.S., when Capitol Airlines ordered 40 Vickers Viscounts from Vickers after seeing In Britain some of the aircraft [illegible] Canada Air Lines and modified for them to North American service standards.

Until that time in 1954 it had been customary for British airplane lines to buy their airplanes in United States. The reverse procedure caused quite a sensation.

The civilian Britannia is a turbo-prop. (A special version of it is being built as a medical for RCAF anti-submarine patrol aircraft). It is large, comfortable, speedy; it can accommodate 82 passengers first-class or 133 in tourist configuration.

It is not quite as fast as the pure jets to come, but is [illegible] eventually to cruise 500 miles an hour and at 20 per cent less cost than pure jets. Being driven by propellers, which can be reversed to act as brakes, it needs only a short runway for landing and on airstrips of conventional size.

All these advantages are important to passenger and operator. But the deciding feature which clinched this particular sale is that the Britannia is available now. "We found ourselves," said the president of Northeast Airlines, "dealing with one of the foremost turbo-prop airliner and finding it available two or three years ahead of any competitive American-made transport." Delivery on the order will begin late next year.

The sensational advantage which Britain gained when the first Comets went into operation more than four years ago [illegible] disappeared in the tragic Comet crashes. But Britain appears to be still forging steadily ahead in the multi-billion dollar world market.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

MONTAIGNE

Montaigne, the famous French essayist, has long been one of my favorite authors. His writings are full of the frankest ever written. When you read his essays you feel that he is telling you of himself in person. Here is a copy of father's library that "it seemed to me that I could not better rest my book, in some former life, so sincerely it spoke to my thought and inclination."

Montaigne's father was a remarkable man and instilled into his son many of the outstanding traits that distinguished him throughout life. The father was known as "the friend of scholars," but it was rare that his son should have a wide acquaintance with the poor and the less distinguished, as he understand all mankind, rich or poor.

In the year 1531, when he was aged thirty-eight, he semi-retired and established himself in all was all there

"castle," where she settled down to write her memoirs and where the story of his life in his inimitable spoonful bits of truth and [illegible] and [illegible] humble as well as from the exalted. It is said of Montaigne that he was "an expert avoider of risk." He would leave his chateau whenever the plague went away, but he was so admired for his honesty and integrity that everybody respected him and caused him no trouble.

Montaigne was a great observer. He loved to study people, but he was also wise in the fact that he was probably most interested in himself. He said: "I study myself. I am immensely interesting to myself. I will write about myself." And he did—also immortality! He died at the age of sixty, after a happy and useful life. He could say to any people came to learn from him to go and buy his book, and he did.

Huge Tanker Passes Test

Winnipeg Tribune

At high tide on a recent morning a ship larger than the Queen Elizabeth slipped through the Golden Gate into San Francisco harbor and dropped four 16-ton anchors. She was a tanker carrying more than 800,000 barrels — 36 million gallons — of crude oil in the 52 compartments in her holds.

This was an experimental supertanker which has just completed a round trip to Sumatra. She was 855 feet long, 125 feet wide, with a draught loaded of 85,500. Her keel dipped 46 feet below the surface of the harbor.

This ship was six times as big as ordinary tankers and would dwarf the giant aircraft carrier, the Forrestal.

The captain reported that the super-tanker had cruised comfortably at 15 knots and handled easily. This was what the builders of the ship wanted to hear. The successful run could be the signal for construction of a fleet of super-tankers of the months ahead.

Such super-tankers would be far too big to go through the Suez Canal or Panama. Those businesses of transporting oil think that the quantity of petroleum products carried and the savings in handling would more than offset the disadvantages of longer ocean routes.

Some even feel that construction and the use of such mammoth tankers could make control of the Suez Canal a more or less academic question.

Did You Ever Chew Wheat

Plain wheat, as it comes from the thresher, is good chewing, provided you are not a dental cripple. Wheat is the best food source of vitamin B complex, and one of the little known an unappreciated functions of vitamin B complex — that is, vitamin B1 (thiamin), vitamin B2 (riboflavin), pyridoxine, folic, calcium pantothenate, and other vitamins — is, in a sense, insulin-like, for it aids the metabolism or utilization of carbohydrate (starch and sugar).

It is for this reason that I have often called vitamin B "poor man's insulin."

I know so authority on diabetes who advises potential or actual diabetes to be sure to get an optimal daily ration of vitamin B, but I don't know why they play the idea down.

If I have learned anything from my study of nutrition it is that most Americans suffer from one or more nutritional deficiencies, particularly vitamin B deficiency, calcium, iodin and vitamin D deficiencies.

Many recognized nutrition authorities, if not authorities on diabetes, seem to agree, or I should say disagree with them, that the almost exclusive use of refined white flour in place of the whole wheat flour our 'ancestors brought home from the gristmill, in the past century, store.

Refined flour is the cause of the increase in one large factor in the causation of diabetes. An equally important factor is the enormous per capita consumption of refined white sugar in America.

Refined flour and white furnish most of the calories in the everyday diet of millions of Americans, young and old, not only contain no vitamins or minerals to speak of, but much refined carbohydrate (starch and sugar) raises the body's requirement of vitamin B.

Thus what little vitamin B the diet supplies is pre-empted by the excess of carbohydrate, and the vitamin B deficiency becomes steadily worse.

In earlier pieces I have described some of the common manifestations of vitamin B deficiency. So, let's keep this day symptomless.

In many homes they fall not, when they put their first measure of plain wheat through the hand or power mill for a batch of wheat cakes or muffins or breakfast cereal or waffles, it proved a red letter day. A new experience in good eating and a considerable gain in health.

If you haven't an old-fashioned hand corn mill to grind or crack the first batch of wheat, names of companies that supply hand or power mills for this purpose can probably be obtained at your hardware store.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In many Canadian cities and towns, there are by-laws requiring the householders to shovel the snow off the public walks in front of their homes. In other cities, where snow is accepted, as the inscrutable policies are, as an "act of God", not much effort is made to remove the snow, even off the main business streets. They just tramp it down, suffer it to good humour, slip, slither and plough through it as part of the price of living Canada.

Living as I do in one of the cities in which the police will call at your door and serve a summons if the public sidewalk—over which they have no proprietorial rights whatever—is not cleared of snow in front of your premises, I have been taking note of the various degrees of efficiency with which the citizens obey the law.

And it is obvious that where the job is done by some member of the family, it is a far flimsier job than if done professionally by an itinerant snow shoveler, whether a teen age boy from the neighborhood, or one of the professional snow men who come up out of the poorer districts of town, the lodging house districts, wherever there is a good fall of snow, and undertake the job for anywhere from fifty cents to a dollar.

You can always spot a home-made job of snow shovelling. It is half-hearted. The concrete is really never cleared, and there is never neatly trimmed. Often, you can perceive that some lazy character has merely shoved the shovel ahead of him and made a ragged path. You can detect the point at which the job was almost given up in disgust. Sometimes the shoveler on our stretch of shovelling his snow, instead of [illegible] out in long sensible and tailors his walks, a moil-it all itinerants.

Once in a very lucky enough to have regular snow shovellers. Ours are the elderly crossing guard who sees the school children safe across our corner. He picks up a little pocket money that way. And like all professional paid jobs, it is workmanlike. But all around us are angry little house husbands who fling the snow indignantly about; or newspaper teenagers who stand resting, most of the time on their shovels, saving their bones on their sleeves, and grousingly heave a half shovelful this way and that way, while constantly peering back at the windows of their homes, hoping for clemency.

LIBERTY IS BEST

All through life, we have these two things to choose, or to make. Most of us would settle to be robot—or at least we think we would. How pleasant if all decisions could be made for us!

But would it be best? Now we are persons; under such circumstances we should be machines, or at best, a superior person than a machine. Is this not the way God made us? Liberty is the decide, even though we make mistakes?

Cost Accountants Meet at Trenton

Last night the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants, Bay of Quinte chapter, met at the Queensway Hotel in Trenton and listened to an address by Mr. T. J. Williams on finance. Mr. Williams has a broad and very intriguing knowledge of the subject. His presentation was provocative as he revealed many unusual facts which few people ever consider. He covered the so called "children's policies" and mentioned facts both pro and con. He talked about group insurance plans, stating that 5,500 firms in Canada have group life policies and pay approximately one half of the premium costs. The employees, of course, pay the other half. These are pure life policies and enjoy the lowest rate of premium. They also accept for insurance those individuals within the group who for medical reasons, could not buy insurance on an individual basis. He pointed out that "pure life insurance" offers only one thing — protection to the beneficiary in the event of death. This, he mentioned, is protection at a price that most can afford to pay.

Mr. Williams followed through on his subject and talked at length on "cash surrender values" and how the actual insurance protection provided by life insurance companies decreases each year in inverse ratio with the increase in "cash surrender value."

Mr. Williams was introduced and thanked by Mr. R. Nicks of Trenton who acted as technical chairman for the evening.

New members and guests present were: Mr. C. White, of W. T. Hawkins Ltd., Mr. Keith Sine of Graham Food Products Ltd., Mr. Chas. S. Battle from Napanee, Mr. James F. Horwood from Point Anne and Mr. Ken Stafford of Public Utilities Commission, Trenton.

Announcement that the next meeting of the Society would be a plant tour at Deloro Stellite Ltd. was made by the chapter chairman Mr. R. J. A. Taylor.

CARDINAL HONORED

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Giovanni Cardinal Mercati, one of the Roman Catholic Church's most famous scholars, was feted Monday on his 90th birthday. Among many messages of greetings that he received was a letter in Latin from Pope Pius praising his work. Cardinal Mercati, librarian of the church for many years, was created a cardinal by Pope Pius XI on June 15, 1936.

It was a well attended meeting and the executive chosen will surely guide the branch through the coming year.

Scotty Broughton acted as chairman for the election, also present were: Deputy District Commander, Len Taylor; zone commander, Bill Bailey and past zone commander Frank Gardiner.

Six new members were welcomed and were initiated by the district Commander, Scotty Broughton. They are: John Dunphy, Richard Williams; R. A. Jenner; Clayton Bowers, Wm. C. Cavell and John R. Welbourn.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Ladies Auxiliary should feel proud of their Christmas party. Santa Claus was more cheery and exuberant than ever and was the focal point of all the kiddies there.

The Legion hall was literally filled to bursting with children who really enjoyed themselves. A lot of work must have been put into the preparations, but the happy faces of the children more than repaid everyone for their efforts.

There are the times when the Auxiliary ladies are appreciated by young and old alike and on behalf of the members, a "thank you" ladies, for a magnificent job well done, is extended; also special thanks to Santa.

ACTRESS DIES

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marion Kerby, 79, retired Broadway actress and a widely known collector and singer of folk music, died Tuesday night. Best remembered for her portrayal of Norman sister in the original Broadway production of Seventh Heaven, she covered the United States, Canada, England, Germany and Holland in ringing tours and had continued to sing until last July.

18 SHIPS AT GODERICH

GODERICH (CP) — The 1956 navigation season for cargo vessels was closed here Monday with the arrival from the Lakehead of the Ontadoc and the Algosteel. It is estimated some 22,000,000 bushels of grain were moved here from Lakehead ports during the season. Nineteen freighters are now moored here for the winter.

U.S. Professor Going Home

MOSCOW (AP)—A map-making expert fired from his teaching job at St. Louis University last Aug. 31 has renounced his United States citizenship in favor of work in Russia.

Tass announced Tuesday Prof. Orest Stephen Maksar, 47, a Ukrainian-born specialist in geodesy and photogrammetry, and his wife headed here from Stockholm at the week end. He entered the U.S. in 1949.

Geodesy is a branch of applied mathematics which determines, by observation and measurement, the exact position of points and areas of large portions of the earth's surface. Photogrammetry is the science of photographic surveying. Both are of special importance in aerial affairs.

A St. Louis University publication of 1955 described Maksar as a onetime mathematics consultant and general physicist on technical staffs of the U.S. Air Force and Army. At the Roman Catholic university, he got the axe 3½ months ago on the ground his teaching—European in method—was unsatisfactory by U.S. standards.

Want Pay Increase

HAMILTON (CP) — Hamilton firemen are demanding pay increases to $82.36 for first class firemen in a shorter work week, and a series of other benefits bringing their incomes into what they called parity with Hamilton policemen.

The demand was made Tuesday to a board of arbitration. The firemen's brief said Hamilton policemen get $76 for a 46-hour week. First class firemen receive $72.44 for a 48 2-3 hour week.

SNORED TOO MUCH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Dunn, 55, was granted a divorce Tuesday after testifying that her husband made her sleep in an unheated attic for 10 years "because I snored." She said her husband wouldn't even leave the door to the attic open because "too much cold air blew down."

Weddings

WILSON—RIQUERO

On Saturday, December 15, a wedding of wide interest was solemnized in St. Andrew's Anglican church, Holanda 151, Santiago, Chile; in a lovely evening ceremony, when Miss Rivera Cortes Riquero, daughter of Gabriel Rivera Riquero, became the bride of Donald Beverly Wilson, B.D., son of Mr. C. Foster Wilson of Stirling, and the late Mrs. Bertha Barlow Wilson. Dr. Raymond Valenzuela officiated.

The bride and bridegroom are returning to Canada via air to spend the Christmas holidays with the bridegroom's father in Stirling, Ontario. After a month's holiday, they will return to Chile, where Mr. Wilson will resume his work with the Students' Christian Movement.

Women Want Coloring Ban On Oleo Removed

TORONTO (CP) — A memorandum requesting the removal of the provincial ban on coloring margarine was presented Monday to Agriculture Minister Goodfellow by Elsie Gregory MacGill, president of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of Ontario.

In presenting the memorandum, Miss MacGill said women had wasted more than 2,500,000 hours coloring the 23,000,000 pounds of margarine produced during the last six months in Ontario. She maintained the time of thousands of gainfully employed women is being wasted in this way.

Christmas Concert

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE

Softly glowing lights, and a sanctuary beautifully adorned with stately, star-tipped evergreens, background for pastel-green wall on which gleamed the graceful scroll, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life;" and over all, the bright star with its silent message, thus the background for the Christmas program held Monday evening in the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle.

Mrs. Fred Fraser, the Sunday School superintendent extended a most cordial welcome to the large audience, and presided over the program which consisted of vocal solos, duets, recitations and skits, presented by the various classes and their members. The highlight of the evening was the nativity pageant, given by the Young People's classes, assisted by the Colonists group of the Pioneer Girls, who rendered the appropriate music, with Miss Irene Atyeo at the piano, (who also presided for the other music enrolled), Mrs. E. Matse directing and Bob Anderson as narrator.

Each number on the program was in reverent honor of the Christ. manchild.

The adult Bible class was represented by its teacher, Mrs. A. Henderson, who spoke briefly on the Christmas tree and its significance.

Following the program, the Reverend Saskville Palmer, pastor of the church presented the attendance prizes to the following pupils: Those with perfect attendance were Ronald Courtyea and Raymond Masse; those with almost perfect attendance, absent one Sunday, or away on holiday, but attending a Sunday School, were: Georgina Whittaker, Ruth Dixon, Patsy Courtyea, Lenore Dixon, Eleanor Millard, Catherine Millard, Earl Millard and Paul Masse. Those absent two Sundays, to whom special prizes were awarded included five little people of one family, Linda Baker, Alfred Baker, Elizabeth Baker, Larry Baker and Kathy Baker.

The decorating committee of young people, who did such a splendid piece of work was in charge of Mrs. R. Anderson and Mr. Douglas Vandervaeter. In charge of the lighting effects, Mr. Wilmor Wright.

The program was as follows: Opening congregational carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful;" opening prayer, Mr. W. Wright; chairman's remarks, Mr. F. Fraser (S.S. superintendent); "Welcome," Charles Crossen; beginner's class song, "Keep Them Ringing;" recitation, "My Speech," Faye Millard; recitation, "His Precious Name," Earl Millard; primary class song, "A Christmas Prayer", (Mrs. Beattie and Mrs. G. Millard's classes); skit, "His Messenger," Mrs. G. Millard's class; junior Sunday School carol, "Our Shepherd;" skit, "Christmas Stockings," directed by Mrs. Anderson; solo, "Twinkling Stars," Larry Baker; skit, "Ask Them," Mrs. Beattie's class (directed by Mrs. Embury); recitation, "Christmas Every Day," Verne Millard; dialogue, "A Better Way," class song, "Peace On Earth," Mrs. Dixon's class; recitation, "When We Make Room for Him," Patsy Kelly of Pioneer Girls; Pioneer Girls song, "No Room For The Baby," (Pilgrim's group); solo, "To Us But Jesus," Eleanor Millard; skit, "Christmas Quizz," Mrs. Anderson's class; song "Glory to God;" skit and class song, "Gifts for the King," Miss D. Atyeo's class; scripture verses, Murray Rees and Stuart Dumpple of D. Vandervaeter's class; dialogue, "The Star," Mrs. H. Millard's class; Bible class, Mrs. Henderson; duet, "There is Room in My Heart," Lenore Dixon and David Benn; junior Sunday School carol, "This is the Time for Singing;" announcements and offering, Rev. S. Palmer; congregational carol, "Angels from the Realms of Glory;" Pageant, "The Promised Saviour," by the Young People's Classes, music by Colonists Group of Pioneer Girls; prayer by Rev. Palmer; prizes; treats.

Treats of apples and generous cellophane bags of assorted candy were presented by the individual teachers to their class members.

SMART CLOTH COAT

By VERA WINSTON

Soft but close-pile, therefore warm wool, coolly interlined does well as a good dressmaker coat for town wear on all but very cold days. It is trimmed with a small but charming rolled collar of natural ranch mink. Sleeves and yoke are cut in one for a soft line. Inverted tucks above the waist are released into unpressed pleats below the self belt. Impressive in its well-bred simplicity!

Since last Saturday's column, we have received several calls asking about the Hungarian relief work. The local Red Cross suggests that contributions be mailed direct to Hungarian Relief Fund, Canadian Red Cross Headquarters, 95 Wellesley St., East, Toronto. We have even had inquiries about the adoption of orphans. These inquiries can be directed to the local organization.

GOING CHRISTMAS SHOPPING?

We started out to do our regular weekly round to pick up shopping news but we soon gave it the go-by. Amidst the confusion of last week gift buying, we decided that retreat was the better part of valor. We just did not have the nerve to bother or worry harassed clerks with our questions about this and that. We asked one patient soul if there was anything new and although the reply was courteous and given with a smile, we realized that our excursion was nothing less than an imposition.

The experience gave T & T pause for thought. It occurred to us that the housewife especially might be wearied of shopping and would find that the reading about it would be simply superfluous.

With one observation T & T will pass the fine art of shopping by until after Christmas. One store we were in was very crowded. Suddenly, we became aware of happy and joyful laughter from two or three different quarters. In the mad rush, we recalled the words of a Hungarian woman on a TV program. When she was asked what impressed her most on her arrival from her grief torn homeland, she answered "The laughter, there is no laughter in Hungary." It was a sobering reminder of all our blessings and the cause for laughter.

The subject of laughter could become an absorbing topic. The other day a father was overheard making this statement: "Sometimes, I feel that I do not laugh enough at home." There was a time when young folk were advised that "The loud laugh bespeaks the vacant mind." Is there the danger that this advice is no longer required because uninhibited and spontaneous laughter is frowned on as being unsophisticated?

Another parent, a mother, expressed her concern not long ago about the fact that so many young people today studiously and consciously shy away from being acknowledged as good students. The mother had been a school teacher, so her observation was a thoughtful and serious one. We wonder if the two observations about academic success and laughter have any relationship, in that it has become unpopular to stand out. Has the follow-the-leader, the group idea, the mass acceptance taken over the attitudes of the young people? If it has, can the blame rest with the example of their elders? Maybe this is a psychological question, but both the father and the mother were very serious.

It will be indeed serious if this is a general trend. Surely good wholesome laughter and self-pride in school are healthy characteristics for both the young and the old. The late Dr. Wm. Temple, former Archbishop of Canterbury and Dr. Albert Schweitzer are two outstanding examples of scholastic attainment yet they stand out for great, booming laughter. We have much to give us cause for laughter in this country and it will be sad and a great loss if "to laugh" becomes unfashionable.

* * *

Before the next column appears, the boys and girls in our schools will be free for fun and games for two weeks. T & T hopes their Christmas holiday is a happy time for them all and we trust they will have cause many times for healthy, happy wholesome laughter.

Parents' Night Held at Cannifton P.S.

The principal and teachers entertained the parents at the Cannifton-Corbyville Public school. Several films were shown. A group of girls from the Intermediate grades sang, "It's Beginning To Look Like Christmas." Mrs. Henderson, the principal, in a brief talk, requested the parents' help in teaching the children the rules for safety on the highway.

After the program, the parents, visited the classrooms, which were beautifully decorated for the holiday season, to view the children's notebooks and other work which were on display, and to confer with the teachers.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

CAN'T YOU REALLY ANSWER YOUR OWN QUESTION?

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I was going steady with a boy I loved very much and we ran away and tried to get married but didn't succeed. Now this boy is in a reformatory.

I still love him, but my friends tell me I'm foolish if I go back with him because of the way he treated me. You see, every time he got mad he'd slap me around, and once he even gave me a bloody nose. Sometimes I thought he'd kill me, the way he beat me.

Could you please tell me whether or not I should go back with him or try to forget him, which I can't do? I go out with other boys, but when I'm with them I feel bored. — B.J.

Dear B.J.: Well, I can understand that if you go out with boys who are just plain nice, normal fellows, after going steady with a guy you thought you'd die if you any minute, life must be very boring indeed. Certainly a date with a man who constantly beat you up could hardly bore a girl.

Frankly, you sound to me like a delinquent who is urgently in need of some discipline and no strait herself. I won't go so far as to say you should be in a reform school, but at least your parents should clamp down on your activities, and hard. Unless you stop short and give yourself a thorough overhauling, you're certainly going to find yourself in some kind of serious trouble before long. Or don't you care?

As for whether or not you should "go back" with this perverted creature, if you can't answer that question for yourself, your parents should keep you locked in the house. It's not safe to let you out alone.

THIS IS EASY, CONNIE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

How can a girl tell a good boy from the other kind?

What I mean is, there is a group of boys who ride around in a car, and one of them sees two or three girls together they stop and ask them if they want to go for a ride. My girl friends and I don't know these boys, but we've seen them riding around and we would like to know if they stopped and asked us to go riding, should we go? —Connie

Dear Connie: There are infinitely better ways of finding out how to tell the difference between the right sort of boys and the other kind than by climbing into a car with fellows you don't know and discovering what they are like by riding around with them.

In other words, if a car should come by, and the boys in it asked some girls on the sidewalk to get in and go for a ride, the girls should walk away, but fast, without even stopping to say no.

See what I mean? And does that answer your question?

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

THIS IS THE TIME, GIRLS, TO ACCENT GLAMOUR!

Illustrated by Mary Dawson Godwin

Can't sleep nights, thinking of the holiday parties ahead? Well, that's okay. It's an exciting season for everyone. But, for beauty's sake, don't get yourself in such a tizzy that you lose some of your precious looks just when you want to look your loveliest best!

Because we know that you don't really want to, here are a few tips that may help you look in top form all through the holiday season:

(1) Don't overdo things. Parties are fun, but you can't dash off to one every night of the week and keep glamorous. Lack of sleep will give you dark circles under your eyes and dim your sparkling complexion. Do all the dashing about you wish, b'it be sure you get your beauty sleep.

2. Don't eat all the holiday fare that will be served your way. Fruit cakes, candies and all kinds of goodies go along with the merry season. Better pass some of the treats up or your Christmas stocking won't be the only thing that's bulging.

To look your prettiest for this party time, we're a few more suggestions:

1. Use the glamour cosmetics—eyebrow pencil, eye shadow, glitter hair spray that streaks look silver or gold.

2. Don't forget fragrance. It's the finishing touch every gala occasion outfit needs.

3. Be sure to have attractive make-up accessories—a shiny compact, glittering lipstick case, a small but elegant little bag to hold them in.

4. Be a bit daring about dress. Get out your fancy costume jewelry. Now's the time to dazzle the crowd!

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

TODAY'S COURTEST TIP . . . REPLY PROMPTLY TO HOLIDAY INVITATIONS

In these pre-holiday days you'll be receiving invitations to parties to be given during the holidays. Do be polite and reply to these invitations at once. Make this your special rule-of-courtesy. And of course a prompt reply is particularly important when the number of guests is a consideration — a dinner or luncheon, for example, or a buffet party, or a bridge or other game party. Don't make the excuse to yourself that you're too busy to answer an invitation . . . pleasantly keep in mind that your hostess wasn't too busy to give a holiday party and that she wasn't too busy to invite you!

THAT NAME TO GIVE TO THESE HOLIDAY PARTS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman;

My husband and I would like to give some kind of informal late-afternoon party during the holidays. And we're not sure what to call it. Actually we'd like the words "Open House," but since we've been in our new house only six months, we're rather afraid that "Open House' (which is sometimes used between intimates of "Housewarming") might be construed to mean a housewarming-with-presents. This we don't want in any possible way to suggest, as we want to do the giving. What do you suggest as a name for our party? — E.C.

First I do agree with you that under the circumstances, there simply would be some justification that some guests might interpret "Open House" to mean a housewarming party, and so might feel that they should come bearing gifts for the new house. If your party is to be given on the afternoon of New Year's Day you might call it "New Year's Day Party." Or if you wish to feature eggnog, simply write "Eggnog" on the invitations.

Today there is an inclination, a very simple and pleasant inclination, I think, to invite to a "Party." For example, "Come to a Party at our house on—etc.": or "We're giving a Party at our house on—and you and Jim will make us happy if you will come!"

CHRISTMAS CANDLES . . . TO "GIVE A LOVELY LIGHT"

Christmas time is a time for shining thoughts. A time for radiance and for the gentle grace and charm of candlelight. So let's light candles! "Light a candle," the Bible tells us, "put it on a candlestick, and it giveth light unto all that are in the house."

Recipes for Yesterday's Christmas Menu Suggestions

By Mary Moore

Thinking about how I'm going to concoct recipes and what serving dishes I will use is part of the fun of planning a big event like Christmas dinner.

So that we all might have the pleasure of anticipating together I listed my ideas of an exciting 1956 Christmas dinner yesterday.

Today I am adding Cranberry Jelly, Tomato Aspic Mold, White Plum Pudding.

CRANBERRY JELLY

Four cups washed and picked over raw cranberries, 1 cup water, 3 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons plain gelatine, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Soak gelatine in lemon juice. To the cranberries add the water and cook until soft—very soft. Press through sieve, forcing through as much of the pulp as possible. Add the soaked gelatine and the sugar and stir until both are dissolved. Pour into moistened mold or individual molds in chill until set.

TOMATO ASPIC MOLD WITH AVOCADO

Prepare the avocado first. The shapes you cut it in depend on your mold. If it is a melon mold cut the avocado in thin lengthwise crescents; ring mold—crosswise rings cut into half moons; square or oblong mold—cut into dice; fluted mold with ball bottom or round bowl—balls or rings. Soak the prepared avocado in 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, and a sprinkling of salt and pepper while you prepare the Tomato Aspic: 2 tablespoons plain gelatin, 1-3 cup cold water, 3 1-2 cups tomato juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 slices onion, 1 whole clove, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 2 teaspoons sugar, bay leaf if optional. Soak gelatine in cold water. And all flavorings to half of the tomato juice and simmed gently until onion is limp. Stir into gelatine until it is dissolved. Add left over juiced tablespoons shredded blanched almonds if desired). Stir into remainder and chill until set. This may be made 24 hours in advance.

WHITE PLUM PUDDING

Measure 2 cups stirred flour and reserve some for dredging fruit. Sift the remainder with 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon each cinnamon and nutmeg. Cut in 1-3 cup shortening with pastry blender then add 1-3 cup sugar. Beat three eggs lightly and add 1-3 cup milk. Stir quickly into dry fugredients. Dredge with flour 1 cup sultana raisins, 1-4 cup mixed chopped citron and orange peel, 2 tablespoons shredded candied pineapple (and 4 almonds if desired). Stir into better. Turn into greased mold. Cover tightly and steam 3 1-2 hours. Turn out and serve with Delicats or Hard Sauce (see sauce is set over avocado, pour in all of recipes tomorrow).

Hobby Girls Entertained at Christmas Party

On Saturday, 15 teenagers from the Hobby Girls' class which meet regularly in the Wesleyan Methodist Church, gathered at the home of Miss Carol Woods, Bridge St. East, for their Christmas party.

The reception room was gaily decorated with holly, bells and a nativity scene. The Christmas tree was beautiful with its colored lights and the gifts which were exchanged later.

An attractive flower ensemble was presented to the Hobby teacher, Miss Daniella Day, by Carol Woods. Miss Mary Spearman presented a personal gift to Miss Grace Veley, the assistant, expressing best wishes from the members.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing a variety of games interspersed with the singing of familiar carols.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served including a birthday cake representing the birthday of the Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, which the world commemorates at this time.

Thanks were expressed to the hostess and her mother by Miss Day.

PIONEER BEVERAGE

A favorite backwoods tea in early days was made by steeping birch leaves and twigs, and the bark of roots, in hot water.

Many Purpose Blouse

By TRACY ADRIAN

Pure silk matte jersey is the featured fabric used for this versatile wrapped blouse with the many purpose life. It's the type of topper that would be a welcomed holiday gift too.

The blouse can be worn above an important evening skirt or with a favorite suit, or at home with a pair of lounging slacks. An inner elasticized waistband keeps it all in place and the classic three-quarter sleeves, and V neck give it the latest lines.

V.O.N. Presents Nov. Report

The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses was held in the YMCA on Monday evening with the president, Mr. H. A. Parker in the chair.

Miss Bessie Seaman, a VON regional director, who is visiting the Belleville branch of the Victorian Order this week, was present at the meeting.

NOVEMBER REPORT

The nurses' report for November showed that 393 home visits were made to 70 patients. Three hundred and thirty-seven or 86 per cent of the total visits were nursing cares, and the remaining 56 visits were health instructive visits to mothers and babies.

Thirty-four hours were spent in special activities which consisted of four half days at Holy Rosary school, three half days at Cannifton-Corbyville school, and assisting the Belleville Department of Health at four Child Health Conferences.

On November 5th and 28th, a nurse, assisted Dr. J. N. Hart and Dr. J. D. Empson at a polio inoculation clinic, held at Holy Rosary and Cannifton-Corbyville schools.

Women's Institute

QUINTE W.I.

The Quinte Women's Institute held its December meeting in Shannonville United Church hall with a good attendance.

A report of the euchre party in November at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cora Howard, also the treasurer's report, was given.

Thank-you cards were read from sick members, also a letter from Mrs. Roy Brickman thanking the Institute for their decorating and flowers at the Collegiate for the convention. A letter was also read from the Salvation Army.

Mrs. H. Grills and Mrs. A. Greatrix, delegates to the convention, gave a report for the two days.

Mrs. Robert Atkins had charge of the program: a piano solo, "Joy To The World," by Mrs. J. Parrott and her mother, Mrs. F. Robinson; Mrs. R. Atkins gave the motto, "I will honor Christmas in my heart, and try to keep it through the year;" an accordion solo by Mrs. M. Mitchell.

Mrs. Insley read verses from different chapters of the Bible, each group was followed by carol singing. A reading, "Shows The Winters Wind," was read by Mrs. A. Greatrix; a duet by Mrs. Hinchey and Miss Blatherwick, with Mrs. Parrott at the piano; Mrs. M. Mitchell again favored another selection on her accordion; Mrs. C. Wood gave an interesting story "The Road to Bethlehem"; Mrs. Insley sang, "Star of the East," followed by carols, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," and "The First Noel."

Mrs. D. Atkins acted as Santa Claus and handed out the gifts to each member present.

Mrs. R. Atkins thanked each one who had helped with the program and invited everyone to stay for a cup of tea.

The president closed the meeting, thanking the hostess and her group. Refreshments, provided by Mrs. K. Vivian and her group were enjoyed.

Cannifton W.A. Elects Officers For 1957

The regular monthly dinner meeting was held in the Sunday school rooms, Wednesday, in charge of Mrs. G. Lywood and Mrs. F. Putman and their assistants.

The long tables, with white tablecloths centred with small evergreen trees, candy trees and colored balls, looked most attractive and festive.

A large number was present and a delicious meal was served.

At two o'clock the president, Mrs. D. Brenton, opened the meeting, with all reading the Christmas story from Luke 11. Mrs. Brenton gave a reading on "Christmas" and said, "Christmas was for grown-ups too, because we should always remember it is more blessed to give than to receive."

Mrs. Cole gave a short history of the WA saying it started from a Red Cross branch in 1945, after the war.

The treasurer's and secretary's reports were read. The treasurer reported a successful and busy year; the president reported every article sold from the recent bazaar.

Two ladies were appointed to look after the needy and shut-in for Christmas cheer.

At this point, Mrs. D. Brenton, retiring president, thanked all the ladies for their help during her terms of office and how much she had enjoyed the work. She expressed good wishes to the incoming president and officers.

Mrs. H. Empson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Brenton for her untiring efforts in the interests of the society. This was seconded by Mrs. Billings Steele.

After discussions on many matters to come before the group, Mrs. McCrae took charge of the election of officers for 1957 which was as follows: president, Mrs. A. Boyd for two years; 1st vice-president, office left open; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. W. Brenton; treasurer, Mrs. A. Holgate; secretary, Mrs. F. Furmidge; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. Farnsworth; press reporter, Mrs. F. Furmidge; pianist, Mrs. H. Empson; supply secretary, Mrs. W. Brenton, assistant, Mrs. T. Howard; devotional, Mrs. C. Bird and Mrs. McCrae; sewing committee, Mrs. D. Brenton, convener and assistants; flower committee, Mrs. O. Roblin and Mrs. Bedell; decorating committee, Mrs. C. Ellsworth, Mrs. D. Milner, Mrs. E. Anderson, Mrs. T. Howard; auditors, Mrs. R. Pound and Mrs. McCrea; kitchen committee, Mrs. G. Lywood and Mrs. D. Brenton; silverware, Mrs. T. Howard; quilling, Mrs. Cole, Mrs. R. Peacock, Mrs. A. Holgate, Mrs. H. Empson and Mrs. T. Howard.

Mrs. Boyd thanked all for their confidence in her and said she would give her best. She also expressed her thanks to Mrs. McCrea for so ably conducting the election of officers.

Quilting was the order of the day.

Women's Activities

SHANNONVILLE W.M.S.

The Christmas meeting of the W.M.S. of Shannonville United Church was held in the church hall on Thursday afternoon. The meeting opened by singing "Hark The Herald Angels Sing." The president, Mrs. Charles Wood, welcomed all, and prayer was offered.

Mrs. Sam Elliott, group leader, took charge and all sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and led in a candle-lighting service, assisted by Mesdames Claude Clarke, Will Ross, George Osborne, and Everett Stratton.

A poster with three panels in the shape of church windows with figures in white on a blue background depicted the Nativity scene with Joseph and Mary, the baby Jesus on the centre panel. On the two others, one showed the Shepherds and the wise men with their camels and gifts. In front of the poster on a white-covered table many candles were lighted by Mrs. Elliott and her assistants. All the candles were white in crystal and silver holders and made a festive setting for the meeting. They were let glowing until after refreshments.

Mrs. Damon Hagerty, W.M.S. pianist, accompanied for all hymns and carols used in the program.

Mrs. Wood thanked Mrs. Elliott and her group for the fine devotional and took charge of the business. The roll was called by the secretary who also gave the minutes of the last meeting which were adopted as read.

A note of thanks was read from Mrs. Earle Vivian for a card of sympathy in the bereavement in the death of a sister, Mrs. Hogerward also lost a father and brother-in-law this year. A letter was read from Mrs. Brown of Trenton, presbyterial supply secretary. Mrs. Charles Kierl read the card and flower report sent in by Mrs. Russel Wescott showing many cards and flowers sent during the year. Mrs. E. Stratton, treasurer, reported allocation raised and met for 1956.

Mrs. Stratton gave the report of the nominating committee with the list of officers for 1957. Offerings were dedicated with prayer by the president.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Elliott and her group.

Mrs. Hogerward invited the January meeting to the parsonage; which invitation was gratefully accepted.

TEMPTING HATS

EDMONTON (CP) — A woman pleading guilty to theft of hats here was fined $20 and costs. Police said a new tenant moving into an apartment house temporarily put a box containing the hats into an automatic elevator. Someone summoned the elevator to an upper floor, where the hats disappeared.

Women's Institute

REDNERSVILLE W.I.

The home of Mrs. Clarence Vanclief was gay with Christmas decorations for the December meeting of Rednerville Women's Institute. As the members arrived they placed their exchange gifts under the beautifully-decorated, lighted tree, and their white gifts for the Children's Aid were piled in boxes.

The president, Mrs. Hugh Russell, was in charge.

There were 31 members and three visitors present.

The usual reports were read, and messages of thanks from several members who had been remembered during recent illnesses.

Several items of business were discussed. The secretary, Mrs. Donald Spencer, is to forward the money received from the three schools which have completed their canvass for the Blind, and the remainder will be sent later. A euchre at Dawson's Hill was planned for January 9th.

Mrs. Harmon Montgomery took charge of a Christmas program. Several more carols were sung. The following Christmas readings were given: "Let's Keep Christmas," by Mrs. Bey Brieksman"; "Christmas Gift Giving in Many Lands," Mrs. Hugh Russell"; "Our Christmas Message," by Mrs. Floyd Carter; "A Bad Year at the North Pole," by Mrs. Hugh Weese; and "Miss Prim's Christmas Shopping," by Mrs. Harmon Montgomery.

The younger son of the house, Lyle Vanclief, acted as Santa Claus to distribute the exchange gifts.

Mrs. D. K. Redner voiced the thanks of those present to the hostess and those responsible for the program and refreshments.

UNIONDALE W.I.

The December meeting of the Uniondale Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Fleming, 4th concession of Sidney, with 26 members and two visitors. The meeting opened in the usual manner.

A thank-you letter was read from "Save the Children Fund" executive. A 75-pound bale of clothing had been sent from Uniondale Women's Institute members. Cards of thanks were also received from Mrs. C. Holmes, Mrs. L. Rogers, Mrs. H. Morrow, Mrs. Maurice Bird, Mrs. Copeland.

The 1956 committee for Junior Farmers' banquet was returned for 1957 banquet in January. It was decided that $25 be given Mrs. G. Halsall for purchasing needy articles for the Plainfield Home for Retarded Children; $25 was also donated to the Salvation Army along with Christmas gifts for needy children. Captain Bassent of the Salvation Army at Trenton visited the December meeting, and gave an inspiring and thorough talk on the history and splendid work of the Salvation Army. Mr. William Booth was the first man to start the movement and through his great efforts much has been gained. Young and old are taken in. Lodges are kept up for women; young girls are cared for; men and boys also have lodges. Social institutions are kept up for all. Bible studies and the great work with cornet and accordion as well as kindness, love and granted security go with the Salvation Army to make the best for everyone.

Mrs. M. Sine thanked Mr. Bassent for his inspiring address.

Mrs. George Striker gave a demonstration on sauce mix which can be kept in refrigerator for quick and hurried meals. Conveners gave reports on some of the activities.

Thanks for opening her home was voiced by Mrs. Herrington to Mrs. Fleming.

Refreshments were served by December hostesses.

January meeting will be at Mrs. F. Loney's, 4th concession of Sidney.

RAWDON

Mt. Pleasant-Rawdon WMS Holds Christmas Meeting, Elects Officers

RAWDON — The home of Mrs. Gordon Linn was nicely decorated with baskets of poinsettias, glowing red candles, red wreaths and a lighted evergreen tree for the Christmas meeting of Mount Pleasant – Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society on Wednesday. There were 16 members and five visitors in attendance.

The president, Mrs. Milford Wrightman, read a selection entitled "The Love of Christ In Our Hearts," and Mrs. John Holmes officiated at the piano with quiet music. All sang "The Race That Long in Darkness Pined, Have Seen a Glorious Light," followed by prayer.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen presented the report and read the 1957 slate of officers.

Karen Summers gathered the offering which was dedicated with a hymn. Mrs. Ross Jeffs gave the November financial report. Several mite boxes were handed in at this meeting and over $30 was realized.

Mrs. Frank Jeffs read an article written by Nancy Cleaver for the monthly. This was a Christmas story entitled "Ye Are the Light of the World," as told by Olive Yohan Masik, of India, at George Street United Church, Peterborough, two years ago, when she and Dr. Masik were in Canada. The picture was passed around for all to see.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read from "Missionaries Reporting," the story of "Cheer and Comfort," which tells of the work of the missionary for prayer for 1957-58. The Rev. Florence M. Hunter, First United Church, Vancouver, B.C. This gave a vivid description of the visits made to rest homes, nursing homes and senior citizens' homes. She said in part, "Ours is an earnest prayer that we might be guided to lead the conversation in the right direction. These people are lonely and eager for a chat and the presence of a sympathetic listener."

Mrs. Will Potts recorded numerous calls made in homes and hospitals.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver outlined chapter IV of the study, entitled, "Indo China, a Land Divided." Many primitive settlers live in the mountains and these tribes have no system of writing and speak over 100 dialects.

MOST BEAUTIFUL SHRINE

"Angkar Vat" is the most famous and beautiful of Cambodian shrines. It was lost for centuries in the jungle and thus its early history is unknown but it probably dates from the 12th century.

It is now one of the wonders of the world.

Jesuit missionaries won converts as early as the 17th century. Today the Christian and Missionary Alliance has the most extensive work of any Protestant mission group. Part of this country is Communist territory, and no satisfactory arrangements have been made since World War II.

A story was told of the value of a copy of "The New Testament," and its influence in the hands of an educated man.

In Indo China the government does not put barriers in the way of the spread of the gospel but still there is an uneasy peace. Only as that peace can be assured through confidence in the supply of Christ, can it be a foundation for a better world.

The supply secretary told of a letter from Presbyterial asking for felt scraps and other articles.

The Christmas program was in charge of Mrs. Eric Summers and was taken from the outline by Isobel McFadden.

The theme was "His Constant Lamp," and was in the form of candlelighting ceremony. Burma, Korea, Hong Kong, New Guinea, Malaya, and Canada.

The group sang "As With Gladness Men of Old."

Those who assisted the convener were: Mrs. Don Johnson, Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mrs. Will Potts, Mrs. Frank Jeffs and Mrs. Ross Jeffs. This service included a message written by Laurence Housman, part of which was: "So came light and shone, so came peace and gave rest; so came love and brought life, and the word was made flesh and dwelt among us."

Mrs. Carleton Potts and Mrs. Marguerite MacMillen sang "Spirit of Christmas," followed by an appropriate benediction.

Miss Ruth Linn and her mother served light refreshments and were thanked for hospitality.

1957 SLATE OF OFFICERS

President, Mrs. Milford Wrightman (re-elected); past president, Mrs. Frank Jeffs; honorary presidents, Mrs. George Weaver and Mrs. John Holmes; first vice-president ,Mrs. Herbert Smith; second vice-president, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver; recording secretary, Mrs. Percy MacMullen; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Roy Thrasher; treasurer, Mrs. Ross Jeffs; secretary Christian Stewardship, Mrs. W. G. Fletcher; secretary of Mission Band, Mrs. Stanley Williams; assistant, Mrs. Ira David; secretary of Baby Band, Mrs. Ernest Spencer; assistant, Mrs. Harvey Coach; supply secretary, Mrs. Gordon Linn; assistant, Mrs. Roy Thrasher; community friendship secretary, Mrs. Will Potts; literature, "Missionary Monthly" and "World Friends" secretary, Mrs. James Hoard.

Secretary Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Frank Jeffs; press secretary, Mrs. Percy MacMullen; pianist, Mrs. John Holmes; assistant, Mrs. Will Jeffs; mite-box secretaries, Mrs. Ralph Jeffs and Mrs. Ross Jeffs; auditor, Mrs. Raymond McConnell; program committee, Mrs. Kenneth Weaver, Mrs. Grant Hubble and Mrs. Eric Summers; nominating committee for 1957 Miss Ruth Linn, Mrs. Francis Wrightman and Mrs. Blake Sharp.

3rd Hillier

3rd HILLIER — The trustees of Niles Corners school held a school meeting on Wednesday night at Mr. Ross Benway's.

Several of the younger farmers attended the short course at Picton the past week.

The rug, for which tickets were sold at the Christ Church bazaar, was drawn on Saturday night at the card party. Mrs. Will Hardy held the lucky ticket. Mrs. Hardy also had the lucky ticket on the the "dinner", which was drawn at the bazaar. The doll, donated by Mrs. Colin Hardy, was also drawn on Saturday evening. Miss Patsy Kennedy, of Hillier, held the lucky ticket. Five tables were in play at euchre.

Friends and relatives of Ronald Benway are sorry to hear of his accident at Toronto, being knocked down while crossing a street.

Christ Church Guild meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Annie Jones of Hillier, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Merrill McPaul of Bowerman's, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morton, and attended the meeting.

THREE-DAY WEEK

DAGENHAM, England (Reuters)—Workers at the Ford Motor Company plant here and at a number of subsidiary plants will go on a three-day week beginning Dec. 31. This is the latest move by the management to avoid mass layoffs due to a slump in sales due to gasoline rationing.

STIRLING

L.O.B.A. 655 Elects Officers For Ensuing Year

STIRLING—The annual meeting of Stirling L.O.B.A. No. 655 was held and the slate of officers is as follows:

Mitts, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. William McComb and Mrs. Douglas Ackers; auditors, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Louis Rodgers and Mrs. Blanche Reid.

The degree captain, Mrs. Burton Woodbeck, installed the new slate of officers, and each spoke briefly.

At the close of lodge the annual Christmas party was held and refreshments served.

Frankford Reeve Returned for Second Term

FRANKFORD (Special) Reeve H. W. Rose was re-elected for a second term of office as Frankford residents went to the polls Monday to elect a reeve, councillors and hydro commissioner. Mr. Rose defeated former reeve George Spencer 362 to 294.

Three of this year's councillors were also returned to office. Elected were Frank Rabel, 325; Carman Mikel, 327; Fred Conley, 326 and Clarence L. Adams 324. Defeated were Mrs. Mary Stickle, member of this year's council, with 323; Earl Bonisteel 220, George Miller 194; Mrs. Helen Kelly 182; Roy Osterhout 86 and RoyCockwood 64.

Councillors re-elected were F. Rabel, C. Mikel and C. Adams.

The election saw a 50 per cent turnout of voters.

New 750,000-Gallon Water Storage Tank For Public Utilities Commission in Use

Belleville's new 750,000 gallon water storage tank, built during the summer by the public utilities commission, went into use today for the first time, it was stated by Utilities Manager Mr. O. H. Scott.

The shiny new aluminum coated elevated tank built on the site of the former standpipe on Hillcrest Ave., on the highest elevation in the city, has been completed for several weeks but a watermain leak prevented the new tank from going into use until today.

The new 24-inch watermain laid from the corner of John and Victoria Ave., to serve the tank developed leaks at joints and these had to be corrected.

Vital statistics of the new elevated tank which can be seen from almost any part of the city are as follows: Extreme height, 135 feet; bottom level of water, 100 feet; top level of water 125 feet; height of supporting columns, 100 feet; tank diameter 82 feet and overall diameter, including catwalk, slightly over 85 feet.

Cost of the tank was about $225,000.

Weight of the three quarters of a million gallons of water when the tank is full will be 3,750 tons.

START FILLING TANK

Mr. Scott noted that the tank was being disinfected Tuesday and this morning pumps at the filtration plant commenced the job of filling the tank. Filling the tank will not be a continuous job as only the surplus of a specific amount of water pumped for city use will go into the tank.

Because of this it will take possibly several days to completely fill the tank.

The new elevated water storage takes the place of the former pencil like standpipe which held 300,000 gallons but which had a usable capacity of only one-third that amount. Because of increased water usage in the local water area the new storage facility was required.

Huge four foot letters spell out the name "Belleville" on both sides of the huge tank, while a service catwalk encircles the perimeter of the tank. Atop the tank is a red beacon light provided as an aircraft warning signal.

PROTECTED AGAINST CORROSION

Built of steel plate, cut and electrically welded into position, the big tank might ordinarily be subject to corrosion. But engineers have defeated corrosion by protection through a cathodic system.

In every day language this means simply that the big tank is protected from corrosion by a giant sized edition of the magnesium rod system used to protect the ordinary household hot water tank.

Survey of Christmas Shopping Trends in U.S. Shows Optimism

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christmas business," says a big New York retailer, "has been pretty awful, but it's coming to life now."

A leading Washington merchant, who had kept his fingers crossed during most of December, reported a sudden buying spurt last Friday and Saturday followed by "very strong" sales this week.

He says: "We think this shopping season will end up with a bang, not only locally but all over the country."

This sudden switch in retailer sentiment in the United States is disclosed in an Associated Press survey of Christmas shopping trends in 25 major cities. Until last week many merchants were despondent. Now some are beginning to smile again.

"It will be a good Christmas," says a department store executive in Pittsburgh. "Nothing can stop that."

Optimists who figured there might still be a good chance of beating last year's record buying binge are comparing the 1956 shopping pattern with 1951. Then, as now, Christmas came after the fourth weekend in December, creating the illusion in many people's minds that they had more time to shop.

Merchants recall that Christmas sales in 1951 lagged during most of the season but that a sudden surge of buying in the final week swept retailers' shelves clean. There are signs that 1951 may be repeated.

The consensus among American retailers is that Christmas sales will set records, but the gains over 1955 will be slight.

POWER-PACKED PUNCH

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—The International Boxing Club had Genc Fullmer's punching power tested by an engineer Tuesday as he trained for his Jan. 2 middleweight title fight against defending champion Sugar Ray Robinson.

The tests showed Fullmer's right hand punch to the heavy bag traveled at the speed of 30.4 miles per hour and carried a force of 1,269 pounds. The left jab travelled 17 miles per hour and had a force of 1,025 pounds.

Price of Steel Likely to Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Pressure is building up in the United States for an increase in the price of steel, says Iron Age, the national trade weekly.

Nickel and ferro-alloys have been added to the still-growing list of raw materials that have risen in price. Iron Age says, and "higher freight rates will add fuel to the fire."

The weekly predicts that the steel market will "highball into 1957 at a near-record pace."

"Steel orders are running in excess of production, even though mills last week established an all-time record of 102.4 per cent of capacity. Order carryovers into the new year will be heavy."

Won 13 Turkeys With 13 Tickets

BRANTFORD (CP) — A Brantford man who used to think he wasn't lucky at raffles recently completed a run of good fortune which should stagger professional odds-makers.

Jack Pipe, 35, spent 13 quarters Friday to buy 13 tickets in three different raffles. Result: He won 13 turkeys.

Pipe won nine birds at the Shrine Club, walked on to the Canadian Order of Foresters and won three more, then collected another at the RCAF Association turkey roll.

Shopping Season In Budapest Now in Full Swing

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Christmas shopping season is in full swing in Budapest, and it's a scramble even to get a Christmas tree.

Despite all the suffering of their still-smouldering revolt, the Hungarians seem determined to make their traditional festival as merry as possible, especially for the children.

Christians are wondering if the government and the Soviet occupation authorities will suspend the 9 p.m. curfew for midnight church services Christmas Eve. Most of the faithful appear willing to defy the curfew if necessary to maintain this tradition.

Christmas shopping in Budapest and other Hungarian cities is marked by high prices, shoddy quality in toys and textiles, compared with Western standards and mammoth queues.

One blessing is that food, including meats and butter, appears more plentiful. But there are long lines at the food shops, too.

STIRLING

950 Children View Santa Claus Parade

STIRLING.— Santa Claus arrived in the village early after dinner on Saturday, under the auspices of the retail section of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce. A large number of people from all the townships close by along with approximately 950 children were on hand to welcome this honored guest from the North Pole.

Uniformed policemen and members of the Reserve Army of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of this district, were on hand to direct traffic and guard the children.

Jack McCaughen, dressed as a cowboy, drove his decorated truck depicting a number of Christmas scenes.

Maurice Bell led the Stirling Citizens' Band and they provided music for the parade also during the dispersal of the bags of candy.

A truck driven by Ed. Salisbury of "Stirling Motors", provided transportation for Santa Claus and the likeable chap waved cheerily to the spectators who lined the sidewalks from the theatre to the cenotaph. Here, a suitable place was fenced off and Santa and his helpers distributed the bags of candy to the children. His large supply of over 1,000 bags was stored in Bird's truck in readiness for the bewhiskered chap.

The school children were entertained at Stirling Theatre for the afternoon. It certainly was a wondrous afternoon for them.

Later Captain Moore, of Tweed Salvation Army, and several groups of musicians delighted with Christmas carols in various centres in the village.

PRIZES AWARDED

Some 850 bags of candy were distributed which was slightly more than last year.

ROSLIN

'Christmas' Topic at W.I. Meeting

ROSLIN — The December meeting of the Roslin Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. Chisholm with members of the Moira branch as guests.

The president, Mrs. A. Bates, presided, and opened the meeting in the customary manner.

A welcome was extended to the guests. Roll call was answered with a white gift of candy which will be given to the Salvation Army.

Minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary, and included letters of thanks from the Chapman and Tweed branches for the invitation to attend the meeting, and their regrets that they would be unable to do so as previous engagements conflicted; from Mr. J. G. Demeza of the Ontario School for the Deaf for the donation of $10 to the Christmas fund, and from Moira branch for the invitation.

The provincial secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Maynard, will now handle the sale of F.W.I. badges.

The flower committee reported one flower and one card sent.

The leader, Mrs. H. Chisholm, conducted the program: community singing of Christmas carols with Mrs. M. Fargey at the piano; Mrs. Thompson, of Moira, gave a paper "Does the Star of Bethlehem Still Shine?" She spoke of the star that guided the wise men of old, and said some say the largest star in the big dipper is that star. She said, "We, too, should listen for the voice of God and look for His guiding star."

Mr. J. Hartt favored with piano instrumental, "A Medley of Christmas Carols;" a humorous reading, "The Gift that Santa Forgot," by Mrs. Fred Gray; Mrs. Nelson Welsh, of Moira, favored with two solos, "Home for the Holidays," and "Keep the Christ in Christmas."

The topic, "Christmas," was dealt with by Mrs. W. White, who gave a paper, "In Its Light."

Mrs. R. W. T. Middleton, of Bayside, gave a delightful address on "Christmas." She said in part, that "Caesar Augustus created the first family Christmas, when he decreed that everyone should go to the place of his birth for the taxing."

Saint Nicholas who was named for the patron saint of Asia Minor in 300 A.D., was always giving gifts.

A demonstration on the wrapping of Christmas gifts was given by Mrs. Walter Chisholm. She displayed a number of gaily wrapped gifts and then demonstrated the making of a magic bow, which was the basic one she used in making all the others, such as the carnation and the poinsettia.

Other decorations included the use of pipe cleaners, glitter, sequins, sparkle dust, and pine cones.

Mrs. William Collins, of Moira, expressed thanks of behalf of their branch for the invitation.

Christmas gifts were exchanged.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants and a social time was enjoyed.

The December meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on a recent Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. C. Sills.

PAGED BY RADIO

BOSTON (AP)—Pocket radios now are standard equipment for doctors at Beth Israel Hospital. The hospital Monday inaugurated its new $10,000 doctor-radio paging system. Previously a doctor was summoned by flashing his number in ward corridors. With the new system, his code number is "beeped" to the radio clipped to his pocket.

'Swaps' Named Horse of Year

BALTIMORE (AP)—Swaps was named racing's "horse of the year" Tuesday in the 21st annual poll conducted by Turf and Sport Digest.

Red Ellsworth's sensational thoroughbred, holder of five world records, was picked by 78 of 140 writers and sportscasters voting in the poll. Leslie Combs II's Nashua drew 45 votes, giving him second place.

Swaps, runner-up to Nashua last year in the voting for top three-year-old, also was picked as the best horse four years old or more. Nashua was second, outscoring Bardstown, Bobby Brocato and Mister Gus in that order.

Besides Swaps and Nashua, only four others were mentioned in horse of the year balloting—Needles, Swoon's Son, Bardstown and Barbizon.

College Football

NEW YORK (AP)—For the second straight year the unbeaten Oklahoma Sooners have led U.S. college football on offence.

Statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Association show the Sooners averaged 461.7 yards a game on offence, gained an average of 291.0 by rushing and scored at a rate of 46.6 points a game. Last year the figures were 410.7, 328.9 and 36.2.

The 291-yard rushing average was an all-time NCAA major college record and in this department Oklahoma was 107.5 yards a game ahead of second-place Virginia Tech. Other Oklahoma records for the season were the 461.7 total offence, the greatest a team ever rolled against all-major opposition, and totals of 179 first downs by rushing and 222 altogether.

Oklahoma's 466 points in 10 games is the second-highest total recorded since 1920, having been exceeded in the last 36 years only by Army's 504 points in 1944.

Stanford threw 305 times, the fourth-highest total, and completed 179 for an all-time record.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If they continue at their present pace, North Bay Trappers may have to look outside the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Southern Group for their competition.

Trappers strengthened the impression that they are in a class by themselves Tuesday night as they smothered Sault Ste. Marie Indians 5-1.

So far this season they have won 13 of 27 games and are 19 points ahead of second-place Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds, who were beaten 10-2 by a touring team from Michigan Tech.

In a third northern game winger Bobby McNeil scored with 28 seconds left to give South Porcupine Porkies a 6-5 win over Kapuskasing Huskys in the Porcupine Mines Senior League.

Walt Atanas scored three times in North Bay's home-ice victory over the last-place Indians. Six others—Stan Maxwell, Bob Barlow, Gerry Cahana, George Goslesin and Ches Konecany—got the rest while Johnny Offidani rulled Denis Brodeur's shutout.

The Michigan Tech Huskies from Houghton were paced by Cliff Wylie, Ron Stenlund and Jack Dockeray, with two goals each.

HILDERBRAND RESIGNS

Porkie marksmen besides McNeil were Scott Neilsen, Billy Adamo, Graham Savord, Lino Dimarchi and Pat O'Leary. Billy Degurse had two for Kapuskasing and Paul Piche, Steve Rusnak and Alex Maic got the others.

Ike Hildebrand resigned earlier in the day as playing-coach of the fifth-place Lumber Kings, but Ken Campbell's management, one goal and two assists made no difference to Belleville.

The Menard brothers, Willie and Minnie, did most of the scoring for McFarlands, Willie getting four and Minnie one. The fourth was by Keith McDonald. Besides Campbell, Bruce Giesebrecht had two for Pembroke.

JOB FOR COULTER

MONTREAL (CP)—Blue Line magazine, hockey publication, announced Tuesday that Pete Coulter of Montreal Alouettes football club has joined the staff as art director.

The giant tackle from Dallas, Tex., now is making his home in Montreal. Coulter has done newspaper work in Dallas as well as art work for newspapers and magazines in the United States.

Bilts Crush Teepees 11-0

GUELPH (CP) — League-leading Guelph Biltmores squared accounts with St. Catharines Teepees Tuesday night, crushing them 11-0 in an Ontario Hockey Association Junior A contest. The Teepees had won two of the last three contests between the clubs.

Bruce Gamble, registering his fourth shutout of the season, turned aside 21 shots while the Biltmores threw 42 at the beaglered Roy Edwards.

GREAT UNIVERSITY

McGill University in Montreal obtained its charter in 1821 and started teaching eight years later.

Darrell Royal To Coach Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Darrell Royal, coach at the University of Washington and a former coach of Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, Tuesday was named head coach of the University of Texas.

Royal replaced Ed Price, who resigned Oct. 31 after he had been dogged in effigy three times before the Texas-Texas A&M game. Price's University of Texas football season on record. The Longhorns lost nine of 10 games.

Wilt the Stilt Beats Bears

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California's Bears came closest to winning the "we stopped Wilt Chamberlain" prize. But the seven foot Kansan is still a lot of basketball player to California coach Pete Newell.

"He's the greatest sophomore offensive force I've ever seen," Newell said after his team lost 66-56 to the University of Kansas Tuesday night. Wilt scored 23 points, a season low for him. He had a 29.5 average for his four previous games.

California's pivoting section yelled this tribute to Chamberlain as they watched him warm up for Tuesday's victory:

"On the highways
"In the air
"Wilt the stilt
"Is everywhere!"

U.S. ACCEPTS ATHLETES

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney-General Brownell Tuesday authorized admission to the United States of 40 Olympic athletes from Iron Curtain countries who defected after this year's Games in Australia and asked for political asylum here.

The group, which remained in Melbourne after the Olympics, includes 35 Hungarians, four Rumanians and one Czech.

Maple Leafs Crew Cuts Rocky Rolling Into Fifth Position

By KEN WELLS

Last year it was Guts, Goals and Glamor. There was enough of the first, all too little of the second and not much of the third, as Leafs barely scraped into the National Hockey League's fourth and last playoff position.

This season with a new coach and players hardly old enough to vote, it is Rock 'n' Roll with Howie Meeker and his Crewcuts. The 1956-57 Leafs are certainly rocky, but they are rolling steadily further into fifth place.

Thursday night in Montreal they can pull into a tie with New York Rangers for fourth spot, but they will have to beat the Canadiens, something they have found almost impossible this season.

CAN GAIN ON BRUINS

In a second game, Detroit Red Wings will be host to the league-leading Boston squad and a win could put them one point back of the Bruins.

The Leafs' failure this year—they have won only eight of 29 games—could be the result of their many injuries but the trouble seems to go deeper than that.

Undoubtedly the loss for varying periods of defencemen Hugh Bolton, Marc Reaume, Jimmy Thomson and Jim Morrison, forwards Gerry James, George Armstrong and Rudy Migay has hurt them badly, but of the younger players only Ed Chadwick, their rookie goalie, and Dick Duff, sophomore winger, have caught fire.

Chadwick has turned in some brilliant games and Duff, with 13 goals, is among the league-leaders.

KENNEDY DOUBTFUL

Perhaps the trouble is in the lack of a big, take-charge centreman, along the lines of Syl Apps or Ted Kennedy, which club president Conn Smythe has always built around. Ted Sloan, while an outstanding player, doesn't seem to meet the requirements, and so Kennedy was called on to come out of retirement.

Tuesday night, after nearly a month of practice, the 31-year-old Teeder said he doesn't know whether he'll ever make it.

"This game is for young men" he said wearily. "I'm in good condition, but not hockey condition. . . I haven't the old drive. . . ."

Migay will be back Thursday night after 10 days' absence. Leafs might change everything with a win, but Canadiens, anxious to get back on top, will be equally spirited.

By all odds the Wings, with Gord Howe and Ted Lindsay, goalie Glenn Hall and defenceman Red Kelly, should take the patchwork Bruins, still missing netminder Terry Sawchuk, but so far Boston has shown no signs of vacating first place without a big fight.

Quebec League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The Quebec Hockey League maintained its pattern Tuesday night as Chicoutimi Saguenens and Quebec Aces coasted further ahead while maintaining a three-point gap between them.

Chicoutimi, with an able third-period assist from goalie Ray Frederick, stood off Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 3-2 at Shawinigan Falls and Aces stopped Trois-Rivieres Lions 3-2 at Quebec, coming from two goals behind.

Mountie Seeks Jumping Crown

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (CP) — A mounted policeman will come gliding into town Jan. 5 in search of the world barrel jumping championship.

And, the publicists made known today, he will be better sliod than he was last year when he was runner-up in the world meet.

The challenger is Paul Bonafe of Quebec City, a 26-year-old member of the RCMP who lost out last time to Leo LeBel of Hartford, Conn.

Bonafe, the Canadian champion, cleared 15 barrels but ripped the shoe in one of his skates and had to drop out. LeBel went on to hurdle 16 barrels and win the title.

The change in footwear was reported by Irving Jaffee, a former Olympic speed-skating champion and championship director.

"Speed is necessary for success in barrel jumping," he said, "yet Bonafe was able to clear 15 barrels last year when he wore hockey skates. I understand he now has speed skates. That should be a big help to him and all he needs is a little help to win."

Aussies Not Worried Over Hoad Mood

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Harry Hopman, captain of the Australian Davis Cup team, doesn't appear to be particularly worried about the condition of Lew Hoad, whose display of temperament in the Victorian tennis final buoyed faint United States hopes for victory in cup play beginning a week from today.

Hoad was sharply criticized by the Australian press for his blow-up in the match with Davis Cup teammate Ken Rosewall who won the final, defeating Hoad for the third successive meeting.

Hopman said he didn't think the incident would have an adverse psychological effect on the temperamental Wimbledon champion.

"Hoad will forget it," Hopman said. "That is the least of our worries. He is not in the best condition and needs more work. That is our prime concern."

CONSTRUCTION AID

A record total of 127,425,000 tons of sand and gravel were used in Canada in 1955.

McAteer Meets Webb Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Pat McAteer, regarded as Europe's best current work title prospect at any weight division, meets Chicago's middleweight pride, Spider Webb, in a 10-round bout at Chicago Stadium tonight.

Webb, 24, will be trying to extend a 17-fight winning string, in the nationally televised encounter (10 p.m. EST, ABC) against the British Empire middleweight champion.

McAteer, a native of Birkenhead, England, can punch with either hand but especially is adept with a left hook. The 24-year-old invader has won 42 out of 44 starts and scored 21 knockouts.

If Webb wins he probably will meet Joey Giardello next on the ladder to an eventual world title shot.

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

REALLY CLOSE!

That one was too close for comfort. The McFarlands found out last night that if does not pay to take any chances with any club in the Eastern Senior "A" League when they are one, two or a dozen goals up.

They went into the third period with what appeared to be a comfortable three-goal lead—and Gordie Bell headed for his first shutout. But they hadn't reckoned with the recuperative powers of the pesky Lumber Kings from Fem-broke. The Giesbrecht brees and their compadres from the neighborhood of the Petawawa blueberry patches, and dunno what deep woods else their foemen and dangerous near snatched at least a tie out of certain defeat.

Had Bruce Giesbrecht's last second drive when the Kings sent six attackers up with their goalie out, been an inch or two eastward, the count would have been knotted with a second to go. However, all's well that ends well and the victory gave the Macs a shunt clover to the Cornwall Chevies in second place with 25 points. The Macs now have 24. All of which means that the battle next Friday between the Macs and the Chevies should be one for the archives. It will be a tussle for record place and since the Chevies are said to be the hottest team in the loon at the moment fandom should be in for some top-flight puckchasing.

Referee Jack Shrapsnire cleared up any misunderstanding regarding the Benoit misconduct in the third period. From the press box and the pews it looked as though one of the Giesbrecht brothers was guilty of slotting the official in an unofficial position on the south side of his lap, but His Umps said "No. If was Benoit who slyly inverted the Ump's stick under my chair. He got the penalty." There was a semblance of a smile on Moe's mug as he skated to the hoosegow.

SO THEY THINK!

Jolly Jawn Adams won't like this, Lynn Patrick and Milt Schmidt of the Boston Bruins, think the race for the National Hockey League championship will be between the Canadiens and themselves, and the Red Wings won't finish any better than third.

Patrick figures the Wings have not got any defence and Red Kelly is having such a poor season that he probably won't make the all-star squad. Not, at least on what he has shown up to the present.

This will came out at the National Hockey League party last week according to Dink Carroll of the Montreal Gazette.

Many stories were told at the get-together, some of them about Leo LaBine, the wit of the Boston Bruins, who, it seems, has not been playing up to par.

Labine and Toronto's King Clancy have been trading witty digs since the King was coaching Pittsburgh and Labine was playing for Sidney.

"It was recalled that Clancy had a habit of walking across the ice to the Pittsburgh bench when his team played Hershey. One night Labine grabbed his stick and started to help him across. In mid-ice he upended Clancy and drew a big laugh from the crowd. When Clancy finally made it to the bench he yelled:

"Labine, you're nothing but a busher, a minor leaguer."

"Maybe I am," said Labine, "but at least I'm playing for a big league coach."

Another Labine story was about the short steps he takes. Clancy noticed it and made some remark about it. He asked him how he got that way. Labine pretended to take him seriously.

Said he: "You know I was born near the railway tracks and when I was a kid I used to walk on the tracks every day. The tracks crossed a stream and I had to walk on the trestles. They were close together and I got in the habit of taking short steps."

Brilliant Montreal Centre Selected Over Kwong, Getty In Field of 33 Candidates

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Jean Beliveau, brilliant Montreal Canadiens centre who wrings gasping praise from hockey fans and experts, has been named Canada's outstanding male athlete of 1956.

The towering native of Trois-Rivieres, Que., was picked by the country's sports editors and sportscasters in the 22nd annual Canadian Press year-end sports poll.

The rugged husky second place Normie Kwong, Edmonton Eskimo halfback who topped the poll last year. Don Getty, Edmonton's surprise spark at quarterback in the 1956 Grey Cup game, third third in results announced today.

WIDE EDGE

Aigost half the selectors—asked to name in order the three outstanding Canadian athletes — placed Beliveau at the head of their ballots. Counting three points for first choice, two for second and one for third, he amassed 193 points. Kwong got 103, Getty 94.

The sports observers suggested 33 candidates, leading figures in hockey, football, swimming, baseball, boxing, basketball, track and field, tennis, golf and rifle-shooting.

They dropped Jackie Parker, another Edmonton football star, from third place in 1955 to fourth in 1956 with 41 points. Cliff Lumsden, Toronto distance swimmer, who this year conquered the formidable Jane de Fuca strait, slipped from second spot to a fifth-place tie at 29 points with Gerry Ouellette, Windsor, Ont., marksman who won one of Canada's two gold medals in the 1956 Olympic Games at Melbourne last month.

Beliveau, hailed by many as the greatest hockey player of all time although only in his fourth season in the National Hockey League, jumped from fourth place in last year's balloting.

Between polls the 25-year-old Montreal husky — he stands 6-3, 205 pounds—paced the Canadiens to the Stanley Cup with a record tying total of 12 goals in the play-offs and took the Art Ross trophy as the league's leading point-getter with 47 goals and 41 assists for 88 points in the 70-game schedule.

SET RECORDS

He also set three records: Most goals for a centre, most points per centre and most penalty minutes—143.

Le Gros Bill, as he is affectionately known by Montreal fans, played with Quebec Citadels of the now-defunct Quebec Junior Hockey League and Quebec Aces of the old Quebec Senior League before joining Canadiens in 1953 with a reported $100,000 five-year contract. This year he again overshadowed teammate Maurice (Rocket) Richard in the poll.

Kwong, the Calgary-born China Clipper and only Chinese-Canadian player in professional football, had another sparkling year in the WIFV. He smashed the league ground-gaining record, rolling up 1,437 yards.

A star of the 1955 Grey Cup game with two touchdowns, he was used sparingly in the 1956 classic, carrying the ball 17 times for 53 yards. It was his sixth appearance in the East-West finals.

Placing of Getty and Parker in the third and fourth poll spots was appropriate for the two teamed to spearhead Eskimos to their third successive Grey Cup victory.

Getty, 22-year-old graduate of the University of Western Ontario of London, Ont., was the first Canadian quarterback to start a Grey Cup since 1947. Playing his second year with Edmonton, he crashed over for two touchdowns and threw a pass to Parker for another.

Parker, the Mississippi speedster, who was named most valuable player in the West, scored a record 19 points with three touchdowns and a single.

Lumsden, Toronto car salesman, became the first person to swim the Juan de Fuca strait of Juan de Fuca from the Canadian side when he waded ashore at Green Point, Wash., August 16, after 11 hours, 17 minutes in the water.

PERFECT SCORE

Ouellette, a 22-year-old automobile tool designer, won his first gold medal for Canada's first in small bore competition from the prone position with an unprecedented perfect 500.

Moe Norman of Kitchener, Ont., who won the Canadian amateur golf championship at Edmundston, N.B., in July, placed 7th. Al Balding of Toronto, winner of the 1956 Canadian Professional Golf Association championship, was eighth and Jacques Amyot, Quebec City swimmer who conquered the English Channel July 17, ninth. Hal Patterson, star end with Montreal Alouettes, was 10th.

ORFU May Return To Cup Play Next Season

TORONTO (CP) — The Senior Ontario Rugby Football Union, Canada's oldest football league, may return to Grey Cup competition next year after sitting out the last two years.

A meeting of ORFU officials with representatives of the Big Four Football Union Tuesday favored an interlocking schedule between the leagues. They will cooperate to draft a schedule for consideration at the Big Four's annual meeting at Winnipeg Jan. 28.

ORFU spokesman Les Taylor of Kitchener, who will draft the schedule with Hamilton's Frank Gibson, said after the meeting: "We were given a very favorable hearing."

A power in Grey Cup football from 1909 to 1945, during which it won seven Canadian titles, the ORFU dropped from national competition in 1955 at the request of the Canadian Rugby Union, liability of the Ontario union to compete with Big Four and western leaders loaded with high-priced American players was the main reason for the action.

WILL INCREASE IMPORTS

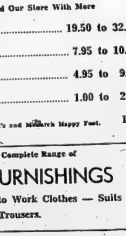
Discussion during the meeting Tuesday revealed the ORFU's intentions to participate in "imported talent" for the Big Four.

"We intend to use the full quota of import players allowed by the CRU (12 in 1956)," said Taylor. "And Kitchener, London and Ottawa all will have stadiums with 10,000 or better seating capacities."



Spike Kearns, representing Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, said the league was prepared to spend to prove its good faith.

The ORFU proposal would have each team play four interlocking games—two at home and two away—and 12 league games would count in the standings of both leagues.

The interlocking games would be finished by Oct. 1 and both leagues would end their schedules a week sooner than did the Big Four this year. Champions of the ORFU and Big Four would then play in an Eastern Canada final, the winner to meet the West in the Grey Cup final.

Kramer Wants Head, Rosewall Cooper in Troupe

MELBOURNE (AP) — American professional tennis promoter Jack Kramer said today he is interested in adding Australia's three top amateurs—Lew Hoad, Ken Rosewall and Ashley Cooper—to his troupe.

But he expects he will have to be content with signing Rosewall this season. It is expected Hoad will again try for the grand slam of four world major titles. He won the Wimbledon, French and Australian but failed in the U.S. at Forest Hills, N.Y.

Cooper will then prefer to remain an amateur as he will automatically fill Rosewall's shoes as next best to Hoad.

FEELINGS WARM UP

Heated feelings have developed among Tony Trabert, Frank Sedgman, Rex Hartwig and Pancho Segura following Segura's arrival this week to replace Pancho Gonzales, who has returned to the United States for a hand operation.

Segura demanded all prize money be divided on results of matches played and not on percentages. This brought a hot protest from Trabert, who, as a new member of the troupe this year, is getting the biggest cut of 35 per cent. Sedgman and Hartwig, getting 25 and 20 per cent respectively, sided with Segura.

Trabert has reluctantly agreed to continue the tour on the basis of the first £2,500 (Australian) profit divided as prize money, the rest to go on previously agreed percentages.

McFarlands Blow Lead But Beat Kings 4-3

Lead 3-0 End of Second Heat Then Hold off Pembroke Drive; Willie Menard Sparks Attack

The McFarlands almost tossed prosperity out the door here last night, blowing a two-period three-goal lead then holding off the desperate Pembroke Lumber Kings to snatch a 4-3 victory.

The win hoisted the Macs to within a point of the second-place Cornwall Chevrolets, and Friday night's tussle here between these clubs will be a battle for the place position.

Playing coach Ike Hildebrand of the Kings, resigned yesterday afternoon, due, he said, to business reasons, and Ken Campbell was named to fill the vacancy.

The McFarlands raced into a first-period two-goal lead and added another unanswered in the second heat. The Kings in a desperation, offensive took over in the third, rammed home three goals with the Macs getting one back. The Kings' goalie was yanked with two seconds to go and Bruce Giesbrecht's blazing shot from the face-off singed a post.

Wee Willie Menard took over the top scoring duties for the Macs firing home a brace of markers and getting an assist. Brother Minnie added one to this total as did Keith MacDonald. Floyd Crawford, named the player of the night, was credited with three assists.

Bruce Giesbrecht paced the Kings offensive scoring two goals in a desperate third period effort while Ken Campbell marking his coaching debut with a goal and two assists.

The game was a rugged affair with referees Jack Shropshire handing out 19 penalties, ten to the McFarlands, some of them a mild conduct to Benoit was dished out late in the third period when the official alleged the Macs-defenceman deliberately tripped him. In any event the official landed on the fanny while the crowd thought one of the Giesebrecht brothers was the culprit.

Real Larocche returned to the hockey wars wearing a protective mask to protect his fractured jaw. Bep Guidolin was not in harness nor was Johnny Bucyk who also suffered an injured hand in the Whitby game. He is expected to play Friday.

The McFarlands had a distinct advantage in the first period and two minutes had elapsed when Keith MacDonald smashed the puck past a prostrate Anderson in the Pembroke nets for first blood of the game.

The penalty parade started and MacDonald drew a pair of minors with Marshall getting one and a minute later Bruce Giesebrecht went off. Playing with the man advantage the Macs surged in with Menard, Payette and Crawford spearheading the attack. Minnie raced in to the side of the net and his shot caught the opposite short side to put the Macs two up.

Both goalies came up with some fine work and both sides missed scoring opportunities. Willie Menard missed an open net at 11 minutes and Bell robbed Marshall on his doorstep.

The Macs maintained their offensive in the second period testing Anderson often. Lapperriere broke into the clear with one but Bell to beat and the tall goalie coolly swept the shot aside with a terrific effort.

Lemonde, Larouche and Simoneau drew sentences and while the latter pair was off Willie Menard put the Macs two up. He raced in close to Anderson to snare Gilbert's rebound pulling the puck around the goal into the net.

Referee Shropshire had the game well under control and at the eleven minute mark thumbed off three of the Kings, Jack Giesbrecht went off for tripping, Simoneau got a misconduct for arguing and Lemonde for obstruction for deliberately delaying the game.

The Kings started early in their third period desperation drive. Forty seven seconds had ticked off when they broke the duck egg. Ken Campbell deflecting Nobby Clarke's long shot past Bell. Willie Menard got that one back two minutes later, going around the Pembroke net and hooking the puck in from the side. Floyd Crawford was in on the kill.

Bruce Giesebrecht made him-self in high gear and cut the margin to 4-3 on a drive with Campbell and Clarke at his flanks. McNard broke into the open spaces, raced in on Anderson and hit hard drive missed the corner. Giesebrecht scored his second goal of the period, the deflection play working again as he tipped Campbell's long drive past Bell.

Woods slowed down the Pembroke effort with a penalty at 17.31 then Benoit drew the referee's ire plus the misconduct episode. Then the Pembroke goalie went to the showers — and you know the rest.

Referee — Jack Shropshire of Toronto; linesmen — Mac Carson and Bill Hurst of Belleville.

US Racing Tracks Smashed Crowd, Betting Records

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Thoroughbred racing in the United States smashed all attendance and wagering records in 1956, and swelled state treasuries with an all-time high of more than $1650,000,000 in revenue, an Associated Press survey of the 24 states with parimutuel betting disclosed today.

Attendance, led by California and New York tracks, passed the 36,000,000 mark for the first time, while parimutuel turnover reached $2,283,332,191.

In California 5,372,157 persons attended races at the major tracks and fairs. Attendance at New York tracks, with no fair racing, reached 4,681,906.

With nine states reporting attendance at better than 1,000,000, the total was 30,174,32 compared with 29,012,121 in 195—a jump of 3.97 per cent.

BETS UP 8.88 PER CENT

Wagering in 1955 was $2,097,-009,240, and the 1956 total showed a boost of 8.88 per cent. New York's major tracks reported $781,706,245 in wagers, slightly under the California estimate of $384,996,086.

As for the revenue to the states, the $165,484,954 for 1956 was 17.39 per cent above the $140,328,541 a year ago.

Attendance was up in 17 states and down in six, with no gate figures for South Dakota, West Virginia, Ohio, Arkansas, Colorado, Massachusetts and Ohio reported declines.

Only Rhode Island, West Virginia and Colorado were down in betting. There were 3,205 racing days in 1956, compared with 3,096 the previous year.

Giants Plan Strategy for Bears' Game

NEW YORK (AP) — Already singed by the hair-raising pass grabbing of end Harlon Hill, New York Giants today turned their attention toward Hill, in particular, and Chicago Bears, in general, as they planned strategy for the National Football League championship playoff Dec. 30.

"Well, try to double up on him this time," said Coach Jim Lee Howell, coach of the Eastern Conference champs, when he was not overboard on him because the Bears have such good runners. That's what makes it so hard to set up a defence for them."

In the only regular-season meeting between the teams in Yankee Stadium Nov. 25, Hill came up with two spectacular touchdown catches in the final quarter to cripple the Bears 'to pull out a 17-17 deadlock.

Between now and the Yankee Stadium title game, the Giants will have to concentrate on defending Doc Bears who produced the most powerful scoring machine in the NFL in the regular campaign — 360 points in 12 games for an average of better than 30 points a game.

The Giants are three-point underdogs in the early wagering. A capacity crowd of about 70,000 is expected.

SOX RAISE PRICES

CHICAGO (AP)—The rising cost of putting out an American League pennant continued Tuesday as brought a slight ticket price boost for Chicago White Sox home baseball games next season.

Vice-president Charles Comiskey announced the new price range, first increase since 1952. Reserved box seats will remain $2.50, but reserve grandstand seats were increased to $2 from $1.75, general admission to $1.50 from $1.25 and bleachers to 75 cents from 60. Comiskey also announced that the Sox will open spring training at Al Lopez Field in Tampa, Fla., on Feb. 28.

"I was just layin' there waitin' for the count of eight—and I musta dored o8!"

Eastern Senior League Grants Kingston Pool Exemption

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Eastern Ontario Senior "A" League at a special meeting here last night granted the Kingston CKLC club exemption from loop pool payments to the extent of five games or a thousand dollars.

Kingston, through manager Reg Walton, asked the league for the concession to obtain senior "A" players to bolster the CKLC club. Dwindling attendance, he said, had caused a marked drop in box office receipts and he felt that with a contending team, the CKLC's would bring back their fans.

Walton told the league that if the concession was turned down the Kingston club would finish out the season with what players they had at present—and drop out of senior hockey next year. "Five men, and not a municipality or corporation are backing the Kingston club," he said, "and we are $5,000 down now."

Kingston, he said, had always been the largest contributor to the league pool and was deserving of consideration. He said it was a matter of investment for the league since with the return of normal box-office in Kingston the league of course would benefit through increased pool payments.

Belleville moved that the concession be granted with Wren Blair of Whitby seconding. The vote was unanimous but not until after lengthy discussion.

Practically everybody admitted being in the red, Pembroke stating they were, down $6,000.

Walton turned down a suggestion that Kingston be loaned the money out of the pool to satisfy player needs. "We are not asking for charity and are not begging. That way it is just a handout."

Suggestions that a mid-season split of the pool be made, elimination of the pool and each club carry its own weight, and others went by the board.

OHA president Frank Buckland tossed a bombshell into the league's discussion on playoff percentages. It had been understood that the OHA be paid 7½ per cent of the pool five per cent out of playoff proceeds.

Buckland told the group that 2½ per cent would be returnable to the league as prize money. Then he stated that in the playoff finals series, the OHA demanded 15 per cent with three per cent returnable. This meant that the participating teams would have to pay 17 per cent out of the take.

This met with considerable argument on the part of the league members as a whole. Finally Buckland stated he would take the matter up and "would you be satisfied with 7½ per cent?" He will be decided at the next OHA meeting and where the western senior "A" group will be contacted.

It was decided that the four teams participating in the playoffs will share in the OHA prize money with four clubs sharing 17 per cent in the semi-finals and the two finalists splitting the take.

Previously the league had been told by vice-president Lorne Cook who chaired the meeting that the schedule would have to be cut in order to meet that of the western group. President Buckland, however, told the league its schedule was all right and to play it out since the possible non-participation of the maritimers in playdowns meant two extra weeks for the Eastern Ontario clubs. The western group will extend their schedule to meet the time limit.

"There will be time to play seven game series in your group and the Ontario finals with an interim before meeting other clubs," he said.

Buckland told the league that the OHA had been operating at a loss and would have to take various means to meet its expenses. He said the body would definitely not cut its minor hockey commitments and the only other courses were player certificates and registration increase. The league agreed the registration increase of from ten to fifty dollars would be acceptable rather than increase of certificate fees.

Y Basketball

The Little Hound Dog's won their second game in the "Y" Junior Basketball House League Saturday by defeating the "Y" Clowns 43 to 20. At the end of official game time the score was tied 39 all and an extra quarter was played. John Peoples, the captain of the Hound Dogs scored two foul shots and teamate Jim Hook scored one field goal to win the game 43 to 39. High scorers for the game were Ted Hook, 26, J. Peoples 16, Jim Hook 15 and S. Muirhead 13.

The two top place teams met in the second game and the Hillbillys, less their star player, went down to defeat to the Nightriders 36 to 31. The Nightriders combined the game both defensively and offensively and the combined efforts of Skinner and Blakely beat the Hillbillys without any trouble. High scorers for the game were Jim Skinner 20, D. Blakely 16, R. Blaker 6.

Farmers Asked To Help Shelter Hungarians

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario Federation of Agriculture Monday asked its 100,000 members to provide temporary accommodation for Hungarian refugees, whether they are farm workers or not.

OFA President Lloyd Jasper of Milomay said notices are going out to county federations asking them to get their members to provide space in their homes for the refugees.

He said the move was not prompted by a desire to solve a growing labor problem on Ontario farms, though "we are pleased to note that in some groups that have already arrived as many as 10 per cent are farm workers and we are hopeful that farmers will avail themselves of this new labor supply."

'I Can't Do It' Never Said By Blind Man

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

You are reading here a detailed report on the deals played in the last world championship. The Swedish team (champions of Europe) lost to the U. S. team (champions of American) in the finals.

Do not think I am selecting only the hands in which errors were made. From the printed record of the 256 deals, you have already seen here the first 20 in consecutive order.

One thing is very noticeable in this contest between these super players. So far, neither side has doubled the other for penalty. Even though in so many of the deals each side has had the right.

This should be a good spot to remind my students of my lessons in when to double for penalty. That is only when opponents can not run to a safer contract and when you expect to defeat it two tricks.

Why wait for a two-trick set before doubling? One of them may not come home; or a skilled opponent may kill it with an endplay or squeeze or coup. Only your second setter will still beat him.

All this gab does not leave me much space to explain the next deal, which is number 21. But it does not need much discussion. Here it is:

NORTH
♠K 3
♥Q 7 4
♦Q 9 8 6 4
♣K Q 10 3

| WEST | EAST |
|---|---|
| ♠A Q J 10 | ♠2 |
| ♥8 6 5 | ♥A J 9 8 5 2 |
| ♦10 | ♦8 6 3 |
| ♣J 9 7 | ♣8 7 5 |

SOUTH
♠7 5
♥K 6 3
♣A 6 4 2

In one room the Swedish team had their pair sitting north-south and in the next room their other pair was east-west; pitted against a pair from the American team in each one of these rooms.

The bidding in both rooms was exactly alike, going so:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♦ | 1 ♠ | 4 ♠ | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

Both went down two tricks with both major aces and ruffs of each suit. Neither could make that four spades could be defeated.

That puts everybody even.

Devotees of Slapstick Antics Of Donald Duck Will Be Happy

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) A pleasant Christmastide surprise from CBS-TV is The Bang-Boink Show, which bowed in last Sunday.

Devotees of the slapstick antics of Donald Duck may be a little baffled at first by this animated color cartoon program which concerns the adventures and avocations of Gerald McBoing-Boing, a bright lad who cannot say a word but can make interesting noises.

Brilliant art techniques, excellent music and informed wit make this a distinctly different type of program. In his Sunday debut Gerald offered the story and music of a man who discovers a horse who plays cards. But the piece de resistance was "the invisible mousetache of Raoul Duby," a delightful fable about the French artist which included faithful replicas and amusing caricatures of his work.

Next Sunday, by the way, the show will include a version of the old English Christmas carol, The Twelve Days of Christmas, in which a girl receives a multitude of gifts beginning with a partridge in a pear tree.

NBC radio is presenting an interesting program these Wednesday evenings, Called Recollections of Thirty, the observance of the network's 30th birthday, it offers outstanding broadcasts of the past 30 years.

In recent weeks it has presented rebroadcasts of originals by such performers as Baron Munchausen, Floyd Gibbons, a neat bit of repartee between John Barrymore and Charlie McCarthy, Ed Wynn, Eddy Valle, Bing Crosby and others.

Regardless of a birthday anniversary, Recollections at Thirty embodies a good idea which both radio and television well could do more frequently.

At The Park

GREAT TALENT FOR "ROCK, ROCK, ROCK"

Rock, Rock, Rock, the new sensational "Rock 'n' Roll" musical which is coming to the Park Theatre on Thursday next, is not unlike Alan Freed's show but it also stars prominently the following "Rock 'n' Roll Bands": Tuzz Year Old Ivy Schulman; The Bowties.

In addition Rock, Rock, Rock has a rich musical score of twenty-one new songs. It is perhaps the most lavish musical score ever done for any musical.

AT THE PARK — "Rock, Rock, Rock" — Frankie Lyman and The Teenagers are among the rock 'n roll favorites featured in this new film due to open Thursday at the Park Theatre. On the same program America's 'Most Wanted' desperados, "The Three Outlaws" starring Neville Brand, Alan Hale and Bruce Bennett. Both hits are first Belleville showings.

AT THE BELLE — Richard Todd and Jean Peters co-star in the warm wonderful story that topped Canada's best-seller lists for 128 weeks, Twentieth Century-Fox's "A Man Called Peter," in CinemaScope and color, playing tonight and Thursday at the Belle. The 2nd. worthy feature for the whole family is "John and Julie", starring (The Little Runaways) Colin Gibson and Leslie Dudley.

MacDonald and Eddy Will Team on Lux Video Theatre

By DOE THOMAS

The duo sang their way through nine MGM pictures, from Naughty Marietta in 1935 to I married an Angel in 1941. They brought the flowering of the film operetta with their tremendously popular pictures, still shown all over the world.

Since their last film together, they have sought other fields. Miss MacDonald has specialized in stage operettas in recent years and Eddy tours with a successful night club act. Thursday night, Lux Video Theatre will re-team them on NBC in their famed Will You Remember? series from 1940 time.

"We've done some radio together since I Married an Angel," Eddy explained between rehearsals. "But we've never combined on TV. No particular reason, except that ultimately there can afford one of us but not both."

He went on to say that he and Jeanette have always been on the best of terms and have seen each other socially.

"I'm always being asked about the MacDonald - Eddy feud," he said. "There never was a feud. Sure, we had differences on the set — almost every day, in fact. But that's normal.

"I hear all kinds of stories. Like how Jeanette and I tried to outsing each other. Ridiculous!"

AGREEABLE TO REUNION

It's hard to break the public's misbelief, he added. People are always asking him about his uncle, Jeanette." And he said that her real husband, Gene Raymond, is often referred to as "Mr. Eddy."

"Gene is good-natured about it," Eddy laughed. "When an autograph seeker makes the mistake, he just signs 'Nelson Eddy'" and lets it go at that."

"I've always been ready," he replied. "There have been some ugly rumors that I wouldn't consider a picture with Jeanette, and I was hurt by that.

"I'd be glad to do a good picture with her. There only things we've been offered were to be done on a shoestring in Mexico or England. We made some pretty fine pictures in our time. There's no sense in coming back to do a B musical at a time when there's no market for B musicals anyway."

PACIFIC ISLES

Indians are the largest racial group among the population of the Fiji Islands in the South Pacific.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Thursday, Dec. 20, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Talking without taking action is useless. Thinking is always stimulated, but let it evolve into sound action. Aspects strong for sound action and right thinking today. Don't l- found wanting.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Though your planet Venus is not notably aspected today, it will be in a more auspicious position tomorrow, so take advantage of all worthwhile opportunities. Don't spread rumors.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — A good outlook for all endeavors that are given close checking, efficient and intelligent handling. Don't hesitate to ask questions, assistance if needed. Thoroughness always pays.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your Moon in fine configuration today. You can [illegible] well as progress notably yourself if you follow logical procedures and use your initiative.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Improving over the past couple of days, your vibrations will culminate in a strongly favorable aspect tomorrow. This should find you working to achieve steadily, not sporadically, and with confidence, plus alertness.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — How you start this day will have much bearing upon the results you will achieve. The day needs a push from you. Be persevering, and don't force your opinions on others.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — An "off" period that could be good or troublesome—depending on your own will to forge ahead. It would be unlike Libra to be unfeeling, or disobliging but these are among the day's temptations.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Your planet Mars stresses a need for self - control, kindly consideration of others, including those you don't particularly have to help or like. Broaden your perspective by doing more than required.

November 23 to December 21 — (Sagittarius) — Wasted time is never regained. You only have to work harder and smarter in. Don't live on past laurels as may be a temptation now. Heed good advice; don't lower standards.

December 22 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Activities unrelated to your regular work and duties may run into snags. Avoid emotional upheavals or anxiety. Responsibilities can be handled more quickly and with less strain if you aren't easily upset.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Today and the 28th are the only two remaining days of 1956 on which your planet Uranus exerts special cautions, restrictions. Believe in your principles, protect them, and live with faith uppermost. Be lawful.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Remember the old saying, "between the devil and the deep sea"? You may now experience many contradictory feelings, but your intelligent mind can cope with them. Think, act, before you.

You born today are a Sagittarian - Capricorn cuspal, born at the change of Signs. You do not waste words or action; are direct, practical, able in a well - rounded way. You like good conversation, and high-minded associates. You have little patience with anything which is not honorable; can often conquer what others consider impossible. Do not let pride get the better of you or let the intuitive and dependable in your be wasted through lack of coordination and consistency of effort. Aim for the top rungs of the ladder. Birthdate of: Leopold von Ranke, German historian.

ARABS NOW BACK OIL

BEIRUT (Reuters) — Lebanon has notified her Arab neighbors — Syria and Jordan, that she will cut off all oil exports to them after Dec. 15, according to informed sources here. The cut will result from the exhaustion of Lebanese stocks and the refusal of only one of the Trans - Arabian pipeline as a source of oil. Lebanese state oil sources supply only the need of Lebanon. No oil has come from Iraq fields since Syrians blew up three pumping stations.

Gordon Calls Rate Increase Inadequate

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Provincial premiers are mustering their forces to fight the latest increase in railway freight rates—increases termed inadequate by the head of Canadian National Railways Tuesday.

CNR President Donald Gordon said in a statement Tuesday that the four-per-cent increase granted this week by the board of transport commissioners "will fall substantially short" of meeting the impact of recent wage awards. The board has granted a total of 15 per cent but the 10-per-cent application made by the railways six months ago.

Premiers met at Moncton, N.B., the premiers of the Atlantic provinces issued a joint statement saying they will attempt to restore the advantages of the Maritime Freight Rate Act of 1927.

And in Edmonton, Premier Manning of Alberta said his province is considering appealing the latest increase to the federal government. He suggested further increases are in the offing. He added the West is left carrying most of the burden of higher general rates.

Sarnia Mayor Against Order To Build Plant

SARNIA (CP)—City council has called a special session for today to consider an Ontario water resources commission order requiring Sarnia to start construction of a sewage plant by next July 1 or face fines of $100 a day.

Estimated cost of a plant is $3,500,000.

Mayor W. C. Nelson said Tuesday that the commission's ultimatum "will ruin the city."

He said that agreements the commission wants other south western Ontario municipalities to sign will ruin those municipalities as well.

"The commission should show some common-sense approach to the matter," he said.

A meeting at Chatham Friday of representatives from Chatham, Sarnia, Windsor, Sault Ste. Marie, Wallaceburg, Amherstburg, London and Niagara Falls unanimously voted to turn down the agreement offered by the commission for the construction of sewage and water projects in their areas.

WOULD LACK CONTROL

Mr. Nelson said the methods under which the commission operates will lack control of water and sewage projects out of the hands of the municipalities even though they would be forced to pay for them.

Projects planned by the commission would cost Sarnia about $11,000,000 by next week's end, $600,000, he said.

For many years Sarnia had been dumping its raw sewage into the St. Clair River until Michigan authorities complained of the pollution. The matter, therefore, should receive help from the province and the International Joint Commission, Mr. Nelson said.

The mayors of Amherstburg and Chatham also felt that the board come from the higher levels of government and said the water commission's projects would certainly disrupt their cities' finances.

In Windsor, city council Monday night unanimously endorsed the municipalities' resolution of opposition and elected Controller Ernest Atkinson to serve as Windsor's representative on the joint committee opposing the commission terms.

Scotland Yard After Racket For Call Girls

LONDON (Reuters) — One of London's biggest call-girl rackets, patronized by "thousands of officials, film stars and members of society," may soon be smashed by Scotland Yard, the Daily Mail says.

The newspaper says the ring's headquarters in Chelsea has been under observation by police for nearly a month, and that warrants are being sent to Cmdr. George Hallbrill, deputy assistant of Scotland Yard's criminal investigation department.

The apartment under investigation, the paper says, is run by a "madame" who carefully screens her clients. The patrons are asked to pay anything up to £25 to attend a pornographic movie showing.

Many of the girls are introduced to the circle by divorce lawyers, The Daily Mail says.

Sirolin Steaks For Prisoners At Christmas

OTTAWA (CP)—Special Christmas treats, including movies, sirolin steak and ice cream, are in store for the approximately 5,000 men in Canadian penitentiaries.

There will even be a midnight mass Christmas Eve for the teenaged prisoners at the federal training centre in St. Vincent de Paul, Que.

All the guards and instructors—some will bring their families—will join the prisoners at midnight mass to be followed by a "revellion"—the traditional Christmas Eve banquet. Some former inmates and their families have been invited.

The midnight mass practice was started two years ago and has proved popular, a high penitentiary official said today.

BIG CLOSING

The eight federal penitentiaries will be closed during the Christmas and New Year's weekends and special entertainment programs have been planned for the prisoners.

There will be hockey games among the prisoners and movies for all. Prisoners who have funds may purchase a special Christmas package containing chocolate bars and cigarettes, extra. The price ranges between $1 and $5.

Prisoners can buy the packages only when they have earned them, they passed behind the walls or with funds sent by relatives.

Smog Greenhouse Used to Test All Kind of Fumes

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A greenhouse for smog is working here for cleaner, smog-free air in 1937.

The smog greenhouse is used in a scientific project at the Mid-west Research Institute, a special study for the air pollution section in Los Angeles, 1,500 miles away.

There are several objectives, explains Dr. John T. Goodwin Jr., manager of the institute's chemistry division. Just how much do auto exhausts contribute to smog in Los Angles and elsewhere? Are certain gases in exhausts particularly bad actors? And how good are devices, like carburetor cut-offs, in reducing or changing smog contribution for automobiles?

GAS ENGINE USED

In tests, exhaust fumes from an automobile engine, mixed with air and sunlight, produce a definite smog-side, are fed into the greenhouse. The engine can be run at different speeds — Wonderful tests are made at different efficiencies to effect the smog content.

Groups of volunteer students, paid small fees, stay inside the greenhouse and report the physical effects, such as eye, throat and nose irritation, from the various "smogs." Chemical analyses of the greenhouse air are made also.

Auto fumes are blamed by some experts for as much as 60 per cent of the noxious elements in smog in Los Angeles, under the peculiar conditions creating smog there.

Sunlight is thought to cause reactions among some of the exhaust gases, producing hydrocarbons and oxides of nitrogen, and create some of the unwelcome chemical compounds.

The greenhouse with exhaust fumes piped inside simulates these natural conditions. Tests to date have been in a large chamber. If we can make smog like that in Los Angeles from auto exhausts," Dr. Goodwin points out.

The greenhouse studies are more costly and time-consuming than tests in smog-free Kansas City than Los Angeles, for there's no naturally smoggy air which could enter the greenhouse.

A next step is to learn which elements in the exhaust fumes are worst in causing smog and irritations. A gas present only in small amounts might be worse than another present in larger amounts.

This kind of knowledge can aid in development, and filtering, of devices to reduce or eliminate the smog hazard, from autos.

Nova Scotia Miners Reject Wage Offer

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — Nova Scotia miners Tuesday rejected an offer that would have given them their first wage increase since 1932.

United Mine Workers officials who had recommended acceptance of the offer by the 9,000 union members, today will arrange a meeting to discuss their next step.

In a referendum the workers rejected by a majority of 833 a Dominion Steel and Coal Company offer which would have given them a 81-4-day pay increase retroactive to Dec. 1; a $1-a-day production bonus based on output quotas and a further increase of 90 cents a day effective next December 1.

The men are all employed by Dosco or its subsidiaries. The dispute is expected to go to conciliation and a strike vote may be taken.

"BEST AVAILABLE"

The miners had asked for an immediate $2.80 daily increase, a $100-per-man bonus for 1936, and other fringe benefits. The union's international statistician, Edward Kennedy, said the offer was "the best available."

Pickersgill Will Confer With Ont. on Refugees

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Immigration Minister Pickersgill, just back from a 16-day tour of European camps for Hungarian refugees, will confer in Toronto Saturday with Ontario Planning Minister Nickle on the refugee situation.

The federal cabinet minister will also meet with Ontario government and Canadian Red Cross officials who jointly operate the Hungarian reception centre in Toronto.

In Ottawa Tuesday Mr. Pickersgill told a press conference facilities for receiving the refugees are unsatisfactory.

He said later in an interview that he was not criticizing provincial and municipal governments or welfare agencies. However, he suggested everyone in Canada work harder to ensure the Canadian sub-committee on Housing, Hungarian Refugees.

At the council meeting Monday night fears were voiced that inadequate screening might allow an influx of Communists.

In Ottawa Tuesday two Hungarians were married, less than a month after they left Budapest, Gabriella Dra, 17, married Gyorgy Bodik, 24. St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, and Bela Bogori, 26, married Joseph Bogori, 26, at St. John's Lutheran Church.

A Y.M.C.A. chairman of Ottawa donated all the wedding clothes, and Ottawa press cameras recorded the ceremonies.

In Vienna Tuesday, the cabinet was told 163,181 Hungarians had crossed into Austria since Nov. 7. Of these, 68,000 had been moved to other countries.

Publicity Stunt Not Appreciated By Magnate

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—R. G. Letourneau, multi-millionaire industrialist, wasted no time taken out of a brand name because, he said, the word bathing beauties don't mix with his religious tenets.

The 66-year-old magnate who said "God is chairman of my board of directors" wants his earth moving scrapers, earth-moving equipment made by the Letourneau — Westinghouse Company, company officials declined comment on the request.

Behind the controversy was a publicity stunt used by Pabst Brewing Company in August last summer to introduce a new-type beer.

A huge Letourneau - Westinghouse machine rolled through the streets. It was filled with a mud swam in a mixture of the new beer and water. Scantily clad bathing beauties lolled under the portable pool.

Letourneau, who in 1953 sold his Peoria plant to the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, expressed the indignation over the stunt in an open letter to the company published in the Peoria Journal of Tuesday, a monthly publication of Letourneau Tech in Longview, Tex.

A Letourneau-Westinghouse official said the Westinghouse purchase of the plant included the Letourneau name with no strings attached.

R. G. Letourneau Inc., builds nearly all the equipment at Longview plants but has no connection with the Peoria factory.

CANADIANS

A Canadian Press survey found higher sales of Christmas gifts in all centres reporting. In Toronto, a gift-store owner said their volume is 12 per cent higher than last year.

This year Canadians are buying more high-quality presents—many oil paintings are being sold in Toronto—but the average paid for each gift is still between $5 and $10.

More practical gifts such as appliances and furniture are being bought this year, reported the manager of a national chain store and mail-order house. He credited increased home building for this.

There are fads, too. In Vancouver, it's high - heeled bedroom slippers; in Toronto, "ear coats." Quebec men have obtained a run on fancy umbrellas for their women folk, while in Halifax women are buying a lot of curling equipment for men.

TRADITIONAL GIFTS

Most men and women, however, seem to be sticking to the traditional presents for each other; household appliances, perfumes, jewelry and accessories for women, clothing, luggage, slippers and electric shavers for men.

Stores are crowded everywhere, of course.

Many stores are attempting to ease the rush—and at the same time boost sales—by opening two or three nights a week. In Montreal, merchants wanted to open every night after Dec. 1 but were restricted to opening six nights a week after Dec. 15.

Few campaigns for early shopping have been staged. In St. John's, Nfld., however, about a dozen stores jointly sponsored several newspaper advertisements which urged early shopping.

No shortages have been reported anywhere, although in Winnipeg merchants are keeping only a close ahead of their customers with a new procedure: They promote their products, then obtain stock to meet this advertising.

SESSION IN FEBRUARY

EDMONTON (CP) — The 1937 session of the Alberta legislature will open Feb. 14, Premier Manning announced Tuesday.

PEARSON SEES

Asked then whether Canada might have them soon," he replied with a smile that he "could not answer." Later, he made clear he was referring to the possibility that Canadian forces with NATO in Europe would be using atomic weapons provided by the U.S.

Paris news reports last week said U.S. Defence Secretary Wilson promised the U.S. would supply its Atlantic pact allies with modern weapons capable of firing atomic warheads but not the warheads themselves. Only "nonatomic explosives" could be supplied because of American security laws.

IRON GRIP LOOSENS

Mr. Pearson said there have been signs of a "loosening of the Soviet grip" on eastern Europe and in Russia itself. The long-range effects "may be beneficial to-peace" but in the short range he might result in "an increase in our dangers."

He hadn't got the impression that U.S. State Secretary Dulles was dubious at the Paris meeting of recommendations for close consultation among NATO countries.

Press reports have given the impression aspects of Mr. Dulles' speech in which he said the U.S. government could not pledge itself to consultation before taking action when a crisis has come to a head.

But Mr. Dulles also told the council, Mr. Pearson said, that there should be consultation before a crisis develops.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids
Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.
In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking relief and treatment" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.
Pain was relieved promptly. And, while pain relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.
And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!
In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And in most cases these results were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of them 20 years' standing.
All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance discovered by medical discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.
This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask any druggist for Preparation H. It is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

South African Police Fire On Rioters At Trial

Fourteen Persons Injured After Crowd Stones Police

JOHANNESBURG (CP)—Police opened fire when rioting broke out outside an army drill hall here today during the mass treason trial of 132 South Africans. Fourteen persons were injured. Four were whites including two policemen and the others were non-whites.

The rioting started when police ordered several hundred Africans blocking the street to move from the centre of the road to allow traffic through.

The crowd began stoning the police who first drew their batons and charged, after an African photographer's camera was seized the crowd surged threateningly again. Police made a second baton charge and several shots were fired.

RACIAL FURY

The mass trial, now in its second day, brought racial fury soaring to the surface in Johannesburg Wednesday.

The hearing for the defendants, 101 Africans, 23 Europeans, 20 Indians and eight persons of mixed blood—including many prominent opponents of South Africa's racial segregation policy — was adjourned soon after it opened. Defence lawyers had threatened to walk out if a wire cage surrounding the 132 was not removed.

After the protests, it was agreed that the front of the six-foot cage —which was erected overnight— would be removed, and the sides lowered to four feet, except in the centre.

CROWD SINGS HYMNS

The hearing was adjourned Wednesday after charges that the acoustics in the hall were so bad that the press and public could not follow the proceedings. Outside 5,000 persons shouted and sang hymns.

As trucks brought the defendants to court today there were shouts from the crowd of "Buy, buy Africa (Let Africa Come Back!).

When the prisoners filed in one of them clipped to the side of the cage a notice which read "do not feed—by order."

Maurice Fitzpatrick, speaking for the defence, told Magistrate F. C. Van Niekerk that the defendants "appear before the court caged like wild beasts."

CROWN DEFENDS ACTION

Prosecutor Oswald said that apart from the withdrawal of the cage Wessel should instruct the authorities to permit access to the defendants for himself and his colleagues.

J. C. Van Niekerk, law adviser to the police, said that Wednesday spectators had "just walked in amongst the accused."

"I am not sure that every experience seen people go into the dock to speak to accused personally," Magistrate Wessel said: "I agree that the front of this grill is really unnecessary."

Two Directors Of Toronto Star Resign Office

TORONTO (CP) — Resignation of two directors of the Toronto Star are announced at the Star employees to fill the vacancies was announced today.

Board members who resigned are Alexander Stark, 52, secretary-treasurer of The Star; and Frederick L. Tate, 67, business manager.

Appointed to the board are William J. Campbell, 36, advertising manager, and Burnett M. Thall, 34, production engineer. Mr. Campbell becomes secretary-treasurer of The Star.

The other three board members are Joseph S. Atkinson, chairman; H. C. Hindmarsh, president, and Ruth Atkinson Hindmarsh, his wife.

Mr. Stark also resigned as Star solicitor and as a trustee of the Atkinson Charitable Foundation and of the J. E. Atkinson estate. He plans to continue practising law in Toronto.

Mr. Tate, besides leaving the board, also gives up his charitable foundation and Atkinson estate trusteeships. He has announced no plans for the future.

Mr. Campbell joined The Star 17 years ago and has since been circulation manager of the daily and of The Star-Weekly since 1948. He is married and has two children.

M. Thall is a research engineer who earned his PhD. degree from University of Toronto in 1950, then joined The Star as production manager.

No changes in the board operation or position are possible sale of The Star. Under the Ontario Charitable Gifts Act, the newspaper was to have been sold by last spring. Under the act the foundation must sell more than 10 per cent of the capital of any company.

A year ago E. P. Taylor, Toronto industrialist, offered to buy The Star. It was reported then that the Hindmarshs favored the sale but the three other directors were opposed.

More recently Mr. Atkinson proposed to buy the paper but the other four board members voted against him.

"My wife and I would oppose him still if he sat up that scheme again," Mr. Hindmarsh said today. Mrs. Hindmarsh is Mr. Atkinson's sister.

Mr. Hindmarsh said the public trustee arranged the sale of the paper's assets under the Charitable Gifts Act has been applying public pressure to get the sale started.

He said if he orders us to sell I would go along—that is, I would take it up with the board."

He said offers for The Star have come within the last year from Cyrus Eaton, Canadian-born millionaire of Cleveland, O.; Roy Thomson, who owns a large group of Canadian newspapers and several in the United States and United Kingdom; Mr. Taylor; and the Southam newspapers.

He said Mr. Eaton had, told him he would pay $25,000,000 "but I didn't take him seriously." The other four offers were concrete offer, Mr. Hindmarsh said.

Today's Chuckle

THE WEATHER

TORONTO (CP) — Synopsis: Above freezing temperatures extend northward over Ontario today and tonight as the result of only slight southward movement of colder air. Further to the south it is raining over a wide area in Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The northern edge of this rain will affect extreme Southern Ontario points tonight but pass east of the lower lakes by morning. Fresh Southerly winds are likely north of Lake Superior late tonight and on Friday.

TORONTO POLICE RESCUE REFUGEE ACCUSED AS RED

Hungarian Says Man Secret Police Agent

TORONTO (CP) — A fellow-Hungarian stopped Giorgy Boros in a downtown refugee centre Wednesday and claimed to recognize him as a secret police man who arrested and tortured him during the revolt in their home land. (The claim was later denied by Boros.)

Boros was surrounded and threatened by a group of refugees. Police, called to quell the disturbance, finally escorted him to safety. Police Inspector William Armstrong said later "it has never seen such a mob. They were vicious."

Brownlee said police took Boros into protective custody.

Boros was released a few hours later.

The case is closed as far as we are concerned," said Brownlee.

Superintendent J. F. Brasher of Toronto branch of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said no federal government request has been made to the RCMP to handle the case. He said police made preliminary investigations but the report of city police.

Boros, 42, told police he came from Gyoer in western Hungary, that he fled Hungary Nov. 9 and arrived in Canada Dec. 14 from a refugee camp in Vienna.

DENIES ALLEGATION

"I am not a secret police agent and I have never been," he said.

An official at the refugee reception centre said the group involved arrived in October. Dec. 14 aboard the liner Arosa Star.

Planning Minister Nickle of Ontario said he will investigate the incident which happened in the interior centre at the Home of the Good Shepherd on Queen Street West, operated jointly by the Ontario government and the Canadian Red Cross.

Mr. Nickle, an immigration department official said he had received no report from Toronto authorities of the incident and he declined comment.

ACTIVITY STOPPED

At the police station, Boros told his story through an interpreter in a long session. He said that he and asked me my name. He asked again and I didn't hear. He took one of his voice so I asked him why he wanted to know.

Then he asked if I was familiar with the secret police. I said no. He said I was and that he thought I was the man who arrested and tortured him back home.

"That was when the other grabbed me and shortly afterwards the police arrived. I was glad to see the police."

Police said they had a phone call from a volunteer worker at the refugee centre who shouted "There's a riot, come quickly" and then hung up.

HELD A ROPE

In the crowd as police took Boros away was a man who was holding a rope and others clutching their throats and making gurgling noises to simulate hanging.

Queen and Children Without Duke To Spend Christmas at Sandringham

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen began preparations today for a hare visit to the royal country house of Sandringham where she and her children will celebrate Christmas.

The Duke of Edinburgh will be absent during his round-the-world tour of the Commonwealth just before the Queen herself delivers the traditional Christmas Day message.

Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, and the Kent and Gloucester families will join the Queen for a Christmas dinner of turkey and plum pudding. The Queen makes her broadcast from the study next to the dining room, where her grandfather, George V, inaugurated the royal Christmas broadcasts in 1932.

Eisenhower and Nehru Find 'Broad Area of Agreement'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Nehru said today that their talks here have confirmed a "broad area of agreement" between India and the United States in world affairs.

The two leaders summed up the results of Nehru's four-day visit in a joint communique issued at the White House.

Simultaneously Nehru himself, at National airport before taking off on the first leg of his trip home, said the talks with Eisenhower had strengthened Indian-American "bonds of friendship and understanding."

The statement from the White House said Eisenhower and Nehru had gained "greater understanding" of each other's views. It added that this would promote the efforts to achieve international peace and friendship.

Eisenhower and Nehru held their last conversation at the Indian Embassy Wednesday night. Eisenhower was Nehru's dinner guest there and they talked together for more than an hour.

Today Nehru he aded for a period of meetings with United Nations officials and others in New York, after which he will spend a weekend in Ottawa. Eisenhower's personal plane was put at his disposal for the trip.

The joint statement preserved the official cloak of secrecy which had surrounded the Eisenhower-Nehru talks from their beginning Sunday.

Nonetheless, high American officials familiar with the issues taken up said the conferences had been most successful from the American viewpoint.

Nehru also appeared to feel that he had achieved his objectives in meeting with the president.

The formal statement emphasized that India and the U.S. share a common devotion to "respect for the dignity of man."

This last point appeared to be one way of saying that while India is neutral as between the Soviet and Western power blocs it is not neutral on the basic issue of communism. The U.S. has always contended that the essential difference between communism and free democracy is "respect for the dignity of man."

Arrest 23 Cypriot Students As Britain's Offer Rejected

NICOSIA, Cyprus (CP) — A Greek-Cypriot youth was wounded by gunfire and 23 persons were arrested today as British troops broke up a demonstration by Greek-Cypriot students protesting the proposed new constitution for Cyprus.

Girls carrying Greek flags started the demonstration. Schoolboys later joined in as they paraded through the town's streets, reciting "down with the constitution" and "give us enosis" (union with Greece).

The new constitution, released in London Wednesday, recommends limited self-government, with British responsibility for defence, external affairs and internal security.

Meanwhile, a Greek Orthodox priest was sent today to a detention camp, accused of being a member of the anti-British EOKA terrorist organization.

The new proposals met firm reaction from both the Greek majority and the Turkish minority here, and from the governments of Greece and Turkey as well.

The offer has, however, opened the way for resumption of talks between Britain and Archbishop Makarios, exiled leader of the island's Greek Cypriots.

Two British representatives were to meet with the archbishop today to explain Britain's new proposals for a constitution.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, announcing the offer Wednesday in the House of Commons in London, emphasized that the talks with Makarios were to be "consultations" and not "negotiations."

16 Runaway Boxcars Doing 70 As They Run Into Mail Train

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Sixteen runaway freight cars plowed into a mail train Wednesday night, and a diesel engine and three of the freight cars tumbled 20 feet into a busy downtown parking lot.

The engine's fireman was killed. Two other railroad men were injured.

The runaway cars raced four miles down a grade before ramming the mail train, which was operated by the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western depot in the centre of the city.

Fireman Thomas Hale, 56, of Syracuse, died in hospital a few hours after being removed from the wreck of the diesel.

A mail car still hung precariously over the parking lot as railroad wrecking crews began work early today.

At least 10 automobiles in the crowded parking lot were crushed under the engine and freight cars. Six other freight cars were scattered about the tracks.

The diesel had been pushing four mail cars into the depot. A policeman estimated the freight cars were travelling 70 miles an hour when they hit the mail train.

H. W. Jones, superintendent of the Scranton division of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, said reports will be made from six men who had been switching freight cars at sidings outside the city. Jones said "somehow the 16 got loose."

SUBDUED IN TIME

TRIPOLI (Reuters) — A lioness escaped from a circus here, entered a house and stood behind a woman cooking at her stove. When the housewife saw the lion she fainted. The owner, following the animal, threw it a piece of meat doped with opium. The lion ate it, fell asleep, and was taken back to the circus.

2 RCAF Fliers Killed, Jet Crashes in Field

AYLMER, Que. (CP) — Two RCAF fliers were killed today when their CF-100 jet fighter crashed and exploded in a farmer's field about two miles northwest of this community.

The planes were part of a flight of eight which had taken off from Uplands airbase at Ottawa a few minutes before.

An RCAF officer said the fighter had a full load of fuel, accounting for the terrific blast which was heard by residents for several miles around. He said the crash was not known immediately.

Railway Unions Protest Higher Boost to Others

MONTREAL (CP)—Unions representing non-operating CNR employees have planned meetings to protest the granting of higher wage increases to unorganized workers than those awarded union members.

Union spokesmen described the unorganized workers as non-scheduled employees, employed mostly in offices.

The unions claim that while their members received an 11-per-cent increase, the unorganized workers got a 13-per-cent boost.

RAILWAY FIREMEN REJECT REPORT, VOTE ON STRIKE

Union Plans to Resist CPR Diesel Change

MONTREAL (CP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (CLC) has reiterated its strong opposition to any attempts to reduce operating personnel on diesel trains. It rejected a federal conciliation board's majority report and announced plans to call a strike vote among its CPR employees.

"We are prepared to resist with every resource at our command if the CPR undertake to eliminate the jobs of thousands of firemen-helpers," brotherhood vice-president W. E. Gamble of Montreal said Wednesday night. The union had told the board it was prepared to strike on the question.

The conciliation board recommendations announced Wednesday, rejected firemen be eliminated on freight and yard service, but that no firemen be discharged who have qualified as engineers and who have three years' firemen's seniority.

DECREASES WAGE BID

It also recommended a 12-per-cent wage increase retroactive to last April and that the present 200-mile limit be retained.

The brotherhood sought 25 per cent.

It has been estimated about 1,000 men would be lopped from CPR diesel locomotives under the company plan, which it claims would save $8,500,000 annually.

Mr. Gamble said the brotherhood has more than 10,000 Canadian members and 2,500 on CPR operations. He reckoned the average basic wage—computed under a variety of factors—at $10.77 a 100 miles or eight-hour day for passenger personnel and at $12.50 a 100 miles or eight-hour day for freight.

He said a telegraph strike vote will be taken next Wednesday of the 7,000 CPR employees across the country. The result "should be known in 24 hours."

The CPR said it has no immediate comment either on the conciliation board report or the union statement.

CRITICIZES REPORT

Mr. Gamble said the recommendation regarding retention of three-man crews—helpers are "impractical, hazardous, makeshift and contrary to good public policy."

Vacancies would develop quickly, he said, and the corporation would arise with firemen on some trains, none on others.

He said the settlement had been reached this year on the same issues with the CNR and other 140 American lines.

The conciliation board, which has placed its report before Labor Minister Gregg, consisted of Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville, chairman, company nominee Emmett M. Hall, Montreal and Senator Arthur Roebuck, Ontario Liberal and union nominee who delivered the minority report.

N. Turofsky Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Nat Turofsky, a wellknown sports photographer here for 30 years, died today in hospital. He was 60.

Mr. Turofsky underwent an abdominal operation Wednesday after collapsing a few hours earlier. He was known to have suffered from a form of arteriosclerosis.

U.S. Subjects Hungarian Refugees To Closer Than Usual Screening

WASHINGTON (AP)—Immigration authorities today said Hungarians being admitted to the United States under the emergency program are now being subjected to "more of a security screening" than regular visa applicants.

One official expressed confidence that the various security steps will prevent Communists from slipping into the U.S. under the guise of refugees.

President Eisenhower has ordered the admission of 21,500 Hungarians who fled their Soviet-oppressed homeland into Austria, and permanent visas already have been granted to 6,500 of this number under the Refugee Relief Act which is due to expire at the end of 1956.

Another 15,000 refugees are due for admission under special "parole" granted by Attorney-General Herbert Brownell.

The 15,000 Hungarians being brought in under "parole" are being checked in Austria for possible Communist connections. They also will be screened anew before being given visas for permanent residence.

Companion Saves Fireman Trapped In Burning House

Dying Mother Flees Flames, Daughter Perishes in Bed

PICTON (Special) — Flames raging through their old frame structure home on West Main Street took the lives of two women early today and nearly snuffed out the life of a firefighter.

The dead are Miss Helen Burns, 30, and Mrs. Marion Burns, 50, her mother. Miss Burns, an invalid for many years, died in her bed despite an heroic attempt at rescue while Mrs. Burns died in a wheelchair en route to Prince Edward County hospital.

Fireman Harry Hotson, who was trapped in the burning bedroom where Miss Burns died, was rescued in the nick of time by a companion who fought through the thick, quick-thinking fellow firefighter.

WALKS FROM HOUSE

Mrs. Burns, terribly burned, walked out of her blazing home unaided, and in a state of collapse was assisted into a waiting ambulance. She died before arrival at the hospital. Shock is believed to have been the main cause of death.

Hotson fought his way up the smoke-filled stairway of the house to the bedroom where Miss Burns lay in bed. She was a heavy woman and as Hotson attempted to get her out of the bed the door collapsed and flames engulfed the room.

Fireman Don Trumpour, thinking Hotson was in trouble, quickly raised a ladder to the bedroom window. He smashed the glass and called out to Hotson, who was in a state of collapse but managed to get to the window. Trumpour hauled him through to safety, suffering cut hands in the attempt.

Two daughters of Mrs. Burns, Sadie and Marion, were at school when the fire started.

The house which was completely demolished is owned by Miss Lucila Broad, of Picton, who lived on the ground floor.

PAPERS CAUGHT FIRE

The fire is believed to have started from sparks from a coal stove which ignited a pile of old newspapers in the Broad apartment.

Miss Broad, Fire Chief Irvin Morton stated, ran to get a pail of water after the fire started, and had to be forcibly withheld from entering the blazing house.

The Picton fire department was directed to the scene but the flames had swept through the upper storey of the house by the time it arrived.

The fire, which started at ten o'clock this morning, was still burning at 11.15 but under control." Firemen fought the blaze doggedly, but the house, said to be one of the oldest in Picton, was an easy prey for the flames. It is situated well back from Main Street in a more or less isolated location.

Vote to Sell Power

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Power Authority has voted to sell a large slice of St. Lawrence River power to private industry.

A split vote Wednesday—2 to 1 —approved a contract to sell at least 200,000 kilowatts of steady power to the Reynolds Metals Co. at approximately $11,000,000 a year. This involves about 25 per cent of the power expected to be produced initially by the project, but the state will operate with Ontario.

Two Men Arrested In Florida for Montreal Theft

MONTREAL (CP)—Gary Hart, 21-year-old brokerage firm clerk, and an unidentified Montrealer were arrested today in Miami, Fla., in connection with theft of $700,000 in negotiable securities from a firm of brokers here.

The arrests were made by Captain Joseph Bedard, a Montreal detective, who left here Wednesday on New York to follow up a tip that suspects in the case had fled across the border.

Theft of the securities from R. Mault and Company was discovered Friday during a surprise audit. Police believe the securities were taken in small amounts over a period extending back to last August.

Inspector William Fitzpatrick, chief of the Montreal detective bureau, announced the arrests here. He said the two men were nabbed in bed at a Miami hotel where they had registered in their own names. They had driven to Miami Beach from Montreal, trailed by Captain Bedard.

NO SECURITIES RECOVERED

Inspector Fitzpatrick said a check of missing securities has been completed and it is shown their total value amounted to $700,000.

No securities were recovered from the arrested men, but Inspector Fitzpatrick said police found about $2,000 in cash on him.

Hart was sought on a warrant charging him with the theft. No warrant had been issued for the second man.

Woman Angry, Broke Fingernail After 30-Foot Fall

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A car went out of control on the harbor freeway Wednesday, plunged through a railing and crashed on a street 30 feet below.

Mrs. Carrie Louise Washington, 37, climbed out of the wreckage unhurt but mad.

"Darn," she said, "I broke a fingernail."

CITY and DISTRICT NEWS

DESERONTO FISHERMAN HAD CLOSE CALL

DESERONTO — Elmer Amey, local fisherman, had a close call on Thursday morning last week. He was assisting James Sherman lift his nets when Mr. Sherman looked around and saw his helper was missing. Mr. Sherman hurried across the ice and found Mr. Amey in the icy water. After pulling him out Mr. Sherman took the man home for a change of clothes. Mr. Amey was none the worse for his harrowing experience.

CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST YOUTH

A charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident laid against 18-year-old Angus Thompson, of Crookston, was dismissed by Magistrate T. Y. Wills here this morning because, the magistrate said, there was no indication that the boy attempted to escape civil and criminal liability.

Provincial police from Belleville laid the charge in October following the death of 64-year-old Herman Woodcock, of Bancroft, on the Madoc county road about one mile north of Halloway. Thompson was charged with being the driver of the car that struck the man.

Thompson was defended by Belleville lawyer Ronald Cass. Crown Attorney John A. Pringle prosecuted.

300 Underprivileged Children Will Be Happy This Christmas Due to Firemen and Helpers

Thanks to the donation of almost unlimited time by a group of local businessmen and factory workers, together with fund raising efforts on the part of city firemen, some 300 local kiddies who otherwise might have gone short Christmas morning are to be assured of a visit from Santa Claus.

Approximately 1,000 toys and dolls of all description, the biggest percentage of them repaired like new, and others brand new, are piled high at the Moira street firehall ready for distribution to underprivileged kiddies.

Firemen will begin the task of distribution later this week and by Sunday evening it is expected all will be delivered.

In addition to the toys firemen have also purchased mittens, rubbers and other clothing from their Underprivileged Children's Fund and these also will be distributed.

Doing a big share in the toy repair department was Eric Cooper, local real estate agent, who has spent long hours during recent weeks in directing operations at a special toy repair department set up in a Dundas street warehouse. Assisting him have been fifteen to eighteen local business men and factory workers.

Collection of broken and other donated toys was done through the co-operation of the Shell Oil Company and city firemen.

SHELL STATIONS DEPOTS

Shell service stations in Belleville and district were used as toy depots, while firemen also collected toys on their ov n time turned in and on a limited scale assisted in repairs.

Considerable effort is being made to make certain that there will be no duplication of toy gifts to underprivileged children and the lists of various organizations are being cross checked at the firehall before distribution starts.

"All lists are being brought here to be collated against our master list," Fire Chief Gerald Vance stated.

The lists include names of children as far out as Foxboro and Corbyville, down the Kingston Road and out the Trent Road, it was stated.

So "Operation Santa Claus" will begin tomorrow and by the time the rounds are completed, thanks to city firemen and a group of businessmen and factory workers with kind hearts and willing hands, it is almost certain no underprivileged kiddie will be left out this Christmas.

Obituary

EARL MARACLE
Tyendinaga Reserve

The funeral of the late Earl Maracle, Tyendinaga Reserve, who died December 15th in the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, was held Tuesday from the residence of Andrew Sero, Airport Road, Deseronto, to Christ Anglican Church where service was conducted by Rev. W. F. Smith. Interment was in Christ Anglican Church cemetery.

Bearers were G. Carroll, Harold Davis, Roy Brant, Norman Spencer Gerald Wrightman and John Vanderbeck. The funeral was under direction of White Funeral Home, Deseronto.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander "Ace" Maracle, he was born on the Tyendinaga Reserve, 46 years ago, and during his active years worked as a stationary engineer. He had been ill for some time.

He is survived by one son, Howard E. Maracle, Kingston; and four daughters, Mrs. Muriel Wrightman, Toronto; Mrs. Mildred Brant, Deseronto; Mrs. Gertrude Davis, Toronto and Mrs. Ietta Carroll of Deseronto.

Three brothers, Alexander Maracle, Tyendinaga Reserve, Mohawk, Oshawa, and Frank Maracle of Detroit, Mich., also survive.

He is survived by his wife, the former Kathleen Embury, and one daughter, Mrs. V. (Helen) McMurray and three granddaughters. He was the last of his family.

Son Suggests Idea for New Song

An innocent request on the part of Ross Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Riley, Goldfale Road, for his father to bring him the words suggested the idea for a new song "Faith You Have in Me," written by his mother and now accepted for publication by a Toronto publishing firm. Belleville's newest song writer, Mrs. Riley, is shown above with her children before the piano. Left to right are Janie, Ross and Ruth.

Witness Tells How Articles Were Stolen

This morning Magistrate T. Y. Wills remanded 19-year-old William Keegan on bail until January 10th on a charge of breaking, entering and theft. The adjournment came after Crown Attorney John A. Pringle closed the case for the prosecution to allow the defence counsel, Ben Hurley, to prepare a defence.

An inmate of Hastings County Jail, who is serving time on conviction of a like charge, testified that on the early morning of November 11 he and Keegan were driven to an address on North Park St. After pretending to be unsuspecting driver that they were going to visit a girl, However, continued 18-year-old Rodney Sharpe, instead of paying the visit he and the defendant talked a short distance across a field to Kelly's Sport Shop on the Foxboro road. There they admired the articles in the window for awhile before Sharpe picked up a steel bar and put it through the heavy plate glass window.

Sharpe maintained that he was the one who entered the store and stole ten rifles and three revolvers, but insisted he had Keegan's help in carrying the spoils to a vacant field behind the premises. After the raid the two returned to the car on North Park St. and were driven to their place of operations on South George St.

That night, Sharpe said, he returned to the field in a borrowed truck, took the weapons and cached them near Lazier's dam. On November 12 Sharpe returned to the dam and took the booty and buried it in the Oak Lake hills. Keegan later aided in his return to the hills Sharpe found only two revolvers and a rifle there — ammunition and the loot was missing. He took the three weapons, wrapped the two revolvers and buried them in a culvert on St. Paul St.; the rifle he hid in a swamp near Lazier's dam. Sharpe took OPP Constable A. Cockburn and city detective Jack Kent to the buried treasure after his arrest.

Innocent Faith of Small Boy In His Daddy Prompts Mother To Write Engaging Song

The innocent faith of a small boy in the belief that his daddy is capable of accomplishing even the impossible, has provided the idea for a locally written song which has been accepted for publication by a Toronto publishing firm.

One evening several months ago, Ross Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Riley, 21 Goldfale Road, was "assisting" with the maintenance chores in the backyard at his parents' home when he admired the big silvery moon hanging low in the sky and apparently just over the Riley home.

So he asked his daddy to climb the ladder leaning against the house and bring the big moon down to him.

It was this simple request which suggested the idea for the song "Faith You Have in Me," which Mrs. Riley has had accepted for publication by Gordon L. Thomson, Ltd., well known Canadian publishers.

The song, which deals with the unlimited faith youngsters have in their fathers' ability to accomplish even miracles, has now been forwarded to New York for musical arrangements and is expected to be printed in the very near future.

SUNG AT HOUSE PARTIES

"Faith You Have in Me" has been sung and admired locally at house parties and will have its official debut this evening over CJBQ. It will be heard over the air on the "Music 'till Midnight" program between 9:30 and 10:00 p.m.

Harold Carruthers, well known local broadcaster, will sing the words with music by The Commodores Orchestra. The song has been taped for the broadcast.

While song writing is not exactly a new experience for Mrs. Riley, this is the first song which she has had accepted for publication. And the old saying that "nothing succeeds like success" must have a bit of truth, for a song written by Mrs. Riley back in 1940 with the help of a fellow nursing student, is now being considered for publication.

Oddly enough, "Faith You Have in Me" was written originally as a poem, with the musical score added later by Mrs. Riley.

Two Are Killed, Five Injured In Car Collision

TORONTO (CP) — Two persons were killed and five injured Wednesday night when a car collided with a bus making the final stop of its last trip for the day at nearby Malton.

Dead are James Bradley, 22, and William Young, 29, both of Brampton, Ont.

Changes in Bus Service, Routes On January 1st

New bus fares and changes in bus service given final approval by city council Monday evening at a special meeting will be put into effect on January 1st, it was stated today by Mr. Fred Rawson of Rawson Bus Lines.

The amended agreement between the city and the bus, line was officially signed Wednesday but present bus schedules and fares will continue until the end of the year.

At the first of the year bus fares will increase from three tickets for a quarter to two tickets for a quarter or 15 cents cash fare for adults and from five to seven cents cash fare for children.

Also the present Crosstown bus will cease operation but the Dunbarr-Geddes street bus will be routed in lieu and place of the Crosstown bus on its West Hill run, while the Parkwood bus will be re-routed down Victoria Avenue instead of down Bridge street at present to provide service formerly given by the Crosstown bus on the East Hill run.

Merchants Told To Be Wary Of Shoplifters

Bob Hamilton, secretary-manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, advised city merchants and the public in general to be on the lookout for shoplifters and bad cheque passers taking advantage of the Christmas rush.

The local police department has received word from Kingston police that shop-lifting there has been prominent lately and those responsible may be headed in this direction. Bad cheques have also been numerous.

Mr. Hamilton stated that this scheme usually reaches a high at this time of year when merchants are busy with the flood of Christmas shoppers. If the shop-lifters are successful at one store they will continue, working from one place to another. Clerks are urged to be on the lookout at all times since discouragement upon their arrival usually sends the non-paying customers on their way.

Proper identification should be produced before cheques are cashed.

Mr. Hamilton also advises the merchants to use the night-depository system as much as possible when banking the day's receipts since bank holidays are numerous at this point in the year.

God knew you were suffering,
He knew you would never get better,
So in His world again,
He saw the road was getting harder,
And took you home to climb.
So He climbed your weary ladder,
And whispered, "Peace be thine."
You left behind an aching heart,
Who loves you most sincere.
So we have and never will,
Forget you, Shirley dear.
—Sadly missed by Mother and Family.

CARSON. — In loving memory of Shirley Carson, who passed away December 20th, 1951.
Her memory is our keepsake,
With which we will never part.
God took her home, it was His will,
We have her in our hearts.
—Sadly missed by sister Georgina and brother-in-law Bill.

LANDON. — In loving memory of a dear husband, Percy Landon, who passed away December 20th, 1953.
In sorrow we waited day by day,
And watched your suffering there,
Slowly but surely passing away,
Each breath a prayer you could hear.
And then God called from His throne above
Her suffering again are ended;
We know she has gone to realms of love,
And in heaven has peace at last.
—Lovingly remembered by sister Barbara, brother-in-law Leon, Larry and Sylvia.

GODDARD. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edward Goddard, who passed away December 20th, 1953.
His smiling way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall,
He had a kindly word for each,
And greeted one and all.
Some day we know not when,
He'll clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials paced the stock market to an irregularly higher tone today in slow morning trading.

Buying was highly selective and confined, in most cases, to fractions among blue-priced stocks and pennies among low-priced mines and western oils.

The industrial index gained nearly 1¼ points. Base metals and western oils showed little change on their indices.

In industrials Canada Iron Foundry, Consolidated Paper and Union Gas were ahead between one and 1¼ points. Canada Steamships added 3¼ points but only on a 25-share sale.

Uraniums were strong among mining issues. Consolidated Denison added ½ and Algom ¼.

PRODUCE MARKET

The egg market was steady on grade A large with receipts equal to a fairly good demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: Eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A large 37; A medium 32-33; A small 27-28; B 32-33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 42; A medium 37-38; A small 33-33; B 32-33; C 31.

Butter solids: Canada, first grade, Ontario tenderable 58; untenderable 58½; western 58½ (nominal).

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP) — Sales consisted of a few loads of medium and good steers and a few stockers of low-grade cows at the Ontario public stockyards today.

Receipts: Cattle 180; calves 75; hogs 700; sheep and lambs were unsold. Carryover from Wednesday 600.

Prices: good steers 19.50-20; mediums 16-18; commons 14-16.

Hogs: Grade A 30; sow 20.50-21.50 with a load of 41 sows selling at 22.50 per hundredweight; stags 15 dressed-weight.

Sheep and lambs: No sales.

DOLLAR RATE

Start Building New Hydro Office Early Next Year

Construction of the new regional office of the Eastern Division of the Ontario Hydro Electric Commission, is expected to get underway early in the new year at the corner of Herchimer Ave., and East Dundas St., it was reported today by Mr. William Watson of the firm Watson and Wiegand, local architects.

Mr. Watson said he had been instructed by the H.E.P.C. to take out a building permit for the new office building and it was expected construction would get underway early in January.

Tenders have been called for construction but the successful bidder has not been announced. Cost of the new office building is estimated at approximately $600,000.

The structure will be of two stories and full basement.

Children Told Santa Claus Is 'Myth and Lie'

BOWMANVILLE, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Bertha (Mom) Whyte, who has turned her farm into a foster home for more than 80 children, said today she has told her charges that Santa Claus is a "myth and lie."

She said she did it because Santa Claus detracts from the real spirit of Christmas.

"I guess this makes some people think we are strange," she said.

"But Santa Claus is a myth and a lie, when everything about Christmas should be the truth. Christmas should be a reality and we teach the children to enjoy it as such."

But other Christmas features have not been neglected. Three large Christmas trees have been decorated by the children, orphans or products of broken homes.

Receive Proficiency Badges

Scouting History Made as Four Cubs Win Highest Awards

Last night at Prince Charles public school Belleville Scouting made history. For the first time in the long life of the movement here four city Cubs were awarded their thirteenth proficiency badges—the highest achievement Cubs anywhere can make.

On hand to receive their eyelet badges from area deputy commissioner Joe Cubs, Phil Allerun, were Brian Skinner of the 1st Foxboro Pack; Robbie Blaker, 2nd Belleville Pack; John Goslin and Robert Reddick of the 8th Belleville Pack. The badges were presented in the presence of parents, brothers and sisters and friends at the 8th Belleville Cubs and Scout Troop Christmas concert, chaster of ceremonies was T. McCoy, chairman of the Men's Group Committee, 8th Belleville Cubs and Scouts and operating the spotlight was Cy Middleton.

Amid hearty applause the four Cubs mounted the stage in the school auditorium, shook hands with Mr. Allerun and received their badges. It is worthy of note that the leaders were won in a period of about four years. The next step the Cubs may take is to join a Scout troop. With the lads on the stage were their leaders, Mr. Jim Churchill, Mrs. Margaret Kemp, and Mrs. Lillian Ashley.

On making the presentations the deputy commissioner said, "The aim of Scouting is not for Cubs just to get 13 badges but rather that they make these achievements and also learn something of value which they can carry through their lives."

The concert was carried out with the seriousness and effort that only young boys are capable of showing. It was amazing to see just how much talent there actually is among the younger generation in Belleville. So much effort was put into the performances by the Cubs and leaders that it was only on few occasions that someone forgot his lines. However, when this did happen the slight error was almost immediately rectified. The participants in the unforgettable concert rate an orchid.

After the singing of "God Save The Queen" the Scouters joined and sang "Bless This House", followed by the official welcome by John Coombs.

PLAY IS GIVEN

A five act play titled "Christmas is for Kids" was well acted by Cubs and Scouters. Cub Dyson Sargent showed his ability on the piano accordion with a solo. A delightful recitation was then given by Cub Bob McCoy, following which four costumed Cubs enacted the scene in the stable, where the Christ child was born. Participating in this playlet called "Symbols of Christmas" were Stephen Flindall, Ronnie Wardhaugh, Donald Steed, and To the absence of Rickey Halsey who was ill, Robert Lake completed the quartet. Another recitation, this time by Cub Gerald Hill, was delightfully delivered and warmly received. Cub Stephen Flindall made an encore by skillfully playing a piano solo.

Cub John Goslin, is perhaps thinking of a career in the movies or journalism, as either case he should make quite a hit. Acted by himself and fellow Cubs, John presented a skit written and produced by himself.

Cub Larry Hardwick delighted the audience with his guitar solo. And "We Three Kings" was expertly acted and sung by Cubs Murray Linn, John Coombs, and Gerald Gills.

A typical example of the unselfishness possessed by each boy in the group was shown when Cub Richard Woodley presented a pile of white gifts to the Rev. E. Smith, padre of the Eighth Belleville Cubs and Scouts, for distribution to less fortunate children in the area. Each boy had saved his pennies and bought something he knew a little boy or girl his own age would appreciate for Christmas.

GATHE.. AROUND FIRE

In the summer time at camp one of the most pleasant times had is when leaders, Scouts and Cubs gather around a warm camp fire at night. Such a scene was reenacted last night on the stage, the fire, of course, being artificial.

The Christmas pageant and closing exercises were delightful to watch. Cubs and Scouts alike marched to the front of the auditorium holding high the flags of various countries represented in the United Nations. Highlighting the pageant was the singing of Christmas music by the boys and four angels in white garb on the stage. Beautiful solos were offered by eight-year-old Cub Larry Cain, whose quality and power amazed everyone.

Cub Larry Seames thanked everyone for attending the concert and said he hoped a good time was enjoyed.

Just before the audience rose to leave, Santa Claus came running through the door amid the cheers of young and old. Mounting the stage the bewhiskered gentleman wished everyone a Merry Christmas and distributed gifts to the Cubs and Scouts.

Turkeys, Geese, Fowl Plentiful But Trade Slow

Christmas turkeys, geese and fowl were plentiful on the local market this morning but vendors reported slow trading with few prospective customers.

Fully drawn turkeys were quoted at 60 cents for toms and 65 cents for hens on the inside market, while on the market square birds up to 18 pounds were quoted at 55 cents and at 55 for turkeys over 18 pounds.

Geese were quoted at 60 cents per pound, while capons brought 60 cents and mature fowl 45 cents per pound.

Turkeys, geese and chickens were practically all that were offered on the inside market.

Christmas trees were freely offered on the market square with prices ranging from $1.25 to a top of $5 for large trees.

I.O.O.F. Lodge Members Receive Veteran Jewels

At the Odd Fellows hall, Belleville Lodge, No. 81, IOOF recently celebrated their 85th anniversary. The lodge was instituted on December 13, 1871.

Visitors were present from Stirling, Kingston, Toronto, Tweed and Campbellford.

Mr. Ray Rouse, Noble Grand of the lodge, acted as chairman for the evening.

The following program was much enjoyed.

Pupils from the Dorothy Dickey School of Dancing gave the following numbers: Carolyn Chisholm and Karen Post, Highland tap dance; Grace Sinclair, tap dance; Judy Robinson, acrobatic dance; Allen Colden and David Roper, tap dance; Carolyn Chisholm, tap dance on roller skates; Karen Post and Bledy Lough, singing duet "Honey" and tap dancing; Bledy Lough, solo, "I saw Mommy Kissing Santa Claus".

Danny Boy gave several selections on the guitar and led the members in community singing. Sleight of hand tricks were also enjoyed as was Danny Boy's pal, who sat on his knee and talked back to him.

Brother Newton Foster of Kingston was the visiting Master IOOF of Ontario, spoke on Old Fellowship. He then asked the following brothers to come forward to receive their veteran jewels: Brother Fox, Grand Patriach of the Encampment of Ontario; Brother Johnny Hinds, Alfred Cooper, William Taylor, Wilson Bird and Gordon Miller.

The District Deputy Grand Master, Brother Cliff Gunter of Trenton, District No. 47, spoke briefly and asked the following brothers to stand, who were presented with Past Grand jewels: Brother Alex Jewel presented by Brother Newton Foster, Past Grand Master; Brother Arthur Summers, jewel presented by Grand Patriach Earl Fox; Brother Larry Pullin, jewel presented by Ralph Hubbs, Grand Junior Warden of the Encampment of Ontario.

Refreshments were served by the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary Patriachs' Militant, Belleville, No. 8, after which dancing was enjoyed by all.

MOVIES LIMIT THEIR SPHERE

The Motion Picture Association of America, Inc., has revised its production code.

The revision reflects some of the changes which a quarter of a century have wrought in our outlook on life and morals.

Among subjects which were formerly on the proscribed list which can now be portrayed in films "within the limits of good taste" are kidnapping, childbirth and the illegal drug traffic.

There are, however, some subjects which are still taboo — mercy killings, blasphemy and double entendre among them.

It is possible to quarrel with the ban on all of the three examples given.

Euthanasia, although condemned by almost all religious bodies, is advocated by a number of thoughtful people and ought to be a subject which people are free to debate.

So many things have been condemned as blasphemous that if all such matters were banned the movie makers would be hard put to discover a subject. The dictionary gives several definitions of blasphemy, but in "Measure for Measure" Shakespeare called the turn:

"That in the captain's but a choleric word
Which in the soldier is flat blasphemy."

As for double entendre it is the spice of a jest for many of our liveliest intellects and the question of whether it is objectionable or not does not rest with the number of the meanings but with their nature.

As for the limitation on other subjects, the requirement that their handling be "within the limits of good taste," there is not only the obvious question of who is to be the judge of good taste but also the even more important question of whether movie-makers should be concerned within the mores of the moment. There was a time, not many years ago, when any discussion of venereal disease would definitely have been considered in bad taste for the vast majority, and when some would have passed a similar verdict on a film dealing with tuberculosis or cancer.

If it is necessary to limit the freedom of movie producers in this fashion, then it is obvious that the films are renouncing any right to present many controversial subjects and are leaving such controversies to authors and others.

This seems a pity, for there have been occasions, rare but memorable, when some of the movie directors have shown distinct signs of being eager to participate in the free discussion of moral problems and have produced films which have had a tremendous impact on public opinion.

The self-censorship code for the movie industry may assist it to entertain millions and profit thereby with a minimum of criticism, but it certainly cannot result in any lessening of the legitimate stage that full freedom of speech which ought to mean as much to the theatre as it does to the book publisher.

PRESSURE IS ON

The pressure is on.

The recently appointed Ontario Water Resources Commission has commenced to order municipalities to start work on sewage disposal plants.

Sarnia has been ordered to begin construction by July 1 next year or face fines of $100 a day. Unless Sarnia has its plans ready, it almost certainly faces stiff penalties, for it would be virtually impossible to carry out a survey, draft plans and let a contract in time for construction to commence a mere six months hence.

Mayor W. C. Nelson of Sarnia says that the Water Commission's order will "ruin the city" and that agreements for Commission with other southwestern Ontario municipalities to sign will likewise ruin them.

The other side of the picture is that continued pollution of our water resources will certainly prove extremely costly to us, if not in the health of our citizens then in their material wealth.

It may well be that municipalities will need financial assistance but it should not be impossible to undertake this work without ruining anybody.

Belleville is fortunate that the initial pressure for the construction of sewage disposal plants is being applied in another section of the province. Still, our turn may not be far distant.

Some surprise has been expressed at the fact that 13-year-old Garry Barchard of Newcastle, after being struck in the chest by a stray bullet, watched television for half an hour before he received medical attention. Garry is just a smart lad, applying an ancient principle. The pain-killing value of a counter-irritant has long been known.

EXCITEMENT

The door bell rings; the children He comes, but never rings the bell.
To see what packages arrive.
Such curiosity is fun
And it is good to be alive.
For these are days of secrets deep
And they are difficult to keep.

"Tis by the chimney he arrives;
Across the roofs his reindeers
To find good children he contrives,
Although the front door he will shun.
The necktie, and the gloves
Which I shall later wear with pride—
The minute they are in the hall
Are never difficult to hide.
But, life's a struggle to conceal
The little fellow's wanted wheel.

For Santa starts watch you needn't keep;
He only comes when you're asleep.

"No! No!" we say. "Stay where you are
And do what you've been told to do.
Don't try to pull the door ajar;
The packages are not for you.
Old Santa Claus knows where you dwell;

The door bell rings; the race is on,
As it happened years
before.
But, first or last, there's never one
Who finds it's Santa at the door.
He fills their stockings, top to toe,
But how he does it I don't know.

Deep Sleep Rare in Animals

National Geographic Magazine

When nature rings the bedtime bell, members of the animal kingdom retire in wonderfully different ways.

Some creatures sleep standing, for they are not built to lie down comfortably. Others sleep from birth to death, cannot close their eyes. Some animals upset the theory that a long slumber is necessary to health.

Yet, in its own way, everything gets the physiological rest necessary to its welfare.

South American sloths take rest to an extreme. Hanging upside down in damp tropical forests, these tree dwellers doze eighteen hours a day and appear dead for days even when awake. They move so slowly that a greenish alga grows in their fur.

On the other hand, ruminants, such as cows and sheep sleep very little, if at all, in repose. The red deer may keep the horns upright, seldom lying down flat. Physiologists believe there may be a connection between the animals' wakefulness and their digestion.

African elephants sleep erect. Despite their enormous bodily purity, adults of this species may remain standing the last thirty or forty years of their lives. This no doubt accounts for the old belief that elephants had no joints in their legs. Actually, African elephants can kneel and lie down but prefer to remain aloft on their sturdy limbs.

In zoos, female elephants favor recumbent sleep. They normally take their rest two-hour shifts, from about 10 a.m. to midafternoon, and from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Horses, like African elephants, rest better aloof. When a horse is lying down, its weight arranges the muscles and restricts the under lung. As a horse dozes on, a muscular reaction of the leg joints in place.

A similarly remarkable action clamps a sleeping bird onto a limb. As the weight of the bird's body flexes the ankle joints, tendons automatically force the toes into a tight curve. Even a dead bird keeps its balance — even in a stiff wind.

Snakes, having fixed eyelids, cannot blink or close their eyes. They rest lightly, ever ready alert to moving objects.

Fishes' eyes, similarly, are ever open. But at bedtime, fish may settle to the bottom of a stream or aquarium, seemingly wrapping themselves in rest, retreating inwardly into their watery world.

Sleeping habits of whales remain a mystery. The fact that many have been struck by ships at night, however, indicates that these vigorous, intelligent mammals require deep rest comparable to that of man. Perhaps they, like sea cows, simply turn over and float like logs.

Members of the monkey family are comfort-loving orangutan builds its own bedlike platform of branches and leaves in the forks of trees, and often covers up with leaves. Orangutans hate to get up.

Young gorillas and some females build tree nests. But adult males, weighing up to 600 pounds, get too heavy to climb. They usually make ground nests, a nest of leaves at the foot of a tree, lean back against the trunk, and call it a day.

St. Laurent's 'Mulligan'

Ottawa Journal

We are fascinated by a headline in our favorite newspaper, which reads "Takes a Mulligan." It concerned a game of golf at Augusta, Georgia, with President Eisenhower, the "mulligan" taken by Mr. St. Laurent was neither a soup nor a stew nor a fancy cocktail. What happened was that the President's first shot, a drive from the first tee was short, and the President told him to "take a mulligan," meaning a second shot, to substitute for the first. (The mulligan, we are happy to read, went 150 yards down the fairway.)

A bit of research reveals an interesting background for this surprising golf term. Years ago one of Ottawa's best-known and most popular citizens was Mr. Dave Mulligan, who ran the long-vanished Russell Hotel. Mr. Mulligan was a golfer, and sometimes in playful mood and a friendly game when he had a poor drive he would concede that operation and take another shot. This procedure became known locally as "taking a mulligan" and the phrase is still in common use here.

Apparently the expression has spread far afield. In golfing circles, Mr. Mulligan later moved on to New York where he made the Biltmore Hotel a haven for golfers. Sometimes he took a mulligan there too, and somewhere along the line the expression picked up the phrase and added it to his golfing vocabulary. So we have the President of the United States telling the Prime Minister of Canada to "take a mulligan" without knowing, we may be sure, that the gentleman was a citizen of no mean capital.

Drive Like Hurricanes

Christian Science Monitor

"Are you a hurricane driver?" asks the National Safety Council. Stop and look yourself coolly in the eyes before you answer "Yes."

For these modern automobiles, magnificent in getting drivers out of tight spots, are also deceivers in the grand manner. On today's straight, wide highways they can entice the motorist up to 70, 75, 80, 90 miles an hour. They glide so effortlessly.

Yet 75 miles an hour is weather and temperature speed for ice, for just nice, soft, moving air. And hurricanes can tear up cities and countrysides. What can two tons of hard steel automobile do? Physicists tell us that the force of moving at 60 miles an hour carries eight times the physical force of one moving at a mere 20. And, the Safety Council tells us, during the last Christmas holiday, driving at excess of the legal limit or too fast for prevailing conditions resulted into 85 per cent of the fatal accidents.

So curb your two-ton hurricane, Mr. Driver — even on an arrow-straight, four-lane, dual turnpike.

"We might as well have given them today off after that Christmas party yesterday."

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO
DECEMBER 20, 1938

The annual meeting of the Thurlow Conservative Association was held in the Orange Hall at Canniffon on Friday evening and was largely attended. Mr. George Kretschmann presided, occupied the chair. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. Reynolds; first vice-president, Clayton Eggleton; second vice-president, S. Mayo; secretary-treasurer, E. Yorke; poll chairmen, Point Anne, H. Sealand; Front Road, F. Purdy; second concession, J. T. Bonnett; Bonnett's Lake, A. Horn; College Hill, J. Ross; Canniffon, F. Easton; Coeyville, H. Greeve; Foxboro, S. Sherry; Zion, H. Beatty; Plainfield, F. Gray. Miss Eleanor Stevenson is home from Toronto University to spend the Christmas vacation.

Mr. William Logie is home from the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Roy Logie.

Miss Helen Ackerman is home from Queen's University to spend the Christmas vacation.

Miss Alice Connors, George Street, has left to spend the Christmas season in New York City. Later she will go to Havana where she will spend the winter months.

Miss Olive Hamilton, Bog N. Street, Mich., is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents in Belleville.

Miss Elizabeth Kinnear is home from McDonald College where she has been attending Christmas holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Kinnear, Charles St.

Mr. Stewart Johnstone and Miss Jean Sherwin, both Belleville, fiancé, are here to spend the Christmas season with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Cooke, Gordon St.

30 YEARS AGO
DECEMBER 20, 1926

Eddie Thomas' branch hotel on the corner of Bridge and the west side of upper Front Street, was broken into last night and a quantity of soft drinks, chocolates and cigarets was stolen. The thieves overlooked a few cheap and plentiful, and here are, 500,000 books on the move from public library alone. The things obviously worthless and probably harmful. The precedent may well leave them well alone.

It is regrettable that the report did not make clear how high this conveyor belt is from the street and whether the titles can be read. Probably only the larger books would be visible, and these, imposing volumes, tall and dressed in leather, which, in glass - protected cases, form the invariable background to studio portraits of famous, and not so famous, men of letters.

The little compulsionable books, books like those in the pocket editions, for instance, would probably slide on their own momentum, which would be a pity and might well give the pedestrians in the street below the wrong impression.

We shall, alas, probably never know what happens to them. Library is more patronized than the old, or, if so, the increase in customers is due to the spectacular nature of the movie.

Test of Devotion

Hamilton Spectator

If there is one thing calculated to modify the sentiments of the average bird-lover, it is to have starlings choose the eavestroughs of his home and the trees on the front lawn as a roosting spot.

OFF THE RECORD

By Ed Reed

Books Over Their Heads

The Times of London

A conveyor belt, 700 feet long, which passes over one of Denver's main streets, is, it is reported, being used to move 500,000 books from the city's principal public library to a new building. This move will take several days, and, assuming that the books as they travel on their conveyor are sent home to their new will be visible to one and all, the question of the effect on the culture of the town is not without interest.

The optimists, those who would like to believe that the line on the graph illustrating Denver's interest in the arts and in general literature in particular will rise as a result of this bit of house-moving, will doubtless point to the number of books involved.

Five hundred thousand is a lot of books, an impressive hunk of culture, and observers are apt to be impressed by numbers.

The sight of this vast conveyor belt concentrating on books and nothing but books will fill them with the conviction that there must be something in this reading business after all.

"It's not true that reading hurts your eyes," exclaims in effect a character in the play, "Look at me. I've just read a book so I know", and, the hopeful will argue, a horde of Denver citizens will be persuaded to try the same experiment.

The opposition will have none of this. The number of reading people, they will say, is greater than is generally believed and their natural reserve is not to advertise or boast that a million people can't be wrong is the contentment that they can be and they are.

The number of books, instead of being a boost for culture, is the reverse—there is a tendency to be suspicious of anything that is cheap and plentiful, and here are, 500,000 books on the move from public library alone. The things are obviously worthless and probably harmful. The precedent may well leave them well alone.

It is regrettable that the report did not make clear how high this conveyor belt is from the street and whether the titles can be read. Probably only the larger books would be visible, and these, imposing volumes, tall and dressed in leather, which, in glass - protected cases, form the invariable background to studio portraits of famous, and not so famous, men of letters.

The little compulsionable books, books like those in the pocket editions, for instance, would probably slide on their own momentum, which would be a pity and might well give the pedestrians in the street below the wrong impression.

We shall, alas, probably never know what happens to them. Library is more patronized than the old, or, if so, the increase in customers is due to the spectacular nature of the movie.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RISKS

No one gets very far in life who is afraid to take risks. There must be intelligence back of the taking of risks, however.

George Edward Woodberry, a great writer of essays, and an inspired man, gave an address in New York at the Cooper Club in 1911 in celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Wendell Phillips. I quote a few lines. He said: "It is impossible to live without taking risks. . . . The willingness to take risks is the very breath of faith. Risk is a part of God's game, alike for men and nations. Defeat is not the worst of failures. Not to have tried is the true failure. . . .

"Responsibilities grow less each day, if we are watchful and faithful. The older we grow the simpler it is to surrender to God all the faith that we own, and ask Him for more! It is by faith that the great of this earth, as well as the poorest, live and are happy because they are forever distributing it.

There are those who are forever taking risks in the market, wanting to get rich overnight. Little or no reason is put to use. Their risks are without thought. I cannot term them risks. They are by that grand friend to so many who has gone, Bernard Baruch, or Thomas Bird Mosher. He said: "Don't try to get rich, but live rich!"

All life is a risk, so that if we do our best by trying to make others happy the risks are bound to make us all happy, and our own happiness will be of the best. We need a deal of daring and a generous equipment of courage to meet all the emergencies of this life. Let us pray to God to keep us on the main road—the one without detours!

Why Fret About Calcium Deposits?

For a little over a year we have taken calcium. Last winter was the first in 15 years that I have not had stiff knees and pain in my arms. So far none of the old stiffness and pain has returned this year. For years I took medicine and shots for it, with little or no relief. My husband is now taking his Ca and D regularly too. We thank you so much . . ." —(Mrs. E. A.)

Although Mrs. E. A. says she and her husband are continuing to take (I wish she had said eat) a daily Ca & D ration, if they continue to live with anything like the regularity with which they take meat, potatoes and milk, just as they should, it's at least a 50-50 probability that Ben Told, Mrs. Sunney, or Salsey Gamp will inform them of the danger of calcium deposits and bring their little struggle for better nutrition to a frightened halt. When that happens, it is again a 50-50 probability that they'll tell me about it — not ask me. Then, I'm afraid, the poor creatures are lost. They drop back into line to await their turn for a shot of the latest miracle medicine for "arthritis."

Living in the fertile imagination of the clubman who knows nothing of pathology, "calcium deposits" occur on as a consequence of injury, infection, inflammation, or degeneration.

Months after I had fully recovered from bursitis with complete functional restoration of the shoulder, I sustained a fracture of the opposite shoulder. The X-ray films of the shoulders made for comparison revealed that this lady had been doing so far as I know or care the burns may be self-limited. The shoulder is as good as ever.

Trick specialists and "clinic" practitioners who find snide allusions to "calcium deposits" and "too much calcium" keep gullible customers in line are generally ignorant of pathology as they are of nutrition. They betray their ignorance of nutrition when they opine that the quantity of calcium I recommended as a fair daily ration for an adult in search of milk. If everyone consumed not less than three glasses of milk or skim milk (separator milk) or buttermilk daily and the remainder of his skim to daylight to manufacture enough vitamin D to insure good metabolism or utilization of calcium, many common complaints would become uncommon.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

At this stage of Christmas, tens of thousands of us are as usual bewailing our own stupidity in not having finished our Christmas shopping two days ago and the state of the down-town and suburban stores generally, almost paralyzed with traffic, and next to paralyzed in the stores and shops — and the sighs of shoppers, is proof that we are not the only ones who are fatuous, as usual, to profit by past experience.

What is the matter with us? Did we not learn last year? And the year before that, and before that? Haven't all the advertisements been begging us, for days past, to do our Christmas shopping early? And we as daft as ever. Why appear from the conditions down town?

No, we are not. The daft ones are those who started their carefull collection of Christmas gifts last October. For Christmas simply would not be Christmas without the inevitable last minute confusion. This final pandemonium of Christmas week, this hurried, breathless, melee and scramble are not an essential, but the essential, element of a mass celebration the like of which exists in no other but the Christian world. It is true it would be a better and more pleasant world if we, Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, believer, half-believer and unbeliever, made Christmas a long and entirely religious occasion and spent the whole season imbued, in devout and ceremonial thanksgiving for the birth of our Lord. There are many among us who do, in fact, respect Christmas wholly in that way. But it is a problem upon what seems to them a pagan orgy of material buying and selling and giving.

As the condition down-town illustrates, the vast majority of us are incapable, for some inscrutable reason, of being early and sensible upon the approach of Christmas. We must, we must get into the revelry. It is a jubilee, a rejoicing. Its tumult beckons us. We are in the grip of mid-night, Christmas eve, without a sudden soft appreciation even though it be only an instant, of the sacredness of what it is all about.

It is better not to be a cold, careful, farsighted and self-centred soul who now sits, all his or her last dollar last October, unemotionally apportioning them out to the measured friends and family.

Strength for The Day

THE PROCLAMATION

Moses prophesied the coming of was about to take a definite turn the Messiah by saying, "A prophet shall the Lord your God raise up unto you of your brethren, like unto Me; Him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever He shall say unto you." (Acts 3:22). And Isaiah had prophesied in the 53rd chapter of the advent of a Messiah these words: "He shall prolong His days, and the pleasure of the Lord shall prosper in his hand. He shall see of the travail of His soul, and shall be satisfied: by his knowledge shall my righteous servant justify many; for he shall bear their iniquities."

The classical writings of that period also tell us of difficulties as well as Jesus were at the time of Christ's birth looking for the coming of a Great Deliverer. Men seemed to sense that a significant change in human affairs was about to take place. Or to put it another way, the stream of history

Prophetic prophesy does not occur in a vacuum. It is the basis of a concept which is already in the Bible reader's mind. The statement of Amos 3:7 is a universal one: "Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets." Peter's sermon on the day of Pentecost was that a Saviour had come, and that acceptance of Him would bring forgiveness, and consequently salvation.

Belleville Minor Hockey Association

The Rangers and Redwings took over first place in the squirt section of the Belleville Minor hockey association last night while Texaco Five tightened it's grip on the top rung of the midget ladder.

Team Five ran it's perfect record to six wins in as many starts by downing Team Six 3-1. The other midget action saw Team Two down Team One 4-2 while Team Four shaded Team Three 3-1.

Rangers jumped to the Canadiens for the top spot in the squirt league defeating the Habs 4-1 while the Red Wings also passed the Canadiens with a 5-0 victory over the Maple Leafs. The Black Hawks defeated the Browns 2-1 and the Barons downed the Bruins 3-1 in the other game.

Buck Ethier fired a pair of goals as Team Two won, the other goals going to Guyer and Hook. Ethier also had an assist and Hall also helped on one. Hunter and McKenzie tallied unassisted goals for Team One.

Ivo Regent and Davis each fired a goal in Team Four's victory while McLean was the Team Three marksman. VanAlstine drew an assist for the losers.

John Brennan had a goal and an assist to lead the front-runners to another triumph, Dolan and Bernie Boulter also scored while Carmichael and MacDonald had helpers. Westfall saved Team Six from a shutout, scoring on a solo effort.

In the squirt action, Doug Sickle fired two goals as the Wings blanked the Leafs 4-0. Jimmy Pointer and Donald Adams also scored lone goals.

Rangers split their scoring four ways while earning a half share of first place with the Red Wings. Rodney Salter, Bob Furness, Ricky Law and Rickey Jewell each fired one goal. Bunny Hurst tallied for the Canadiens.

Robert Ross was the Black Hawk hero as he netted both goals in their 2-1 decision over the Browns. Byron Parks potted the lone goal in a losing cause.

Rifle Found In Youth's Home

ESPANOLA (CP)—A .22 calibre bullet which killed Mrs. Charles Antonen October 24 was shot from a rifle found in the home of Wayne Norton, 20, of Webbwood, on trial for murder.

Norton was arrested at his home about seven hours after Mrs. Antonen was shot at her farm home in Webbwood, just west of this community 40 miles west of Sudbury. Norton is also charged with wounding Nillo Makelo, a hired man on the farm.

Donald K. Champagne of the RCMP Laboratory in Ottawa testified a bullet taken from the heart of Mrs. Antonen was shot from the rifle which Cpl. Q. A. Wallo of the Ontario Provincial Police said he found in Norton's home the night of the shooting.

Police Probe Blast

OTTAWA (CP)—Police Wednesday investigated an explosion which Wednesday night blasted huge chunks of rock from the banks of the Ottawa River below the Royal Mint. No one was injured.

Police said the explosion probably was from dynamite set off by a slow fuse. Residents said it was the third or its kind reported in as many months.

Although the scene of the blast was in the general area of the mint where coins are made it was too far away to have been directed at that building.

Defence Coun'd Claims Justice Misdirected Jury

TORONTO (CP) — A counsel said Wednesday Chief Supreme Court Mr. Justice G. A. Gale misdirected a Sudbury jury which Oct. 27 found Eli Guay and his wife, Christina, guilty of murdering William Sniderhan, 70-year-old Spanish River recluse.

G. A. Martin, representing the Expanada couple as the Ontario Court of Appeal opened its hearing Wednesday, said Mr. Justice Gale failed to fairly present the defence case to the jury and also erred in directing it on a point of law.

He also questioned evidence given at the trial by Florence Guay, Eli's half-sister and the crown's chief witness. She testified she saw the Guays beating Sniderhan last June 22 in his tumbledown shack near Spanish River, 30 miles west of Sudbury.

Eli, 37, and Christina, 37, were sentenced to be hanged Feb. 5. Mrs. Guay was later granted a stay of execution to March 5, because she is expecting her eighth child.

HAD TO DECIDE

At the end of the trial Mr. Justice Gale told the jury it had to decide on one of two stories—that of Florence Guay or that of Christina Guay.

Florence said she had gone with Eli and his wife to Selder's cabin where the two had beaten the old recluse and robbed him. She said she had nothing to do with the robbery plan.

Christina said she and Florence had plotted to steal Sniderhan's money together, and Eli knew nothing of the plan. She said Florence attacked the old man.

Mr. Martin said the trial judge was obliged to give the jury a clear picture of the defence case before it retired and Mr. Justice Gale had not done this.

Said Mr. Martin: "He told the jury that the defendants could be convicted no matter which testimony it accepted—Florence's, or Christina's. He only presented the possibility of acquittal as a negative alternative to conviction."

Mr. Martin said that, according to law they could not be considered guilty of murder "unless they knew or foresaw that their unlawful killing would probably result from their illegal purpose."

Woman Killed

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—An aged woman was killed Wednesday night by a car just after visiting her husband in hospital. It was London's 11th traffic fatality of the year.

Police said Mrs. Gertrude Lippett, 77, of Balaclava, near Owen Sound, collided with an auto driven by Robert C. Thwaites of London as she crossed a street near Victoria Hospital.

She was dead on arrival at the hospital where her husband, Jess, 78, a semi-invalid, has been receiving treatment.

Mrs. Lippett had been staying with friends in London about a week.

No charges have been laid against the car driver.

Oil-Producing Countries Plan High Production

LONDON (Reuters) — Oil-producing countries are planning to step up production to meet a growing need.

With the Suez Canal closed, western Europe is looking to other parts of the world to supplement oil requirements long obtained from the Middle East.

France, Italy and Canada plan to spend millions of dollars to boost production at home. Prospecting will be carried out in India and Belgium will explore the Belgian Congo in Africa in search of new deposits.

France plans to spend about $140,000,000 on prospecting in 1957. Experts believe that with the development of her overseas oil fields, particularly in the Sahara, she will be self-sufficient in ten years.

TO LAY PIPELINE

Israeli sources have confirmed that negotiations are under way for French aid for the proposed laying of a 33-inch pipeline from the Gulf of Aqaba to the Mediterranean, by-passing the Suez Canal.

India and the British-owned Assam Oil Company have agreed to form a company to carry out exploration in the Naharkatiya area of Assam.

Italy's main producer, Gulf Oil Company, plans to spend about $2,000,000 to boost output from its wells in Sicily.

West German companies plan an expansion of oil production off the Baltic coast near Kiel. West Germany now produces between one-quarter and one-third of her own needs.

Eastminster WA Presents Slate Of Officers

Mrs. Eric Whitfield, Eleanor Gardens, was December hostess to the regular meeting of Eastminster W.A.

Following the singing of the Christmas carol "Silent Night", the president, Mrs. J. Kunits, welcomed everyone and conducted a lengthy business session. The treasurer's report was presented by Mrs. G. Maybee and the corresponding secretary's report was given by Mrs. M. Richards.

Two catering projects for March, 1957, were accepted.

The president announced the next meeting will be January 14, 1957, at which the annual reports will be given and installation of officers will take place.

The following nominations for the 1957 officers for the Women's Federation, which will be the new organization combining W.A. and W.M.S., were read by Mrs. G. Dymock of the nominating committee: past president, Mrs. Norman Meldrum; president, Mrs. Jack Kuntze; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Linton Read; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Clifford White; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Lorne Uens; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Riley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. William Fothergill; general treasurer, Mrs. George Maybee; missionary treasurer, Mrs. Anthony Janitsch; group leaders, Mrs. James Burnett, Mrs. Allan Miller, Mrs. Murray Reid, Mrs. Jack Schurman; social convener, Mrs. Eric Knudsen; co-convener, Mrs. Fred Simpson; secretaries—Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Alexander McDowell; parsonage, Mrs. Hugh Beach; Children and Youth, Mrs. Eric Whitfield; Visiting and Membership, Mrs. Robert Gillan; Christian Citizenship, Mrs. Jack Williams; Relief and Supply Work, Mrs. George Dymock; Literature, Mrs. Neil Britton; pianist, Mrs. Melville Richards.

At this point, the president expressed the group's pleasure and thanks to Mrs. Whitfield for her kind invitation and gracious hospitality.

PROGRAM

Mrs. Ross Booth's group was in charge of the program. Mrs. Needham Tregg, devotional convener, conducted devotions on the theme "The Songs and Hymns of Christmas Time."

"O Little Town of Bethlehem," was sung and Mrs. William van Steenburgh read the Christmas story from the second chapter of Luke. Prayer was offered by Mrs. John Locke.

During offering, Mrs. Ralph Wightman, pianist for the evening, furnished background music and Mrs. Tregg gave the dedication prayer.

Mrs. M. Richards, Mrs. R. Moorman and Mrs. R. Gillan combined in a delightful trio to sing "Behold O Bethlehem" with Mrs. Wightman, accompanist. Mrs. Kuntze introduced the guest of the evening", Mrs. R. B. Moyle, present teacher of elocution at Albert College.

Mrs. Moyle gave a selection by Catherine Fraser, one depicting the Christmas story, told in warm appealing style, as comprehended through the eyes of kindergarten "Johnny". Mrs. Morden was thanked by Mrs. Richards.

Everyone enjoyed a cup of tea and buttered fruit breads served by Mrs. Booth and her group. Mrs. McDowell poured tea.

Women's Activities

MOIRA W.A.

MOIRA—The Christmas meeting of Moira W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Foster. The president, Mrs. Ross Ketcheson, opened the meeting with a Christmas carol and prayer by Mrs. Dyson. Scripture reading from several chapters pertaining to the Birth of Christ were given by Mrs. John Farrel.

Business was dealt with and several letters were read by Mrs. Mumby. Several were to be remembered at Christmas.

The election of officers took place with Mr. Dyson conducting, with the following elected: President, Mrs. Ross Ketcheson; first vice-president, Mrs. Milton Vandewater; second vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Foster; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Wallace Mcinroy; assistant treasurer, Mrs. David Mumby; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Angus Mumby; pianists, Mrs. James Vandewater and Mrs. Gordon Foster; flower committee, Mrs. Blake Ketcheson, Mrs. John Farrel, Mrs. George Ewald; visiting committee, Mrs. Clayton Vandewater, Mrs. Wesley Farrel, Mrs. Kenneth Thompson.

"Silent Night, Holy Night" was sung after which the convener, Mrs. Blake Ketcheson had charge of the following program: reading by Mrs. David Mumby, "Hope of Christmas" by Charles Templeton; solo by Mrs. Angus Mumby, "Long Long Ago"; reading by Mrs. Wesley Farrel, "The Three Chests," and duet by Mr. and Mrs. Dyson.

Topic was read by Mrs. Wallace McInroy on "Prayer," prepared by Jane Scott; piano solo by Mrs. James Vandewater, "Star of the East," with variations; Christmas contest conducted by Mrs. Frank Emerson.

Refreshments were served.

Mr., Mrs. Harvey Vance Honored On 40th Wedding Anniversary

...On the evening of December 14, the relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vance, R.R. 3, Avondale Road, Belleville, entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morton, 40 North Front Street, Belleville, to a surprise party in honor of their 40th wedding anniversary.

A delicious turkey dinner, with all the usual trimmings, was certainly enjoyed.

The bride's table was a bower of beauty, covered with a lovely white linen tablecloth and decorated in pink and white with the traditional bride's cake, decorated in pink, white and green, adorning the centre of the table.

Following the dinner, Mr. Ed. Heasman, Stirling, proposed the toast to the bride, to which the bridegroom responded.

Mrs. Harold Morton, Thomasburg, read the address prepared by Mrs. Hilky Trumpour of Picton, after which the gifts were presented by Miss Janet Morton and Miss Judy Vance, their granddaughter from Bloomfield. A beautiful gift from Tweed Rebekah lodge was also presented which was a surprise indeed.

On December 20, 1916, Mr. and Mrs. Vance were united in marriage at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Beatrice Yateman, Thomasburg, by the Rev. R. T. Richards. Mrs. Ross Wilson provided the music and Mrs. Richards was soloist.

They travelled to Elmvale, Ontario, to spend their honeymoon with the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Ethel Thompson.

It was with great regret that their two sons, Milton and Lorne Vance, were unable to be present for this occasion.

Club Activities

CARMEL CLASSY LASSIES

The fourth meeting of the Carmel Classy Lassies' homemaking club was held in the home of the club leader, Mrs. Carl Thompson.

Discussions were held on the care of the hair, and the proper posture. Miss Helen Pitt, proprietor of the New Way Beauty Salon, discussed different hair styles, and demonstrated shampooing and fingerwaving while Miss Sandra Thibaudeau, home economist, demonstrated faggoting, bias binding and seam making for slips.

Carolyn Thompson thanked Miss Pitt and Miss Thibaudeau for coming to the meeting.

The home assignment included, practise faggoting and bias binding; work on a slip, keep up the record book.

Following the close of the meeting, a social time was enjoyed with coffee and refreshments being served.

EGGLETON MISSION BAND

The December meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held at the school on Monday afternoon.

The president, Allen Reide, presided and opened the meeting with the carol "Silent Night, Holy Night". Sharon Reide as pianist.

The Scripture lesson, St. Luke 2:8-20 was read by Sharon Reide.

Grades 3 and 4 sang "Away in a Manger" with Annamae Clarke playing their accompaniment on the piano.

Marilyn Stapley read a lovely Christmas poem "Once Long Ago in a Stable."

The January meeting will be held at the school on the 3rd Friday afternoon.

The new secretary, Shirley Prest, read the minutes and called the roll, showing three adults and 22 children present.

Mission Band leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, presented Miss Charles "At the Zoo" from the study book.

The meeting closed with the singing of the carol "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing" and prayer by Mrs. Fitchett.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

TOUR MOTHER IS RIGHT

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

I'm 15 years old and have fallen madly in love with a salesman who is 26.

Because of his age, my mother refuses to let me go out when he's so far three months we've been going together secretly. He doesn't approve of this and neither do I, but is it right we should suffer so without each other when we can have so much happiness together?

Anyway, last night he proposed and I accepted. I have a lovely engagement ring, but when my mother saw it, she almost flipped. She refuses to even hear of our marriage. Of course we could run away and lie about my age, but we'd much rather have her blessings. Is that so hard to understand?

Not long ago I read a letter in your column from a girl of 15, who said she was in love with a guy 38. You told her he must be mentally deficient to even be looking at a 15-year-old girl. Well, maybe the boy friend is unbalanced, but mine isn't.

You're probably wondering how I could be mature enough for a 26-year-old man. I can't explain it, but I am, and I think you won't tell me to go on to school and get "a group my own age, because I just couldn't.

Please don't laugh at my letter and call me crazy for dreaming about Rob, because I'm more serious now than I've ever been in my life and I don't know what to do next. Please help me. — V.S.S.

Dear V.S.S.:

I wouldn't think of laughing at your letter. What you tell me is it is far too serious for anyone to be amused by it.

Let me say first that you have confused two entirely different letters when you speak of one you read in my column in which you say I told a girl of 15, who said she was in love with a man of 38 and he was in love with her that the man must be "mentally unbalanced." What I did say to the girl of 15, who had written me that she was in love with the 38-year-old janitor of her school was that the situation she described was utterly wrong and her parents should take it up with the school authorities.

In the other letter, the girl was 13 years old and the young man she said she "loved" and who, she said, "loved" her, was 23. To her, I said this young man must be below average age either "mentally or morally" to be trying to persuade a 13-year-old girl into a close friendship with him.

I tell me that in your case you're "mature" enough for a 26-year-old man. This I doubt. I think it's far more likely that it is the young man's own immaturity that's responsible for your interest in each other. Otherwise, he couldn't possibly be a congenial and interesting friend for a high school girl.

From this, I'm sure you can gather that my views on your situation coincide with those of your mother and that I definitely disapprove your accepting an engagement ring. Here, too, your friend shows his immaturity in failing to realize that this is highly inappropriate.

You ask me to help you, but I'm very much afraid that the kind of help you really need is for me to tell you how to bring your mother around to approving this friendship, and that I couldn't possibly do.

The best I can say, so far as your side of it goes, is that you ask your mother if she would consider allowing you to date this man occasionally, if you agree to spend most of your time with your school friends and on the activities that go along with your age. This, of course, is telling you just what you have insisted that I shouldn't tell you. But right is right, and you might as well face up to that fact.

You might say to your mother that you'd carry out your part of this compromise until you have at least graduated from high school. Then, if you and this immature man are still bent on marriage, she might be willing to consider it. But I hope, and believe that if you'll have the maturity to see the wisdom of waiting, you'll see things differently by the time you've graduated from high school. For in my opinion marriage between an 18-year-old girl, for example, and a 29-year-old man would be as grave a mistake as it would be at your present ages.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

CHOOSE HOLIDAY CLOTHES WITH AN EYE TO PACTICALITY

Embroidered cotton makes pretty party dresses; is easily kept clean with soap-and-water.

Most of the lovely-to-look-lovely holiday clothes you are planning to wear at Christmastime parties are as easy to keep spruce as a cotton housedress—if you learn which care goes with which luxury-look fabric.

More specifically, let's consider the wide-swinging skirts which rustle and a swish, the holiday dresses, gay with prints, bizarre or beautiful; and the hostess and lounge wear velvet-to-the-touch or lustrous with the look of precious metals.

First of all, look at closely at the hang tag on your party-giving, party-going garment as you would at the price tag. It tells just what kind of cleanliness care is recommended. If it says "washable"—and far more pretty-party fashions are suitable than we dared dream of a few years back—then you're way ahead on practicality already. But whatever the tag says, follow it, even to the point of noting on it as description of the garment it applies to and saving it to hang on a special closet hook, lest you forget, the first time you want to make it fresh again.

Here are two more general rules for washable festive-wear that we wax specific. First, wash them frequently, the minute you notice the slightest sign of soil—and long before your public would have a chance to guess it. Second, wash each such garment separately; each one requires a special kind of gentleness in laundering. Also, that special feeling you have about favorite party-wear demands that each garment receive rapt attention.

One of the most popular fabrics on the winter scene is printed velveteen. It's used for cocktail sheaths, lounge wear, or wide skirts in rich multi-colored paisley prints or in fake (which has become a very respectable word in fashion) fur prints. Treat your leopard-spotted slacks just as you would any solid color velveteen, remembering that it's cotton at heart, in spite of its jungle look. Wash them by hand separately in lukewarm soapsuds, and don't dare scrub, twist, or wring. Just knead suds gently through fabric, then dip rinse and hang to drip dry. To restore pile when dry, steam the garment over a tub of hot water, or lightly steam with a steam iron. When it's completely dry, brush with a whisk broom in the same direction as the pile of the velveteen.

Unpredictably washable are the lush and lovely embroidered cotton (just be sure to wash on the wrong side so you don't snag and disarrange the embroidered design) and the gleaming cotton satins with their luster finish—it's best to wash these on the wrong side, too, as you would a washable silk satin.

Gently, gently, and you'll do a beautiful job of handling beautiful cotton laces in the main. These take the most delicate treatment of all, naturally, because of their delicate structure, but they are eminently washable. If your sequin-spangled cotton print dress has its sparklers sewed on securely, the tag will say you may wash. If not, as with most abrasive decoration, woven-in or sewed-on, don't dare rub or scrub. How do you see why we say wash often? That way you don't need to give the fabric a beating to get it clean!

BLOCKED TRAIL

STITTSVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Members of a United Church congregation here are asking for a county court injunction to restrain Mrs. Evelyn Dorothy Clark from "obstructing" a 150-year-old trail which they use as a shortcut from the highway to the church. Mrs. Clark, who placed a "no trespassing" sign after buying the property seven years ago, said "there's a principle involved here."

Those All-Important Sauces

By Mary Moore

Here we are at the last lap of my race to keep ahead of your requests for Christmas dinner know-how.

We are up to the sauces. Did I ever tell you about the time that Marianne made a hard sauce and shaped it through the icing tube into rosettes? At this stage she couldn't remember just what the tiny garnish was that I topped the rosettes with (a tiny piece of red cherry). I was not there so she sprinkled them with paprika. It was pretty!

I want to give you the recipe for hard sauce, without which no Christmas dinner would be complete in our family.

HARD SAUCE

This may be made days in advance. Double the recipe if you have more than five or six people. Cream 1-3 cup butter until very pale and airy, then begin to beat in 1 cup icing sugar sifted after measuring. Beat until light and airy. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla or rum flavoring or 1-3 teaspoon each lemon extract and vanilla. Pile attractively on small serving dish, peak it up with a fork. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Chill to harden. Or force through pastry tube with rosette tip directly onto serving plate. Top each rosette with tiny bit of glace cherry, green or red or some of each. Chill until hard.

DELICATE SAUCE

This is rich and different and perfect with the White Plum Pudding, recipe for which I gave you yesterday,—but it must be made just before serving—a big disadvantage unless you have a trusted helper in the kitchen. Beat 1-4 cup butter and 1-3 cup icing sugar to a smooth cream. Whip 1 cup whipping cream until stiff, then fold it into the butter-sugar mixture. Stand it over hot water, simmering not boiling, and beat while heating. When smooth and thick remove from heat and add 1 teaspoon vanilla and 1 tablespoon orange juice. Serve warm.

An S.O.S. arrived just this week: "Mrs. Moore I don't know one thing about preparing Christmas dinner—can't even make gravy! My husband's family are invited. We've only been married since September and this is their first visit for a meal. It has to be good. My husband can stuff and roast and carve the turkey but how do you make gravy?!!"

I'm betting on that pair to serve a wonderful dinner and have a happy life together!

GIBLET GRAVY

Giblets and neck from 1 fowl, 2 3-4 cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 onion sliced fine, 1-2 cup chopped celery leaves, 1-4 cup drippings from roasting fowl, 4 tablespoons flour. Wash giblets and neck, place all but liver in saucepan; add water, salt, onion, celery. Cover and bring to boil, then simmer until gizzard is tender, adding liver 10 minutes ahead of this. Remove giblets. Strain broth—there should be two cups. Chop giblets and neck meat finely—discarding the grisly bits of the gizzard. Blend drippings and flour together, stir in broth until thick, add giblets and heat through stirring. Serve piping hot.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHOULD THEY SEND CARDS TO HUSBAND'S FRIENDS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My brother was killed four months ago in an automobile accident. He was 24 years old, and in the Army. Would it be proper to send Christmas cards this year to anyone? Many people to whom we usually send cards live out of the state, and probably don't know of my brother's death. Most of these people are friends on my husband's side, very good friends of his who were neighbors of his years ago. — Reader

Whatever you wish to do about is the proper thing for you to do. Your friends will, I know, completely understand if it is too difficult for you to send cards, with this recent sorrow that has come to you. Perhaps you might like to send only a few cards, to you and your husband's most intimate friends, and then do what I judge you would so much like to do, send cards to these friends of your husband's, simply sending your greetings, and making no mention of your sorrow. Later your husband might write them notes telling them of your brother's passing.

WHO PAYS RETURNING SERVICEMAN'S HOTEL BILL?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Some time ago I met a young man who was stationed in a camp quite near the city where I live, and we had many dates. He knew my family very well, and quite often dined with us, or came to Sunday lunch. While he was overseas we corresponded regularly. Now he has written me that he is to be discharged soon. I planning to make a visit here before he goes to his home in a distant state, and hopes we can have dates together "to catch up on our friendship." We can't ask him to stay at our house, because we have a small house, and no guest room. My mother and father and I are wondering if, when he writes me the date of his intended arrival, we should make a reservation for him at a hotel here, and (a most important question for us) should we make arrangements to pay his hotel expenses? — E.M.

When he writes you his arrival date, it would be friendly and entirely proper for you to write him saying you would make a hotel reservation for Jim, if he wishes you to. But it is not at all necessary for your family to pay for his hotel expenses, and I'm sure he would not take this for granted. However, if your father and mother would like to consider him as their guest, even though circumstances prevent his being a house-guest, it is entirely proper for them, and generous and hospitable, to make arrangements to pay his hotel expenses. Whatever arrangements are to be made should be made by your father, not by you or your mother.

Women's Activities

WHITE'S W.A.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — December meeting of White's Woman's Association was held at the parsonage on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Albert Hockaday presiding.

Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson thanked the ladies for a card of sympathy and Christmas cards were sent to several shut-ins. Mrs. Clyden, Mrs. Hockaday and Mrs. Young made cent-a-day donations. Two dollars is to be paid to Mrs. Casey Ketcheson for cards and stamps. Mrs. Hockaday offered her home for the January meeting with a potluck dinner served at noon.

Mrs. Arnold Ketcheson took the devotional service with all singing, "Silent Night." She read the Scripture reading, Luke 2:1-20 and "Best of All," giving the story of the lesson. The singing of "O Little Town of Bethlehem" closed the worship service.

Mrs. Walter Jones, as leader of the program, read, "Rumage Sale." Mrs. W. Jeffrey read "The Little Things in Life that Count," and Mrs. A. Ketcheson read "Fatherly Love." A contest was won by Mrs. W. Jeffrey. Plastic articles made by Mrs. Ernest Curtis were sold at the meeting.

A tasty Christmas luncheon was served and a social time enjoyed.

Club Activities

SUNBEAM M.B.

WHITE'S DISTRICT — The Sunbeam Mission Band convened at Quinte View School on Friday afternoon with 30 members answering the roll call. The president, with the Member's Purpose and Larry Bilham, presided and opened sang 'Away in a Manger." All repeated the 23rd Psalm.

Larry Bilham read the Christmas story, "The Little Christmas Angels.'

The offering was taken by Ted Hockaday and dedicated by Joanna Gainforth.

A religious play, "Where the Roads Meet," was given by Carol Brodie, as an African child; Susan Wilkie as an Arab child; Debbie Glydon as a Chinese child; Rosemary Carve as an Indian child and Cindy Jones as a Canadian child. The worship service was closed by Mrs. Young.

The children gave their white gifts of toys, books, games and knitted toques to be sent to Burn's Lake Mission Hospital where Miss Elsie Hunt is stationed.

A play, "Light Your Candle," was given by Joanna Gainforth, Larry Bilham, Gary Millar, Carol Dalton, Lorne Mallory, Peggy Ackerman, Bob Carve and Ted Hockaday. The play taught that each must be kind to others. It closed with all singing, "Jesus Bids Us Shine."

Mrs. Young read the last chapter of "The Boy with the Busy Walk." The new study book, "Far Soon" is a story of a little Korean girl. "World Friends Magazine" used at each meeting has been subscribed by Vicky Glydon, Cathy Dale, Carol Brodie, Peggy Ackerman, Gary Millar, Ted Hockaday, Larry Bilham, Linda Brown, Stephen Jones and David Fletcher.

Women of Moose Hold Annual Yuletide Party

On Thursday evening, the WOTM Belleville Chapter 435, held their annual Christmas supper in the Elk's hall with 70 in attendance.

The tables were gaily decorated with flowers and favors. Greeting the co-workers as they arrived was hostess, Kathleen Pitt, who welcomed each girl with a smile and presented her with a Christmas corsage.

Serving the tasty turkey supper were co-workers, Joyce Soules, Madeline Argent, and Recorder Grace Bartlett.

In the kitchen were Grad. Regt. Mary Van Dusen, Jr. Rgt. Ruth Minns, escort Irene Gambel and Clara Barr.

Convener for the supper was Grace Bartlett.

As the supper finished who appeared but Santa (Lena Connell) dancing and laughing with a gift for each co-worker with pianist Irene Reed supplying the music.

After the gifts had been opened the meeting was called to order by Senior Regent Nellie Scrymgeour and Miss Marlene Brant, home finder for Children's Aid, was escorted to the altar by Guides Gladys Hitch and Emily Jeffery, introduced and received the sign of courtesy from the co-workers and was then escorted to the Senior Regent station. Miss Brant gave a lovely talk on the different projects of the Children's Aid and duties of the different social workers.

Draw was won by E. Simpson, basket of groceries, donated by the co-workers and $15 was sent to Sunnybrook Hospital for 'phone calls and $10 to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Edith Burrows, Bill Burrows, and Louise Richards are reported ill in hospital.

The Christmas tree for the children will be in Elk hall at 7.30 p.m. tonight. Nellie Shandraw is to look after refreshments.

New rituals were received and will be used at the next meeting.

Clara Barr sponsored by Recorder Grace Bartlett, was initiated into defending circle.

Senior Regent Nellie Scrymgeour wished all a merry Christmas.

The next meeting on December 27.

LOSES 6,000 CHICKS

WHITBY (CP) — Six thousand chicks were burned to death Tuesday night when fire destroyed the four-storey poultry barn on the farm of Donald McQuay near here. He estimated loss at $15,000.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Quite a number have been confined to their homes with colds.

The next potluck dinner will be held in the church hall on January 5th and the congregational meeting will follow in the afternoon. All are asked to attend. At the time of writing the snow that was piled so high has all disappeared and Old Santa will have to come by plane but however he comes, the little children are sure he will be around on Christmas eve.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Pound and children Dale and Cheryle, were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris on Saturday last.

L.O.L. Wallbridge held their 8th annual turkey draw, euchre and dance on Friday night with a large crowd; The lucky winners of the turkeys were: Mr. Walter Johnson, 1st., of Foxboro; Mr. Jim McKee, 2nd, of Trenton R.R. 3; Mr. Gordon Spratt, 3rd, of Trenton R.R. 5 and Mr. Harold McDonald, 4th., of Frankford.

Everyone is busy preparing for Christmas, killing fowl and getting ready for all the festivities.

FOXBORO

United Church WMS Appoints New Officers

FOXBORO — The ladies of Foxboro United Church W.M.S. held their Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. C. Arthurs.

The program was under the supervision of Mrs. S. E. Gay, which was most interesting and all through, the program showed the great Christmas spirit, and much forethought and preparation.

The meeting opened by singing Christmas carols with the president, Mrs. Wilson, presiding. The business was opened with a Yuletide reading entitled "He Shall Bring Forth."

After missionary work was discussed, the secretary, Mrs. Simmons, read the minutes and called the roll, showing 15 members present.

The supply work was taken over by Mrs. Wilson in the absence of Mrs. Meyers and it was decided to have the bale packed at Mrs. Wilson's in the near future.

The treasurer gave a full report showing the allocation over-contributed.

Mrs. Gay opened the program with the reading of Isaiah 6: "Unto us a Child is born," showing a beautiful message in sending the gospel to every nation. It was followed with a message from the book of Ruth. Mrs. Arthurs followed with a reading entitled, "The Road to Bethlehem." Mrs. Beatty gave a beautiful Christmas story, "The Gift of the Wise Men," which was ably prepared and enjoyed by all present.

Mrs. B. Rombough favored with a solo, "In a Lowly Manger," and Mrs. Priest gave the lesson in the study book entitled, "East of Buma."

Mrs. Wilson thanked Mrs. Gay and her helpers for preparing such a lovely Christmas program and also all the members for their loyal support in her term of office.

SLATE OF OFFICERS

Mrs. Daniels brought in the slate of officers for the ensuing year: past president, Mrs. Wilson; president, Mrs. Glen Meyers; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Walter Scott; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Robert Darke; recording secretary, Mrs. Percy Kilpatrick; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Fred Prindle; treasurer, Mrs. George Priest; stewardship, Mrs. Clifford Wilson; Comfriendship, Mrs. J. Daniels, Mrs. Hicks; supply secretary, Mrs. Wallace Simmons, assistant, Mrs. C. Wilson; literature secretary, Mrs. H. Darke, assistant, Mrs. Frank Eggleton; temperance secretary, Mrs. LaRue; Missionary Monthly secretary, Mrs. B. Rombough; associate members, Mrs. George McCullough; Mrs. Band, Mrs. Carman Bamber and Mrs. W. Johnston. Mission Band, Mrs. Robert Darke; pianist, Mrs. H. Shelter and Mrs. Floyd Dudley; press secretary, Mrs. F. Kilpatrick; C.G.I.T. leader, Mrs. H. Stewart; assistant, Mrs. H. Elliott; card secretary, Mrs. F. Prindle.

After the offering was received the meeting closed with the president, Mrs Wilson, wishing all a Merry Christmas.

The hostess served a real Yuletide luncheon at which a social time was spent.

RAWDON

Mr., Mrs. Harry Brown Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

RAWDON. — Over 100 guests gathered at Carmel United church Jubilee hall in Rawdon township on Saturday evening in honor of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown.

Relatives and friends were in attendance from Brantford, Tweed, Whitby, Oshawa, Peterborough, Campbellford, Stirling, Roslor, Deseronto, Belleville, Foxboro, Frankford, West Huntingdon, Shannonville, Mount Pleasant and other points.

The hall was tastefully decorated by members of Carmel W.A. who catered for the event. The curtains across the platform were centred with a large two foot plaque with large lettering of "25" and from here pink and white streamers cascaded to the long table below. Evergreen wreaths centred with red poinsettias and tied with silver bows were placed at strategic points and over all, gracefully hung a large white wedding bell. A miniature lighted evergreen tree was placed on the piano. The long table was centred with a three-tiered anniversary cake appropriately decorated with silver leaves and letters.

MANY LOVELY GIFTS

The gifts were placed on this long table and were both decorative and useful.

Their daughter, Verna and husband, Gerald Clancy, of Wellman's and granddaughter, Janice, made the presentation of a twenty-piece set of china in "Bridal Rose" pattern.

The bride's brothers and sisters gave a large decorative chesterfield mirror.

The uncles and aunts, a lace tablecloth, and the first cousins, a steam iron.

The happy couple were also the recipients of glassware embossed with silver, aluminum kitchen set, a large array of silverware, two chenille bedspreads, a lustrous satin pillow, silver teapots and numerous individual gifts and congratulatory cards.

An unique address was prepared and read by Mrs. George Carlisle and written in silk, small ding and anniversary "Bride's Book" as a permanent memento of the occasion. The address was on the half of all the guests.

On December 15, 1931, Edna Sharp, daughter of Mr. Claude Sharp and the late Mrs. Sharp, and Harry Brown, son of Arthur Brown and the late Mrs. Brown, were married in Mount Pleasant United church with the Rev. Fred G. Joblin officiating and the late Rev. E. W. Rowland, pastor of St. Paul's, Carmel, assisting. This was the first wedding held in the church since its erection. The bride's brother, Orno Sharp, was groomsman and her sister, Gladys, was flower girl. The bridegroom's sister, Alma, was bridesmaid.

Since their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Brown have resided at Carmel. They are members of Carmel United church and Mr. Brown has served as superintendent of the Sunday school. Both Mr. and Mrs. Brown are also members of St. Paul's, Stirling senior choir.

Mr. Russell Fryer, Foxboro, was master of ceremonies for a delightful program, and led the assembly sing-song with Mrs. Arthur Fryer officiating at the piano.

Vocal selections were rendered by Donnie Armstrong, Kalvin Sharp and Douglas Fryer.

Piano selections were given by Miss Dorothy Johnston and Mrs. Mac Sharp. Mrs. Clifford Clancy read two of Edgar Guest's poems on "Marriage." Vocal duets were contributed by Mr. and Mrs. Grant Richardson, Mrs. George Wilson and Mrs. Lorne Watson.

Mrs. Arthur Fryer and Mrs. Gerald Clancy delighted with piano music.

Numerous brief addresses were given by visiting guests and these included congratulatory messages from the Rev. A. Packman of St. Paul's, Carmel and the groomsman, Mr. Orno Sharp, Mount Pleasant, Rawdon.

The W.A. members served refreshments of fancy sandwiches, delectable one-bite cookies, relishes, tea and coffee. The wedding cake ceremony followed when Mr. Kenneth Weaver proposed a toast to the bride to which the bridegroom responded.

Delicious homemade candy was provided by several guests as a special treat on this auspicious occasion.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mrs. Reg Cross, of Carleton Place, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. W. S. Stiles, and brother, Ernest.

Mrs. W. McIlravy and pupils are busy practising for their school concert on December 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Rowe and Mr. J. S. McKeown, Cobourg, attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Lizzie Thomson which was held on Thursday afternoon at Rylstone United church.

Mrs. F. Lee, Marmora, is spending some time with her daughter and attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Thomson.

Several from this community attended the funeral of the late John Morrison on Friday. The late Mr. Morrison spent his early life at Bonarlaw where he was a farmer for several years.

The sympathy of this community is extended the bereaved wife and family.

The sympathy of friends and neighbors is extended to Mr. Bill Thompson in the death of his mother.

Britain's Migratory Movements To Canada in 1956 Higher Due to Many Circumstances

LONDON (CP) — Britain's migratory movement to Canada in 1956 first was like a steady stream. Then it turned into a flood.

By the end of the year, it was expected that at least 45,000 Britons will have emigrated to Canada, compared with 30,000 in 1955.

In the last month, with the Suez Canal blocked, gasoline rationed and talk of higher income taxes, many persons who previously only thought about emigrating finally did something about it.

The results: Four to five times as many inquiries as usual at Canada's immigration office in London—a rush of last-minute propositions.

However, Canadian officials fear the post-Suez surge as a somewhat artificial situation.

Many emigrants came in on the spur of the moment, officials say. Once they cool down, they may change their minds. Other will find shipping space hard to get next spring and summer, and they, too, may fall by the wayside.

In other words, applications now in Britain don't necessarily mean arrivals later in Canada.

'SE ONE OF BEST

The last 12 months will prove one of Canada's better years for immigration. It hit a low in 1950 when 73,627 British immigrants arrived in Canada and the most "normal" high was in 1953 when the number was 47,077.

The long queues—3,000 persons in new-look clothes, all obviously longing for a new life abroad. For those who think it was unorganized, let's-get-away-from-it-all atmosphere of late, there is a deadline deadline. Shipping boards, permitting entry to Canada are good only for movement by those applying now must be on a ship by June. And there just aren't that many ships on the Atlantic run.

In post-war years, there have been changes in the kind of person wanting to go to Canada.

Most significant, according to Canadian counsellors at immigration offices "Mr. Micawber, London, Glasgow, Belfast and Dublin, is the higher calibre of 1956's average immigrant.

He is better dressed. He often has semi- or professional qualifications. He is a family man, with a wife and two children — a man seeking better economic opportunities in Canada for himself and his children.

Lately, too, more people with some private capital are going to Canda for a look-see before finally emigrating. They hope to put their money to use in the expanding country.

NO FREE TRIPS

Unlike Australia and New Zealand, Canada does not offer passage-paid trips from Britain. If he wants, an immigrant normally can obtain an interest-free loan to pay his ocean fare, under a Canadian government plan. But it must be "repaid within two years, and counsellors here discourage potential immigrants from taking the loan if they can possibly pay their own way. Airfares flying to Canada in the winter off-season offer immigrants a 40-per-cent reduction in fares.

This year, Australia and New Zealand expect to get about as many immigrants as last year—16,000 for Australia and 12,000 for New Zealand. But Canada looks to a net gain of 15,000.

Where do British immigrants want to go in Canada? They mention three cities — Montreal, Toronto, and Vancouver.

DIES OF TV SHOCK

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A 10-month-old boy was killed by electric shock Wednesday as he crawled under a TV set that stood over a metal heat register. Officials said the child, Paul Murphy, apparently shorted the current from the set when his body came into simultaneous contact with its metal surface and the register.

Arctic Airlift For Christmas Mail Complete

EDMONTON (CP) — Preparations for a bright Christmas in a land of winter-long darkness are virtually complete.

The RCAF reports it is in the final stages of the annual Arctic airlift of Christmas mail, turkeys, other food, emergency equipment and even Christmas trees.

Operation Santa Claus, as the airlift is called, this year involved the delivery of approximately 56,000 pounds of supplies to places ranging from the timberline to Resolute Bay, Alert in the shadow of the North Pole.

At many points, such as small isolated weather stations and RCMP posts, supplies have been dropped by parachute. In areas of total darkness, oil flares marked landing strips and small lights were attached to falling cargo.

Most of the operation this year has been centred in the eastern and central Arctic. Western areas have been given little attention by the air force, for the first time.

"There is so much DEW line and civilian air activity in the western Arctic these days that the operation isn't necessary any more," said an RCAF spokesman.

Newsman Dies

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) Fredrick D. McGuire, 61, a newspaperman in Eastern Canada for more than 30 years, died here Wednesday.

Mr. McGuire had been employed by the Moncton Times and Transcript for various years as a reporter, city editor and provincial editor.

He began his newspaper career with the Saint John Telegraph - Journal during the First World War. He later became financial editor of the Montreal Gazette. He also worked for the Saint John Evening Times-Globe, The Ottawa Journal, Halifax Chronicle, Fredericton Gleaner and Capital Free Press at Fredericton. He was born in Saint John.

Defence Counsel Leaves Court After Ruling

OWEN SOUND (CP) — Defence counsel Robert Martin of Toronto walked out of the courtroom Wednesday after a ruling from the bench.

"I have never been faced with a situation like this during my years on the bench," said Magistrate E. C. Perseman.

Mr. Martin, counsel for George Grein of Hanover, left the court when the magistrate ruled that crown evidence he presented despite defence objections about proceeding with the case.

Grein is charged with two offences under the Ontario Hog Marketing Act. The first charge says he operated as a shipper of hogs without a licence from the hog producers marketing board. The second charge says he delivered products to places other than those designated by the board.

PENDING RULING

The trial finally was adjourned to Feb. 12 pending a ruling by the Supreme Court of Canada on the validity of legislation governing the shipping of hogs in Ontario.

Mr. Martin based his request for adjournment on two technical objections. He said Grein had been charged on an information of which he had not received notice. And he said the original information, charging Grein with unlawfully selling hogs without a licence is to do so, had been amended Nov. 20 in such a way as to "malpractically change the charge—that had been laid."

C. Middlebro, crown attorney, suggested that the hearing proceed and that the evidence of the crown be presented. If the defence felt that it was unprepared to go ahead, suggested Mr. Middlebro, the court could adjourn to a later date to allow Mr. Martin time to present his case.

"What you're asking me to do," replied Mr. Martin, "is to cross-examine the witnesses today, and I'm not prepared to do so. I strongly object to continuing the proceedings at this time."

When Magistrate Sperrman announced that the crown witnesses would be heard, and that he would reserve judgment until a later date, Mr. Martin said he could not pare himself for a defence presentation. Mr. Martin left the court room.

Called back to explain his action, defence counsel said there was nothing he could do in the proceedings because he was unprepared.

TOLERANCE VS PROFIT

ROME (Reuters)—Rome police have been ordered to be "reasonably tolerant" with traffic violators after a disclosure that last year they had fined 750,000 persons—nearly half the city's population. Italian police are authorized to make "on the spot" fines of about 20 cents, and are allowed to keep one third of all they collect.

POLICE WANT INCREASE

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's 70,000 policemen have submitted a claim for an all-round wage increase of 7½ per cent. The claim, which covers all ranks from constable to chief inspector, would mean increases of from 14 to 27 shillings a week. A constable's base pay is £475 a year, rising to £540 after 15 years. A chief inspector earns about £950.

Eastbourne Bachelor Doctor Arrested on Murder Charge

EASTBOURNE, England (AP) "Murder? Can you prove it was murder? I did not think you could prove murder. She was dying in any event."

A doctor who has practised in this sedate south coast resort city more than 30 years was quoted today—as making that statement when he was arrested Wednesday on charges of murdering one of his patients, a wealthy 81-year-old widow.

The arrest of 56-year-old Dr. John Bodkin Adams was a turning point in the mystery that has held the British public's interest for months—whether or not there was anything to do with the deaths of some 300 rich old ladies of Eastbourne during the last 20 years.

SHOWS LITTLE EMOTION

Dr. Adams was brought from his jail cell to hear the formal charges and the fixing of Jan. 14 as his trial date. He was specifically accused of the murder of Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, widow of a food importer.

Scotland Yard's Detective Superintendent Herbert Hannam told the magistrates' clerk the doctor's remarks. Hannam said Adams also asked him: "Will there be any more charges of murder?"

The chubby, round-faced, bachelor doctor showed little emotion when the charges were read.

Mrs. Morrell died in November 1950 at the age of 81. Dr. Adams certified that the cause of death was a cerebral clot. Her body was cremated and the ashes were scattered in the English Channel. She left an estate of more than £75,000.

CHARGE MISREPRESENTED

One of the counts against the doctor charged that in order to have Mrs. Morrell cremated, he had falsely represented that so far as he knew he "had no pecuniary interest" in her death.

In addition to the murder charge Dr. Adams also was accused of violation of Britain's Dangerous Drug Act, and conspiracy to sell bottles of morphine from police.

No details concerning the charges or the circumstances of Mrs. Morrell's death were disclosed.

Police said the bodies of two other elderly women will be exhumed during the investigation. They were Mrs. Julia Bradnum, an 85-year-old widow who died May 27, 1952, and Miss Clara Neil-Miller, who died in February, 1954, at 84. Her cremation was given for the exhumation order.

STARTED LAST YEAR

Scotland Yard disclosed last August that it had started a full-scale inquiry into the deaths of nearly 200 rich old ladies over the last 20 years in this town of 60,000 persons. The investigation began after rumors arose concerning the deaths and wills.

Supt. Herbert Hannam of the Yard's murder squad was named to head the investigation. British newspapers gave the story banner play when it began developing a theory that someone might have benefited financially from a number of deaths.

Plainclothesmen checked the wills left by the wealthy elderly women, and were reported to have narrowed the inquiry down to a dozen cases said to show suspicious similarities.

Last month Dr. Adams was charged with 13 offences, including eight forgery counts, one of fraud and four for alleged violations of the Cremation Act. He posted £2,000 bail and continued his practice, which dates back more than 30 years in Eastbourne.

Yaremko Suggests International Body to Handle All Refugees

TORONTO (CP)—Only an international organization, working under the United Nations or NATO, can deal effectively with the care and disposition of Hungarian refugees, says a member of the Ontario legislature just back from a tour of Austrian refugee camps.

John Yaremko, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto-Bellwoods, said Wednesday he only realized the magnitude of the refugee problem after visiting the camps in Austria. There 14,000 refugees live and from 2,000 to 3,000 more arrive each day.

Before leaving Canada, he said, he envisioned the Ontario government dealing directly with those wishing to emigrate to Canada, but his experience showed only the federal government can do this and the duty of the provinces is to back up the federal government.

MUST MOVE OUT

He said the refugees must rapidly be moved out of Austria if that country is not to be bankrupted by her generosity and if the refugees themselves are not to be too severely taxed by the Austrian economy. They have to abide in the camps.

"Because of the magnitude of the problem . . . it is my opinion that an international agency . . . be immediately set up as an arm of the United Nations to deal with the Hungarian refugee problem."

If this is not feasible or would lead to delay then an arm of the NATO countries should be set up.

He feared the Russians might force Austria to close her borders — "it would be a disaster for the Western world."

With Joseph Bottlik, a young Hungarian - Canadian, he visited four camps. He said 122,000 refugees have crossed into Austria and of these 48,000 have been sent on to other countries. While many were still arriving, for the first time their number was exceeded by those leaving for new homes.

NEEDS RECEIVING CENTRES

He suggested Ontario can best help the federal government by setting up reception centres to receive the newcomers and get them speedily into new homes and jobs.

Planning Minister Nickle announced later the province plans a depot to hold a maximum of 2,500 refugees, who will be kept there as short a time as possible before being sent on.

He said more co-operation with other provinces would be valuable and that he welcomes an interprovincial conference where the subject can be discussed with federal officials. He said Mr. Yaremko's suggestion of an international body will be passed on to Immigration Minister Pickersgill when he arrives in Toronto Saturday.

Earlier in the day, at a press conference, Premier Frost mini-

Question Juvenile On Recent Blasts

TORONTO (CP)—Police found an empty dynamite box early today and said they believed it was carried by boys involved in two connected with a series of explosions reported by residents of West Toronto Wednesday and Wednesday night.

Toronto police said they were questioning one juvenile caught with a stick of dynamite in his possession and that they sought three others. Police said the dynamite was taken from construction sites in the area. The dynamite box was found on the deserted Humber Valley course in the city's western outskirts.

Seven explosions were reported Wednesday in West Toronto and suburban Etobicoke. One of them smashed 300 windows, causing damage estimated at $1,000.

Police blamed the danger of Communists infiltrating the country along with the refugees. He said the Hungarians who fled were those who hated communism, and if there are any among them likely to revert to communism when the immediate danger is over, they will change their minds after being "exposed to freedom."

Company Spun First Piece of Fibre in 1881

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—When a Newfoundland fisherman hauls a cord from the Atlantic, chances are it dangles on a piece of cord from the Rope Walk in the southwest corner of St. John's.

The Colonial Cordage Company is still going strong 85 years after it spun its first piece of fibre.

The factory is a low, sprawling building covered with the odor of tar and the new - hay smell of hemp. The ancient and the modern mingle freely.

One room is a bright, airy place, where a slim woman watches big new machines spin cotton and nylon threads into rope and twine. Another room, where some of the yarn for rope-making is drawn through a long, black, dismal tub of steaming tar, smacks of technology.

UNIQUE OPERATION

The works are never called anything but the Rope Walk, and they're located on Rope Walk Lane.

The appendage responsible for the name is the only rope walk left in Canada—a drafty, quarter-mile-long wing of the building where rope is drawn out and twisted by a time-tried method.

Originally, says James Alderdice, factory manager and a director of the company, workers trudged the length of the rope-walk, spinning the rope as they went and letting it fall behind them.

"It was all done by handspinning," he says, "and handspinning was an art."

Now tracks run the length of the rope walk. Heavy strands are attached to a revolving plate of hooks on a railcart and drawn out to the end of the walk. As the strands are spun they tighten around a wooden cone that separates them and maintains an even stress. The cone is attached to a second railcart. When the car is squeezed to the opposite end the rope is firm, fat, a quarter-mile-long, and finished.

A length of rope six inches in diameter was the largest produced. It was made last summer, and the company sent it to Quebec, possibly for use on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

MANY PRODUCTS

The rope walk is only part of the operation of the factory now.

Twines and lines and some ropes are twisted from spools of cotton and lately nylon, that arrive already spun. The netting is accomplished with solemn clankings and mutterings by a huge machine that turns out net at a speed no brace of outport fishermen could equal.

Mr. Alderdice says the Rope Walk supplies 60 to 70 per cent of Newfoundland's 19,000 fishermen with their lines, ropes and nets or net yarn. The factory employs 70 to 80 people at peak production.

Three generations of some families have worked at the Rope Walk, and Mr. Alderdice says 25-year men are common.

William MacDonald says he can't remember for sure how long he's been working at the factory, but figures it at 54 years.

The company was started in 1882 by Moses Monroe, brought to Newfoundland from Northern Ireland as a sailing lad by his uncle, Rev. Moses Harvey, first Presbyterian minister in Newfoundland.

Pre-Christmas Yule Log Wins In Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Christmas preparations this year indicate that a losing battle is being fought in the Orthodox eastern half of Yugoslavia by the traditional pre - Christian Yule log against the fir tree introduced from Western Europe.

In accordance with ancient tradition, Serbian orthodox believers, who celebrate Christmas by the old calendar, cut a large "badnjak," as the Yuleog is called, from an oak tree on their Christmas eve, Jan. 6. The badnjak is brought home and burns throughout Christmas night.

This custom is believed to have originated from the Phoenix-type pagan rite, in which the spirit of vegetation and fertility was burned to ashes in mid - winter only to arise, renewed, in the spring.

As more and more Serbs come to live in towns, they find they cannot bring in a badnjak to burn in an urban apartment. Many pluck a taken oak twig and hang it in their living room. Others, however, abandoning the badnjak, are substituting the fir tree.

HOLIDAYS VARY

In this they are helped by the Tito regime, which encourages families to put up a fir tree at New Year's, not Christmas.

Instead of a Christmas holiday, the 17,000,000 Yugoslavs enjoy a state holiday Jan. 1 and 2. Before the war there was never a nautical Christmas holiday, as the 7,000,000 members of the Orthodox church celebrate the feast Jan. 7. Dec. 25, and the 2,000,000 Moslems not at all.

For the Orthodox church people, the time when presents are distributed is before sitting down to the evening meal Christmas eve. Nowadays they are usually utilitarian—clothes or articles for the home.

NEW STOCKINGS

Yugoslav-made nylon stockings can be bought for approximately 1,100 dinars ($2.64 at the official exchange rate) a pair and are of much better quality than those which Yugoslav women have previously had.

The average salary in Yugoslavia is approximately 13,000 dinars a month ($42.90). A vacuum cleaner costing 36,000 dinars thus takes about three months' salary.

SPANIARDS RETURNED

MADRID (Reuters) — A Soviet ship Tuesday brought home 418 Spaniards imprisoned in Russia since the Spanish civil war of 1936-39. Their arrival brought to 9,106 the number of Spaniards repatriated from Russia in the last two years. An estimated 3,000 Spaniards went to Russia during and after the civil war.

TO CHANGE FORMS

TORONTO (CP)—Welfare Minister Cecile plans to reduce unnecessary paper work in his department next month. Reforms include reducing from five to one the number of forms required for various social welfare benefits, from eight to three the number of signatures on one form and from 319 to 187 the number of questions on another.

Canada Regains Commission Given Montcalm

OTTAWA (CP)—An ancient document which first came to Canada 200 years ago with France's last military commander in this country has returned silently and a little mysteriously.

Dr. W. Kaye Lamb, Dominion archivist and national librarian, has unveiled the original commission from King Louis XV appointing General Louis Joseph Montcalm commander of the French army in Canada. It is dated March 11, 1756.

Dr. Lamb admitted he knew little of the history of the 200-year-old parchment, unearthed recently by a New York art dealer and purchased by the archives. The art dealer, H. P. Kraus, has been asked to trace its history if possible.

The parchment, described as "priceless" by assistant archivist Pierre Brunet, is remarkably well preserved. It is about 20 inches long and six wide.

HISTORIC MAP

The first map to show any part of Canada was made in 1520 by the Spaniard Juan de la Cosa.

TO SING WITH BING

NEW YORK (CP) — The Bill McCauley choir of Ottawa will join other internationally - known singing groups on Bing Crosby's radio program Christmas Sing with Bing, to be broadcast Dec. 24 at 8 p.m. EST on CBS. The 40-voice choir is composed of Crawley Films Studio employees.

OOPS!

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A valuable family heirloom lamp, lent to the ladies of St. John the Evangelist Church to add atmosphere to their recent May Court Club bazaar was sold in error. Club-women said they don't know how the lamp wound up with a $10 tag.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

White Gift Service Held at White's Church

WHITE'S DISTRICT — An impressive service was held at White's Church on Sunday morning when the Sunday School members assisted in the service. The pianist, Mrs. Donald Bowers, played quiet music to open the service and Christmas carols were sung throughout. Mr. Donald Bowers Jr., assistant superintendent, read the Scripture, Mathew 2:1-12 and Luke 2:1-20 depicting the Christmas story.

The junior choir sang, "Away in the Manger" and the senior choir rendered, "Cradled in the Manger" with the trio, Misses Audrey Bowers, Sylvia Bilham and Sharon Jeffery singing the chorus. Mr. David Schleger read a poem, "Jesus, King of all the Earth."

As quiet music was rendered, white gifts were presented to be sent to Burns' Lake Mission Hospital.

The offering was taken by Mr. David Schleger and Mr. John Hunt and dedicated by Mr. Robert Percival to be used for missionary and maintenance.

Mr. Percival's Christmas message told of a German prisoner, Dr. Mueller in a Russian prison camp in 1944. He had been a minister and teacher and though conditions were very bad and the prisoners in despair, as Christmas drew near, Dr. Mueller gathered together a number of prisoners and they went over in their minds the Christmas story from Mathew and Luke. Soon all the prisoners had memorized these verses and when Christmas Day arrived they held a beautiful service, and that Christmas became the best they had ever known.

Many people today are theoretically in prison because they do not accept Christ.

As Christmas approaches one should remember that the Gift of Jesus Christ is available to all.

Following the service Mrs. Jack Girdon tendered appreciative thanks to Mr. Percival and Mr. Girdon on behalf of the congregation presented Mr. Percival with a Christmas gift.

Canadian Corn Causes Switch In Red Economy

BLENHEIM, Ont. (CP)—There is a new "revolution" in the Soviet and it is being caused by corn E. M. Warwick said on his return here form a tour of southern Russia as a guest of Vladimar Maskovich, deputy minister of agriculture.

Head of the Warwick Hybrid Seed Co. here, he started the first shipments of Canadian hybrid corn to Russia two years ago.

He reported that Russia is moving much of its grain production from the Ukraine and other southern areas into Siberia, and by 1957 the government expects to have 70,000,000 acres of corn under production in the south.

Soviet agriculturists have found, he said, that hybrid corn gives a yield of 33 1-3 per cent more per acre than any other grain. Also it doubles the yield of green envillage per acre compared with other crops.

"Our corn in Germany, Czechoslovakia and any of the stations in Russia is recognized as some of the finest being offered for sale and is on all government recommended lists," he said.

Rylstone

RYLSTONE — At the regular Sunday afternoon church service at Rylstone United Church the Rev. H. E. Beare conducted christening service for Deborah Margaret Dosher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dosher, of Campbellford (nee Margaret Spencer) and John Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Spencer (nee Marilyn Bateman) of Rylstone.

A guest of his nephew, Wilfred Spencer, on Sunday, and in attendance at the christening, was Mr. G. Frank Spencer, Sr., of Mount Pleasant, great-great uncle of the babies. Little John Spencer is the fifth generation to bear the name of "John."

Mrs. Will Rutherford is spending a few days in hospital at Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pollock, of Memie, were Sunday guests of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reid, Anne and Ted.

Mrs. Una Spencer and Ray, of Mount Pleasant, were Sunday visitors with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McKeown and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bedore and Debbie were overnight guests on Friday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Petherick.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Heath of Wilton were Friday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Morton.

Mrs. Mary Jane Murray returned with them after spending the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Spencer and Randy were weekend guests of her brother, John Lisle, Mrs. Lisle and Cathy, in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Geordie Sutherland, Jeanie, Anne and Fred, Stirling, were Sunday supper guests with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Thomson and family.

The December meeting of the Woman's Association of Rylstone United Church has been postponed. The annual meeting usually held in December will be held in January.

A Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year, is the wish of this reporter, for the editor, staff and readers of the Ontario Intelligencer.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mr. Ralph Mumby, Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. C. Jeffery, Napanee, and Miss Milda Mumby, Toronto, attended the funeral of the late Jas. Mumby on Saturday.

Mrs. D. Wellman and Charlie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dave Henderson, in Toronto.

Miss Shirley Burkitt spent the weekend with Miss Doreen Broadworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burkitt, Darlene and Brian were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt, on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Ed. Huff left on Saturday for Cobourg where she will spend Christmas and the holidays with her brother and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Burkitt called on Mr. N. Rosebush, Havelock, on Wednesday.

On Friday evening friends and neighbors met at Springbrook hall in honor of the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Morton (nee Marian McCoy).

The Rev. H. Beare called the gathering to order and a short program was enjoyed of music, choruses by 12th line school, 9th line school and Bonarlaw school; readings by Mrs. G. Williams and Mrs. W. J. Barlow and songs by several Springbrook girls.

W. J. Barlow read the address and Doug Andrews presented them with a purse of money on behalf of their many friends.

Doug and Marian voiced their appreciation and the evening was spent in cards and dancing.

Mrs. Jenkins, Marmora, visited friends at Bonarlaw.

Miss Milda Mumby, Toronto, visited Mr. and Mrs. Hi Mumby and Mr. L. Mumby.

Minto

MINTO. — The Christmas and annual meeting of Salem W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Cecil Carter on Thursday evening with a splendid attendance of members and visitors. Mrs. Holden presided and opened the meeting with an appropriate poem, entitled "The Meaning of Christmas."

A carol was sung, Roll call answered with the exchange of Christmas gifts. Mrs. Tom Clements, treasurer, gave her report showing a balance of $322.58. Mrs. George Sine and Mrs. Albert Twiddy were appointed auditors. Mrs. Mel Wickens presented the Missionary report. Mrs. C. Carter gave the secretary's report.

The next meeting to be held in the church hall will be in the form of a dinner and quilting with Mrs. Bert Heagle and Mrs. Bert Sine as hostesses.

It was decided to remember shut-ins at Christmas, also linens to be purchased for tables in hall.

1957 OFFICERS

The Rev. G. Teskey then presented the slate of officers for 1957 which are: president, Mrs. Murney Johnston; vice-president, Mrs. M. Wickens; secretary, Mrs. Albert Twiddy; treasurer, Mrs. Lorne Hagerman; Missionary Convener, Mrs. George Sine; card convener, Mrs. Ivan Sarles; pianist, Mrs. Frank McGee.

These officers were duly installed by the Rev. G. Teskey.

Mrs. Murney Johnston expressed thanks to the retiring president, Mrs. Holden and officers for their untiring interest and loyalty to their work accomplished in the W.A. and also asked for cooperation in the new year, to which Mrs. Holden feelingly replied.

Mrs. Mel Wickens took charge of the program: A Christmas carol was sung; Mrs. Lindsay Tanner read the Scripture lesson; Mr. Teskey led in prayer. Appropriate Christmas readings were given by Mrs. Ken Sine, Mrs. Lorne Hagerman and Mrs. Tom Clements, Mrs. George Sine sang, playing her own accompaniment on the guitar. Mrs. Frank McGee gave the topic "What Does Christmas Mean to You?" which has been prepared by Mrs. Sager.

Mrs. Mowat Sine thanked the hostess and all who helped with the program and also wished the new officers every success in the New Year.

Mrs. Bert Sine put on a contest and bountiful refreshments were served by hostess and her assistants.

On Tuesday evening, last week, Salem United church congregation held a pot-luck supper in the church hall. The tables were all filled and a bountiful repast enjoyed. Later Mrs. H. Holden called the gathering to order and several Christmas carols were sung. Skits and songs were given by the different classes of the Sunday school and thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Ezra Broadworth also gave a humorous reading. "The Queen" was sung followed by the Juniors all singing "Here Comes Santa Claus," who did arrive with gifts and candy for everyone.

The '57 Chevrolet can give lessons on taking curves and holding the road to just about any car going — no matter how much more it costs. Few cars at any price are so beautifully balanced and so smooth, sure and solid in action.

The '57 Chevy's road savvy isn't surprising once you learn what's underneath it — new developments in steering, springs and suspension. Chevy plants itself wide and low to the road, and with its pounds in the right places. That's why it sticks so surely and solidly around corners and curves. That's why it seems to follow the road as though on invisible rails.

Chevy's new V8 power (up to 245 h.p.*) springs from what people who know have called the best performing passenger car engine ever built. And that makes the going even better! Snappier performance with more precise control! Come in and try it.

Report Leafs Talking Trade With New York Rangers; Smythian Hand Seen

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

A GREAT ATHLETE

Ole Peave, the John Street bachelor, was flipping his lid. He had just heard the Dodgers had sold Jackie Robinson to the hated enemy from Coogan's Bluff, The Giants had pulled a coup.

"Dem Bums can't do dat to us guys," shrilled Peave in his simulated Brooklynese. "Dats highway robbery, maybeem, and an insult to us guys from Flatbush. Whatsmatta wit dose jokks from the Gowanus. Dis deal smells like de aroma from dat fragrant canal."

JACKIE ROBINSON

the apple of the eye of the Brooklyn faithful.

According to reports from New York, the Flatbush faithful was flabbergasted when they heard the news. Even Giant fans could not believe it. The Dodger front office was besieged with telephone calls. The fans could not believe their idol had been sold "down the river."

Maybe Jackie's legs had lost some of their speed. Perhaps the batting eye was a trifle off beam. Maybe the reflexes were not as keen as a few years back. But the man who proved an athlete of the first water, a competitor that cracked with the best, and one of the finest players in the major leagues was still

At least he was last October when we sat in the press box in the second tier behind home plate in Ebbett's Field. It was the second game of the series, a brilliant day with equally brilliant sunshine. Jackie was carveting around third. And there was nothing in his actions to denote the approach of the old man with the scythe. He played his position faultlessly.

Then he came to bat, the first man up in the second inning. Behind us shrilled the yells of the faithful. From the "outlaws" there emanated contempt. From the bleachers they implored Jackie to hit "dat apple over de fence." And that is exactly what Jackie did.

President Eisenhower rose in his seat as the ball arced up and away toward the left centre field stands. It dropped at an exceedingly slow pace into the outstretched hand of a fan in the second tier.

Ebbets Field rocked with the thunder of applause. Jackie galloped around the sacks and met the entire Dodger team at the plate. The stands and bleachers were a mixture of color as the faithful stood up to pay homage to their hero.

And Jackie went on through that fateful series, playing his heart out. He drove in the run in the tenth inning of the sixth game of the series that won the title for his beloved Bums. The barest whisper at that time that Jackie would be sold to, above all teams, the hated "Jints," and like would have had an interborough civil war on his hands.

Perhaps there was something of the agitator in Robinson's make-up. Perhaps he did not pull as well as he should at times with the front office and the brass. Perhaps he went off the mental beam occasionally. What major league player doesn't?

Ten years ago next April a lithe young negro stepped out of the Dodgers' dugout in Ebbett's Field on the turf of the playing field. Twenty-eight-year-old Jackie Robinson was being put to the test as the first negro to play in major league baseball. Sensitive and quick-tempered he faced a crucial battle that called for no warlike calisthenics. The rest is history.

The spirit that he carried through nearly a decade of major league baseball marked his undergraduate days at the University of Los Angeles. He was the school's greatest all-round athlete. He was the fastest football halfback in the conference and the highest scorer in intercollegiate basketball. He won the national broad jump title in 1940 and starred on the baseball team.

Now Jackie is a Giant—or is he?

Reports say he has not yet made up his mind. This department believes that when next spring rolls around you will see the great negro player cavorting around, perhaps first base in a Giant uniform.

If he is, Jackie will give the former foemen the best he has. It won't be as good as that which he gave the Dodgers in his earlier years. But it will be plenty. Athletes like Robinson with his fierce competitive spirit and love of the game do not change with their uniforms.

He will be out there running bases with all his former aplomb. He will be fainting throwers off balance, decoying wild hrows, cutting bases on balls, for other hitters and parking "dat apple over da fence" with customary skill.

Youngsters Not Filling Bill And Kennedy May Not Return; Clash With Canadiens Tonight

By KEN WELLS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The best indication that Toronto Maple Leafs consider themselves in real trouble in the National Hockey League is the report that they are talking trade with the fourth-place New York Rangers.

So far, the Leafs have not admitted openly they are worried but when Toronto goes to another team, the management must feel something drastic is called for. Of course, a win for the Leafs tonight over the Canadiens in Montreal could brighten their picture.

A shining example of a good club put together by smart deals goes on display in tonight's game when Boston Bruins, on top of the league, meet second-place Detroit Red Wings. Bruins are built mainly on castoffs from the rest of the league.

But Leafs are the most intensely personal club in the NHL, and the personality behind this is president Conn Smythe — the man who built the Leafs and Maple Leaf Gardens.

Smythe has also wanted, and only been satisfied with, "his kind of team" built around "his kind of players"—most recently Syl Apps and Ted Kennedy.

To get his kind of player he will go to great lengths, as in the five-for-two trade of the late 1940s when the Leafs acquired centre Max Bentley, to fulfil Smythe's famous "strength-down-the-centre" ideal.

The same idea was behind the 1951 deal that brought goaltender Harry Lumley from Chicago.

Now, with their young players not altogether filling the hopes built around them, and the news from Ted Kennedy that he may not be able to make his comeback after an 18 - month retirement, Leafs are looking for players.

But Muzz Patrick, Rangers' general manager, says nothing came of his talks with Day—so far.

"We couldn't get together," Patrick said. "We talked it over but I wasn't impressed with his proposition."

"But," he added, "that's the way it goes with these things . . . I'm most likely talking to Hap again soon and we'll see what develops. I've got a few ideas of my own but I'm not going to jump at any deal. Our team has been playing better lately and we might not have to worry about any changes."

Lie Detector Used in Probe Of Boxer's Fight-Fix Charge

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Welterweight fighters Dick Goldstein and Art Aragon, whom Goldstein charged tried to bribe him to take a "dive," took lie detector tests Wednesday night.

Results were not expected to be known for some time.

The state boxing commission started its investigation Wednesday. Goldstein testified at a commission hearing that Aragon, third-ranked welter, tried to bribe him to throw a fight here Tuesday night.

Goldstein said he was threatened with death if he didn't take a "dive" in the third round. Aragon denied any deal with Goldstein. Both appeared eager to take the lie detector test.

TOOK TALK

The fight never came off. Aragon called the fight off, citing his boxing commission doctor. The physician said Aragon had a reddened throat and a slight fever.

Goldstein testified Aragon approached him Dec. 7 and promised him a fight in San Antonio if he would agree to "take a dive." Goldstein said he agreed, but declined to go through with what he called "the fix."

Aragon testified the only thing resembling Goldstein's testimony was that Goldstein had admitted he was afraid and Aragon told him: "If you get knocked down and hurt, just stay down. Don't play the hero."

Aragon accused Goldstein of bringing the charges for publicity.

Boxing promoter Bob Cruz testified "this whole thing is boxing politics." He accused George Parnassus, Los Angeles boxing promoter, of "trying to step in and take over San Antonio."

Other principals in the scheduled fight for grand jury wants to talk to are promoter Jimmy Parks, who arranged the match; Benny Conyers, Goldstein's local trainer; C. B. Woods, Goldstein's trainer and former trainer for Aragon; and L. L. Baldesarli, Aragon's trainer.

Goldstein said he was called Tuesday and offered $500 to throw the fight. He said several contacts and threats were made Tuesday afternoon.

State labor commissioner M. B. Morgan said results of the lie detector test probably would not be known for a week. He said both boxers would be allowed to return to their homes in Los Angeles. The boxing commission in Texas is under the labor commission.

Goldstein said he would ask police protection in Los Angeles, declaring his life was in danger.

Machine Reveals Robinson Slower Than Fullmer

GREENWOOD, N. Y. (AP)—Middleweight champion Ray Robinson took a few jabs at an electronic machine Wednesday and showed that while he can hit at least as hard as challenger Gene Fullmer, he's about 15 miles an hour slower with a right cross.

Completion of tests of the speed and power in the punches of Robinson and Fullmer—made by Lavoo Laboratories of Morganville, N.J., radar and electronic specialists—will probably start an electronic controversy that will not be settled until the night of Jan. 2 in Madison Square Garden, when Robinson defends his title against the West Jordan, Utah, "deacon."

His punch landed on the registering heavy bag at a speed of 23.2 miles an hour with a force of 1,500 lbs. Fullmer, tested Tuesday with the same punch, hit at a pace of 30.4 miles an hour with a force of 1,200 lbs.

FULLMER HAS EDGE

Robinson's right cross, with eight-ounce gloves, went 15 miles an hour with 1,150 pounds and his left jab, with slaves, was only 460 pounds and 14 miles an hour.

Fullmer with a right cross and eight ounce gloves, also hit at 1,150 pounds but at 22 miles an hour. His left jab, almost a semi-hook, was at 17 miles an hour and 1,035 pounds.

The advantage seems to be Fullmer's overall—but Robinson was not dismayed. He said:

"He wins the machine but how about the fight?"

The middleweight champion boxed six rounds at the camp Wednesday. Robinson, who said he is close to 160 pounds, remained after the workout that he felt good.

Quebec League

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP)—Chicoutimi Saguenays recorded another Quebec Hockey League victory Wednesday night with an easy 5-2 decision over Trois-Rivieres Lions.

Stan Smith, Georges Roy, Greig Hicks, Gerry Glaude and Gelmain Lezer scored goals for Chicoutimi which widened its league lead to five points over the idle Quebec Aces. Ron Atwell and Jacques Gagnon counted for the Lions.

Grand Jury Probes Boxer's Story Of Bribe Offer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The Bexar County grand jury Wednesday checked into a story by boxer Dick Goldstein of Los Angeles that he had been offered $500 to "take a dive" in his scheduled bout Tuesday night with Art Aragon, third-ranked welterweight.

Goldstein also said his life had been threatened.

The fight never came off. Aragon called in Dr. C. D. Henry, state boxing commission doctor, who said Aragon had a reddened throat and a slight fever.

Authorities were seeking five other principals in the scheduled fight. The grand jury wants to talk with them.

They are Aragon, promoter Jim Parks, who arranged the match; Benny Conyers, Goldstein's local trainer; C. B. Woods, Goldstein's trainer and former trainer for Aragon; and L. L. Baldesarli, Aragon's trainer.

Goldstein told this story to police and reporters:

About 2:15 p.m. Tuesday, he was offered $500 to throw the fight. He said the contact wanted him to put up $500 of his own money as a guarantee of the deal, to be returned if he took a dive. His life also was threatened, he said.

Goldstein said he immediately told police his story.

Aragon, told of the charges, said "I am flabbergasted."

Police Sgt. Ray Byler, one of the authorities to whom Goldstein talked, said Goldstein predicted Aragon would "come down sick"

"MR. BOXING" DIES

Russell Signs With Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell, six-foot-ten all-America, has signed a one-year contract for a reported $17,000 with Boston Celtics, but the incomparable Bob Cousy still reigns as the highest-paid player on the National Basketball Association club.

Celtics owner Walter Brown declined to disclose the terms of Russell's contract after signing ceremonies Wednesday, but said the former University of San Francisco Olympic star will not receive as much as Cousy.

"You don't think I'd give anybody as much as I'm giving Cousy do you?" Brown asked. "I'd be crazy to do such a thing after the way Cousy has klilled himself around here for seven years playing the style of ball he has."

Cousy is believed to be drawing about $22,000 a year—highest in the NBA. Russell is believed to have signed for a $3,000 bonus and $14,000 for the remaining two-thirds of the season.

Ken Rosewall Pro Flirtation May Cost Cup Team Position

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Ken Rosewall's flirtation with a professional career has created a mild furore here six days before the Davis Cup challenge round, but Australian tennis officials are playing like the three monkeys on the mantlepiece—they see, hear and speak nothing.

The Melbourne Sun says Rosewall already has come to terms with professional promoter Jack Kramer and adds there are suggestions that he may be ruled off the Davis Cup team before he gets a chance to swing his gifted racket at the Americans.

This talk was quickly scotched in all quarters, including both the Australian and American camps.

"This is an old story with us," said Donald Ferguson, president of the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia. "It happened the same way in 1953 with Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor. It happened last year with Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall.

WON'T DISCUSS IT

"We have no reason to discuss the matter with Rosewall. He says he has been made an offer and is considering it. He denies he has signed a contract or come to a definite agreement.

"He has told us he won't do anything until after the challenge round. That is good enough for us. We don't blame him for considering a $65,000 offer. Who wouldn't?"

Kramer reiterated from Melbourne today that he expected Rosewall to join his troupe about Jan. 1 and begin the new professional season outdoors in Australia Jan. 26. He said Rosewall definitely has not signed.

It is known Rosewall has been offered the $65,000 guarantee, plus 25 per cent of all receipts over $300,000. It is also known that he has reached at least verbal agreement to sign.

Bill Talbert, U.S. captain, said he planned no action on the issue. "Our main interest is to try to win back the cup," he said. "What Rosewall does is his private business."

No Competition In Canada Says Kyle

CALGARY (CP)—Doug Kyle, a member of Canada's Olympic track and field team, announced Wednesday night he will retire from competitive running.

He said in an interview he has accomplished the two goals of his life—to compete in the British Empire Games, which he did at Vancouver in 1954, and to run in the Olympics.

In his running career Kyle established Canadian records in the 3,000, 5,000 and 10,000 metres and the two, three, five and six-mile.

He said he was also quitting because of lack of competition in Canada and unsuitable training conditions.

"I realized at the (Olympic) Games that the difference between the athletes from other nations and myself was that they receive the best in training and have lots of top-flight competition while they work out."... in Canada, the only time an athlete can get to practice is before and after work . . .

"And the competition is so low caliber. An athlete can't improve against poor competition; he must run against the best to push him on."

Hamilton Whips St. Mike's 4-2; Marlboros Win

It's not much of a consolation, but second-place Toronto Marlboros may be at last pulling away from St. Michael's College Majors in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series. But they still trail the mighty Guelph Biltmores by 11 points.

In Toronto Wednesday night, the puck was bouncing for Marlboros, who downed Barrie Flyers 5-3 while Majors were dropping a surprising 4-2 decision to fifth-ranking Hamilton Cubs.

Centres Bill Kennedy and Wally Boyer were standouts in the whole scoring show for Marlboros, netting two goals each. Doug Risely sank the fifth Marlboro counter.

John Chaszczwski and Danny Patrick scored for Barrie. Flyers went down to their 17th defeat, against only seven victories.

Gerry Sullivan, John Blackburn, John Hoe and Murray Oliver were the Hamilton scorers while Gino Ubriaco and Frank Mahovlich scored for Majors.

Spider Webb KO's McAteer In 2nd Round

CHICAGO (AP) — For a fellow who has had 44 fights, winning all but two, Pat McAteer has plenty of unwanted company. He was whipped tonight in the Chicago Stadium affair.

The 24-year-old British Empire middleweight champion could hit, but his left hook to defence it dangled helplessly and Spider Webb chipped in to knock him down with rights four times.

Webb, also 24, finally ended the nationally televised bout by scoring a technical knockout in 2:32 of the second round of a scheduled 10.

Webb, a member of the 1953 U.S. Olympic boxing team, now has won 18 fights in a row and appears to deserve better than a ninth ranking among middleweight contenders by the National Boxing Association.

MAY MEET GIARDELLO

Webb, scoring his 12th knockout and his 20th victory against one loss, floored McAteer twice for eight counts in the first round and twice again in the second. The native of Birkenhead, Eng., finally was on greater that referee Bill Doty stopped it before Webb could really make his features out of the rather handsome invader.

"McAteer has been down before and I think it was stopped too soon," said McAteer's manager, Johnny Campbell. He appeared to be the only one who thought so.

Webb outweighed his outclassed foe 158½ pounds to 157½. Only 1,568 ringside customers showed up, making a net gate of $771.

George Sisler To Help Bucs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — George Sisler, 63-year-old member of baseball's Hall of Fame whose hitting feats have become a legend in his lifetime, has taken a full-time job of trying to improve the hitting of Pittsburgh Pirates.

Sisler, who has been chief of the Pirate scouting job since 1950, will travel with the club and at and every home game. He'll sit in the stands and try to pick out the individual flaws of the players.

Brown, convinced Sisler is the man who can help the Pirate hitters, declared:

"He's the greatest hitting instructor in baseball. He has Roberto Clemente aside for a few days early last season and after working with the boy predicted he'd improve his .255 batting average by 30 points. Clemente finished with a .311 average, third highest in the National League."

HOCKEY IS TOUGH

PITTSBURGH (AP)—This is the 75th birthday of Branch Rickey, retired general manager of Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rickey, who continues as the Pirates' board chairman, planned to attend a combined birthday celebration and Christmas party of Pirate employees at Forbes Field this afternoon. He lives on a suburban estate.

Hockey's Small-Crowd Virus Hit's Football Stamps, Riders

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders, poor relations so far as attendances are concerned, will plump for larger shares of the gate receipts in the 1955 Western Interprovincial Football Union season.

Riders, who drew only 36,394 fans last season and will get $7,772 under an existing pool system, plan to offer two alternatives at the WIFU annual conference next month.

Don McPherran, Riders president, said one suggestion will be a straight 60-40 split on each home game. The other would expand the present pool system from 25 cents a ticket above the average attendance for the league to 30 or 35 cents, with no limit on what any club would pay into the pool.

NEEDED FOR SURVIVAL

"We've got to have some kind of new system or we won't be able to stay in football," said McPherran Wednesday. "To get the $80,000 we need now, we have to organize booster clubs, put out yearbooks, raffle cars and arrange $100-a-plate dinners."

Mervyn (Red) Dutton, Stamps president, said he "endorses 110 per cent" any suggestion toward equalization of the gate receipts.

"The only way to keep gate receipts constant and therefore protect, strengthen and solidify the future operations of the WIFU is to equalize gate receipts on the basis of 60 per cent of the net receipts for the home team and 40 per cent for the visiting team," he said.

SHARES SET

Under last year's pool system, each club which had higher than the average attendance of the five teams paid 25 cents per ticket into a pool. The average attendance was 122,474 and since Saskatchewan was 31,008 under that figure, it will receive $7,772. Calgary will get $11,587.

However, the system provided for a maximum of $15,000 to be put up by any of the "rich" clubs. This meant that clubs such as British Columbia Lions, whose attendance was 70,000 above the pool average in the 1956 season, would still be required to contribute more than $15,000 to the pool.

Compared to Saskatchewan's $7,772 and Calgary's $11,587, Lions had a whopping attendance of 110,660 last year. Edmonton had 135,571 and Winnipeg 132,465.

Get Quarterback Charge Denied By Player

WASHINGTON (AP) — Norb Hecker, defensive back with Washington Redskins, Wednesday denied a report quoting him as saying some National Football League teams in the past pre-waived players who "got" Detroit quarterback Bobby Layne.

A Washington newspaper said Hecker related that while he was playing with Los Angeles Rams a few years ago the players themselves "put up the money and" went to the man who got Layne."

Hecker, a former end with Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four, told a reporter "I never said anything about dirty football."

Layne was injured last Sunday when Chicago Bears whipped the Lions to win the NFL's Western Division title.

PROTEST LODGED

Edward J. Anderson, Lions' president, protested to NFL commissioner Bert Bell that Layne was deliberately slugged by Chicago end Ed Meadows and asked that Meadows be expelled from professional football.

Hecker, denying knowledge that a price had been placed on Layne, said he remarked only that pro players apply "all the pressure they can on key men."

In Los Angeles, officials and players of the Rams also denied knowledge of any "get Layne" pool.

But Jack Geyer, a Times football writer, says two members of the Rams teams of 1951-52-53 told him Wednesday they had small pools that were to go to the player that put the opposition quarterback out of the game.

One of Geyer's informants said: "The guy who got the quarterback out of the game got a jackpot we all donated to, but that doesn't mean we wanted the quarterback out of there illegally. It was just a bonus for real good, hard tackling to put him on his back."

Iowa Favored Over Oregon In Rose Bowl

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Neither coach was particularly impressed when Iowa Hawkeyes were quoted as 9½-point favorites over Oregon State Beavers in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

Advised of the odds Wednesday at his team's training camp in nearby Santa Monica, coach Tommy Prothro of Oregon State said:

"The first time the Iowa sportswriters come to see one of our practices it will push the 9½ points the next day."

Prothro was asked why.

"Their size compared to ours," he said. "They are a better team than they were when they played us during the season, and I came away from that game with the impression that the Iowa boys outweighed ours about 15 pounds to the man."

Meanwhile, at the Iowa camp in East Los Angeles, coach Forest Evashevski had this reaction to the 9½-point spread:

"I don't make the odds. All I know is that Oregon State was up there in the Rose Bowl two clubs we played this season."

Iowa edged Oregon State 14-13 early in the 1956 campaign.

Senior A Hockey

Most of the excitement in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Southern Group seems to centre around a hectic struggle for second-place honors. Sudbury Wolves and Soo Greyhounds have been waging a bitter battle for the runner-up slot since early in the season. It is more or less a foregone conclusion that North Bay Trappers, now leading the pack by nine points, are a cinch to win the championship.

Sudbury climbed back into second spot Wednesday night, dumping Soo Greys 6-2.

In the Western Division of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series, Windsor Bulldogs vaulted into a second-place tie with Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, defeating the leading Stratford Indians 3-1.

COME FROM BEHIND

A single game played in the Porcupine Mines Senior League saw Abitibi Eskimos spot the leading Timmins Flyers three goals, then bound back for a 6-3 victory.

At Sudbury, the Indians played without three of their better men, Gord Healey, Joe Mio and Eddie Litzenberger all benched by injuries.

Bill Watson fired two goals for Wolves, singles coming from Andy Milne, Bob Forhan, Andy Voyzin and Nick Tamburro. Gary Sharpe netted two for Indians, Johnny Bucyk and Peterson connecting once each.

Only 2,701 fans—smallest crowd of the season—saw a scheduled league game in Sudbury—watched the match.

At Stratford, Ches Warchol, Bob Brown and Lou Bendo all found the mesh for Bulldogs, Bud Kemp scoring Stratford's lone tally.

At Timmins, Doug Trenoweth had two goals for the winners, singles going to Brian Grant, Bill Scott, Mac Cheverfils and Gord Cooksley. Eric Prentice, Flo Guarda and Lionel Small counted for the Flyers.

Television May Have Killed Continent's Two Oldest Mags

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—The reading public was surprised last week to learn of the death of two of the continent's oldest magazines, Collier's and the Woman's Home Companion.

The private comment of a Madison Avenue advertising agency executive is that television killed the magazines.

"During the first years of television's phenomenal growth, the publishing industry feared that it represented dangerous competition. The fear proved to be unfounded. Book sales and magazine and newspaper circulations have generally continued to climb regardless of the huge growth of the TV audience. The cases of Collier's and the Companion is not an exception. Circulation figures show that at least 20,000,000 persons were reading each of these magazines regularly.

So it is not a lack of public interest that destroyed them. Rather, sharp declines in advertising forced them to suspend publication.

It is the theory of the agency executive, undocumented by specific examples, that advertising which in years past would normally have been placed in these publications was diverted to television.

Robert Leder, general manager of radio station WHN in New York, had some things to say the other day at a meeting of radio executives that is worth passing along. He quote:

"I am satisfied that most (radio executives) who blithely bandy about the so-called 'music and news' format because it has been a way for many operators who have little imagination and little ability to do much more with their stations.

"They believe that you must minimize the spoken word—except commercials—and that your newscasts must be brief, that the public would be bored with the story behind the headlines, and their attitude toward public service, of course, is 'let the big station do it.' These operators are victims of a snare and a delusion.

"For years we as broadcasters have decried the enslavement of the advertiser and his agency to ratings and what they think is or is not represent. We say that there is no corollary between ratings and the ability of a station to sell merchandise, ew argue that the cost per thousand should not be the sole criterion of media buying.

"What do we do about it? We default! We accept ratings by giving away money, by running contests in a mad manner to achieve higher ratings which are as fleeting as the fickle audience who tie the dial to any station that raises the ante."

DIES AT 106

MONTREAL (CP) — One of America's oldest residents, Mrs. Wallace R. Ruthven, died Wednesday. She was 106. She was born in London, Ont., and came to Montreal in 1900 when she married Wallace Ruthven. Her husband died in 1914.

NAT TEROFSKY ILL

TORONTO (CP)—Nat Terofsky, 60, veteran Toronto photographer, was taken to hospital for emergency treatment after suffering a collapse. He was described as in serious condition with a form of arteriosclerosis.

Point Anne

POINT ANNE — Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hayes, of Havelock, spent a recent weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Nell Brangan, Mark, Mr. Brangan, and grandchildren.

Sorry to report Mrs. Bert Lloyd, and Mr. Clifford Defoyne are patients in the Belleville General Hospital. Friends are hoping to see them home soon.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Juby and family in the sudden death of Mrs. Juby's mother, Mrs. Betty Eames, who passed away at her home in Toronto, last Wednesday.

Sympathy is also extended to Mr. and Mrs. James Sero and daughter in the sudden death of Mrs. Sero's brother, Mr. Argyle Mark, Mrs. Brown and who passed away suddenly from an accident with train and car.

Mr. and Mrs. William Juby spent Wednesday in Napanee with Mrs. Cora Miller. Mrs. Miller has been ill.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. James Horwood (nee Ruth Akey) who were married on Saturday in Deseronto. They will be living in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Akey spent Sunday tea hour and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Milton Akey and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Cox had dinner on Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Akey at Consecon.

LADIES' AID

The Ladies' Aid of the Point Anne United Church was held at the home of Mrs. H. E. Payne on Tuesday evening. The president, Mrs. H. E. Payne, presided. The meeting was opened with prayer and Christmas carols and Scripture reading and Bible lesson were read. Cards and letters were dealt with.

Mrs. Clayton Carter was presented with a lovely oak plant cake plate from the members, for which Mrs. Carter expressed her thanks for their lovely gift and their kind gesture to her.

Christmas refreshments were served by Mrs. Payne and her assistants. A most pleasant evening was spent together, after which all joined in wishing each a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

KEEPING CHRISTMAS

What is at the core of Christmas message and its application to living?

Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people, and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the middle distance, and your chances to do a little more than your duty in the foreground; to see that your fellow men are just as real as you are, and try to look behind their faces to their hearts hungry for joy?

To own that probably the only good reason for your existence is not what you are going to get out of it, but what you are going to give to life; to close your ears on a few occasions and hearpieces—are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop was smoking to himself comfortable, and ma said, William, if anybody asks you, our asteck is full of it and not for sale.

Yes my dear, in case I'm asked I'll be right on my toes with the answer, pop said, and ma said, A chest of draws like that is something you rarely get, and I don't know another role that owns one like it. It's a real conversation peece, she said.

I believe you, we're having a conversation peece right now, pop said, and ma said, That chest of draws was also owned by my grandmother bought it when she was comparatively young. Every woman that has ever had it has begged me to let her be the first to know if I ever sell it, she said.

What do they say they would pay for it? pop said, and ma said, Well, they never quite say, in so many round figures, but I've done a little exploring lately, because after all there are a lot of luxuries I need more than I need a chest of draws, I mean of any age.

Do you mind if I ask about some inquiring women what they would actually give for the chest? pop said, and ma said, Yes, I asked my 2 richest friends, who have always been the leaders in their praise, and Claudia Talbit hemmed and hawed and told me I'm now one identically like it in an anteck shop for 20 dollers, and Cecilia Sealy hawed and hemmed and pointed out a few antieck marks in the base and called them nicks, without even mentioning anything so vulgar as money. Now dont forget, William, that chest of draws is priceless and not for sale, she said.

I'll remember, my dear, pop said.

Saying it with his head bobbing on his way to a nap.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

In match point duplicate for little play, no credit is given to a side that holds honors. In learning-of-four title play with cumulative points, you get a partial credit for holding honors.

Consequently, in the world championship four-man team match, the players angled for contracts that paid them bonuses. As was the case in deal 22 you see here:

| | NORTH | |
|---|---|---|
| | ♠5 4 3 | |
| | ♥K J 9 7 | |
| | ♦K J 8 | |
| | ♣10 8 3 | |
| WEST | | EAST |
| ♠10 9 8 | | ♠K J 7 2 |
| ♥Q 10 6 | | ♥6 5 2 |
| ♦Q 10 4 2 | | ♦7 6 |
| ♣K 9 2 | | ♣J 6 5 4 |
| | SOUTH | |
| | ♠A Q 8 2 | |
| | ♥A Q 8 | |
| | ♦A 9 5 3 | |
| | ♣A 7 | |

In each room the south player made an exploratory bid with the view of ending in no-trump which would pay 150 bonus for four aces in one hand. In room one the European pair bid like this:

| South | North |
|---|---|
| 1 ♦ | 1 ♥ |
| 2 No-T. | 3 No-T. |

In room two the American team bid like this:

| South | North |
|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | 1 ♥ |
| 2 ♠ | 3 ♦ |
| 3 No-T. | Pass |

In room one where the spade suit was not bid and thus hidden from opponents, opening lead from west was a spade. Dummy played high with the king and south won with the ace.

A diamond was successfully finessed. Opponents got a spade. South won the return club, took more spades, four hearts, and two top diamonds. His total was 11 tricks.

In room two where the spade suit was bid, opponents gained a good opening club bid. This put the timing pressure on declarer who took ten tricks and gave up the other three.

A master is an expert who knows just exactly what to do. But let me add, because it rhymes, these simple words: except at times.

Sarnia Council To Fight Order

SARNIA (CP)—City council indicated Wednesday it will fight an order from the Ontario Water Resources Commission to install sewage treating a sewage plant by next July 1 or face fines of $100 per day.

Council "filed" a covering letter from commission chairman A. M. Snider at the same time it endorsed a resolution passed unanimously at Chatham last Friday when several municipalities voted to reject an agreement offered by the commission for construction of sewage and water projects in their areas.

A sewage disposal plant here would cost an estimated $1,500,000, Mayor W. C. Nelson told council "there appears to be no object in further negotiations with the OWRC, and we must go higher."

AT THE PARK—LaVerne Baker is featured in DCA release "Rock, Rock, Rock," now playing at the Park Theatre. Also featured the King of Rock 'N Roll Alan Freed and his 18 piece Rock 'N Roll Band. On the same program "The Three Outlaws". Both hits are first Belleville showings.

At The Park

Perfect Picture for Teenagers.

"Rock, Rock, Rock," the new "Roll 'n Roll" musical sensation which is now playing at the Park Theatre tonight, is a perfect picture for a teenage audience. The delightful story tells of the trials and tribulations of a young girl who has to earn enough money to buy a new frock for a high school spring prom.

The musical background to this touching story is supplied by twenty-one new "Rock 'n Roll" tunes performed by such outstanding "Rock 'n Roll" combinations and performers are:

Frankie Lymon and The Teenagers
The Three Chuckles
Lavern Baker
Chuck Berry
Moonglows
Flamingoes
Jimmy Cavallo and His House Rockers
Johnny Brunette Trio
Frankie Ervin
Alan Freed's Rock 'n Roll Band
Six Year Old Ivy Schulman
The Bostyles.

"Rock, Rock, Rock" is unforgettable entertainment for our teen-age audiences.

Lions Submit Rough Play Film To Commissioner

DETROIT (AP)—Although their general manager admits "it's a topless case," Detroit Lions are seeking films of Sunday's disputed game with Chicago Bears to Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League.

"I know it won't do any good," Nick Kerbawy said Wednesday. "There will be no fines, no suspensions and no penalties of any kind. But perhaps it will help prevent the same kind of unsportsmanlike conduct in the future."

Detroit accused Chicago end Ed Meadows of deliberate roughness and Lion quarterback Bobby Layne, and suggested he was acting on instructions from owner George Halas of the Bears.

"The films show," said Kerbawy, "that Meadows was at the line of scrimmage when Layne pitched the ball out to Gene Gedman. Then Meadows took five strides at Layne and finally crashed into him—all after Layne had gotten rid of the ball.

"There's no question that it was malicious, unwarranted and illegal."

CARDS SIGN TRIO

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Cardinals now have 16 players under contract for the 1960 baseball season.

Lindy McDaniel, 21 - year - old relief pitcher; Ben Mahe, 25-year-old pitcher with Houston, and Ron Piche, 22-year-old infielder with Rochester, agreed to terms Wednesday.

WILL GO TO BELGIUM

BRUSSELS (AP) — Sandor Iharos, former holder of seven world records for middle and long distance-track events, has decided to settle in Belgium after fleeing Hungary, he said Wednesday night. He is going to join the track team of Brussels Royal Racing Club, which is sponsoring him.

Parker Drops Crockett Role; Bright Singing Career Ahead

Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Fess Parker, whose Davy Crockett days are behind him, is branching out into singing. His reasoning:

"There must be 18 or 20 actors who can do westerns as well or better than I can. But only me and Keel and Gordon Macrae have the voices and names to handle top singing roles. Now I don't see any reason why they shouldn't share that field."

He's not just talking about his ambitions. He's taking action. For the last six months he has been studying voice as hour a day, five days a week, under operatic coach Edwin Lear.

I dropped into Lear's studio and listened to a recital concert by the new Fess. He gave a stirring rendition of Ole Man River that made you feel like toting that barge and lifting that bale. Then he and Lear combined in an operatic aria that shook the walls.

COACH APPRECIATIVE

I asked Lear about Fess' possibilities.

"As far as handling singing roles like Pajama Game, I think he could be ready in a few months," the coach said. "As for opera, that takes at least five years of study. I think Fess could make it. He has the voice and he has the desire to work, which is most important.

"I've done Flagstad 19 times and I've sung it with many heroines, who were no better than Fess in his present stage of development."

Fess has been able to study intensively, since he hasn't made a picture since Westward Ho the Wagons last March.

Fess is anxious to get back in action and is hunting scripts like mad. But first he will journey to Japan where Davy Crockett is opening.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

For Friday, December 21, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Much happier influences make your outlook generally brighter. Plan it has been for some time. Delicate matters, hard work and the solution of difficult problems equally honored. Your mentality should be very keen.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — No matter what your occupation or business it is honorable you can make headway on this generous day. Don't be narrow-minded and do keep pace with fast-moving events. Pray, work.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mental alertness, intuition and imagination should be at its peak now, which should be helpful in whatever your duties. There's ample room for making needed improvements, expanding sensibly, bettering your status generally. Dare the new if it shows merit. Seek clients, customers; don't hesitate to promote your own capabilities and products. Teachers, students, clerks, bookkeepers, salesmen — women favored.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Benefic aspects for achievement, fresh gains, new benefits. There's no need to force issues. And do not try more than you can manage sensibly. Your Sun's position suggests that you make time count.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Many lines of endeavor, the professions, study, intricate matters, research and activities requiring hard work and smart planning are under very auspicious rays. Don't fear new undertakings, methods, tools, etc.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Be your good-natured self now so that you may reap the benefits, advantages and friendships possible. Cooperate where, when you should for good cause, sound achievement. A fine day!

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Profits, some credits stimulating day through clever management of affairs and intelligent dealings with all. Steady, consistent effort counts.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Strong influences smile on all kinds of endeavor. Finances, business ventures, unskilled and skilled labor, students, childrens activities under fine rays. Be encouraged.

December 23 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Your Saturn is among the planets well aspected now. It should be a fruitful period. Household tasks equally honored with social activities. Be ambitious.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — While the day is promising, don't be over-confident or careless. Examine documents, contracts well. You may have to sign, so consult with family. Use tact in weighty matters.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Your Neptune favorably situated. You can, should, have a pleasant as well as a progressive day, market by new interests, vigorous [illegible] sponsored. Good friends can [illegible].

You born today are active, versatile, buoyant, trustworthy, intensely enterprising, progressive, ambitious, outspoken frankness is to be admired, but at the same time you must be diplomatic so as not to offend. And don't be over-zealous, let you spoil chances. Stop to consider outcomes, deliberate ways and means best suited to what you are doing; don't hesitate to consult with wiser heads — if in doubt. You like travel and may do well with employment that requires it. Many great musicians, writers, artists and business executives were born in this sector.

Madoc Junction

MADOC JUNCTION — Mrs. George Jervis returned home on the train Monday night, after spending a few days with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nelson were recent visitors at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Leslie Hardy and family, Coe Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Forde Stapley and children spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers of Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Harrison Harlow, Sunday School superintendent, and members of Eggleton Y.P.U., met at the church on Wednesday evening and decorated the tree that Mr. Harlow had kindly placed there for the Christmas entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris Fitchett visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow on Tuesday night.

Several from here attended the funeral service of the late Mr. Judson Bush, which was held in St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, on Friday afternoon.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Kirkey were Mrs. H. Allen and little daughter, of Napanee; Master Ronald McWilliams of Corbyville; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kirkey and little Shirley Kirkey of Belleville; Mrs. S. Kirkey of Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kay and little son William, of Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bridges and Messrs Thomas and Paul Bridges spent the week-end visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bridges and family, in Oshawa.

OLD DOG, OLD TRICKS
MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—Edward Serven, 63-year-old postman, said in a court action Wednesday that he has been bitten 16 times by the same dog in the last 11 years. He filed a claim for $100,000 against the dog's owner. The 18th bite, he said, caused him to fall and permanently injure his back.

Metro Commission Wants to Know Number Issued

TORONTO (CP)—The Metropolitan Toronto licensing commission still wants to know how many new licences were issued in Toronto after the new Metro commission was set up nine months ago, says its chairman, Magistrate Fred Hall.

The new commission, which takes over the Toronto and Licensing Commission, is expected today to approve a new licensing bylaw amid reports of widespread bootlegging of taxi licences. Some reports were that taxi drivers paid up to $3,000 for licences normally sold for $15.

Magistrate Hall said Toronto Police Chief John Chisholm and Martin Kelso, secretary of the Toronto city commission, each sent him letters Wednesday in reply to queries about the taxi situation but neither identified 79 new taxi licence owners.

BELIEVES CONTROLLED

Metro Chairman Fred Gardiner told the commission meeting Wednesday it was his impression the suburban municipalities had all complied with the 1953 Metro request that they restrict taxi licences in their areas to one for every 750 persons, as said on the basis of the new Toronto licences this week, there now has actually been for every 650 persons.

The commission approved the new licensing by-law and said that in so doing that it would recognize existing reasonable agreements between the owners of taxicabs, licences and the cab drivers. The commission will examine these agreements and may not accept any considered unusually harsh on the drivers.

UNDER GET-RICH-QUICK

Mr. Gardiner said no one should be disqualified from getting a new taxi licence because he owns one changed in the middle of the game.

Reports persisted that taxi drivers are paying from $19 to more than $30 for short periods up to five years for the right to have a taxi licence transferred to their names from bolding companies controlled by unnamed persons.

The Telegram quoted one taxi driver as saying there are at least as 500 of these deals for taxi licences arranged every year, netting a profit of $1,500,000 a year for the speculators.

Shannonville

SHANNONVILLE — The Quinte Women's Institute held its Christmas meeting in the United Church Hall on Tuesday afternoon.

A fine Christmas program was renewed by Mrs. Robert Atkins, Mrs. Damon Hinchey, and Miss Marion Blatherwick, who were invited guests, presenting a lovely Christmas duet.

Mrs. D. Atkin played the part of Santa Claus and distributed the presents, exchanged by the members.

The meeting was well attended.

Mrs. Carrie Coleman is visiting friends in Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Boerum and family have moved to Halloway.

The funeral of Mrs. Thelma Robertson was held at All Saints Anglican Church in Tyendinaga Mohawk on Friday afternoon. The deceased was the seventh victim of a level crossing train-automobile collision near here on December 2nd. Her husband and two children are still hospitalized as patients.

Mr. Lorne Wescott, Read, and Sgt. Orval Wescott of Barriefield, spent tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wescott, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton McDougall and family of Marysville, and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hogle and family were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nugent, and family.

Mr. Frank Doxtator was guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wedding at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, Belleville, on Saturday, December 15th. Following the wedding ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Congratulations are extended to the young couple.

SHIPS COLLIDE

BREMEN, Germany (AP)—Fire broke out aboard the American freighter Leslie Lykes early today after she and the Norwegian ship Tarnbank collided in a heavy fog at the mouth of the Weser River. The collision left a hole in the Leslie Lykes above the waterline, and repairs were started immediately. The Tarnbank was damaged only slightly.

Two Persons Die, 18 Others Hurt, As Train Wrecked

Illinois Roadbed Shifted As Result of Heavy Rains

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—An Illinois Central passenger train plunged 20 feet down a muddy embankment early today when its rain-weakened roadbed gave way. Two passengers were injured fatally and 18 others were admitted to hospital.

One of the dead was Mrs. Orono Cowell, 70, of North Platte, Neb. The other was Henry Hudson, 63, a farmer from Greendale, Miss.

The train, bound from St. Louis to Memphis, Tenn., ran into trouble soon after it took off on a foggy night. Belleville is just across the Mississippi River from St. Louis.

Authorities said the derailment probably resulted from a shifting roadbed caused by recent rains.

The two coaches and one pullman were among the eight cars which plunged down the embankment into mud at a site where excavation work apparently had been in progress.

Two ambulances speeding to the scene of the wreck on the edge of the city limits collided, and two persons were injured.

Within two hours after the train left the track all the injured had been separated and removed from the overturned cars.

ROLLED OVER

"The train began to creak, then it rolled over," said Arthur Salzman, 78, of Bloomington, Ill., one of the train with his wife.

"It felt like it was running on the tips for a while."

The track was torn up for half a mile. Eleven cars of the 144-car train carried baggage and mail. The diesel engine did not jump the tracks.

Cal Schmidts, engineer of the train, called the Chicagoan, said that as he came around the bend he felt the engine sway and the cars begin to leave the track.

Partly-Clad Body Of Woman Found In Backyard

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The partly-clad body of a 46-year-old woman was found two days after Thursday in the backyard of a suburban home where she worked as a cook and housekeeper.

She was identified as Mrs. Frances Sherrouard, of Whitehaven, a Buffalo suburb.

"It appears to be a case of strangulation," said medical examiner James J. Creighton after a preliminary investigation.

District attorney John F. Dwyer said the body, bruised about the head, arms and legs, was resting on blood - spattered newspapers. "It appears the body was dragged to where it was found," he said.

10 PASSENGERS LOST

LAGOS, Nigeria (Reuters)—Ten persons were drowned Thursday and 10 more were missing after a mail boat carrying 40 passengers struck a rock and sank near Port Harbourt, eastern Nigeria.

Budapest Labor Leader Freed

BUDAPEST (AP)—One of Budapest's chief labor leaders, arrested last week by the government of Premier Janos Kadar, today was reported to have been released from jail. But the other top man in the Central Workers Council apparently still was being held.

A reliable informant said Sandor Bart, vice-chairman of the central council, had been freed and returned to his job in the Bejolanis electrical equipment plant. The source said Bart was promptly elected chairman of the plant workers' council.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synoptic: Colder weather will spread southward over Ontario today and by Saturday morning will cover all but southern sections of the province. With a pressure system over Montana the southward push of the cold air will end and snow by Sunday through central and northern sections of the province.

A weak disturbance near Lake Erie caused some light rain and extensive fog in southwestern Ontario overnight but its continued eastern movement will end the precipitation. Another disturbance expected to develop today in Texas will move northeastward and likely bring rain to Southern Ontario Saturday night or Sunday.

EIGHT BLASTS CAUSE ESTIMATED $200,000 DAMAGE

Two Persons Injured In North Toronto Fire

TORONTO (CP) — A 1½-hour fire, during which eight explosions scattered debris for hundreds of feet, slightly injuring two persons, has caused an estimated $200,000 damage to an apartment block under construction in North Toronto.

Another $50,000 damage was done Thursday night to contents of the 11-storey building, on Lawrence Boulevard just west of Yonge Street.

The fire started by an explosion of a gas storage tank, touched off explosions of seven other tanks and residents from nearby apartment buildings were fleeing to the streets.

Terrence Freeman, who was outside the building before fire-men arrived, said there was shooting out of ninth-floor windows minutes before the explosions.

"There were four minor explosions in succession and then the firing," she said. "But the fifth and sixth blasts were like bombs."

FELT RUSH OF AIR

"I crouched on the ground as there was a rush of air and hot metal fell on the ground around me. There was a concussion wave that felt like a blast of hot air in my face."

Fire Chief Eagleson of the crime detection laboratory of the attorney-general's department and a spectator, Robert Armstrong, also suffered minor injuries from the explosions. Both were treated by doctors on the spot.

Antonio Gallo, 26, and Antonio Villella, 21, said the fire started on the 10th floor when a gas tank exploded. The gas was fuel for the heaters used for keeping concrete warm.

The men said they tried to put out the fire by pouring four buckets of water on it and by spreading a tarpaulin over it. The tarpaulin caught fire and they ran to call the fire department.

FEARED SPREAD

Flames engulfed the upper floors as firemen from three stations arrived at the scene. For a time it was feared the flames might spread to homes in the residential area but firemen said things well in hand.

Thirteen fire trucks were sent to the blaze. In the early stages firemen were unable to get near the building as Assistant Indoors were too short to reach the top of the building and a ladder truck could not get near enough to offer a vantage point.

Debris was ringed from the top of a next-door apartment block and the windows were shattered by the burning building to supply sufficient pressure for the hoses.

Firemen were ordered down from the building when the explosions began. They were kept down for nearly a half hour.

GROUP TO LEAVE

OTTAWA (CP)—The army announced Thursday that a 34-man group will leave from Canada by air Dec. 28 for duty with the United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East. This will bring to 671 the number of army and air force personnel in the Middle East.

By-election Results Stir Debate As to Whether Eden Could Win Vote

LONDON (Reuters)—The House polls of Commons rose today for its month-long Christmas recess, with politicians and political commentators debating whether a general election now would sweep Sir Anthony Eden's Conservative government from office.

The result of a by-election, declared Thursday, showed a 7.8 per cent swing in favor of the Labor opposition.

The opposition took place at Melton Mowbray, Leicestershire, a traditional Conservative seat, following the resignation of Anthony Nutting, minister of state for foreign affairs who had protested against the government's Middle East policy.

The Conservative candidate, Miss Mervyn Pike, held the seat, winning 19,133 votes to the 18,771 polled by her Labor schoolmaster rival, Edward Masters.

Miss Pike's majority of 2,362, however, was 8,418 smaller than that gained at the last general election by Nutting.

Believe Best Policy for UN To Move Slowly in Mid-East

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — At the United Nations these days you hear voiced more and more the viewpoint that in seeking a solution to major Middle East problems the UN will get there faster if it moves slowly.

This is a switch in the general attitude at the time of the cease-fire in Egypt that the UN should take advantage of the momentum it created and push for negotiations on long-range settlements of the Palestine and Suez Canal issues.

The long and bitter conflict between Israel and her Arab neighbors is seen here as by far the most difficult of the two situations. And many diplomats feel the UN would be wise to concentrate on keeping the peace rather than rush into two fierce disputes simultaneously while the atmosphere is still tense.

The feeling is that a prolonged period of peace would be the best antidote for the animosity built up during the eight years of border fighting climaxed by Israel's invasion of Egypt in October.

External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson, Canada's chief UN delegate, has said he favors putting the problems of Suez and Palestine into the hands of specialized UN committees. This idea was backed by the United States although the U.S. as well as a number of other countries favored a cooling - down period before actively promoting such a plan.

However, this idea hasn't stirred enthusiasm among many delegates, probably because a committee has been trying unsuccessfully for years to find a solution to the Arab-Israeli problem.

The Palestine problem is deep. Arab countries, with the backing of some Asian allies, insist the only solution is the liquidation of Israel.

Added to this is the conviction of some UN delegates that Russia is determined to keep the Middle East in turmoil by fanning these feelings and sending Soviet arms to other Arab countries as she did to Egypt.

Another major problem is that of refugees. This involves the future of some 900,000 Arabs who fled Israel at the start of the Arab-Israeli war in 1948.

About 250,000 of them settled in the Gaza Strip and have been cared for by the UN refugee agency. The Arab charges that many of them were driven from Gaza into Jordan when Israel started the invasion last October.

In the face of these momentous problems, a widely-held view at UN headquarters appears to be that the best task for the UN to take is to employ its Middle East police force to keep the Arabs and Israelis from each other's throats. Then it could chop away at some of the lesser problems and gradually build up an atmosphere in which the two parties would be more receptive to negotiation.

East-West Relations Prominent In Talks With Nehru of India

OTTAWA (CP) — Relations between Western and Arab-Asian nations are expected to figure prominently in talks here this weekend during the visit of India's Prime Minister Nehru.

He is to arrive here tonight from New York following a visit to the United States and Canada's first ministerial discussions with President Eisenhower.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, members of his cabinet and the diplomatic corps will meet Mr. Nehru on his arrival at Uplands airport.

The talks begin Saturday when Mr. Nehru will spend several hours with Mr. St. Laurent. The Indian prime minister will also be Governor-General Massey's guest at Government House, but he will have Saturday lunch with Mr. St. Laurent.

CONTINUE SUNDAY

His discussions will continue Sunday in a private meeting with External Affairs Minister Pearson. At a press conference Tuesday, Mr. Pearson said he could not imagine a visit of greater interest or importance at the present time than that of Mr. Nehru's.

He said the talks would be "a tour d'horizon (a broad survey) with special reference to certain areas."

Mr. Pearson did not specify the "certain areas" but it appeared likely these would feature the Middle East situation and Russia's actions in Hungary.

Canada's Share Of UN Force's Budget $315,000

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The United Nations budgetary committee has approved a dispensed account for the UN Middle East Emergency force which is going to cost Canada $315,000.

The committee Thursday passed an initial expenditure of $10,000,000 for the force, and agreed that this figure should be split among the members on the basis of the present scale of assessment for UN expenditures.

The budgetary committee recommendation still must be approved by the General Assembly but since the 80-member committee has approved it, it appears likely that the assembly will back the decision.

HOW SIX DIED

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—A 10-year-old Eskimo girl and five men died last week of food poisoning at Gren Cove on Aulatsivik Island, Labrador. A missionary, Reverend F. W. Peacock, said Thursday the deaths were caused by an Eskimo dish made of seal meat or fish slowly rotted in a wooden container. A woman apparently made the meal in an old gas can used for tainting soul skins instead of the usual wooden container.

STAR PRESIDENT, H. HINDMARSH, DIES SUDDENLY

Collapses in Office From Heart Attack

TORONTO (CP) — Harry C. Hindmarsh, whose journalistic genius helped make the Toronto Star Canada's largest daily and one of its most controversial newspapers, collapsed in his office Thursday and died in hospital of a heart attack.

He had joined The Star in 1911 as a cub reporter, was both city editor and managing editor during the paper's most progressive years, and was president from 1943 on the death of Joseph E. Atkinson, his father-in-law.

Mr. Hindmarsh would have been 70 Jan. 13.

The Star's attack came only a few hours after the resignation of two oldtime directors of The Star and the appointment of two employees to the newspaper's board, a management shake - up ending speculation that The Star might soon be sold.

PHOTO PIONEER

Under Mr. Hindmarsh, The Star set the pace in at least two directions. It pioneered the widespread use of photographs in the press and in 1928 started the first paper in Canada to devote one whole page to a single picture. The Star was also the first paper in Canada to devote one whole page to a single picture.

It also became noted for spending money to get stories. In news, often dispatching 30 or 40 reporters and photographers on a single assignment, chartering steamboats and tugboats to get the report scoop for The Star first. It spent as much as $100,000 on one story.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday night Mr. Hindmarsh was "a personal friend and played an important role on the Canadian scene in his capacity as president of the Toronto Star and its predecessors."

Premier Frost of Ontario said "his passing leaves a great vacancy. He had a keen interest in the affairs of the nation and he was positive and forthright in his views."

FUNERAL SATURDAY

D. B. Rogers, editor of the Regina Leader-Post and president of The Canadian Press said "he was both merciless and merciful—merciless when there was a story to be got, merciful whenever his heart was touched." Mr. Rogers said he worked with him on The Star from 1923 to 1928 and "I acknowledge his deep dedication to the pursuit of news and keenly regret his passing."

Egypt Exchanges Canal Technicians For 386 Prisoners

All British Salvage Crews Agree to Remain on Job

PORT SAID (Reuters) — The Anglo-French command today released 386 Egyptian prisoners in exchange for 450 interned British Suez Canal technicians.

The switch was due to take place at El Cap, 25 miles south of Port Said.

The technicians were in charge of maintenance at the vast British base at Ismailia in the canal zone. They were arrested Oct. 31, the day the British air offensive against Egypt was launched.

Lt.-Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, Lt.-Gen. Raymond Wheeler the Anglo - French commander, told a press conference that "plans are now ready for commencing Suez Canal clearance immediately after evacuation" of the last British and French soldiers.

WILLING TO STAY

Vice-Admiral L. F. Durnford-Slater, Anglo-French naval commander, announced that all crews of the British salvage fleet at Port Said have agreed to remain for clearance work after the withdrawal of Anglo-French forces. They were prepared to work under the protection of the United Nations Emergency Force.

The salvage fleet of 10 British ships will pull into one side of the harbor for the first time for days after the withdrawal to be out of range of possible rifle fire from the shore.

650 Egyptians Died in Fighting At Port Said

LONDON (Reuters) — Egyptian casualties in Port Said during the Anglo-French action there were estimated today to total 2,750, including 650 dead.

Sir Edwin Herbert, British Suez Society president who investigated the casualties for the British government, gave the following as his "reasonable estimate" of the casualties:

Dead: 650; wounded and detained in hospital 900; slightly wounded 1,200, Total: 2,750.

The report said these figures were exclusive of casualties in Port Fuad, of which Herbert regarded approximately 100 dead as established.

Nehru Still Sure Road to Peace Is Through UN

NEW YORK (AP) — India's Prime Minister Nehru today wound up his six-day American visit as he began it — still convinced that collective security pacts will not preserve world peace.

In meeting with Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold and Prince Wan Waithayakon of Thailand, president of the United Nations General Assembly, was expected to provide an opportunity for the Indian leader to make one more plea for solving world problems through the UN.

At 8:30 p.m. tonight an RCAF plane is to fly Nehru to Ottawa for weekend conferences with Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Nehru made the most of his brief New York visit Thursday with a round of speeches, all of them dealing with the theme that a positive but peaceful approach could solve the problems of Hungary and the Middle East hostilities "without too great difficulties."

HITS AT FACTS

Thursday night at an informal gathering of 1,000 members of Society delegates, and in a speech before the private, non - partisan Americas Association for the United Nations, Nehru lashed out at the concept of military pacts and alliances.

It was an indication that any efforts President Eisenhower or State Secretary Dulles may have made to convince Nehru of the need for such pacts had failed.

Aldermen Will Request Flights To Be Banned

AYLMER, Que. (CP) — Aldermen in this community about 10 miles west of Ottawa are asking that RCAF training flights be banned in the area following the crash of a CF-100 jet plane two miles outside the town limits.

The plane's crew members died Thursday in the 7:30 a.m. crash at Uplands Airport in Ottawa.

TO ASK BAN

Mayor Garnet M. Guertin told reporters Thursday night that he plans to ask the next council meeting Jan. 7, to move that Aylmer ask Defence Minister Campbell to ban RCAF flights over and near Aylmer.

Guertin said the crash might have happened in the middle of the 9,000 - population community and Hull, Ottawa's twin city across the river.

The deafening explosion "near cost me my life" said Mrs. Mrs. Reay Ferris said. The jet plunged into solid bedrock covered by less than two feet of soil only 300 yards from her farm home.

The RCAF plans a board of inquiry.

Russia, Satellites Fight Unrest With Concessions and With Tyranny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist Russia and her satellites are described in reports collected here as fighting widespread unrest with a combination of economic handouts and police state terror.

These reports, most of them published although some are confidential, have been appearing ever since the revolt in Hungary.

Mostly they are stories of opposition to Communist doctrine and restrictions. Some tell of demonstrations against the workers.

What they all add up to is a matter of speculation. American and other diplomatic observers in Washington agree in laying too much emphasis on their meaning.

But they nevertheless have lent behind two statements this month by dissimilar figures:

1. Allen Dulles, chief of the United States Central Intelligence Agency, told newsmen Dec. 6 that "we have well-substantiated reports that satellites are becoming restive" inside Russia.

2. India's Prime Minister Nehru said here Wednesday that increased education of the Soviet people is causing a "fundamental" change and leading to eventual "liberalization and democratization" of the Soviet government.

The satellite regimes, apparently not counting Moscow, attacked unrest by precautionary moves and concessions, according classes.

Reported concessions included improved pensions in all the satellites, price cuts in Albania and Czechoslovakia and wage increases in Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary and Rumania.

In most cases of reports of unrest the Communists have put the blame on foreign influences.

Moscow Communists blamed the trouble on students.

Russia—Demonstrations by students at Moscow University that a second political party be created, in outcry among political students at Moscow Conservatory when a professor defended the Soviet military intervention in Hungary; a walkout of 200 students from a Moscow lecture when the lecturer refused to discuss Soviet policy toward Hungary.

Romania — Arrests of students who failed to explain their absence from classes; homework piled on students; a market place demonstration against high food ages.

Poland — Demonstrations at a half dozen cities; banning of Polish newspapers for export to other satellite countries.

East Germany—A near-riot of Dresden youths; demonstrations by East Berlin and Leipzig students.

Bulgaria — Regime warned of "secret enemies" in the country, and of "dissident elements"; students refused to attend political

TWO MEN ESCAPE WITH SHAKING UP AS CAR OVERTURNS

Two men escaped with a shaking up early today when their car turned over several times after missing a curve on No. 2 highway near the Point Anne truck road intersection.

Police said that Gordon Ayre, 39-A Henry Street, Belleville, was eastbound with another man as passenger when as he rounded the curve at the intersection his vehicle went onto the shoulder and going into the ditch turned over at least twice. There was considerable damage to the car.

Provincial Constable P. McKenna investigated.

County Taxes Coming in Well

County tax payments by the different municipalities are coming in well, it was reported today by county clerk treasurer Eric Denyes, who noted that 20 of 36 municipalities paying county taxes had already made their payments.

Total in county taxes, including school rates, received to date is $497,182.12 with but about $50,000 still outstanding. It is expected most of the county taxes will be in before the year end, now ten days away.

Last year all county taxes were paid by municipalities in the calendar year, it was stated.

'Moira Valley' Film Shown Fish and Game

The motion picture film "Moira River Valley," three years in the making by the Moira River Conservation Authority was shown to the members and guests of the Belleville Fish and Game Club last night. This was one of the first showings of the film, completed recently.

The field officer of the Authority, Mr. Mike Chubb, very capably explained the purpose and aims of the body and also showed many slides taken in the Valley.

Mr. William Davern of Wellington, extended the thanks of the club to Mr. Chubb and the executive of the Authority for the privilege of seeing their film.

Another film, "Fishing Across Canada," was shown and the meeting was closed with drawing for door prizes.

The meeting was chaired by Secretary Ken Yorke, due to the illness of President Don McKinnon.

Christmas Party Held for Cadets On Quinte Ship

A record turnout of 121 cadets, parents, and friends attended the annual Christmas party held at R.C.S.C.C. "Quinte" this week. Under the supervision of Lieut. A. Taylor, Commanding Officer, and his staff of officers, an interesting program of films was enjoyed, followed by a grand feast of hot dogs, hamburgers, and cokes. According to naval custom, Cadet Middleton, the youngest cadet aboard, was made Captain of the ship for the evening.

Mr. R. Lanning, Sea Cadet chairman, and Mr. W. H. Berzehi, Navy League chairman, were on hand to greet the guests. They spoke briefly about the good progress being made by the corps.

The evening terminated with a dance for the cadets and their friends.

Plans have been prepared by Lieut. Taylor and the officers for the continued training of the cadets throughout the winter season which will commence on January 7th after a short Christmas holiday interval.

Various activities will be expanded and close attention paid to all phases of naval training. The facilities afforded at the Armouries and the Collegiate will be fully utilized. With the development of the Sea Cadet band under Sub-Lieut. Longbottom it is anticipated that the lads aboard R.C.S.C.C. "Quinte" will make their usual fine showing when annual inspection time rolls around next May.

Pilot Killed Well Known in City, District

A CF-100 crash near Aylmer, Que., a few miles from Ottawa, yesterday claimed the lives of the two-man crew, F/O Morley G. Anderson, 33 of Toronto, and F/O Stevenson Heap, 32, of East York.

F/O Anderson was well known in Belleville by many close friends, having been educated here and an employee of Kolsh's on Front St. in the early days of World War II. He is survived by his wife, who lives in Ottawa, a five-and-one-half-year-old son, and a child who is to be born in two months. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Anderson, reside in Toronto, and a brother, Ray, lives in British Columbia.

While a student here F/O Anderson spent his summer vacations on the farm of his father's second cousin, Mr. Ronald Longworth, R.R. 1, Foxboro, who described him simply as being "a very outstanding and fine fellow."

F/O Anderson enlisted in the RCAF in 1942 or 1943.

Mrs. Ann Graham McNab, close friends of F/O Anderson's parents, said who lives near the crash site, said yesterday the explosion rocked their house.

About a year ago F/O Anderson was on course at Central Flying School at Trenton for about three months. At the time of their deaths F/O Anderson and F/O Henry Mrs. stationed at 410 (F) Squadron, the famous Lynx Squadron, at Uplands, about three miles west of Ottawa. The crash occurred a few minutes after the jet took off from Uplands' airport.

Contents of Cash Box at Legion Hall Stolen

Contents of the cash box at the Legion Hall on Pinnacle street, were taken some time during Wednesday night, it was reported to the city police yesterday afternoon.

The loss was discovered when a club official checked the premises during the early afternoon. Loss was reported to be in the neighborhood of $300.

Thursday night would-be thieves forced their way into the Park Theatre where a rear door was found jimmied and a door to the office opened. Nothing was taken and a floor safe was not touched. Some months ago a wall safe in the theatre office was forced.

Theft of a turkey and eight loaves of bread from a car parked on a Dundas street service station lot was reported. The car was owned by Chas. Ryan, 71 South Front street.

Also yesterday a woman escaped injury when struck by a car at the corner of Victoria Ave. and Front street. The car driven by David H. Campbell street, was westbound on Victoria when, in attempting to make a left turn on to Front street his vehicle struck the woman, who was crossing the street.

Firemen Battle Picton Blaze

Marked Increase In Long Distance Phone Calls Seen

The modern custom of telephoning Christmas greetings to distant friends and relatives will show a marked increase again this year, with long distance calls to various centres in Canada and the United States up an average of 10 per cent and overseas calls to Europe from all parts of Canada up more than 500 per cent.

In keeping with the estimated general increase in calling, C. W. Proctor, Bell Telephone manager here, anticipates that greater numbers of Belleville residents will place long distance calls this Christmas season. Approximately 5,900 calls to distant centres are expected to originate here on December 24, and about 5,750 on Christmas Day. Last year the out-of-town calls from here totalled 4,667 on December 24 and 4,765 on Christmas Day.

The five-fold increase in overseas calls has been made possible by the additional facilities now available through the transatlantic telephone cable, which was opened on September 25. While last year 102 calls from all parts of Canada were completed on December 24 and 25 through the Bell Telephone's overseas switchboard in Montreal, more than 570 calls have been booked for the two days this year.

Mr. Proctor suggested that calls be placed prior to Christmas Eve to avoid delays. There should be no problem on Sunday, December 23, and chances of getting through on the afternoon of Christmas Eve are better than later in the evening. Traffic is also lighter between midnight on Christmas Eve and eight o'clock Christmas morning.

LOW NIGHT RATES

Low night rates will be in effect from 6 p.m. to 4.30 a.m. during Christmas week and also on Sunday, December 23, and all day Christmas Day, to the Canadian and United States points. Regular day and night rates apply on overseas calls placed on Christmas Day.

Long distance circuits will be extremely busy on December 24 and 25, the manager said. Not only will the volume of calls be uncommonly large, but judging by past experience, the flow of telephone traffic will follow an unusual pattern.

Normally calls are between the larger centres, but at Christmas there is a percentage increase in calls to and from smaller communities and more remote centres. There will be more calls than usual to other parts of Canada and to the United States.

Mr. Proctor suggested three ways whereby telephone users could help to speed up service.

Call by number — calls go through twice as fast when the operator does not have to contact "information" in the called city.

Call station-to-station — this method is not only less expensive, but it avoids the extra time it takes to put through a person-to-person call.

"Refile" your own calls — if all the circuits are busy or if the party called does not answer, replace the call later, rather than asking her to call you.

USE ANCIENT CRYPT

LONDON (Reuters)—The seven-month-old grandson of the late mystery writer, Edgar Wallace, was baptized Thursday in the crypt of London's centuries-old St. Bride's Church — the first such christening to be held in nearly 1,000 years. The child, Edgar Michael Halcrow, was the first to be baptized in the crypt since it was unearthed two years ago during excavations.

Greeting Cards From Police Dept. Handed Out

Season's greetings are going out from the Belleville Police Department to motorists using city streets.

Special cards extending Christmas greetings are being handed to motorists by officers, and along with the familiar Yuletide message the Christmas cards carry a few suggestions in preventing accidents.

Topping the list of requests is one to watch for pedestrians, especially the children, crossing streets. Motorists are also asked to observe all "stop" signs and traffic signals; to park properly near the curb; not to double park; to drive carefully and to reduce speed.

Impaired Driving Charge Brings 21 Days in Jail

Magistrate T. Y. Wills this morning sent a Smithfield man to jail for 21 days after finding him guilty of impaired driving. It was 19-year-old Clarence Sommerville's second such offence this year.

John David McFarland, of Belleville, found guilty a few weeks ago along with a half dozen others on charges of breaking, entering and theft, today told Magistrate Wills he had made good restitution and court costs of $162. He was given two years suspended sentence provided he observe the same terms of sentence that were passed on the others last week.

Magistrate Wills told a petty thief he could thank Christmas for being given one year's suspended sentence after being convicted of stealing a few trinkets from two chain stores in a couple of weeks ago. Dominic Stafford Fleury, of Oshawa, blamed alcohol as being the cause of his "fight fingered-ness."

Two imbibers of alcoholic nectar were also given a "Christmas break." One was fined $13 because it was his first offence and the other man was given four days in jail — no longer — so that he could get to Ottawa some time late Monday in time for Christmas. The

BIRTHS

ROBB. — Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Robb, 39 Ct. Rd. Mara River, are happy to announce the arrival of their third daughter, Ruth-Lou, at the Belleville General Hospital, on Wednesday, December 19th, 1956.

McMURRAY. — Audrey and Elton McMurray are happy to announce the birth of a daughter, at the Trenton Memorial Hospital, on Tuesday, December 18th, 1956.

IN MEMORIAM

RUTTER. — In loving memory of a dear husband and loving father, George Rutter, who was taken from us so suddenly on December 20th, 1954.

Sadly missed by his wife Gertrude, But our thoughts reach out to you; Never to lay his cross our way, But we wish you could share it too. We may not meet you in passing years, Please God, just let him know That you never have to say forget, He loved and was loved by all, He has gone, but not gone away, But he has travelled far; Just entered God's eternal home, And left us here to pray. —Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife Gertrude, daughter Alice, son-in-law Doug and grandchildren Sharon, Cheryl and George.

BENDALL. — In loving memory of my dear father, Arthur Bendall, who passed away December 21st, 1953.

We cannot clasp your hand, father dear,
Your face we cannot see;
But in this little token,
Twil that we still remember thee.
—Fondly remembered by daughter Hilda and son-in-law Douglas Carter.

magistrate told the offender he would have to do some fast traveling if he wanted to get home for the festivities and added a caution not to make any stop-overs on the way.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market marked up a moderate advance today in heavier morning trading.

Coldstream Copper gained 17 cents amid a turnover of more than 100,000 shares. The company earlier announced encouraging results from their drilling program.

Algoma Iron one of 20 industrial index stocks, gained 1¼ points while Aluminium and Canada Malting were ahead about a point. Dupont lost a point.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged today.

The egg market was quiet today with offerings sufficient for a quiet demand.

Quotations, provided by the Dominion department of agriculture: eggs, in fibre cases, graded: A 1-qe 37-38; A medium 32-33; A small 27-28; B 32-33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 42; A medium 37-38; A small 32-33; B 31-32; C 31.

Butter solids: Canada first grade, Ontario tenderable 58; undenerable 58½; western 58½, grading one level west with three carloads being sold to the customer. Sales on Ontario re taken.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Trade was seasonably slow with prices mostly steady on all classes except steers this week at the Ontario public stockyards. Trade was slow at easier prices. Calves were fully steady. Hogs were firm. Lambs were 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight higher.

Cattle receipts were about 2,000 head less than last week and about 1,550 head more than the same week in 1955. Western receipts were 245 head more than last week at 916. Receipts of western stock calves were comparable to last week at 310 head. The westerns were mostly replacements.

Two carloads of cattle were shipped to Eastern Canadian slaughterers. There were no exports to the United States. An estimated 300 cattle, all replacements, will be unsold at the close. The dressed beef trade was slow.

Mixed good and choice steers $19.50-20.50 few odd lots of straight choice up $20.85; mediums $16-19; commons $12-15; good heifers $16-17 with sales to $17.50; odd choice to $18; mediums $12-15; commons $10-12; boner steers and heifers $8-10; choice fed yearlings $23-24; good offerings $21-22; 21; good cows closed at $10.50; sales to $11; mediums $9-10; commons $8-9; canners and cutters $6-8; good heavy bologna bulls $12-12.50; commons and medium lights down to $8.

Replacement cattle: Trade was fairly active this class at steady stock heifers $12-13; heifer calves $14-15.

Calves were actively firm with good vealers $25-26, choice strong to $28; mediums $18-24; commons $12-18; grass calves $10-12.

Hogs were firm with grade A 330, one lot out at $20.50; sows $20.50-21.50 one load of 41 head out at $22.50; stags $15 a hundredweight on a dressed-weight basis.

Lambs were 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight higher with good quality selling up to $23.50 a hundredweight. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight. Common lambs sold down to $12. Feeder lambs $15-17; sheep $3-10 according to quality.

DOLLAR RATE

MONTREAL (CP) — The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 3 31-32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, the Bank of Canada reported at noon today, Thursday's noon rate 96¼ cents. Pound sterling $2.67⅝, down ⅛.

Negroes End Bus Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)— Montgomery Negroes picked today to end their bus boycott of city buses and return to them with federal court backing for racially integrated seating.

The ban on enforcement of city bus segregation laws went into force Thursday, and at two mass meetings Thursday night Negroes voted unanimously to ride busses again today.

Their spokesman, Rev. Martin Luther King, warned the church meetings that Negroes must remain calm and give no excuse for violence.

"Violence must not come from any of us," he said.

FLOATING LABORATORY

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—Tenders have been called for construction of a new research vessel—a floating biological laboratory with the latest equipment—for the Newfoundland Fisheries research station here.

Travel Service On Christmas Day To Be Curtailed

The holiday season will bring several changes in local bus services and travel to more distant points.

Fred Rawson, president of Rawson Coach Lines, announced that for the first time in 33 years there will be no bus service on Christmas Day. Mr. Rawson said this departure from custom is caused by consideration for employees. City service will, however, operate on Boxing Day from 6.30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on the half hour.

William Purdy, manager of Smith Bus Line said one of the two daily round trips to and from Picton will be cancelled on Christmas Day. The evening run will leave Picton at 4.30 p.m. and Belleville at 6.30 p.m.

Mr. Grant Rathbun, president of Rathbun Bus Services Ltd., Trenton, reports the limited holiday schedule will apply with 7.20 a.m., 8.45 a.m., 4.10 p.m. and 5.15 p.m. trips from Belleville cancelled.

On the Picton - Trenton route the 8.10 from Picton and the 12.15 leave from Trenton will be maintained on Christmas but the next run will be advanced from 3.30 p.m. to 3 p.m. leaving Picton and extended from 5.15 p.m. to 10 p.m. leaving Trenton. The local services in Trenton and Middleton Park are discontinued during the holiday.

James Jarrett, manager of Colonial Coach Lines said that the regular schedule on the Toronto-Montreal run will be augmented with extra buses. There will be additional runs to the States leaving Belleville at 3.15 p.m. Friday and Sunday. The special holiday international border trip leaves at 8 a.m. on December 24 and 31st.

Mr. Leonard Gilchrist, manager of the C.N.R. and Mr. G. M. Davidson, manager of the C.P.R. said that in addition to extra cars on the regular pool runs there will be additional advance sections leaving Belleville for Toronto at 2.05 p.m. and the first at 11.30 a.m.

These advance specials which make fewer stops and cut off 1¼ hours from Toronto to Montreal will run Dec. 22, 24, 26, 27, 28, 29, 31 and Jan. 2nd. Ted to accommodate the great volume of travellers anticipated. The fast trains will have a number of extras.

Home Children Not Forgotten At Christmas

Small patients at the Plainfield Convalescent Home for mentally retarded children are not being forgotten this Christmas with different organizations and individuals in Belleville and area contributing toys and other articles.

A local organization called The Helpers for Retarded Children's Group, has purchased a record player with P.A. system and the machine is already in use at the convalescent home playing Christmas and other music which many of the children enjoy.

Also rocking horses and other toys, as well as Christmas trees and colored lights have been donated by individuals to the home.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By CHRIS F. LEGGAT

There will be no Christmas party for the 2nd Belleville (Christ Church) Cubs this year. The Cubs are each sending a gift to an Indian boy or girl to make their Christmas brighter. They chose to do this instead of holding a party.

Another project of these Cubs is for each to bring groceries which will go to our less fortunate neighbors in Belleville.

Cubs do not expect any thanks for good turns, but it may be a satisfaction to them to quote in part Baden Powell's last message to Scouts of the world.

"But the real way to get happiness is by giving out happiness to other people. Try to leave this world a little better than you found it and when your turn comes to die, you can die happy in the feeling that at any rate you have not wasted your time but have done your best. Be prepared is the main-tained on Christmas but the next run will be advanced from 3.30 p.m. to 3 p.m. leaving Picton and extended from 5.15 p.m. to 10 p.m. leaving Trenton. The local services in Trenton and Middleton Park are discontinued during the holiday.

Christmas Eve At Home Observed In Family Manner

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Christ-Eve in this centre of Roman Catholicism is observed almost in a family manner—a quiet waiting for the feast day of the birth of Christ.

There is no great midnight mass in St. Peter's Basilica.

But at the stroke of midnight, Pope Pius XII will again lift his hands in the privacy of his little chapel to celebrate mass. Only a few close associates of his Vatican household will attend.

At the same time, the small company of Swiss Guards will file quietly from their barracks to their own chapel of St. Martin in the Vatican to attend midnight mass. It will be celebrated by their Swiss chapiain, Msgr. Paul Krieg.

HOLD SERVICES

The big Christmas masses are held in the Vatican on Christmas Day, a series at the many altars of St. Peter's Basilica. But many Romans, tourists and pilgrims will have attended midnight services in various churches of Rome especially at the ancient Ara Coeli —Altar of Heaven—Church that rises high near the city hall.

For thousands of pilgrims and tourists a treat gathered in Rome a highlight of the Christmas celebration will come at noon Christmas Day. Then, as he usually does, Pope Pius is to appear at his apartment window to give his blessing to the thousands gathered in the square.

For the pontiff himself, an important part of the observance comes Sunday, when he delivers his annual Christmas message to the world. It will be the 18th in the long series dedicated primarily to peace.

The pontiff is also expected to refer once again—as he did a year ago—to communism and atomic explosions. He is almost certain to refer to the sad plight of Hungary, a situation that prompted him on Oct. 27 to call for worldwide prayers for that nation's people.

On Christmas Day, the Pope will spend some time with members of his family. This normally is the only day in the year that he meets thus with them in a brief respite from his arduous schedule.

Bounties Paid For 20 Wolves

Wolf trappers throughout the county have been picking up more than pin money this year with bounties for no less than 20 wolves having been paid out by county clerk treasurer Eric S. Denyes. The wolves were south of the beach and timber specles, it was stated.

Tyendinaga township is the most wolf-infested area in the county, according to wolves trapped, with five being killed in this municipality. Three have been trapped in Huntingdon; three in Wollaston, and two each in Dungannon and Tudor.

The big rush in wolf trapping has been this fall with the majority of pelts being brought in within the past two months.

The county pays bounty of $25 with the provinces adding another $10 for a total bounty of $35 for each wolf killed.

Greek Cypriot Policeman Killed

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—A Greek Cypriot special policeman was shot to death by a terrorist gunman here today at the start of a 24-hour demonstration by Greek-Cypriots in protest against a proposed new constitution. The gunman escaped.

One report said that more than one gunman was involved, and that they were "mere schoolboys."

The strike was called by PEKA, a branch of the anti-British EOKA terrorist organization, in protest against the new constitution which was announced Wednesday. Under it the islanders would be given a degree of self-government.

Phillips Opposes Using Fund To Help Lamport

TORONTO (CP) — Mayor Nathan Phillips says he is opposed to using money from a police commission fund to help former Mayor Allan Lamport pay legal costs in a suit brought against him by a taxicab fleet owner.

However, Thursday night he defied threatening the other two police commission members by telling them he would make a political issue of the matter unless they reconsidered an earlier decision to pay Mr. Lamport's costs out of the fund.

The mayor is one of the three members of the commission. The fund, which has about $67,000 in it, was set up to defend police employees charged in the course of their duty.

A CHANCE TO LIVE ON

The dramatic—and successful—search in Montreal for half-blind Jean-Paul Del Biondo has served to focus attention on a regrettable situation.

Eyes which might bring the great gift of sight to blind people are daily being consigned to the grave.

In a Montreal hospital is a young man who has bequeathed his eyes for corneal transplants. Hospital authorities decided one of these eyes should go to 15-year-old Jean-Paul. But he had moved from the address he had given the hospital. A newspaper and radio publicity campaign finally located him, but that such a search was necessary calls attention to the fact, that he had been waiting so long for his chance at sight that he had changed ils place of residence. Further examination showed his condition makes an operation inadvisable at this time. However, he is just one on a waiting list —just one of the blind waiting for sight, while thousands of Canadians die every day and take their useless eyes with them to the grave.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Bayview Avenue, Toronto, is attempting to remedy this situation. Persons who wish to leave their eyes for corneal transplants can register that fact with the CNIB. They cannot, under Canadian law, will their eyes for this purpose. Permission for removal of the eyes from the dead body must be obtained from the next-of-kin. But it is believed that in most cases this permission will be forthcoming upon the production of registered proof that the dead person wished this to be done.

Something ought to be done about this in Ottawa. The law should be changed to permit a person to will his eyes for corneal transplants. The supply of eyes, of course, is not the only factor limiting being blocked by relatives after his death.

Most important, though, is for all of us, whether young or old, to take immediate advantage of the opportunity to give a gift beyond price.

Surely few Canadians would deny a blind person the gift of sight when such a gift costs them nothing. The danger is that we shall procrastinate, that we shall all feel that the day when we can afford to give our eyes, because they no longer communicate with a living mind, is the future.

The demand for eyes is comparatively small. Of the 21,000 blind people in Canada it is estimated that only 500 would probably benefit from corneal transplants. The number of eyes, of course, is not the only factor limiting the number of operations. In Ontario only about 50 eyes a year are needed for corneal grafts. Yet the demand exceeds the supply. Publicity could easily remedy this situation. Providing the cornea is clear, the fact that vision is not perfect, that glasses have been required, does not effect an eye's value for use in corneal grafts.

HALF-CUT

From Frankford comes an election story which must have a moral—If we can discover it.

A barber and his customer started discussing the village's election, the discussion turned into an argument, by-law to the customer's hair was half cut and the argument became a quarrel, with the irate barber calling off the haircut and chasing the customer from the shop.

Perhaps we see this incident as a warning to customers not to argue with barbers, while others will suggest that barbers, besides being required to demonstrate the necessary skills, should have to receive certificates that they are of a placid temperament.

Others will meditate on the customer's luck in needing a haircut instead of a rush job of cleaning and pressing on his tooth-and-nail election campaign. Here is a formidable argument against the use of local anaesthetics. They may kill the pain, but they do not prevent a patient from getting into an argument with the surgeon.

ELECTION BARGAIN

Down in Alabama is a man who has got the greatest election bargain in history.

Circuit Court Judge Walter B. Jones has received one vote for the office of president of the United States of America.

Of course, that leaves Jones far short of election, but if he will write Dwight D. Eisenhower add up their election expenses and then divide them by the number of votes they received from the electoral college, we'll wager that Jones got among greater value for his election dollars than did Eisenhower.

As for Stevenson, he was gypped. Somebody boosted the price when he got only 73 electoral college votes for that flood of Democratic money.

Austerity has returned to Britain. Christmas trade is reported the worst in 25 years by the bankers in Piccadilly tot Lane. The Cockney stallkeepers are still able to joke about it—they say business "is better in the cemetery." But elsewhere in Britain the traditional British "stiff upper lip" may be a rarity this Christmas. Reuters reports there is a "healthy demand" for mistletoe.

WINTER

Well, here it is on time again:
King Winter, harsh and rough and plain.
Autumn has fled from field and plain,
To give its lovely place to him.
It did not even say good-bye
Or stay to give him greetings warm.
It has no wish, with Winter nigh,
To brave the rigors of a storm.

So, Winter never sees the bloom
Which lies beneath a killing frost.
When Winter takes the Autumn's room
The loveliness of flowers is lost.

The last chrysanthemum is dead.
The trees of every leaf are bare,
The ground is hard beneath the tread
And sleep has settled everywhere.

No rose to greet it has remained,
The grass once green has turned to brown.
When Winter's troops have once
entrained
In terror beauty flees the town.
Since blossoms he will never see
Or know the loveliness that's grace,
To Winter earth must seem to be
A desolate and dreary place.

The Missing Two Ounces

By JOHN GOULD in the Christian Science Monitor

After playing Theseus in our local cemetery a suitable time, I let out a yell, insisted to compact that brigands had me by the throat and I was in dire straights. Orestalis, I was between a rock and spaghetti and the paper napkins, and my blood-curdling cry echoed from halls bouncing.

I have always resented being made to wait on myself when I go into a man's place of business to buy a shave. Hi, there, you yelp brought the owner, bearing a numbering machine for putting the place cast. He looked fully expectant of the very worst, which is what I intended, and I grabbed him by the apron and asked him for the mixed nuts. In his relief he overlooked me past several mixes and the frozen foods, around the buildings, and pointed at the mixed nuts between the peanut butter and the magazines. 'Give me two pound,' I said.

He gestured toward the pile in the window. The man who has given up manual labor as an instrument of policy, and would like to forget it, said, if not, in a low, snarling, and ugly voice, accompanied by gleaming, 'Are you two pounds!" Oh, I was mean. He knew very well that I was going to get two pounds, but the bottom can and inundate his store with a bedlam of tinned peaches and strained baby foods, so he quickly contrived and reached me two packages of nuts.

I will ask the court to observe the restraint with which I acted now. I asked for two pounds, and he handed me two packages. When I got home, I found each package said, in small print, 'Net weight, 14 ounces.'

• • •

We discussed this, in great terms of indignation, on more than one time at home, and have not really decided where the money should be positioned. By placards and advertising, my neighborhood grocer appears to be a man of honor who stands for probity and looks after my interest while shopping. He doesn't package anything much any more, and if any package has a short measure on it cannot be said to him exclusively. Somebody, back along, before the days of self-service decided of how much a pound of nuts shall weigh, and packers now come up with an acceptable explanation we have some right to be surprised.

We use a number of packaged items from our cupboards, after which discovery that the pound is no longer the standard unit in today's grocery business. Our custom, in making out a grocery list, is to jot down a pound of this. A pound of that. But we come home with 12 ounces of this, 14 ounces of that, and find that a pint can of milk contains 15 ounces liquid, or 16½ avoirdupois. Macaroni and spaghetti, for some reason, remain at 16 old-fashioned ounces to the pound, and merit approval therefor, but raisins are down to a 14-ounce pound.

• • •

Years ago, around here, we used to have trouble measuring firewood. I hope some nexus prevails with modern grocers which corresponds in the way we ended that problem with wood. Wood, by its nature, is difficult to pile straight, and the legislators took this into account when they legalized the measurements. Five different people would come up with five different measurements for a pile of wood, allowing leeway for crooked limbs and protruding knots. A man buying wood had the right to measure for himself, if he was satisfied.

It was a mixture of caveat emptor and implied warranty, and if agreement couldn't be reached the official sealer of wood and lumber would come around and give his opinion. You couldn't get around the measurement angle by resorting to weight, because green wood and dry wood vary greatly, and was often resolved by ignoring the lawful definitions, calling a "cord" and dealing in a "load." The load, naturally, depended on the size of the cart, and you bought a load, got a load, and you couldn't quarrel over quantity.

• • •

If you wanted more wood you didn't call in the measurers, you merely hunted up a dealer with a bigger cart. Sometimes this variation in sizes sold as a load, by which is the amount of wood you can haul without breaking any law of. By a lexicographer's extension, this word is heard nowadays in low places and conversation has a different context, and no regard for the truth in it. Just is all you can safe, no-more-no-less.

But, nobody ever sold a jag for a load. You would be a laughing exception, hear the man say, "Now that ain't a cord, you understand just a load." This prevented the emptor from later cavil, and left the town crier without a job. Now, in other words, my grocer should have said, "Here is a loaf, this isn't a pound, it's just a package."

There may be grave implications in this matter, but I have no solution. But I'm worrying mostly about how they do it. I have no objection to the pound as a convenient and accepted unit, and am willing to endorse it. If it isn't working satisfactorily, and for some reasons needs adjustment, I would appreciate knowing why. If it is just a case of cutting me off with 14 ounces when I think I am getting 16, I am opposed to it and adamant.

Satellite Brassy Moon

Edmonton Journal

The latest news of the U.S. Navy's artificial satellite—which is scheduled to begin circling the earth next summer is rather disturbing. The original plans called for the metal sphere to be given a coat of silver paint. Now it has been announced that instead it will be coated with pure gold.

The change is said to be due to a belief among scientists that a golden surface will reflect light more brightly than any other metal. The idea is sound enough, one, and perhaps be less liable to tarnish. Whatever the reason, the change seems to be quite appropriate. From time immorial, silver has been the traditional color for the moon, enshrined in innumerable poems, and any new competitor launched into space should conform to the tradition.

The Navy's satellite, with its brassy gleam, will only advertise to the other heavenly bodies that it is a vulgar upstart.

Girls Swiff At Pin-Ups

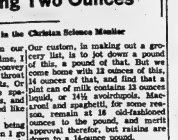
Ordensburg Journal

This is written to pass along an incident which baffles the men of this department. It seems that some baffled company, or an explanation.



This is the season when offices begin watching the mail for those big, pretty, free wall calendars for the following year. Predictably the pictorial parts of the calendars fall into two groups: the landscapes and girlies, both with attractive areas of bare spots and coverings. American advertising sympathy are dedicated to the proposition that a beautiful blonde or a handsome hilltop can sell anything.

But this year, a variation on the theme landed on the desk: A calendar with the masculine equivalent of the girlie theme. Pictured each month is a different handsome strong man in leopard skin or something like it, with awesome bulging muscles. The calendar, in a covering letter, declared it to be the "average woman's answer to the girlie calendars."

Expected to be received by "ahs" and "m-m-m-m-m's" a staff member (male) tok the array of pictorial masculine excellence to the women's department, some of whose members are young, attractive, and personally available to be thrilled by muscled males.

There was not a single "ah!" a few sniffs of bored disdain and they returned to their typewriters. Baffled, the executive male asked for an explanation of the lack of response, he was given short shrift.

"Oh, we don't mind you men gaping at girlie calendars if it gives you pep (sniff) but those big chunks of muscle just leave us cold. Take away," (a hint the way all girls feel? Is the handsome male figure of no consequence in the battle of the sexes? What is the psychology of all this, anyway? We are entitled to an answer, for if the women don't really care, the men may decide to sag into complacent corpulence.

THAT LITTLE CANDLE

How familiar are those lines from Shakespeare: "How far that little candle throws its beams! So shines a good deed in a naughty world."

By the little things along life's pathway that are the significant ones, and they are our instruments. They influence our thoughts far more than we ever realize. They are such as electricity and thoughtfulness. Nearly every day we think of some little things to do that may brighten the lives of others, and then we may pass on the idea. But, Oh, how far that little candle of Shakespeare's throws its beams of light, cheer and broadcasting good cheer and hope.

The sun is really the great little candle that has given light to the mind and heart of sturdy thinkers and doers down the ages past. It inspired Edison to create his electric light, and so to light up the entire world! It's the little things, however, that are often the persistent ones that overcome the greatest obstacles.

There was a most inspiring book, authored by Lillian Eichler Watson and published several years ago which she called "Light from Many Lamps." It's one of those fine books that never grow old. It's an anthology of the great thoughts of scores of great men and women. For example, here is a line by Plato: "Nothing in human affairs is worth any great solicitude." And it will indeed be! has come down to us, without losing its substance, over a long period of time. And it will live for so long as there is an earth and people upon it!

Drops for Running Ear

Last week I tossed into the chu-even an ounce or half an ounce of a specialist in curing a solution of alcohol (grain alcohol, dilute alcohol, ethyl acohol) without a prescription.

Why bother with that? The surist suggested the use of ordinary rubbing alcohol (denatured alcohol) without prescription and dissolve as much boric acid powder or crystals as one can take up on a dime in two tablespoonfuls of rubbing alcohol. That's just as good as anything the doctor may order.

I hope this announcement will stave off further communications like this one, turned over to my assistant, Miss Gertrude:

Dear Editor:

I am inquiring whether Doctor Brady is truly a medical doctor or just another quack.

Through your newspaper, in which his column appears, I received a per (sic) scription for a certain type of ear infection."

Come, now, my friend, you must admit that the last line of the leaflet giving instructions for use of the ear drops reads plainly: "I cannot furnish a prescription by mail."

I have tried several pharmasists and they all refuse to fill this prescription because it is a phony and to save their business they must refuse. They say it is the first time anyone with perfect (sic) criptions of this nature they have had to turn down.

"Tell me, then, what is the purpose of this phony column?"

Respectfully,

The truth is, I suppose, that this column has no purpose, for knuckleheads. My employer who can read and understand simple English, it is worth at least a glance in passing.

Though TV is now several years old, it is still in the stage where movies were in, back around 1920, when it was necessary to prove beyond any doubt that the movies really moved. And to prove this, they had everybody jumping making movies. A lot of film that did not include something moving was wasted then, as it is now.

Some of the TV shows are even sillier than that. They are as silent as the movies were before sound. Nothing moves but the shoes of a line-up snow storm. Though TV is now several years old, it is still in the stage where movies were in, back around 1920, when it was necessary to prove beyond any doubt that the movies really moved. And to prove this, they had everybody jumping making movies. A lot of film that did not include something moving was wasted then, as it is now.

Some of the TV shows are even sillier than that. They are as silent as the movies were before sound. Nothing moves but the shoes of a few years back in which we took family pictures. And as soon as the home movie maker pressed the button, he would shout: "Move! Do something! Don't just stand there!" With the result that everybody started waving their arms and hands about, jumping up and down, darting about to the right and left at the others in the group and smiling prodigiously. If you have seen all those early home movies lying about, dig them out and see how like the present TV they are.

In order to present a quartet singing, the quartet has to keep jigging around, going through carefully rehearsed movements of arms and hands, executing clumsy shifts of position around one another. If a singer is solo, like Frankie Laine, he weaves his hands at us like a snake-charmer or a fellow trying to pat a strange Doberman. Sinclair Lewis, in his novels, animates her spiritless singing with light gyrations of her hands which never touch the keyhole, the high spots of TV are those in which the camera is whirling around like crazy, coming in and out of the keyhole and occasionally bobbing off with a shot of a midriff swarming too close.

It is hard to explain the popularity of those slow-moving, poor white trash types of shows that are regularly employed by the big corporations on TV you know that the public always open with a poor little girl sitting on shabby verandah feeling sorry for herself. Their popularity may consist largely in the fact that there is less fill-in time left to them than in most TV fare. Even in them, however, if the amateur cameraman may demand a hoe-down dance, at the end, just for the glory, the pieces, of movement.

MARY

The most honored person, next to Jesus, that has ever lived on the earth was the Virgin Mary, and there it was that she achieved something even more significant than the creation of the universe. She is deserving of honor and affection. Just as Eve was what womanhood ought not to be, so Mary represents what womanhood ought always to be. She was the handmaid of the Lord. God's spirit rested upon her as it has never rested on any other human being.

Men appear to run the world, and there is a way in which they do. They administer its affairs. But women control the world's life in a fashion to which men can never aspire. Let boys, when they are men, go where they may, are the world's affairs—or mismanage them. What they are for God or mother's love and their mothers have made them. Often, in later pride, they forget that. Their mothers have apparently let them go, yet there is a way in which they have never let them go. Try as they will, most of them can never be anything other than what their mothers made them.

On the cross, Jesus provided for his mother's future care in the home of the Apostle John. His first knowledge had been of her. His last thought was of her.

Moneymore LOL Installs Officers For Coming Year

The annual meeting of L.O.L. No. 833 at Moneymore was held recently with a good attendance of members and visitors. Wor. Bro. Dr. Harry Carleton of Peterborough, was again present and conducted the election and installation of officers for the coming year. For the position of Worshipful Master the lodge chose Bro. W. E. Coulter, and for deputy Master Bro. Gordon Carleton, while the other officers were re-elected.

The various reports showed the lodge in a flourishing condition, and many favorable comments were made on the improvement made in the building, both inside and outside.

The meeting was also favored with the presence of the chaplain of Ontario East, Rev. Bro. Beazer, a former rector of Roslin parish for sixteen years.

An oyster supper was enjoyed after the meeting.

The year 1857 marks the 100th anniversary of the lodge and plans were made to mark the event. It is planned to have a gala garden party with dinner at 5.30 p.m. on the Moneymore church grounds on Friday, June 28th. At this meeting besides a good program it is hoped to have an historic pageant to bring to mind the forefathers' work. Then on Sunday, June 30th, at 2.30 p.m. at the Moneymore church an Orange service of thanksgiving is being arranged.

Technical Sqdn. RCEME 27 Ends Training Season

Tuesday evening marked the last night of the fall training season for 27 Technical Squadron RCEME (M). Capt. H. Keller, district paymaster, and his staff were on hand with a pre-Christmas advance of pay, which was a fitting windup to a successful training season. Following pay parade, all ranks met for a discussion period which was followed by a short social evening.

Results from training in the Squadron have been gratifying this fall, and a goodly number have taken advantage. The main topic of conversation for the past few weeks has been the Junior NCO Course. This course is being conducted every other weekend in the armouries by the Instructional Staff Eastern Ontario Area under the direction of Lt. J. McLean.

The following personnel from 27 Tech Sqdn. are candidates on the course: Lance Corporals E. W. L. Rice, J. Line, R. F. Kirby; W. Lake, Craftsmen R. H. Lohnes, K. Hayward, C. E. Day, D. W. Reid, J. E. Lynch, G. Cherry, S. W. Prindle, and Pte. J. C. Talmage, C.W.A.C.

This phase of the Junior NCO Course covers general military training as well as subjects connected with RCEME such as vehicle maintenance, workshop procedure. Successful candidates on this phase will be required to pass phase 2 which covers RCEME work further at camp next summer before they can qualify as Junior NCOs.

The 1957 training season for the unit commences January 8th with regular training each Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Competition From TV Results In Improved Reading Habits

Despite many dire predictions, public reading habits are continually improving.

This salient point was emphasized by Ernie Collocutt, publishing head of Upper Canada News, distributing agency of magazines and paper back novels throughout this district. Mr. Colbourne's encouraging opinion was echoed by magazine retailers like Bill Cook, Ed. Thomas and Geen Drugs, and further confirmed by a trend towards better literature at Corby's Public Library, Quinte Library and The James Texts.

Mr. Colbourne noted that the greatest change in magazine reading custom was brought on by the establishment of television.

"The overall sale of magazines dropped by 30 per cent almost as soon as TV viewing became popular. Since then, however, there has been a levelling out process and a steady revival of reading. People are setting aside part of their spare time for the reading they like best or consider most necessary."

Mr. Colbourne said that this limited time for reading was influencing people to concentrate on what they liked best and to discard whatever they consider expendable. The keenest readers of the better articles and stories have retained their interest but most of the more casual readers of the comics, cowboy, detective and adventure "pulps" have surrendered almost completely to television.

Readers Digest, Saturday Evening Post, Time, New Yorker, Mcalls, and Better Homes and Gardens are some of the better magazines that draw more readers while old favorites like Life, Red Book, Cosmopolitan, Maclean's, New Liberty and others remain in a strong position.

The Crowell publishing group of Colliers, American, and Woman's Home Companion is folding up after sustaining an $8,000,000 loss during the past year.

INTEREST IN HOBBIES

Readers are showing a growing interest in magazines on hobbies, activities and educational subjects in which they are closely associated.

Among the sport magazines those which deal with subjects, also likely to interest the reader as a participant have done best. Outdoor Life, Field and Stream, and Sports Afield have had record circulation jumps.

Interest in literature pertaining to motor cars has had a quick pick up with Hot Rod, Motor Trend and Motor Life in high gear.

The onrush of the machine age finds full expression in ever more popular mechanical and scientific magazines that are read for both pleasure and education.

As for the bookpeddlers, the magazine stores rate second only to the drug store sundries counter. They simply can't get enough of Elvis Presley. That man has "moved them" and has intend to "remain gone". Some clever promotors resurrected the legend of Jimmie Dean but now that many hearts have been rung and many tears spilled, the cash register is slowing up, and the departed idol will finally be allowed to rest in peace.

A few years-ago magazines like Male and Stag with blood curdling covers of men and beast in mortal combat and steeled designed for reading either before or after duing off for the evening, threatened to flood the newsstands but they have been cheek reincarnated into submission by TV competition of rustlers of 1890 being chased by sheriffs of 1850 in 1935 model cars. The male who likes his reading light and gory has proved a most untruthful reader when exposed to the siren call of TV.

SCHOOL FOR SCANDAL

Lest anybody be under the illusion that some Bellevillians don't like their literat more slightly warm around the edges let us Hush for a moment while we consider Flash. This sizzling sheet, which gained its name from the speed with which it disappears under coats and into purses, is purchased by 2,500 people here every week. It is estimated another 1,500 read it on the counter while pretending to look elsewhere.

Critics who despair of things cultural in Canada will be encouraged to hear that the reception accorded Flash by the solid citizens of Ontario has inspired our American cousins to create similar adornment of the Hollywood scene in magazines like Confidential, Uncensored and Suppressed.

This realistic form of reportiaz on the private life of Hollywood stars is now preferred to the more fictional "True" types which formerly led the parade.

Aided by a series of libel suits filed by a few stars who believe reputation more important than publicity, Confidential has a newsstand following of 3,500,000 in Canada and the United States, but the fact that it ranks only 18th among the top sellers indicates that the majority of readers do not take this type of literature too seriously. Its circulation of 800 in Belleville is topped by practically all the publications of living room calibre.

The paper back novels have taken a wallloping from television. The contest for reading time has eliminated a large percentage of the light readers who no longer wish to commit themselves to a novel for a full evening or more. The survivors are more avid types who prefer well written books by good authors.

The rash of lustful covers on paperbacks which used to lure many a reader into a dull story, is beginning to find the level it deserves.

The overall trend among masses of people who are continually rising to higher and higher levels of education and culture, is towards better magazines and books.

ST. MARGARET'S GUILD.

St. Margaret's Guild Afternoon branch met at the home of Mrs. Pitman, Herchimer Avenue, for the Christmas meeting. There were 14 members and two visitors present.

After the business meeting, there were Christmas readings and two solos by Kenneth Smith, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Gifts were exchanged. The new president presented Mrs. Babcock with a lamp in appreciation for her years of service as president, for which she received thanks and appreciation to the members for their co-operation.

The members also presented Mrs. Page with a gift. Refreshments were served by the hostess and her helpers.

Quintena Lodge Holds Gala Christmas Party

Tuesday evening the regular meeting of Quintena Lodge was held in the Odd Fellow's hall, following which was held a gala Christmas party directed by Sister Glorence Pollitt, P.N.G. The first part of the program consisted of entertainment by some of the pupils of Dorothy Dickey's school of dancing which was greatly enjoyed by all. A tap dance by little Miss Carolyn Anderson, who looked sweet in her red tartan abbreviated skirt and red sweater and sox; this was followed by a romantic number by Miss Karen Post and Master Rickey Lough, a tap and song duet — "Ma, He's Making Eyes At Me," which was rendered with appropriate gestures. Then followed a young acrobatic dancer, Miss Judy Robinson, who literally took to the floor and just about tied herself in knots. After this, Master Rick Lough did a ninth provoking and realistic impersonation of Elvis Presley, which was enjoyed so much that he did another coda, "Love Me Tender." Both were greatly applauded and all the entertainers were presented with gifts from the lodge in appreciation.

APPRECIATION TENDERED

Many thanks go to Dorothy Dickey for her talented young folks. A Christmas song fest was enjoyed by the Sisters as they sang carols. The Quintena Quintet then rendered "Silent Night," and followed it with a selection, "Silver Bells." The quintet are as follows: Sisters Neil, Stirling, Dorothy Webber, Mary Plumpton, Florence Pollitt and Maythe Sills. These were greatly enjoyed and applauded.

Later, all retired to the upper hall to partake of most delectable refreshments which, were real Christmassy and also to meet Santa Claus.

The hall was beautifully decorated with poinsettias in ice blue all around the walls and individual tabes with tiny snow men with top hats surrounded with evergreen, at centre pieces, and paper caps for all.

At the east end of the hall on a long table covered with a lace tablecloth and surrounded with lighted candles, stood a miniature manger scene, and at the other end of the hall in the windows, a big Christmas tree complete with lights and ornaments.

After distributing the gifts Santa Claus came back as himself, Bro. Dan Downey, who surely did a good job, and was thanked by all the Sisters. Sister Geen Adams, N.G., then presented Bro. Larry Pollitt with a gift in appreciation of all his many kind deeds.

Sister Pollitt and her helpers were thanked for the fine job they had done. All agreed that it was one of the best ever. The assistants were all asked to stand so that all could see who had helped to make this such an enjoyable evening.

With a cheery "Merry Christmas" to all, another evening of Rebekahood ended.

Plainfield W.I. Hears Message 'Keep Christmas'

The Christmas meeting of Plainfield W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Elliott on Thursday evening with a large attendance of members and visitors present.

The president, Mrs. G. Swan, opened the meeting and gave a reading, "The Star that Led to Bethlehem." A solo was enjoyed, "Star of the East," by Mrs. Lorne Bresnan. Mrs. Swan gave quotations on "The stars for others."

Mrs. Clarence Hall had charge of the Christmas story.

The Christmas Story was given by Mrs. Middleton, who told how the wise men, wives and families, started to Bethlehem and how the beautiful stories were told to each other. Angels sang of "Peace on Earth, Goodwill toward Men." We pray for peace on earth.

"Silent Night" in German language is a beautiful hymn. There is a link of sentiment with Christmas, we hear of fairies through the wind and the squirrels.

God sent us a great gift in Jesus, to be a candle to us. We hope the people in darkness have seen this Light this Christmas and also hope the candles set with love and prayer and love. May we all follow the great star to Bethlehem.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Middleton, who led the carol-singing.

A reading, "Nativity," by Mrs. G. Denyes, a reading of the Anglican Guild of Frankford took place in the Parish Hall on Thursday.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. A. Caskey, Mrs. E. Green took the charge of the meeting.

The Rev. H. E. Secker read the "Collect for Advent," followed by all in unison the hymn, Peter 2-8.

Mrs. M. McLaren gave the reading on the flower fund and asked that each member send a Christmas card to Mrs. E. Robinson, and to convey her thanks to the Guild for gifts received.

The business of the meeting was conducted. The election of officers will take place at the January meeting. January 17, which will be in the form of a pot-luck supper with the members of the vestry board. Mr. Secker closed the meeting. A short program followed.

Refreshments were served by the losers of a copper contest and a social half hour was enjoyed.

UNITED CHURCH E.A.

The Evening Auxiliary of the Frankford United Church held its Christmas meeting in the Perkins room of Rose Lowery Hall on Dec. 12. The president, Mrs. H. Rowe, presided and the meeting opened with an appropriate poem, "Peace on Earth." There were 27 members present.

Mrs. H. Rowe gave the financial report and the offering was received.

Mrs. H. Rowe welcomed everyone.

It was decided to pay any outstanding debts.

A vote of thanks was given the members who made the display for the windows of the Perkins Room.

Mrs. H. Slingerland conducted the worship service, Mrs. D. Montgomery read the Scripture, Mrs. H. Slingerland led in prayer, Mrs. W. Morrow rendered, "The Holy City" and Mrs. Slingerland and Mrs. S. Martin showed slides on "The Birth of Christ."

Mrs. E. Mikel was in charge of the program which consisted of a vocal duet by Misses Elaine and Janie Sharpe, "Look out the Window;" piano solo by Miss Eleanor Jacob; reading by Mrs. F. Charlesworth; Miss Bonnie Rowe rendered a vocal solo, "White Christmas," piano solo by Miss Colleen Chase; piano solo by Miss Donna Chase; vocal solo by Miss Sandra Brown and Miss Jean Caldwell; a reading, "Week after Christmas," by Mrs. E. Ketcheson.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. H. Slingerland, Mrs. M. Ketcheson, Mrs. K. Mikel, Mrs. D. Montgomery and Mrs. E. Loyche.

Shannonville H-S Assoc. Holds Yuletide Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Shannonville Home and School Association was held recently in the school rooms.

The president, Mrs. Mary McKenzie, was in the chair. As this was the Christmas meeting it opened with the Lord's Prayer. This meeting was the first since the bazaar. The president thanked all those taking part and for donations. All bills connected with the bazaar were voted to be paid.

The refreshments conveners for January meeting were: Mrs. Ray Reid, Mrs. B. Cook and Mrs. Margaret Hill. The president was to order oranges and candy for the children's Christmas concert at the school. Some members are to meet at Mrs. Fuller's and to help bag the candy.

Mrs. Kilburn is to be in charge of the January meeting and to provide a speaker on Home and School topics. The teacher's prize was won by the junior teacher as having the most parents attending. Names that were omitted from the bazaar report in the paper were: Miss Helen Houston, Miss R. Patrick, Mrs. Ruth Ryckman.

Mrs. Rice, senior teacher, showed two interesting films that were much enjoyed. Mrs. Kilburn passed carol sheets to each member and with Mrs. Garbutt at the piano all sang many old-time Christmas carols.

Later the lunch conveners, Mrs. B. Cook, Mrs. Fuller and Mrs. P. Sero served refreshments.

Mr., Mrs. Chester Adams Mark Golden Wedding Anniversary

Recently observing fifty years of married life together, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Adams, 13 Johnson Street, Belleville, were congratulated by many friends and former neighbors at the home of their son, Leslie.

Mr. Adams was born 75 years ago on the family farm, one mile northeast of Thomasburg, and educated by Durwood Holmes. His only son's farm is only a few miles distance away, Tudor township in Manitoba as a young man, Chester Adams married Mable Walkey, who was born near Lonsdale, Ontario, but whose parents had moved to the Cayman, Manitoba, area. The young bride was but 18 years of age at the time of her marriage. The couple lived in Manitoba for eight years before returning to Ontario to farm near Uxbridge where they remained for nearly four years. Mr. Adams then felt an urge to return to his old home and the couple operated the Adams' family farm until about ten years ago, when they retired and moved to Belleville.

Mr. Adams is in splendid health, but Mrs. Adams has been in Bellevile Hospital for treatment. She anxiously awaited the doctor's permission to be released so that she might celebrate her golden wedding anniversary with her husband and friends.

Their son, Leslie, and Mrs. Adams, their only granddaughters, Mrs. Gerald Bateman and Miss Helen Adams of Bellevile, and two great grandsons, were at the Adams' home for the golden celebrations.

During the afternoon they received many friends from Thomasburg, Bellevile and other points, and in the evening Fuller and Thomasburg friends gathered to honor them and present them with dressing gown.

Mr. Borden Redcliffe acted as chairman, while Mrs. Harry Redcliffe read the address and the presentation was made by Frank Wilson. Rev. and Mrs. MacLean of Bellevile, were also in attendance at the evening reception and Rev. Mr. MacLean, pastor of St. Andrews' Presbyterian church, spoke briefly.

The two grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Laurion Grills served the many guests while Mr. Adams' two sisters, Mrs. Wesley Huffman and Mrs. Thomas Emerson, poured tea. The reception table was centred with a three-tier anniversary cake and re-vases of yellow 'mums.

Refreshments were served by the losers of a copper contest and a social half hour was enjoyed.

UNITED CHURCH W.A.

FRANKFORD — The W. A. of Frankford United Church held its Christmas meeting in Rose Lowery Hall with Mrs. F. Rabel presiding.

Mrs. Rabel welcomed everyone and conducted the business. Mrs. A. Stinson secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and also the financial statement in the absence of Mrs. G. Montgomery, treasurer. Correspondence was read. Donations will be sent to Albert College extension fund and general fund of the United Church of Frankford.

The W.A. members will decorate the church for Christmas with flowers and tree.

Each member brought a gift for an underprivileged child in Frankford, to be distributed on Christmas eve.

Mrs. Rabel conducted the devotional period with the theme being "God's Gift of Light." Mrs. Clarke read the Christmas Story from St. Luke chapter 2-8-14 and told a story about Christmas. Mrs. Rabel read from John 8:11 and commented on the theme. Mrs. Rabel led in prayer.

PROGRAM

The program consisted of a solo by Mrs. Gordon Reading by Mrs. Mallory, "What Makes Christmas;" Mrs. Rabel played a record, "If Hearts Could Come to Your Door" and W. Morrow gave two readings, "Last Minute Shopper," and "It's Christmas Everyday."

A presentation was made by Mrs. H. Terry to the retiring president, Mrs. Rabel, and a presentation by Mrs. Mc Cann to the secretary, Mrs. A. Stickle. Each responded warmly to the gifts received.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Rabel, Mrs. J. Morris, Mrs. G. Herrington and Mrs. W. Savage.

The W.A. members recently entertained their husbands and fiancees to a delicious turkey banquet in the church hall. The table was decorated for Christmas.

The Rev. Clarke acted as chairman. Grace was said before community singing enjoyed during the meal.

Mr. Arnold Stickle gave a reading and Mrs. H. Terry conducted a quiz contest with Mr. J. Bleeker and Mrs. Ada Patrick as winners.

Everyone enjoyed a film "Mrs. Littlest Angel." Mrs. F. Rabel presented Mr. and Mrs. Clarke with their Christmas gift on behalf of the W.A. The Clarke's each responded.

A social half hour was spent.

C.W.L.

The C.W.L. of the Church of Assisi of Frankford, held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Kelly on Tuesday night, Mrs. Annie Marcuiy, the president, presided at the meeting. Christmas baskets were packed for the needy and the sick. A donation was made to Mrs. B. Bridel who received a lovely China tea set and cake.

Mrs. Bridel has taken up residence in Ottawa. Mrs. Pat O'Brien held a home cooking sale at her home on Saturday which proved most successful.

Edith Cavell L.A. Sponsors Yuletide Party

Edith Cavell Lodge, Ladies' Auxiliary to Railroad Trainmen, held its annual Christmas party for the children last Friday in the Engineers' Hall.

President Vera Reynolds was mistress of ceremonies and introduced a talented group of girls: Iris Lohnes, acrobatics, Sheila Canning, singing and tap dancing, Heidi Hendricks, ballet; Brenda Archer, Iris Lohnes and Patty Hendricks, duet.

Many thanks to the Diment School of Dance for supplying such fine entertainment.

Everyone enjoyed the singing of Christmas carols and the children played a few games until jolly Old St. Nick arrived with gifts for all. Refreshments were served by Sister Willerton and her committee.

Women's Institute

PINE GROVE W.I.

MARSH HILL — The December meeting of the Pine Grove Women's Institute was held recently at the home of Mrs. Grace Bartindale with 14 members and two visitors present.

Mrs. Allyn Fralik, president, opened the meeting with a reading, "What is Christmas?" after which all joined in singing the hymn, "I'll Come Upon the Midnight Clear."

During the business it was decided to have a social evening on January 9th.

The conveners of the standing committees reported. Mrs. Bartindale reported on the C.A.C. bulletin, which had reports from the toy testing committee.

Mrs. Harry Coulter conveyed the following Christmas program: reading, "Christmas Cards," Mrs. Farley Lindenfield; all sang the Christmas carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful"; reading, "Facts About Christmas," by Mrs. Ivan Rose. Mrs. Coulter read the experience of one trying to exchange a Christmas gift, which made a delightful story for remark.

The Christmas story was read from St. Luke, 1: 14, by Mrs. Garnet Searles.

Mrs. Coulter gave a paper on the "Christmas Story." "Why do we repeat that familiar Christmas story? There is no story written in the English language with which so many people are familiar as the story of Jesus. It is to be noted, however, that His birth was proclaimed in two widely different ways. First, by a star, and second, by a song, and both were equally effective. The star was for the wise men and the song for the shepherds. In these days some men come to Christ by way of the star and others come because they listen to the song.

"Ever since Jesus was born and because of His Life and His teaching we have a new reverence for all humanity, but sometimes because of the limitations in ourselves, we do not make this reverence as practical or as all-embracing as it ought to be.

"If we are to live in a democratic way we must have the Christmas spirit the year round and drive out selfishness, suspicion, hate and group conflicts."

All sang the Christmas carol, "Silent Night." Mrs. Coulter demonstrated how to make a Christmas candy cane cake, which was used later.

All enjoyed two Christmas contests.

The president closed the meeting with the reading of a poem, "The Day Before the New Year."

Refreshments were served by the lunch committee.

Bill Haggar and Ralph Grigg, and with table decorations by Miss Mabel Gillespie, the party was off to a good start with a program planned by Mr. Bill Norris.

Little Miss Iris Lohnes, of Stirling, gave a demonstration of the suppleness of some people, performing handstrings, cartwheels and other feats which drew the admiration of her audience.

MAGICAL TRICKS

Miss Margaret Slavin captivated the children and the adults alike with her magical tricks. She can expose reach into an empty cylinder and pull out dozens of kerchiefs, plus Christmas decorations and several other things! Or, how can one place a coin under one glass and have it turn up under another?

Miss Barbara Thrasher, well-known in Belleville for her graceful dancing, delighted the crowd with two tap numbers.

Carson Elliott, as a clown, contributed greatly to the success of the party. Able to win the confidence of the children he was met with squeals of pleasure as he circulated among them and conducted an impromptu sing-song.

Gaily Ho's narrated "Ha, Ha, Ha" Santa Claus climbed through the fireplace to be greeted by some very happy and excited children.

Christmas Concert

RIVER VALLEY PUBLIC SCHOOL

STIRLING — A capacity crowd attended the annual Christmas concert at River Valley public school on Thursday evening. Christmas decorations added to the entertainment.

Mr. Harry Morrow was chairman and all the pupils were in mass formation a "Christmas Greeting," and "A Carol For Christmas."

A comic play entitled, "A Good Impression," was given by the senior pupils. This showed how young brothers even the score with an "uppity" older sister.

The juniors gave an "operetta" entitled, "Santa Packs His Bag." This was arranged by the teacher, Mrs. Reg. Coombes and music supervisor, Miss Grace Brennan. There were clowns, dolls, Jack-in-the-box, candy canes, talking and singing characters, a doctor, a nurse, and Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus.

The children gave a two-part song, "A Christmas Carol." The primary pupils presented a comic play which demonstrated new methods of "child psychology." The pupils rendered a three - part song, "A Hymn for Christmas."

A short play gave an outline of "The Night of the Nativity," using carols and the Nativity scene.

The program closed with a couple of choruses, selections by all the pupils entitled, "Merry Christmas," and "Santa Claus Comes."

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

BE CAREFUL NOT TO MAKE A SECOND MISTAKE

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

A few years ago I met a fellow and am still going with him. During all the time I've been going with him he has lied to me and cheated on me, but I loved him and just took it all.

Now I have his baby.

Since then, I've met another fellow and have fallen in love with him. He loves both me and the baby and would do anything in the world for us. He has asked me to marry him and want to make a good and happy home for the three of us. I've told him about the fellow who is the father of my baby and he said if I wanted to keep on going with him, he himself would go away and go back in the army.

With the first fellow, I could never find love, happiness or anything else. I told him about this second fellow, and after I told him he said he wanted me to stay with him, that he loved me and will marry me. Some of my friends tell me that I would be doing wrong if I left this first fellow, but I want to be happy for the anybody else, yet I have to think of the baby, too.

So that is why I'm writing to you. Maybe you can tell me what to do. — Torn.

Dear T.Y.:

If you're quite certain that this second man wishes to assume the responsibility for another man's child, and that you can absolutely depend upon him to do so, and if, again, you're as sure as it is possible to be that you love him and he loves you and you could make a permanently happy home together, then I would feel the right thing would be for you to marry him.

If you find your choice is between marrying the baby's father in order to give the baby his rightful name, and marrying the second man because you believe you can be more nearly happy in life with him, then it still seems to me that the second choice is the best one, for surely it would be far more to the baby's own good for you to marry the man you think most likely to create a happy home and to grow up in, than the one who would merely legalize him. For you to marry without love and bring the child no kindness, for in such case you must hardly expect that, with no right feeling between the parents, he could grow up in happiness and security. Moreover, if the baby's father had really wished to marry you as he now belatedly says he does, he would have suggested this long ago.

Before you make final decision, however, you would be very wise to discuss the problem with someone near you who could go into every angle of it thoroughly with you and make sure you arrive at the right conclusions. In your city there are many advisors to whom you could go. You might consult your pastor or priest. You might go to the Family Service Association. The YWCA would also be able to put you in touch with someone well equipped to guide you.

Think this over carefully, make up your mind which source of help you would like to consult and then lose no time in doing so. Good luck.

Already you have made one serious mistake, I'm sure you don't want to make another by marrying the wrong man. So do your utmost to get the sort of help that will enable you to see the right path now.

BEAUTY

By MME. QUI VIVE

TEN TIPS TO WINTERTIME CHARM

Winter sports demand wools for wear. To keep them pretty, frequent sudsing's the answer.

Winter social life and sports events are in full swing now, bringing in the town where we both used to live, and where our families still live. We did not send out either invitations or announcements, but we have come to be here to live in this city where we have many friends, some of my friends do not yet know about our marriage, very few of my friends know that we secretly do know my married name. Under these circumstances would it be proper for me to say his name when I introduce him? — Reader.

Yes . . . certainly the sensible thing to do! Add your husband's name in your introductions, for example, "Mrs. Clark—my husband, Philip Leigh." Or, "Miss Rose, may I introduce my husband, Philip Leigh."

QUESTION OF TABLE SERVICE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am going to engage a woman to come in to cook and serve the dinners-for-six which my husband and I like to give. I know that when serving-dishes are passed at table, the waitress should hold the dish at the left of the guest, thus making it easy for the guest to help himself. But I am wondering if this same rule applies when the food (meat and vegetables) are already served on the plates? Should these be "served" from the left down at the individual places from the right or the left of the guest? — B.M.

In this case, when there is no question of assistance as to the guest's helping himself, it doesn't matter if the plate is put down from the guest's left or right. However, if this cook-waitress has had any training in serving, she will probably automatically place the plate at the guest's left . . . and will be correct.

MUST USE THE FORM OF NAME THE WIDOW USES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been a widow for over fifteen years, and have always used the form of name "Mrs. John Brown." Several of my friends, who are also widows, use this same name form. Recently the husband of one of them was also in our group of very close friends, and he immediately changed her name to the form "Mrs. Mary Brown." This we know is incorrect. Must we use for her this form of name she uses for herself, or should we use the form of name the person tells us? Also, should we spell the name the person spells it, and should pronounce the name as the person pronounces his or her name.

But I am wondering if this same rule applies when the food (meat and vegetables) are already served on the plates? Should these "served" from the left down at the individual places from the right or the left of the guest? — B.M.

In this case, when there is no question of assistance as to the guest's helping himself, it doesn't matter if the plate is put down from the guest's left or right. However, if this cook-waitress has had any training in serving, she will probably automatically place the plate at the guest's left . . . and will be correct.

MUST USE THE FORM OF NAME THE WIDOW USES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have been a widow for over fifteen years, and have always used the form of name "Mrs. John Brown." Several of my friends, who are also widows, use this same name form. Recently the husband of one of them was also in our group of very close friends, and he immediately changed her name to the form "Mrs. Mary Brown." This we know is incorrect. Must we use for her this form of name she uses for herself, or should we use the form of name the person tells us? Also, should we spell the name the person spells it, and should pronounce the name as the person pronounces his or her name.

Club 40 Celebrates Christmas Season With Turkey Dinner

On Monday evening, Club 40, in keeping with the Christmas season, celebrated its second Yuletide party in a real Christmas atmosphere. A large number of members and friends sat down to beautifully decorated tables, to a most delicious dinner, which will long be remembered.

The program was arranged by the director, Miss Helen Ackerman, with Mr. Orland Pinkston, acting as chairman for the evening. Participating in the program were Mrs. L. Collins, George Gulliver, Bud Rodgers, Don Grant and Roy Wheatley.

Mr. Pinkston gave a brief address on "The Keeping of Christmas". "It must be remembered," he said, "that the word 'Christmas' means the birth of Christ. This is the real meaning of the word, not just a day of hilarious enjoyment; but a day when families gather together to celebrate the birth of our Lord Jesus Christ."

With Mrs. L. Collins at the piano and Mr. Gulliver on the accordion, a number of my favorite carols were sung and much enjoyed.

Mrs. Howard Ackerman gave a brief outline of the club's existence and purpose, stating that at its beginning Club 40 had 12 members, but in the 16 months had grown to 62 paid-up dues members. Club 40 operates strictly social with three groups, Senior, Intermediate and Junior, participating.

At the children's party in Hillcrest, which was held in Centre Street Public School, Santa Claus arrived in a sleigh drawn by eight reindeer, and with a big sack filled with toys. Each child received a present, and refreshments were served.

A fine program was conducted by members of Barbara Rinnert School of Dance and club members.

With the arrival of Santa, (Bill Clore) a brief hush fell over the large audience and then with a sudden burst of hilarious Christmas spirit, Santa was almost mobbed by the children.

BI-MONTHLY EUCHRE

Throughout the year twice monthly euchres along with many other games and the usual country dances rounded out the club's activities.

Though not a handicapped or disabled club, many of such people are members wishing to Club 40 welcomes all.

Starting in the first of the year, goods will be purchased from these persons and will be paid for at source. It has been decided to purchasing material or crafts taught, these will be forthcoming and all interested can get in touch with Miss Ackerman, phone WO 2-4183. Those wishing to get to church on Sunday, cars will be available.

CRAFTS TAUGHT

Crafts also will be taught to all who wish, and special classes will be started in the coming year at Rossmore.

Mr. Ackerman also gave the financial report and stated that since Sept. 1st, the club's funds have more than doubled with the Senior club receiving its revenue from club members only.

At the conclusion, Mr. Ackerman thanked all who worked so hard throughout the year, for all working as one unit much can be achieved in the coming months.

Mrs. L. Collins and Mr. Gulliver rendered some fine selections and an unnoticed Santa who had arrived earlier than expected, while the musicians were preparing for the evening's entertainment, distributed many gifts to all the members. Turkey dinners were also taken to the sick members of the club, who were unable to attend.

After the dining room was cleared, Mr. Grant at the piano, Bud Rodgers on saxophone, Roy Wheatley, electric guitar; George Gulliver, accordion commenced the program.

Many types of dances were enjoyed by all, especially by some younger members. Others enjoyed the square dancing and waltzing.

1st Carmel Guides Hold Display in Church Hall

The 1st Carmel Guide Company held a Guide display in the church hall at Carmel on Thursday last at 8 p.m.

There were a number of parents present, also Guide Commissioner Mrs. Settle, and Guides from 1st Carmel and Belleville companies.

The Carmel Guides had first aid kits they had made on display, also neat, interesting and well illustrated note books.

The program was as follows: Jack; the Cross of St. George; opening ceremony of the Union Rita Demgenesa; the Cross of St. Andrew, Lillian Watson; the Crest of St. Patrick, Doris Chatten; collect party consisted of Donna Robinson, Geneva Mofina, collect bearer, and Marilyn Tufts.

With all the Guides on the stage, the "Queen" was sung, also "The Maple Leaf Forever."

The color party retired and the Guides, in unison, sang the Guide son, "They are Guides, all Guides." Reading, Barbara Horton; baton demonstration, Linda Dawson; Guide oath, "The Promise," sung by Judy Dafoe and Faye Robinson, accompanied at the piano by Donna Robinson. A play entitled, "When Great Grandmama Was Young," was acted by the company; scene: the schoolroom in the Misses Prim and Proper's School Academy for Young Gentlewomen; cast: the old fashioned girls, Angelina Knott, — Shirley Dafoe; Gelastina Jonquil — Marilyn Tufts; Deborah Dumpling — Geneva Mofina; Seraphina Slumber — Donna Robinson; Letitia Latte, — Rita Demgenesa; Pat Curtis, a modern schoolgirl — Barbara Horton; Miss Prim, a teacher — Doris Chatten; four girls on the bail team — Lillian Watson, Linda Dafoe, Marilyn Guay, Muriel Vardy; two cheer leaders — Judy Dafoe and Faye Robinson; selections by the rhythm band under the capable instruction of Mrs. Harrison, teacher at Carmel school highlighted the program which was enjoyed by all.

Solo, Faye Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. M. Robinson; Guide song, "Come Where the Bay," was sung by Lillian Watson, Donna Robinson, Rita Demgenesa, Shirley Dafoe; piano solo, Linda Dawson; "Deck the Halls," the Guide company.

The hymn of Guiding was sung by all present. Following this, all the Guides present joined in with the Union Guides at the evening camp-fire on the platform.

A number of Guide songs were sung, also Christmas carols. The commissioner gave an interesting talk on "Guiding" and wished all the Guides a Merry Christmas.

The Guides thanked Mr. Earl Dafoe who so kindly gave his time to be chairman and also Mrs. Harrison for coming and directing the rhythm band.

The program was closed with the Guides singing "Taps" and the Guides were dismissed by the Captain of the 1st Carmel Company, Mrs. Dorothy Howes.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

LETTER:

This is an urgent request that you give a word of warning to all those busy home-makers who are contemplating making Christmas candies. First of all tell them don't! And for those who will not heed that advice, urge them to use every precaution . . . We have had a nasty accident in our neighborhood this week with the result that one young mother of four was badly burned and will be in hospital for some time. I shall never forget the call which burst into my place calling for help. Naturally I think of all the things that might have happened in those few seconds! . . . it suddenly occurred to me that busy girls who might be thinking of making candies would be the very ones who read your column . . . hence this letter. I hope you can find space for just a few lines of warning.—Frances W.

ANSWER:

There will always be space for that kind of a warning, Frances. I tried to remember if I'd been giving candie-making directions, but know I did not. Thank you, Readers! And please heed the warning and don't make candies.

QUESTION:

Would appreciate any recipes, hints you have on freezing. When I "retired" in June I chose buying a deep freeze instead of a TV. I have not regretted it once: Here is a delicious recipe I recently. Use alone or with toasted ham or beef:

SANDWICH SPREAD:

(Courtesy Mrs. M. R.)

One half cup butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons mustard, 4 eggs, 3-4 cup vinegar, 1-3 teaspoon salt. Heat vinegar to boiling. Melt butter. Beat eggs, add to dry ingredients; gradually pour over hot mixture. Stir constantly. Cook in double boiler until thick. Remove from fire and add 1 cup grated cheese, 1 small can pimentoes, 1 onion grated, 8 large gherkins (I use dill pickles) chopped. Seal and keep cool. This makes a quart.

I might as well include a favorite fruit cake . . . it will "keep" about a month as there is not much fruit in it.

FRUIT CAKE

(Courtesy Mrs. M. R.)

One half cup butter, 1-2 cup sugar, 3 eggs, 1 1-3 cups flour, 1-3 cup milk, 1-3 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 lb. fruit cake fruit, shall never forget the call which burst into my place calling for help. MADOC JUNCTION

Eggleton WMS, W.A. Name 1957 Officers

MADOC JCT. — On Thursday afternoon, the December meeting of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. William McMullen.

The W.M.S. president, Mrs. Maurice Clancy, presided over the Christmas program that had been prepared by Mrs. Carl Bridges and Mrs. George Jervis. The opening theme was "Little Town of Bethlehem," with Mrs. Bruce Stapley at the piano.

The Christmas Scripture lesson from St. Luke 4: 20 was read by Mrs. William McMullen, with the commentary on the lesson being given by Mrs. Warren Harlow.

Little Carol Danford gathered the offering after which prayer was offered by Mrs. Clancy. A poem "It is Christmas Again," was read by Mrs. Milton Reid. An interesting Christmas story, "Heartroom," was read by Mrs. Clarence Fitchett. All enjoyed the beautiful piano solo, "Christmas Carols with Variations," played by Mrs. Bruce Stapley. Another Christmas reading, "Return of Light," was given by Mrs. Frank Smith.

Mrs. Gordon Nelson read the minutes and called the roll, showing 15 adults and several children present. Mrs. Clancy read a letter stating that the allocation for Eggleton Auxiliary for the year 1957 was $90 and that Mrs. B. A. Hoon was the special missionary for prayer next year.

The W.A. treasurer, Mrs. William McMullen, took charge for the business period.

Mrs. Robert Danford offered her home for the January meeting; Mrs. Milton Reid will prepare the program.

Mrs. Fitchett read a letter received from the Belleville Presbyterial supply secretary, Mrs. Brown stating the allocation for Eggleton Auxiliary and also stressing that parcels for overseas relief were still badly needed.

Mrs. Carl Bridges, W.M.S. treasurer, reported a successful year and that they had raised more than the allocation. All monies on hand will be sent to branch treasurer immediately.

The Baby Band leader, Mrs. Murney Kirkey, reported that there were 17 Baby Band members in 1956 and that birthday cards had been sent out to each one. Five of these members will be graduating into the Mission Band in 1957.

The secretary, Mrs. Nelson, will send Christmas cards to several older members, also some who are not residing here now.

Mrs. Fitchett was appointed to be in charge of the study book for the coming year.

The W.A. treasurer, Mrs. Warren Harlow, gave a splendid report of incomes and expenditures, with a substantial balance on hand.

Mrs. McMullen read a letter from Mrs. A. Pryar, requesting that old records be searched to find out the first W.A. or Ladies' Aid in the church organization. Mrs. Bruce Stapley and Mrs. Clarence Fitchett were appointed to prepare this report and to bring it to the January meeting.

EGGLETON W.M.S.

President, Mrs. Bruce Stapley; first vice-president, Mrs. Gordon Nelson; second vice-president, Mrs. Frank Smith; treasurer, Mrs. Carl Bridges; corresponding and recording secretary, Mrs. Clarence Fitchett; pianist, Miss Joyce Stapley; Christian Stewardship secretary, Mrs. Milton Reid; temperance secretary, Mrs. George Jervis; community friendship secretary, Mrs. William McMullen; Mission Band leader, Mrs. Maurice Clancy; Baby Band leader, Mrs. Murney Kirkey; supply secretary, Mrs. Clarence Fitchett.

EGGLETON W.A.

President, Mrs. Carl Bridges; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Danford; treasurer, Mrs. Warren Harlow. Auditors for the WMS, WA and Mission Band books, Mrs. Harry Clarke and Mrs. Milton Reid; press secretary, Mrs. Clarence Fitchett.

Mrs. McMullen, retiring WA president, thanked all for their co-operation during her term of office. Mrs. Clancy, retiring WMS president also expressed her thanks to all the members for their support during her two-year term of office.

The meeting closed with all joining in singing the carol "Silent Night, Holy Night."

A happy half hour was then enjoyed, with an exchange of Christmas gifts, after which the hostess served refreshments with tea.

Rawdon Twp. Council

Only routine matters were before members of the Rawdon township council as they met for their last regular meeting of the year on Saturday.

Inspectors' fees covering visitation to different farms to obtain the calf census for vaccination under the Brucellosis Control Act were ordered paid. Amounts were George Carlisle, $32.40; George Sutherland, $58.80; Roy Shortt, $47.40, and Morton Reid, $24.80.

All the above amounts are covered by grants from the Ontario Livestock Commissioner.

The treasurer of the village of Stirling was ordered paid $25 for division court fees for 1956, while salaries of the different officers for the year were also authorized paid.

Fox bounty was paid to the following: Warren Moorcroft, $5; Gerald Burkitt, $2; Clayton Beckett, $4 and William Johnston, $12.

The road voucher IR-A amounting to $1,018.96 was authorized paid, while an amount of $422.62, being the final payment to the Belleville General Hospital Fund, was also authorized for payment.

RAWDON

River Valley W.I. Sponsors Euchre Party

River Valley Women's Institute sponsored its last euchre party for this year at the school house on Friday evening with Mrs. Ross Bush as convener.

There were 16 visitors from Whitby, Frankford and Stirling, in attendance with nine tables in play.

The coffee and prizes were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush and Mr. and Mrs. Morley Richardson.

The prizes were awarded as follows: ladies high — Mrs. Bert Bedford; low — Mrs. Dunc Montgomery; men's high — Leon Morris, Frankford; low — Ernest Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kent donated a turkey to the institute and over $60 was realized. The winner in the draw was Mrs. Harry McCullough, Carrying Place.

The convener and institute members served refreshments.

The next party will be held on January 4th., 1957.

RAWDON

Bethel M.B. Receives Letter From Japan

RAWDON — Mrs. John Mulcheron and the members of Bethel Mission Band on the Rawdon circuit have received a letter from the Rev. and Mrs. Francis H. Muir, who are stationed at Kyoto, Japan.

They sent warmest greetings for Christmas and pictures of themselves and their two children, a group of the workers who assist them at the mission and pictures of several Japanese children who have received instruction.

The letter told of their work at the mission station, and said in part that they were sending pictures of themselves and all the other workers. They explained re "Audio Visual Aid," and said the lending library made it possible to have these various Bible pictures that are among the Japanese children. Many blessings result from this department of work.

At a f irst meeting held in the village one little girl looked timidly into the camera and kept wondering "What it was all about?" After four meetings this same little girl joined the happy group as they gathered around the flannelgraph board and soon she was busy helping to put the Bible pictures together.

These children rejoice in hearing these Bible stories which are so new to them as they hear it for the first time.

Frank and Gladys Muir rejoice in this work among the little children and they see advancement all along the way. One phase of success is child participation. Here a child stands up, tells the Bible stories to the group and places the pictures in the right spots and all this is most helpful to the Japanese children.

YOUNG WORKERS

The group of workers are all young people from different churches who have volunteered to hold children's meetings. Each workers pledges to give at least one afternoon per month to this work but some of the workers give an afternoon each week.

Mr. and Mrs. Muir prepare the materials and make out the programs. Then they arrange possible periods when they demonstrate the correct procedure to the workers.

On the day of the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Muir pick up the children at the school gate and when the meeting is over the children are returned to their school again.

On the way to the meeting the group usually practise the choruses which they plan to sing at the meeting, but on the way home they are allowed to sing whatever selections they choose.

The Muir family are enjoying good health and they had a delightful summer holiday during the month of August. This was most refreshing. Their two boys are now back to school again.

In closing they said, "We all join in saying 'Hello' to Bethel Mission Band and wish children and leader a Happy Christmas and New Year."

The letter and pictures arrived last week and were used as a part of the Mission Band program on Sunday, Dec. 16.

The children were thrilled to hear from a missionary in Japan, and the work that is being carried on in that land.

Stirling

STIRLING — Mr. Fred Vandervoort, Whitby, spent the week end in the Stirling area. On Friday evening he attended River Valley euchre party and renewed old acquaintances, as that was his home school. ## In the Beginning—

By ROY L. SMITH

There is something very sublime in the way the author of the Fourth Gospel grapples with the greatest concepts of thought, morals, and divinity, that have ever dawned upon the human mind. He begins his little book somewhat after the fashion of that other master work of all, the Book of Genesis—by saying, "In the beginning." Did you ever try to think your way back to the beginning?

A FEW BILLION YEARS

Any man who wants to try to think his way back to the "beginning" will do well to stop at the first station back, and ask the astronomers if they know anything about the age of the earth, or the universe. The anthropologists will tell us that man, as a self-conscious personality, has been upon this earth for perhaps as much as forty or fifty thousand years, but the astronomer will tell us that the earth itself is at least 500,000,000 years of age, and that the galaxy which we know as the Milky Way is at least 2,000,000,000 years old. Don't try to understand all the mathematical explanations of how they know, for it is sufficient for our purposes for us to know that they have arrived at an estimate of the age of the known universe as being somewhere near 10,000,000,000,-000 years.

IS THIS THE BEGINNING?

A few billion years, more or less, may be of very great interest to the mathematicians and the astronomers, but for our purpose it is sufficient to say that whenever the beginning occurred, it began because of God!

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for December 23: "The Word Became Flesh," John 1: 1-18; Luke 2: 1-20.

And for the author of the Fourth Gospel it is also sufficient to say that Jesus Christ was there as an active participant. That, quite evidently, is the reason he took no notice of the physical birth, or means, by which Jesus came into this world. A virgin birth into this vale of tears may have been of immense momentary interest in Bethlehem, but viewed in terms of the eternalness of Jesus Christ it was merely an incident.

THERE STANDS GOD

Statistics, calendars and scales may have great interest for men and women whose primary concern is in numbers, bulk, and years. But to one who is interested in the primary matters of life it is sufficient to say that, however far we go back in the history and the age of the universe, there we will find God standing as the author of creation.

And for the Christian there is a profound conviction that when he finds God standing beside the newly created world, or universe, he will also find Jesus Christ standing by His side as a full partner in the experience of creating!

We have been so long accustomed to singing about the Bethlehem Babe, the lowing oxen, and the adoring shepherds, that we have almost lost sight of the sublime spectacle of God's participation in Creation taking on the form of a baby, and being born in a humble little village of a peasant maid.

Did you ever try to imagine the planning that went on in heaven in anticipation of that first Christmas morning? First of all, a young girl had to be found who would be pure enough, wise enough, and spiritual enough, to assume the task of mothering the baby. Then a man had to be found who would measure up to the demands of serving as the father of such a little lad. The highest compliment Jesus could have paid to Joseph came when he used the same word for God that he had used for Joseph—Father! May we have never really appreciated the Nazareth carpenter. Then a little village had to be picked out, and a day, and some shepherds, some wise men, and an inn-keeper!

What a morning it must have been in heaven!

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

CORNWALL TONIGHT

The Men of Mirso, otherwise known as the Cornwall Chevrolets, will be the opposition to the McFarland Guildsmen in Memorial Arena tonight.

With the addition of a few extra accessories to their standard equipment including an overdrive, the Chevies right now are conceded by the rest of the circuit to be the hottest club in the loop with a record of four victories and one tie in their last five outings.

At the moment they occupy second place in the group standings, a position made precarious by the fact the McFarlands are breathing down their exhaust pipes, a mere point in arrears. That situation should be remedied this evening and the positions reversed if the McFarlands come up with the kind of hockey they are capable of playing.

Among the more colorful additions to the Chevies, a chappie who makes his Belleville debut tonight is Larry Kwong, a puck-chasing gentleman of Chinese extraction, who our Kingston television pal, Merle Jackson, indists on calling "Wonnie," adding the colorful sobriquet "The China Clipper."

Larry has had plenty of experience, being a veteran of the Quebec League who makes his home in Valleyfield, where he operates a restaurant when he is not cavorting around hockey arenas. He played four years with the Valleyfield Braves. For some unknown reason somebody dubbed him "King Kwong," although we cannot see where the name has any thing fits. He was born in Vernon, B.C., and started with the Braves in 1951-52. He played with that club until 1954-55, when he went to the Three Rivers team in the Quebec League.

Kwong is a right winger and his best season was in 1951-52 when he amassed 66 scoring points with 38 goals and 28 assists. Last year with Trois Rivieres he had three goals and nine assists.

Then, Kilauic more color to the newly-assembled Cherbies. Kilauic comes from the mountached Habitant, one of the few players extant to whom sickhandling is still one of the puck-chasing arts. Kilauic is an old buddy of Kwong's, having played previously the same number of seasons with him on the Valleyfield club.

Meanwhile Bep Guidolin's crew is reported to be in good shape with the exception of the coach himself, who is sidelined with a leg injury. Bep said today he will likely be out of the lineup for at least, but will direct operations from the players' bench.

Johnny Murdoch is expected to see action tonight with a special playing cast on his injured hand. Johnny got whacked in that Whitby-McFarlands' tussle last Saturday night and it was feared he had fractured a bone in his hand. Real Larouche, plus a new mask for his fractured jaw, will join the shock troops and he won't hurt the club's offensive efforts any.

With the Chevies riding the crest of a victory wave and installing themselves as a distinct threat to the Whitby occupancy of top slot, plus the fact the McFarlands are just as anxious to demote them from the place positions, tonight's battle should be one of the best senior "A" tussles seen here this season.

Speaking plainly, in view of what lies ahead of them over the weekend, the Macs can scarcely afford to lose this one. Tomorrow they take off for Pembroke where a vengeance-seeking crew of lacerated Kings await their coming, then on Sunday, after an overnight stay in Ottawa, they hike to Cornwall where they again battle the Chevies intheir own sparkling ice. All-in-all it looks like a busy weekend for Bep and the boys. Lemme see, six points . . .

Meanwhile down in Roddenville the Kingston CKCL's under new coaching management, take on the top-flight Whitby Dunlops. The CKCL's showed tremendous improvement in their 3-3 victory over the Ottawa Canadiens under the tutelage debut of newly-appointed coach Joe Levandoski. Bucky Buchanan has strengthened them somewhat while Nick Nicholson's contact to the fold will aid the blueline defenders. With this new spirit facing them the Dunnies might find the victory-hunting a trifle tough down Kingston way tonight. "A win for the CKLC's will cluster the league standing tighter than Scrooge's purse-strings.

Petes' Juniors Draw 1,000 At Marlie Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

No matter how few goals the opposition scores, Peterborough Petes usually manage even fewer.

For instance, Thursday night in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series, Petes held the second-place Toronto Marlboros to one goal. But that was enough for a 1-0 victory for Marlboros.

In the night's other game, St. Catharines Teepees downed Hamilton Cubs 3-1 to climb into third place, five points behind Marlboros.

About 1,000 fans watched the action at Peterborough. Bill Kennedy shot the game's only goal in the first period on a pass from Carl Brewer.

At Hamilton, Teepees wrecked the home hopes of 1,800 fans by dumping Cubs. Don Cousins, Viper Gendron and Matt Ravlich were the St. Catharines snipers and John Rose-Hamilton's goals

Habitants Draw Even-Steven With Detroit in Second Spot; Plante Gets Three Penalties

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Some may say he's over the hill, but to Montreal fans and countless others Maurice Richard is still the old master in big-time hockey. He showed them again Thursday night.

The 35-year-old right winger, nearing the end of a magnificent and tumultuous career in the National Hockey League, scored two goals to lead Montreal Canadiens to a 4-2 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs.

A two-goal performance isn't unusual for the Rocket. It's the way he scores them. His two Thursday night came with all the inimitable flair that has made Richard the greatest scorer in hockey history.

They were the 10th and 11th goals for the Rocket in the 1956-57 campaign—the 470th and 471st of his 15 NHL seasons.

GO INTO TIE

The win sent Canadiens into a second-place tie with Detroit Red Wings, who routed Chicago Blackhawks 6-2 on a goal in the third period to deadlock the leading Boston Bruins and Wings at 37 points each with one game.

Meanwhile, Richard brought the crowd of 13,577 to its feet at 5:21 of the first period when he set up Bernard (Boom Boom) Geoffrion to give Canadiens a 1-0 lead. He spun around in front of the Leaf cage, scoring on a backhander after Doug Harvey's shot had dropped free at the feet of Geoffrion.

Richard's second goal, at 18:53 of the third period, was a thing of beauty. He checked Leaf defenseman Jim Morrison outside the Toronto blueline, whirled into the Leaf end and rounded Ron Stewart after a brief but baffling fake. Chadwick never saw the 25-footer that ripped past him.

The other Montreal goals were provided by Harvey and Claude Provost. Bert Olmstead and Dick Duff scored for Leafs.

GOALIE PENALIZED

It was a rough game in spots and referee Goaltender Jacques Plante of Montreal, as willing as anybody to mix things, drew three minors and a 10-minute misconduct.

Plante was given one minor in the second period for interference. He was nailed with two minors—for high sticking and interference—in the third for Duff and Ted Sloan tangled. Sloan went off with a high-sticking minor.

Before 10,549 at Boston, the Bruins were heading for their 13th win in 20 starts until Detroit came through to beat netminder Norm Defelice in the last period.

Rookie Larry Regan scored at 10:15 of the first period with the Wings at a two-man disadvantage. The score stood at 1-0 until Pyramid picked up a loose puck in the Boston zone, broke ahead of the pack and fired a hard one behind Defelice.

The deadlock left Bruins in first with 40 points, two more than the Wings and Canadiens.

'Dirty' Charges Denied by St. Kitts Arena

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — The op inoumEwuuu xjud 2o pasoq cided Thursday night to wait for a letter from the Ontario Hockey Association before answering criticism on conditions at the Garden City Arena.

The OHA Junior A Council was reported last Monday to have approved an ultimatum that the arena be cleaned up or face a boycott by other clubs in the series.

Team officials at the council meeting in Toronto said the bottom of the rink boards in the arena, home of the Junior A Teepees, was so dirty the puck sometimes could not be seen.

APPLYING PAINT

Arena manager L. F. Blank said Thursday night the boards are being painted.

James Newman, a board member, said no proper answer can be given the council until a letter is received. He added: "I think plenty should be said about it when a letter is received."

Other board members complained about newspaper reports of remarks made at the council meeting.

Chairman E. H. Lancaster said: "It is regrettable that press reports have given the impression the arena is generally dirty and untidy."

He said this is not drue. He added that he has seen many arenas and the Garden City Arena ranks as one of the most well kept.

When board member W. B. Burgoyne mentioned the boycott threat, Lancaster commented: "Don't worry. We couldn't boycott this town. It is too lively a hockey town."

Principals in Fight-Fix Probe Draw Suspensions

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boxer Art Aragon's lawyer, Paul Caruso said today that Art will have nothing to say for a few days about the sentence fixed fight that wasn't held as scheduled in San Antonio, Tex., last Tuesday night.

Dick Goldstein, Los Angeles boxer who claims Aragon conspired with him by offering him $500 to "take a dive," told his story Thursday to Clayton Frye, assistant secretary of the state athletic commission.

Texas has banned both Aragon and Goldstein, but California won't concur until it receives and studies the findings of the Texas athletic commission, and until both have been questioned at length here.

Aragon's lawyer said his client will "protect the ustrue and irresponsible charges" and has already placed under sedation on orders of his personal physician.

FOR 30 DAYS

Goldstein is under 30 days suspension, while Aragon's is indefinite.

At Austin, Tex., state boxing commissioner H. B. Morgan said: "It's another case of a big-time fighter not wanting to take a chance and a whipped boy a little-time fighter."

Morgan's stiff punishment came following a grand jury investigation.

"We concluded that arrangements were made in Los Angeles between these two boys for Goldstein to take a dive," Morgan said. "I don't think there is any doubt but that is what happened."

Morgan said both fighters took the detection tests arranged by San Antonio police.

"The test revealed that Goldstein's story was substantially truthful and Aragon's—well, there were variations, at least," Morgan said.

Quebec League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Quebec Aces, with help from Montreal Royals, chopped Chicoutimi's Quebec Hockey League lead to three points Thursday.

The Aces trounced the third-place Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 7-2 while the Royals upset the Mesquerons in Montreal's wild game the club sole possession of fourth place, two points ahead of Trois-Rivieres Lions.

Skip Teal led the Aces with two goals. Other Quebec tallies were counted by Marius Groleau, Dick Gamble, Earl O'Bee, Orval Tessier and Marcel Bonin. Erwin Grosse and Jean-Paul Bonin were the Shawinigan Falls marksmen.

Marlene Outstanding Woman Athlete of '56

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Marlene Stewart, an amazing mite with an awesome putter, is Canada's outstanding woman athlete of 1956.

A year's career of triumphs in eight golf tournaments—climaxed with capture of the United States Women's Amateur championship—won her the recognition by the country's sports editors and sportscasters in the 22nd annual Canadian Press athletic poll.

Asked to list the three top women of sports in order, they eagerly endorsed the 22-year-old golfer from Penhill, Ont.

She earned 243 points, based on a scale of three points for a first choice, two for a second and one for a third.

MARILYN BELL SECOND

Marilyn Bell, the indomitable distance swimmer who in August added the 18-mile Juan de Fuca Strait to her chain of conquests, placed second with 150 points.

Jackie McDonald, Toronto's pretty Olympic shot and discus wielder, and skier Lucille Wheeler of St. Jovite, Que., first Canadian medal winner in the history of Olympic skiing, share third with 38 points.

It was a delayed honor for Marilyn, who for the last two years trailed the ballot-topping Marilyn in the poll. Her thinclad goals—Queen Elizabeth overshadowed by Marilyn's heart-clutching struggle against Lake Ontario in 1954 and the English Channel in 1955.

This year, however, the Penhill girl's mastery on courses throughout North America captured public acclaim.

It was unrivalled to a peak Sept. 22 when, her putter clicking with the precision of an electronic computer, she fought back to take the U.S. title. Four down after 24 holes, she rallied to defeat Jeanne Gunderson, 17-year-old U.S. Junior champion, 2 and 1 in Indianapolis.

HAS MANY TITLES

The victory added another honor to her bumper collection of titles, including the British Women's Open, the Canadian Open and close and the Ontario Amateur.

Marlene, born in Cereal, Alta., moved with her family to Penhill, a village near Wellland, in 1946.

Marilyn Bell, maintaining a record of one heroic success each summer, stumbled out of the Strait of Juan de Fuca at Victoria Aug. 23 after 10 hours and 39 minutes in the life-gripped channel. Defeated in her first exhausting attempt on the strait two weeks earlier, she stroked across in record time to become the fifth swimmer and second woman to master the strip between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

DIVER IS FIFTH

Another story of water - borne courage earned Irene MacDonald of Hamilton fifth place in the poll. The 23-year-old diver became the first Canadian ever to win an Olympic medal in women's aquatic competition when, sobbing with the pain of a muscle-torn shoulder, she placed third in springboard diving at Melbourne.

The selectors named 17 athletes from the spheres of golf, tennis, swimming and diving, track and field, skiing and gymnastics.

Others nominated:

Basketball — Winners Virginia Grant, Toronto, Helen Stewart, Vancouver, Sara Barber Brantford, Ont., and Beth Whitsell, Montreal. Olympic track competitors Diane Matheson, Moncton and Montreal, Dorothy Konak, Calgary and Winnipeg, and Eleanor Haslam, Saskatoon; distance swimmers Shirley Campbell, Fergus, Ont., and Toronto, and Brenda Fisher, Grimsby, England; goalie Rae Milligan, Jasper, Alta.; Olympic gymnast Ernestine Russell, Windsor, Ont.; and tennis star Mrs. Hanna Sidock, Montreal.

Edmonton Eskimos Outstanding Canadian Team Of '56

Canadiens Awarded 2nd Place While BC Oarsmen Place Third In National Selection Poll

TORONTO (CP) — Edmonton Eskimos, a football machine blending talent, teamwork to produce triumph, are the outstanding Canadian team of 1956.

The team, which won the Western Interprovincial Football Union title and captured the Grey Cup for the third successive year, was named winner today in the 22nd annual Canadian Press year-end poll of sports editors and sportscasters.

Voters from Newfoundland to British Columbia, listing the top three amateur or professional teams from any sport in order, picked the group which trampled eastern pride with a 30-27 victory over Montreal Alouettes in Canada's annual football classic.

Second place was awarded to Montreal Canadiens, Stanley Cup champions of the National Hockey League. The University of British Columbia's medal-winning Olympic oarsmen were third.

Three points were counted for each first choice, two for second and one for third. Edmonton finished with 251 points, Montreal got 139 and UBC rowers scored 107.

Twenty-two years, drawn from football, hockey, rowing, baseball, lacrosse, track and field, basketball, curling and rifle-shooting, were counted in the poll.

Montreal Alouettes, Big Four champs, placed fourth with 16 points and Vernon Canadians, British Columbia Intermediate Cup hockey champions, were fifth with nine.

Popularity of the Eskimos, who entered Toronto's Varsity Stadium Nov. 24 as betting underdogs despite their 26-25 and 34-19 victories over the Alouettes in the 1954 and 1955 Grey Cup games, surrounded regional rivalries.

The club, their crushing split-T ground attack directed by coach Frank (Pop) Ivy, 39-year-old University of Oklahoma grad uate who joined Edmonton in 1953, left even eastern critics convinced.

Western fans who watched the Esks climb to WIFU leadership could gauge their superiority in their regular league record of 12 losses in 16 games and the smashing of their own 1955 ground-gaining record by 100 yards for a 3,482-yard total.

Edmonton's performance in Toronto, however, dispelled any doubts left elsewhere. Tom Getty, 22-year-old University of Western Ontario graduate and first Canadian quarterback to start a Grey Cup game in nine years, and Mississippi refugee Jackie Parker heading the attack, the Eskimos humiliated the unbeaten, doubted but the Big Four football Union could offer.

The same supremacy was enjoyed in the hockey sphere by Montreal Canadiens, powered by centre Jean Beliveau, this year chosen Canada's outstanding male athlete in the CP poll, the venerable Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Doug Harvey, the NHL's outstanding Plante, Vezina Trophy goalie.

They finished the 1955-56 NHL schedule with a record of 45 wins, 15 losses and 10 ties for a total of 100 points, one short of the league record set by Detroit Red Wins in the 1950-51 season, and swept the Stanley Cup best-of-seven finals 4-1 against Detroit.

UBC's two rowing crews at the 1956 Olympics in Melbourne—the gold medal fours-without-coxswain and the silver medal eights—shared honors in the poll. Most selectors lumped the two together in their votes although 34 specified the fours and four named the eights.

It was the four-man crew, sent to Australia by public subscription among B.C. citizens, which earned one of Canada's two gold medals at the Games. They easily outdistanced United States, French and Italian entries. The eights provided one of the dramatic highlights as they edged Australia to finish second, a bare length behind a strong U.S. crew from Yale.

The other teams named by the voters:

Winnipeg Warriors, winners of the Edinburgh Trophy as top senior professional hockey team; Toronto Maple Leafs, baseball's international league pennant winners; Toronto Marlboros, Memorial Cup hockey champions; Chatham Maroons Allan Cup runners-up; Nanaimo Timbermen, Canada's senior lacrosse champions; Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen, OHFU champions, Shawinigan Falls Cataracts, Quebec Hockey League champions; Canada's 1,000-metre Olympic relay team; amateur basketball champions; Queen's University Golden Gaels, intercollegiate football champions; Billy Wright, Winnipeg rink, Dominion curling champions; the Vancouver Mount Pleasant lacrosse team; Winnipeg Rods, Canadian junior football champions; London Lords, OHFU runner-up; Saskatchewan Roughriders, WIFU runners-up; Edmonton Huskies of the Alberta Junior Football League, and Canada's Olympic team winners of two medals.

National League Umpire Dropped

CINCINNATI (AP)—Artie Gore, 49, an umpire in the National League since 1941, was dropped Thursday by league president Warren Giles to make room for younger umpires Lee Burkhart and Tony Venzon, who have been signed by the league.

Gore, who umpired previously in the International League and the Canadian-American League, said at his home in Lexington, Miss., that the action "came as a shock."

In Cincinnati, Giles explained: "We had the opportunity to get the contracts of two young umpires we had working with us for two years in spring training. If we didn't get their contracts now, we were afraid they would not be available later.

"Gore has been very conscientious in his work. That is all I care to say about the matter."

Americans Not Invited to Aussie Tourney

By WILL GRIMSLEY

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—American amateur tennis players said today they are not losing any sleep over the fact they were not invited to remain after next week's Davis Cup challenge round for the Australian national tennis championships.

"I am not heartbroken," said Herbie Flam of Beverley Hills, Calif. "I have a lot of things which need to be done back home and besides, the three-week walk between the challenge round and the tournament is too much."

The Australian nationals, to be played this year in Melbourne, will be held the last 10 days in January.

Sam Giammalva of Houston said "I came here fully expecting to stay and play, but now I think it is just as well."

MONEY THE PROBLEM

Australian officials advised the Americans they preferred not undertaking expenses which has been the custom in the past for U.S. Davis Cuppers to compete in the tournament. However, at the insistence of Davis Cup captain Bill Talbert, the team's two youngsters, Mike Green of Miami and Myron Franks of Los Angeles, will play at Melbourne, receiving $20 daily for the additional five weeks in Australia.

Meanwhile, former Davis Cup star Ted Schroeder, who returned to familiar stamping grounds on Thursday, said in Australia that Herbie Flam and not Vic Seixas was the American most to be feared in next week's challenge round.

"Everybody is talking about Seixas having the best chance of scoring points for the United States," said the onetime U.S. player. "I consider Flam America's No. 1 man."

Schroeder came here to do a radio commentary on the matches as he has done for several years. He also writes a newspaper column.

Schroeder doesn't consider United States chances in the challenge round as promising. An American victory would be "the biggest upset in tennis history," he said.

The first two singles matches are scheduled for Wednesday with the doubles Thursday and the final singles Friday. The draw is scheduled for Christmas Day.

MAY BUY TEAM

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—Dick Deutsch, head of a local syndicate which has options to purchase the Huntington Hornets hockey team, said Thursday he has made a tentative working agreement with Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League.

Deutsch said his group, including Huntington businessmen, has until Jan. 2 to buy the International League club. Purchase price of the club is reported to be $35,000.

Berra, Ford Sign With Yankees With Reported Salary Hoists

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Yogi Berra expects to see several pitchers following the lead of Don Larsen and Bob Turley, his New York Yankee teammates, by trying to pitch without a winning next season.

Berra and Whitey Ford, leading American League pitcher, were at Yankee Stadium Wednesday to sign their 1957 contracts. Although general manager George Weiss of the Yanks and both players held their ground and wouldn't admit a thing, it was reported—or maybe guessed is the better word—that Berra will be paid $52,000 and Ford about $35,000 next season.

"A pitcher has got to be a big fellow to get away with that no windup," said Berra. "He's got to have good natural stuff like Larsen or Turley.

MIGHT HURT ARM

"And a slaker ball pitcher couldn't get by without a windup. I should think a fellow might hurt his arm that way. But they know more than I do about it."

Advised that Sam Jones, former Chicago Cub who recently was traded to St. Louis, also was reported planning to use the new motion, Berra said, "I don't know much about Jones. But they say he is a big guy who throws hard and has control trouble. Maybe it will help him."

Berra, 31, was the most valuable player in the league three years and finished second to teammate Mickey Mantle in 1956. He hat d 298, hit 30 homers and drove in 105 runs. In the series he smashed three homers, set a record with 10 runs batted in and batted .360. His lifetime average is .294.

NOT FOR FORD

Ford, whose 19-6 record for a .760 percentage was top in the league along with his 2.47 earned run average, will have no part of the no-windup style.

"Not for me," he said. "That's for those big guys."

Ford, 28, is a five-foot-10, 180-pounder while both Turley and Larsen are well over six feet and up in the 215-pound class.

Berra and Ford were the first two Yanks to sign, accepting what Weiss called "good raises."

With a world series winner and triple champion Mickey Mantle, the Yanks may have their problems before they get the players on the line.

SIGNED DESPITE PROTEST

ROME (CP) — The Roma of Rome soccer team announced Thursday it has signed Josef Csibor, star left winger of the self-exiled Hungarian Honved team despite opposition from the International Soccer Federation.

The Big Seven

Jean Beliveau of Montreal was held to an assist Thursday night but still stretched his National Hockey League scoring lead to 12 points over his two nearest rivals —Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay of Detroit.

While Beliveau boosted his total to 46 for the season both Howe and Lindsay were held pointless and remained tied for second place with 34 points.

Retort Courteous

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—All is not war and grimness on the Rose Bowl front this year.

Oregon State's coach, Tommy Prothro, was calling into the press room from Santa Monica with a loud speaker telephonic report of the day's activities as sports writers asked the questions.

Without identifying himself, Forrest Evashevski, coach of opposing Iowa, took over the phone and in mock seriousness inquired:

"Tommy, what type defence are you going to use?"

Obviously recognizing Evy's voice, and without a pause, Prothro just as seriously replied:

"We will use an 11-man defence."

Industrial Hockey League Results

Osterhout Shells maintained their perfect record in the Industrial Hockey League last night by handing Don't Delivery a 4-1 setback.

Cameron Buskard paced the winner's attack with a pair of goals. Bob Brooks and Bill Muirhead had Shells' other markers while Jim Campbell netted Don't Delivery lone goal.

Three games are scheduled for the weekend, every team seeing action. Bakelite and Don't Deliver meet at 11.00 a.m., National Steel and Holway's B. A. clash at 12.30 and Corbin Lock take on Osterhout Shells at 1.30 p.m.

Hungarian Fund Helped by Army

This coming Saturday, the Salvation Army kettles will again be on the streets but a different sign will be at the top of the kettle. The new one will read: "Give Today To Hungarian Relief." This is in keeping with the Army's present program across Canada to donate one day's kettle collection to Hungarian Relief. All the proceeds received on Saturday will be turned over to the Belleville Hungarian Relief Committee of which Captain C. Ivany, of The Salvation Army, is a member.

Remember then, when you see the kettles on Saturday manned by Salvation Army personnel that your donations will be going to help Hungarian Relief. The kettles will be out from 9 to 2.

Hecker Flatly Denies Charges

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League said Thursday he had received a categorical denial from Norb Hecker of Washington Redskins that Hecker ever took part in a money pool with the payoff going to the player who "got" Bobby Layne of Detroit Lions.

Bell said he called the Redskins office and had Hecker, a former end with Toronto Argonauts, summoned. The commissioner said he asked the Washington defensive back five questions and received flat "noes" to each.

Layne suffered a concussion in last Sunday's Chicago Bear-Detroit NFL Western Conference title game, and later Hecker was quoted by a Washington paper as saying Los Angeles Rams—a club Hecker once played with—organized a pool to get Layne.

Bell said the five questions put to Hecker were:

1. Do you have knowledge of a Los Angeles money pool aimed at stopping Layne?

2. Did you have knowledge of a pool designed to stop any player?

3. Did you ever participate in a money pool among Los Angeles players to get any player?

4. Do you know of any player ever maliciously trying to injure another player?

5. Did you ever so injure an other player?

Duke Snider Led National Slugging Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Duke Snider of Brooklyn Dodgers, the National League home run king, also led in slugging percentage with a .598 figure last season.

Joe Adcock of Milwaukee Braves was next with a .597 mark in the averages based on total bases divided by total at bats. Others near the top were Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati Redlegs, .558 each, and Willie Mays of New York Giants, .557.

Sniler also showed the way in total walks 99, including a record of 26 intentional passes. The previous mark for intentionals was 25, set by Ted Kluszewski in 1953.

Wally Post, one of Cincinnati's leaning home run hitters, struck out more times than any other National Leaguer, 124. In contrast, Don Mueller of the Giants, who specializes in place hitting, fanned only seven times.

MOST BRUISED

The pitchers' favorite target was Robinson, struck 20 times by pitched balls.

In the team figures Cincinnati had the best slugging average .441 and Brooklyn drew the most intentional walks, 91, and pounded into the most double plays, 146.

Thirteen major league records were broken by National League players or teams during the season, many of them inconsequential.

One record that may stand for years was the feat of Pittsburgh's Dale Long who hit homers in eight consecutive games. Red Schoendienst of St. Louis and New York set a new mark for fielding at second base, .9934; Robin Roberts of Philadelphia Phillies allowed more homers than any other pitcher in history, 46; and Junior Gilliam of Brooklyn stole 26 bases six at second base in a July 21 game.

Ortega, DeMarco Fight Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—If Gaspar Ortega repeats his upset victory over Tony DeMarco in their 8-round rematch at Madison Square Garden, it will be time to take seriously the challenge of the lanky Mexican welterweight.

Ortega's split decision over the former champion in their Nov. 23 bout resulted in a revision of the 147-pound ratings. Both Ring and the National Boxing Association promptly awarded Ortega the No. 4 post among Carmen Basilio's challengers. DeMarco received No. 1 with the NBA but slipped to second in Ring.

The 10-round match will be carried on radio and television, starting at 10 p.m. (EST).

Despite his recent defeat, DeMarco is a 2-to-1 favorite in even matters with the Mexican who has won his last four and 36 of 43 pro starts. DeMarco's record is 65-7-1 for 73 fights.

AT THE PARK — Slick 'em Up — Bruce Bennett comes face to face with the West's most wanted outlaws, Neville Brand and Alan Hale Jr. in AFRC's "Three Outlaws" which is now showing today and Saturday at the Park Theatre. On the same program the greatest and biggest Rock 'N Roll picture of the year "Rock, Rock, Rock" featuring Alan Freed and his 18 piece Rock 'N Roll band. The shows are continuous on Saturday.

Russ Will Be Swim Power in 1960 Olympics

AT THE BELLE — Robert Taylor and Mary Howard are the romantic leads of "Billy the Kid", spectacular Technicolor western which also features Ann Sheridan Dooley and Ian Hunter. Gregory Peck and Jane Wyman, as Penny and Ma Baxter, are seen in "The Yearling", Technicolor prize-winning novel. One of the most highly praised pictures of the year, "The Yearling" is the first MGM Masterpiece reprint, at the Belle.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Tommy Walker of Toronto, coach of Canada's swimming team in the Melbourne Olympics, forecast Tuesday night Russia will be a power in swimming in the 1960 Olympics.

Walker arrived here by plane from Honolulu, where he spent a week's holiday after the Games. Walker said although Russia didn't win any medals in Olympic swimming in Melbourne, "their swimmers and divers, from my observations at least, showed they will be well up with the world in the 1960 Games at Rome."

There were Russian observers at the Olympic pool every day. They studied techniques of coaching and swimming of the Australians, Americans and others. They also took films."

No Cheesecake for Senorita; U.S. Photographers Unhappy

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There's one thing that puzzles Mexican star Carmen Sevilla about the United States: Why do the photographers ask her to cross her legs and lift her skirt?

Of course, this is no mystery to cheesecake-conscious Americans, especially when the subject is a beautiful and shapely (36-24-36) as Carmen. But she can't understand it.

"In Spain, we do not have anything like that," she said through an interpreter. "The cameramen would not allow it, so the photographers do not even ask. But here!"

She told of one session in New York when a photographer kept raising her skirt line. When he turned his back she would lower it. This turned into a tug-o-war, and Carmen was the victor. Unlike certain Italian stars, she prefers not to expose her physical assets, unless they have to be in playing call for it. She prefers to get by on her acting talent.

I don't know about her acting, but on the basis of beauty she could be the first Hollywood star to come from Spain. She is chestnut-haired with deep, dark eyes and a classical face. She is shy about her knowledge of English, which consists largely of "How are you?" "Some milk, please" and "Goodbye." But in her native tongue she shows flashes of Latin fire.

Carmen is here to dub dialogue she speaks it phonetically for her first American film, "Flamenco, which was filmed largely in Spain.

What about American men?

She finds they have a peculiar charm of their own, but regrets that she has been too busy to have any dates here. Next trip, maybe.

She was born Maria Del Carmen Garela Galisio 25 years ago in Seville, from which she took her professional name. Trained as a dancer, she toured through Spain, Portugal and France with a ballet company.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, Dec. 22, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A somewhat mild period for personal affairs but the day can be generally productive and profitable for worthwhile work and unusual ideas which have merit.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — You can reach out easily but don't be over-anxious for gains. They are obtainable, but only through sensible and clever management, and in worthwhile endeavors.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Don't hesitate to act once you know you are on the right road. And act with precision, though not shoddily. There are many advantages to be gained from sharing your ideas. Let your best side shine.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Little may seem to result from efforts now, but what you do well will have far-reaching and lasting results. Don't hesitate to give voice to your ideas. Remember, the man who buried his talent never had any more?

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Be alert and careful in carrying out your daily tasks and affairs, the results should be successful. Avoid having to retrace steps, carelessness in personal habits.

August 24 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Today's influences are favorable to all well - executed matters. Steady endeavor and cooperation can lift you out of the uncertain and into the winning class.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Eccentricity may be prevalent now. Hold emotions under control. Direct energies into proper channels. You must venture to gain, of course, but be sure you know where you are venturing.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio) — If you feel ambitious, you smile. Don't scatter your efforts; organize, concentrate.

You born today are sturdy, dependable, likeable and just; may have a tendency to take too much upon yourself and wear down health, nervous system. Plan your activities with common sense and calm balance and you will attain more, be healthier, happier. You can succeed in a profession, artistic or scientific, at a trade, in business. You have innate knowhow and with your intelligence and ambition, can make a success of life. Pray, be patient; don't indulge in extravagance, recklessness.

November 24 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Employ patience where needed, especially in trying problems. You have the ability to achieve if you maintain poise and display self-assurance. Rise above petty annoyances and avoid carelessness.

December 23 to January 20 — (Capricorn) — Keep up with the times, not the "Joneses." Be alert, and think sharp before committing yourself. A close check on all spending is in order. Concentrate efforts on ideas that offer value for the future.

January 21 to February 19 — (Aquarius) — Avoid nervous haste and lack of system. Alter your schedule if necessary to get the best out of the day. Don't overlook small essentials in your quest for gain. A good day to think things out.

February 20 to March 20 — (Pisces) — You have versatility but don't always make the most of it. Give your best and show others a better way. Be sure all see

STAR PRESIDENT.

Funeral service will be conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. from the Hindmarsh estate at Oakville, with Rev. H. R. Gallagher of the United Church officiating. He will be buried in the family plot at Oakville Cemetery.

The Star, with an average daily circulation last year of 408,545, was the youngest and poorest of Toronto's six dailies when taken over in 1939 by the late Mr. Atkinson. It had been founded in 1892 by a group of writers from three now-defunct News following a labor dispute.

Between 1948 it has been operated under the Atkinson Charitable Foundation trust set up under Mr. Atkinson's will. Under a recent Ontario statute the paper was to have been sold by last spring because the Charitable Gifts Act provides that the Foundation may own more than 30 per cent of the capital of any corporation.

Mr. Hindmarsh said Thursday before his attack that offers for the Star had been received within the last year from Cyrus Eaton, Cleveland industrialist who was born in Pugwash, Junction, N.S.; Roy Thomson, who owns a group of Canadian dailies and radio stations in the United States and the United Kingdom; E. P. Taylor, Toronto industrialist, and the Southam Newspapers.

Mr. Hindmarsh also said the public trustee charged with selling the paper's assets has been applying gentle pressure to have the sale started.

Harry Comfort Hindmarsh was born in Bismark, Mo., of Canadian parents but moved to Canada two years later after the death of his father, a train dispatcher. His first newspaper job was also in the U.S., as the Detroit News during a year off from the University of Toronto, but his career in journalism was spent on Toronto and his life's work was the Toronto Star.

He joined the old Toronto Globe in 1908 after graduating from university, two years later moved over to The Star and at 21 was its city editor. In 1928 he became managing editor, five years later vice-president in charge of editorial departments and in 1948, its president.

At 1915 he married Ruth Atkinson, daughter of Joseph E. Atkinson, then Star publisher. One son, John, took up farming and the other, Harry, joined The Star. Two married daughters lived near the 22-acre Hindmarsh estate at Oakville with 12 of his 14 grandchildren.

Mr. Hindmarsh was a member of St. John's United Church at Oakville. He was a big man, weighing about 200 pounds and standing six feet three.

He was also a keen and austere man. In times of editorial crisis at The Star his voice remained the calmest in the newsroom. He lived apart from his fellows, seldom spent any social time, reserved the paper to reply to criticism of himself or his family.

In April, 1955, more than 150 former staffers attended a banquet in his honor and gave him a silver cigar box bearing the inscription OK, typical of the spare commendation for a job well done.

SPARED NO EXPENSE

During the royal tour of 1939 Mr. Hindmarsh directed a staff of more than 40 star reporters and photographers who followed the every move of the royal couple during their cross-country trip. The paper's coverage was said to have cost the Star $100,000.

When the lake ship Agoma foundered off Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron in 1937 a Star man hired a whole train so he could be first to interview survivors.

Mr. Hindmarsh's favorite comment in the newsroom was "news is a gunning word" and in keeping his life showed the high return on many Hindmarsh gambles.

He once dispatched reporter Greg Clark and photographer Norman James to British Columbia just in case a big story broke. It did soon after their arrival with exclusive pictures and survivor interviews after a major slide.

When brewer John Labatt of London, Ont., died in Bermuda in the 1930s, Mr. Hindmarsh stationed one reporter outside the Royal York Hotel during negotiations for Labatt's release to keep watch on any newcomer anyone looking like a gangster entered or left the building.

STRICT BUT KIND

To many who worked for him, Mr. Hindmarsh was an enigma. He drove them as he drove himself but often he pulled them up sharply, too. On occasion he was known to order a celebrated correspondent back to the police beat or on to the obituary desk to keep him from getting a swelled head.

He fired others for drinking on the job and called them back in the next day to arrange for payment of treatment for alcoholism. He helped many a poor personal debt, extracting in return only the promise they would tell no one about it.

Once he ordered a staffer to lose weight, prescribed a diet himself and ordered that the man be weighed daily on the pressroom scales and that the daily result be given him regularly.

An early interest in music influenced later actions as Star executive. As a boy he used to play the violin, the bugle and the flute. Later, Mr. Hindmarsh organized a good music program sponsored by The Star for broadcast over the Toronto Ontario radio stations nightly and often chose the selections played or suggested changes in the program.

In tribute, R. Howard Webster, chairman of the board of The Globe and Mail, said Thursday night: "I know of no man in Canada's largest newspaper only by reputation, the quality of which is best attested by the fact that so many of Canada's able newspaper men received their early training by him."

John Diefenbaker, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, called him "one of Canada's eminent journalists."

BIGGEST SCOOP

The Star's greatest scoop came just after Mr. Hindmarsh became managing editor in 1928. A German airplane, the Bremen, had arrived at Lake St. Agnes in Quebec.

But The Star got there first. Before Schiller took off for Labrador he had secretly provided him with an offer of $7,000 for his story. To get the men to Lake St. Agnes in once, Mr. Hindmarsh hired a special train. The Star reporters prevented all American newspaper men from getting on the train. Then at Rimouski Bay, Que., the nearest telegraph outlet, they tied up the line by ordering a dozen copies of a copy of the New Republic back to the United States.

ZIGZAG JOURNEY

Schiller finally flew in with a roll of film. Fred Griffin, a Star reporter, put the film on a star plane which headed for Toronto. It was forced down at Quebec. The Star hired another train to speed the film to Montreal. There it was printed and reporter Roy Greenaway hired a taxi to drive him 350 miles to Toronto through a blizzard.

Notables who worked on The Star under Mr. Hindmarsh included Ernest Hemingway, Morley Callaghan and Pierre Van Paassen.

He developed mass coverage of major news breaks. One reporter once recalled being sent by the paper to cover the sinking of a lake boat in Georgian Bay. On arrival at the scene he found 26 other Star reporters were there already.

During a royal tour of Canada, The Star sent 30 men to meet the Royal plane at Quebec and another 30 to Ottawa.

MOVED TO ST. THOMAS

Mr. Hindmarsh's mother, strong-willed woman, married after her husband's death back to St. Thomas, where her father, Hiram Comfort, was a wealthy wood merchant. Years later when her son moved to Toronto she moved with him.

The death notice in Toronto newspapers said: "Flowers gratefully declined."

Honorary pallbearers will be officials of The Star—T. S. Atkinson, publisher; W. J. Atkinson, son, chairman of the board of directors; W. J. Campbell, secretary-treasurer; Burnett M. Thall, director; W. G. Palmer, secretary of the board of directors.

Active pallbearers: Mr. Hindmarsh's sons-in-law, R. J. Hindmarsh, his sons-in-law, R. A. Folland and A. E. Powis; friends and his lifelong friends, A. D. LePan of Toronto and Senator Norman Lambert.

EAST-WEST

It is believed that India's attitude early in the Middle East and Hungarian crises was viewed here with a wary and possibly nervous eye. While public opinion in the British - French intervention in Egypt India seemed slower in expressing its attitude than on Russian repression of the Hungarian uprising.

CONSIDERED BRUSH

The importance of the Nehru-Soviet talks here was seen in the light of the two countries' positions. Canada has long been considered as the natural bridge between Britain and the U.S. Nehru's visit here will now become a conciliatory power between the Western world and Russia. Canada may be a little clearer when the results of Nehru's talks with Soviet leader of the most influential nation in Five Asian countries are known.

An indication of the importance attached to Mr. Nehru's visit is the fact that a Commonwealth cabinet minister is being sent to New York to head the Canadian delegation to party which will conduct the Indian prime minister to Ottawa. Mr. Pearkes flies from here on leave for New York today to perform this task.

Wooler

WOOLER— The Woman's Association served refreshments to officers, members and adults on Thursday at noon. Hot vegetables, sandwiches, salads and all kinds of pie and tarts were served.

The meeting opened at 2 p.m. with the president, Mrs. G. F. Putnam and the convener, Mrs. H. McColl in charge.

The Christmas reading was given by Mrs. Ervon Scott. Christmas carols were sung. Mrs. H. McColl gave a reading and the Scripture was read by Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

The treasurer's report was satisfactory with $100 voted to the Social Board in addition to the $300 given at Thanksgiving.

The nominating committee, with Doug Rice, Mrs. Arthur Deeland and Mrs. C. Richards will report at the next meeting.

It was "White Gift" program for the Christmas party next morning.

Mr. George Ray of Linaria, Alberta, spent Sunday evening with his sister, Mrs. Robt. Redcliffe and Mr. Redcliffe.

Sympathy of the community is expressed to Mrs. Wm. Willings in the sudden death of their grandson, Francis Gillings, of Brantford.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Redcliffe of Toronto visited friends Sunday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Redcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mitchell and baby daughter of Peterborough, spent a day here on Saturday.

Mrs. Mabel Jenners served a dinner to her friends on Sunday evening.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. G. Newton spent Thursday afternoon in Peterborough.

The Sunday morning service in the United Church will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. R. G. Newton and his subject was "Gifts for The King", Matthew 2:11. The choir sang "Noel", soloists taking different verses. The hymns were Christmas carols.

On Sunday afternoon, Ross Mc-Master took his mother, Mrs. Newton, Mrs. G. F. Putnam, Mrs. R. L. Terrill and Mrs. Redcliffe to Carmen church, where a Christmas Missionary meeting was held, with Mrs. Devitney, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Hemingway of Cobourg Presbyterial, as guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Arthur of Wooler, and Miss Cora Valentine and Mr. S. A. Montgomery attended the service.

Mr. and Mrs. James Putnam and children were in Belleville, to dinner on Sunday afternoon.

Sunday morning's United Church service will be held in the United church and in the evening at 7.30 p.m. a candlelight service and carol singing by the choir.

The W.I. held its meeting in their club room with a large attendance and a Christmas program and a Christmas tree, placed there by the two "Cubs" and leaders which added much to the evening.

Readings given by Mrs. Charles McColl and Mrs. Neil Nelson; pianos solo, Mrs. L. N. Bell and carol singing, were enjoyed.

Mrs. Alden Arthur was hostess, with lunch committee, Mrs. J. May, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. W. Read.

The next meeting will be held in January, at Mrs. A. G. Austin's.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Putnam spent Sunday tea hour with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Badgley, Frankford.

TV Showing Of Martin Luther Film Cancelled

CHICAGO (AP) — Cancellation of the television showing of the film Martin Luther by Chicago Station WGN-TV has been termed "censorship" by a group of Protestant clergymen.

The picture, based on the life of Luther, who broke from the Roman Catholic Church in the 16th century to lead the Protestant movement in Germany, was scheduled for telecast Friday by WGN-TV. It would have been the picture's world TV premiere.

Clergymen protesting the station's decision not to show the film said the Roman Catholic Church had brought "pressure" against televising it.

An "action committee" of seven Protestant clergymen and one layman said the cancellation violated freedom of the press and amounted to "censorship"—in violation of the station's authority to broadcast.

AN EMOTIONAL REACTION

Ward L. Quaal, vice-president and general manager of WGN, Inc., said:

"Shortly after the announcement of the scheduled showing of the Martin Luther film, it became apparent that there was an emotional reaction to the plan.

"In view thereo, the station has elected to cancel the showing, not wanting to be a party to the development of any misunderstanding or ill will among persons of the Christian faith in the Chicagoland area."

The action committee, headed by Dr. John W. Harms, executive ice-president of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, said it is asking WGN officials to "return to their original decision to televise the film." He said the group also has made a formal protest to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington.

The station's announcement said the decision not to show the film was made by WGN alone as a policy matter.

There was no immediate comment from Roman Catholic officials.

How to KEEP FIT after 50

In the old days fifty seemed the signal to slow down—take things easy—watch your diet—get more rest. It's all changed, today. But those days you can face fifty with many interesting and active years ahead—unless, that is, if you can avoid backaches and the "tired-out" feeling, that the kidney and bladder disorders, that often develop around that age. For more than 60 years Doan's Kidney Pills have been helping men and women of all ages to keep kidneys and bladder in good order,—helping them to feel better, to work better, and get more fun out of life. If you are approaching fifty, or past it, Doan's Kidney Pills may help you, too. You can depend on Doan's. 54

Oil Delivery Men Fill Wrong Tank in House

WASHINGTON (CP) — Unperturbed when nobody answered the doorbell, a delivery men Robert Harding and Albert Green hooked their hose to the oil intake tank to fill the 125-gallon tank just like the order said. Later, firemen and oil company employees began cleaning up the newly finished recreation room of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gober, awash with 385 gallons of oil. The truck had gone to the wrong address.

The Gobers' intake pipe was disconnected eight years ago when the house was converted to gas.

TORONTO (CP) — Walter J. Mattice, 64, whose signature has appeared on every baby bonus and old-age pension cheque in Ontario in the last five years as provincial district treasury officer for the department of national health and welfare, will retire Dec. 31. It is estimated he has signed $1,000,000,000 worth of government cheques.

Eisenhower Promises Aid For Refugees

VIENNA (AP) — President Eisenhower has promised that the United States will do everything in its power to help solve the problems created by hordes of Hungarian refugees crowding Austria and still crossing through the Iron Curtain to freedom.

The president's promise was revealed in a letter delivered by Vice-President Dick Nixon to Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab shortly before the American official set out on a visit to refugee camps not far from the border.

Eisenhower, in his letter to Raab, said Nixon was acting as his personal representative in an effort to find a solution of a problem which had deeply touched the American people—the flight of more than 140,000 Hungarians in search of protection.

DON'T BUY ENERJETS

Unless—

- YOU REALLY LACK VITALITY
- YOU ARE UNDER A STRAIN
- YOU NEED TO BUILD UP RESISTANCE AFTER AN ILLNESS

Because

Enerjets contain exceptionally high quantities of vitamins, minerals, liver and iron — that's why they cost $5.95 for a 36-day treatment — that's why we say ENERJETS are only for those who really need them, not for those who are now in the best of health.

Fast Action With Enerjets

The Enerjets box is like a calendar. It contains 30 squares. Each square holds your daily dose. Ten days from now, when you reach square 10 in the Enerjets box, you won't have to be told how much better you look and feel. You'll notice your appetite improves . . . your body feels rested, alert ready for action. ENERJETS are building you up, helping you feel better than you have in years.

When You Reach Square 30

You should experience new vigor, a buoyant feeling of well-being, the happy companionship of your family life.

Your $5.95 is Protected

We have such confidence in the Enerjets formula that we say "You are protected" because if you are not so pleased that you want to tell others about them, then just do this — mail back the empty carton with your name and address to The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co. Ltd., Oakville, Ontario. We will refund the full purchase price, plus postage. That is how confident we are that ENERJETS will help you.

Extra For The One You Love

After your 30-day ENERJET course you will feel so much better you will want someone you care for to start on ENERJETS too. Send the lid of the ENERJETS box with name and address to The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co. Ltd., Oakville, Ontario. We will forward a 10-day supply to you or the person you name with your compliments and best wishes for their good health. Only after you have taken your ENERJETS will you realize what a wonderful way this is to help a member of your family, or a friend.

Wild Gun Battle Follows Fatal Merritton Shooting

Police Bullets Drop Man Whose Wife Shot in Home

MERRITTON (CP) — A man was shot down in a gun battle with police Friday night shortly after his wife was found fatally wounded in their home.

Mrs. Edna Bradley, about 48, died early today in nearby St. Catharines General Hospital of a shotgun wound in the stomach.

Her husband, Elgin, also about 48, is in poor condition in the same hospital with bullet wounds in his shoulder and head.

Col. Reginald Bass of the provincial police here said Bradley will almost certainly be charged with murder if he survives.

"I can't see how the charge can be anything but one of murder," he said.

Bradley was shot down near his home after holding a dozen police at bay with a shotgun.

WIFE CALLED, POLICE

Police said they received a telephone call from Mrs. Bradley at 10:30 p. m., reporting her husband was "up to no good with a shotgun and says he'll shoot any policeman who tries to get near him."

Cpl. Bass and Constable Andy Thompson went to the Bradley home and spotted a man on a neighboring lawn with a gun in his hands. Inside the house they found Mrs. Bradley on the dining room floor with a gun wound in the stomach.

She was taken to hospital and a police search started for Bradley.

Within minutes the armed man was sighted on the stone steps of the North Ward public school on Spruce Street and about 12 police surrounded him and started closing in, exchanging shots.

FROM BEHIND

The man suddenly dashed across the street and sprawled behind a hedge on the house's lawn. Police said he raised himself from time to time and fired. About a dozen shots each were fired by the fugitive and police.

Finally the gunman stood up to run and was dropped by police bullets. One struck him in the shoulder and the second entered his mouth and passed out through the back. The gun battle ended at about 11 p. m. Three hours later Mrs. Bradley died in hospital.

Police said they have no explanations for the shooting of Bradley, a hitherto quiet worker with the Brantford Felt and Paper Company here. The Bradleys were childless.

Prime Minister Nehru Begins Top-Level Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Nehru of India begins a round of top-level talks with Canadian government leaders today on the uneasy state of world affairs.

For these discussions with Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson he has already set the tone. He expressed the hope, on his arrival Friday night, for increased Canadian-Indian co-operation in the furtherance of world peace and fellowship.

It was a hope that Mr. St. Laurent said is shared by Canada.

From his Government House headquarters, where he is guest of Governor-General Massey, Mr. Nehru goes to Mr. St. Laurent's east block office this an hour and 20 minutes of talks today.

WITH PEARSON SUNDAY

Private talks with Mr. Pearson are slated for Sunday, a few hours before Mr. Nehru takes off at 7:30 p.m. EST for London in President Eisenhower's private plane, Columbine III.

In between, the Indian prime minister will attend a reception at the home of the Indian high commissioner to Canada, Dr. B. A. Hurl, and will appear on a CBC television program, Citizen's Forum.

Otto John Given Four Years on Treason Charge

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) —Otto John, former West German intelligence chief, was sentenced to four years in prison today for treasonable relations with the Communists during his 10-month stay behind the Iron Curtain.

The sentence was announced by the federal Supreme Court here after a six-week trial.

Seven witnesses were heard in the trial that climaxed West Germany's most spectacular Cold War scandal. John claimed repeatedly that he was drugged and taken across the border into East Berlin on July 20, 1954.

The prosecution had asked a prison term of not more than two years for the 47-year-old John. The 18-month period he spent in pre-trial custody was ordered deducted from the sentence. The five-man Supreme Court, trial costs, estimated at $10,000, must be borne by John.

John returned from Communist East Germany Dec. 12, 1955.

He was charged with treasonable relations with the East, revealing official West German secrets to the Communists and making anti-West propaganda while in East Germany.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: The weather continues mild over Southern Ontario with rain or fog in southwestern counties. Decidedly colder weather prevails over Northern Ontario and is spreading slowly southward.

A series of weak disturbances is moving from the central United States passing towards the lower Great Lakes. These will cause occasional rain in Southwestern Ontario today and Sunday while a band of snow and freezing rain will cover Central Ontario and there will be occasional snow in northern sections of the province.

Present conditions suggests the possibility of a fairly heavy snowfall on Sunday in Central Ontario.

NEARLY 50 OIL CREWS ACTIVE IN NORTH CANADA

15 Major and Minor Companies in Area

CALGARY (CP) — As winter tightens its grip on Northern Canada, oil activity is swinging into high gear throughout a 180,000-square-mile area of wilderness which laps over northern British Columbia and Alberta surrounding Great Slave Lake.

Summer's spongy muskeg has stiffened with the cold. Hundreds of heavy trucks are rolling drilling rigs and oil explorers into the country that stretches down from the Northwest Territories and oil men say this winter will be the busiest in the north.

From 30 to 50 exploring crews, each costing more than $50,000 a month to keep in operation, will spearhead the northern activity of nearly 50 such crews minor oil companies in the region.

About 15 rotary drilling rigs, each with an initial capital expenditure of between $100,000 and $150,000, will stab wells from 3,000 to 15,000 feet deep.

WORK AGAINST TIME

More than 15 gravimeter exploring crews are expected to operate mainly north from railway-end centered, lonely camps.

All crews will work against time in the bitter cold in a race with the spring thaw. When the muskeg melts into soup they must halt transportation halts.

Temperatures already have dipped to 40 degrees below zero. Despite the oilman's welcome of the north, said Friday when temperatures drop lower than 50 below zero, drilling becomes hazardous and crack. Severe cold also makes it difficult for men to work.

"The hazards are plentiful. Weather hampers radio communication, and equipment cakes and expanding crews.

Where drilling is to be done in remote areas, roads have to be built. Rough roads have load of strengthened and wheeled trucks to move in one operation.

EXPENSIVE OPERATION

Exploration oil official said oil wells cost from $90,000 to $350,000 a hole to drill. A drilling site for a thirty-foot well requires almost 150 truck loads of equipment, supplies, food, accommodation, tools and radio material.

Once the heavy equipment is moved in, it usually stays until the following winter if a strike is made. But if oil is going through the summer, rents run as high as $800 a day. Then a company does not "strike it rich," equipment is loaded back on trucks and carted out of the northern muskeg before spring.

A Shell Oil executive said "much more" than $50,000,000 will be spent by several companies this winter as the oil industry folds back a potentially rich wasteland.

Last of Anglo-French Force Ready to Pull Out of Egypt

PORT SAID (CP)—The last of the British and French forces are expected to leave Egypt today—just short of eight weeks after their ill-fated military venture began.

Final obstacles to their departure seemingly were removed by an exchange of prisoners and announcement that the British salvage fleet will remain here "as volunteers" to help clear the Suez Canal under direction by the United Nations.

Reliable sources in Port Said said the withdrawal would be completed during the day. UN police troops have taken over occupation of the city's governor's building and it back to Egyptian authorities as soon as possible.

The announced purpose of the British-French operation, begun Oct. 31, was to separate the Egyptian and Israeli troops then fighting on the Sinai Peninsula in the east, and protect the vital waterway from the hostilities. Britain and France had been pressing for international control of the canal, nationalized by Egypt July 26.

Israel now is going slowly in giving up the Sinai Desert between her border and the canal. The British government-in-creased its estimate of Egyptians killed in the Port Said-Port Fuad invasion to 750. The Egyptian government has estimated that 2,000 Egyptians were killed.

The prisoners exchange at El Cap, on the cease-fire line 22 miles south of here, was under the direction of the UN Emergency Force.

A train carrying 472 British subjects from Cairo and another with 337 Egyptian soldiers and civilians from Port Said met at the cease-fire line. The Britons were employees of contractors and engineers who had abandoned the Suez Canal Zone military installations after the British withdrawal earlier this year.

Rev. Francis Patrick Maher, an Irish-born chaplain to the contractors, said the Egyptians put him in solitary confinement for two weeks.

Norman Davis, a schoolmaster with the contractors, said that for a while the internees were crowded into two rooms in a police barracks and were kept without food or drink for 36 hours.

Crews on British navy ships in Port Said harbor slept by their guns during the night after Egyptian guerillas had opened up in their direction with rifle and machine-gun fire.

Tracer bullets from Port Said's fort arched high into the night sky and spent bullets spattered harmlessly into the water around the ships. Loudspeakers on the naval ships put crews on the alert, warning anti-riot squads to stand by. Ships closest to the shore closed all shoreside portholes.

Unmailed Letter Apparent Clue To Shooting in Home of Girl

CINCINNATI (AP) — An unmailed letter addressed to the daughter of a prominent Cincinnati family was the apparent key, authorities said, to a shooting here Friday that resulted in the death of the daughter and her father and wounding of her mother and the 19-year-old letter writer.

The shootings took place in the fashionable home of Lester Barlow, president of the Drackett Products Co.

His wife, Helen, 50, has been on a since the shooting. And Susan's boy friend, Gordon Pape Jr., 19, has not reported any seriousness.

Sheriff's deputies said a letter was found in the boy's car, written to the girl. It was never mailed.

GIRL REPROACHED

The letter, investigators said, reproached the girl for breaking a "go steady" with him again.

It said, in part: "I have been going through hell ever since you took my ring off.

"You owe me some back to me and stop it. If you don't Sue, then I will release all the bad back dope. You have made these choices. Sue. You must choose one or the other."

The revolver found near the shooting belongs to Pape's father, an investment banker and president of the Dixie Outdoor Theatre Corp.

RCAF ADOPTS PLANE

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCAF has decided to adopt a version of the British Britannia for use in its air transport command, it was learned Friday. Canadair Ltd., Montreal, is already working on a version of the Britannia for RCAF long-range maritime reconnaissance.

Hamilton Man Found Shot to Death in Lane

HAMILTON (CP)—Larry Rose, 37-year-old steelworker, was found Friday night shot to death in a dark lane near his home. Police said the gun he may have been slain as he confronted an intruder at his back door. A trail of blood led to his home, where a window was broken in a kitchen door.

Bullet wounds were found in the chest and leg.

Mrs. Alberta Rose was reported out shopping at the time of the shooting and their children, a three-year-old boy and an infant girl, were asleep upstairs.

The body was found huddled near a garage at 10:15 p.m.

Police said they have been told when he met the intruder at the back door and then staggered into the lane in pursuit. They said the shooting occurred about an hour before the body was found.

SET CONFERENCE DATE

LONDON (Reuters) — A full-scale Anglo-Singapore conference will begin in London March 11 to negotiate the island crown colony's constitutional future, the British colonial office announced Friday night. Lim Yew Hock, chief minister of the island which has a population of 1,300,000, wants Britain to grant the crown colony complete internal self-government.

Largest Federal Surplus in Eight Years Predicted

Total for 8 Months Now $387,600,000

OTTAWA (CP) — The central government is looking to a $400,000,000 budgetary surplus for the current fiscal year, it would be the largest federal surplus in eight years.

Finance Minister Harris said Friday the government surplus rose in November by $46,548,000. This boosted the total for the first eight months of the fiscal year to $387,600,000, a sharp gain from the $146,564,000 in the similar period a year ago.

The budgetary surplus is well beyond the $113,000,000 forecast last April by Mr. Harris for the 12-month fiscal year ending March 31.

The finance minister's regular monthly statement showed a continuing heavy flow of revenue in November through individual, corporation and other tax collections. The rise in tax collections is reflecting a buoyant economy, far exceeded an increase in expenditures.

These rose in November to $368,452,000 from $340,166,000 a year ago. Expenditures for the eight months increased to $2,827,-187,000 from $2,698,320,000.

On the basis of current indications, he expects Mr. Harris will show an over-all surplus of between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000, the biggest since the $585,500,000 in 1948-49.

Tax revenues in November rose to $415,113,000 from $354,287,000 a year ago, increasing for the eight - month, April - November total to $3,224,927,000 from $2,713,-874,000.

Unsegregated Bus Service Accepted Quietly

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Buses rolled here in an air of uncertainty and tenseness, this Alabama city entered its first unsegregated bus service with a minimum of discomfort.

Only a few white passengers at both races who ride city buses Friday appeared unwilling to provoke disturbances over the newly ordered "first come first served" seating plan.

Police Chief G. J. Ruppenthal said no reports of incidents were made to his department, and no additional officers were pressed into service.

The only disturbance was 28½ cents in the Negro bus boycott which ended Friday, 381 days after it was started as a protest against segregation.

WOMAN SLUGGED

King said a Negro woman, Mrs. Janie Ruth Wilson, reported that she was slugged and shoved to the ground by a white youth as she boarded a bus. The police incident wasn't reported to the police.

The young minister, one of several Negro leaders who rode on buses Friday, said he was "satisfied by the "calm reasonableness" displayed by both races.

SEIZE CHRISTMAS STOCK

HAMILTON (CP) — Police raided a store Friday night, seizing 342 bottles of liquor and 200 pints of beer. No charges have been laid. Police said the liquor was worth about $3,000 at bootleg prices.

Crippled Plane Slides To Safety In Soapy Foam

Fire-Fighting Foam Spread As Airliner Circles 2 Hours

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Capital Airlines Flight 7, loaded to its maximum 44 Christmas-bound passengers and four crew members, slid to safety on a blanket of fire-fighting foam here Friday night with defective landing gear.

Crew members said the passengers reacted calmly to the threat of disaster.

A young mother prayed, using words of the Christmas carol Silent Night, and a male passenger worked a crossword puzzle but "wondered if it was worth finishing."

The four-engined, turbo - prop Viscount made the emergency landing after circling the Charlotte airfield for two hours as the pilot attempted to remedy the problem and burn up the highly flammable fuel.

SPREAD BLANKET

Meanwhile, on the field below the overcast, murky skies, ground crews worked hastily to spread a soapy foam blanket over half of the runway.

Mayor A. New York to Mobile, Ala., was scheduled to stop in Charlotte. When the Flight 7 pilot, Captain Corcoran, started to set the craft down, he discovered too much hydraulic pressure on the cylinder of his right wheel.

Corcoran, a veteran of 16 years with Capital, began to circle the field. He and stewardesses Eve Madsen, 25, and Helen Nagy, 23, told the passengers of the trouble and kept them informed of developments.

Mrs. Faye Wayne of New York, a passenger, said she decided to pray silently.

"All I could think of"—she recalled, "was Silent Night, Holy Night, all is calm, all is bright."

CHILD SLEPT

Her son, Hayden, 7, slept through it all.

Five children were among the 44 passengers.

Capt. Corcoran set the Viscount down with the defective right wheel first and the foam while the left and nose wheels ran on the runway. The plane was like a first experience with such a landing but he "slid in smooth as ever."

The passengers applauded his landing.

330 Accidents Within 12 Hours

MONTREAL (CP) — The city had 330 traffic accidents within 12 hours Friday, a police spokesman reported, and "everybody is apparently "went crazy."

The rivers were still drinking were the main causes, the spokesman said. Damage in accidents was heavy but most were minor, he said. But few persons were badly injured and no fatalities were reported.

Most accidents occurred during the evening as shoppers were heading home from Christmas buying.

"I've never seen anything like it and I've been on the force for years," said a police sergeant.

Widespread Blanket of Fog, Rain Disrupts Christmas Travel in U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — A widespread blanket of fog, rain and mist in much of the eastern half of the United States combined today to disrupt Christmas travel by air and highway travel.

The dismal weekend, which cut visibility in some areas to zero, created hazardous driving conditions.

The heaviest traffic of the season was expected during the long holiday weekend, and safety experts expressed fear of a record toll on the highways.

Cancellation or delays in air travel brought a new rush for unclaimed reservations on trains and also increased the travel on highways as the home-for-Christmas rush headed toward the weekend peak.

The 1,000-mile-square mass of fog that blanketed the midwest and northeast slowly eastward during the night stretching from central part of the country.

Fog So Thick' Plane 'Lost' While Grounded

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A four-engined military plane was lost Friday in the thick fog without leaving the ground.

A fire truck sent to find the plane, being tested on a lighted runway, also became lost. The control tower lost all radio contact with the plane, which finally was "rescued" by a worker. Carrying a powerful light, he guided his way to the truck and led it to the plane.

Weary Delegates To UN Commence Christmas Recess

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Weary United Nations delegates began the Christmas recess after arguing into the night on issues in the Middle East and other unfinished business.

The latest round on the Middle East ended on an uncertain note when Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold announced that Israel has planned a partial withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula by Jan. 10, but that he could not say when all Israeli forces would be out of the area.

Hammarskjold spoke in reply to demands by Jordan and other Arab delegates as to how fast the Israelis were pulling out.

The Middle East dispute was revived when France brought fresh charges before the General Assembly that Egypt had mistreated and deported French nationals.

LAUNCH DEBATE

The Arabs quickly launched a full-scale attack on the whole Middle Eastern situation.

Hammarskjold had tried all week to head off the squabble, asking the Assembly and Egypt to hold back the charges on their nationals for fear it would spark another Middle East crisis in the dispute.

Israel's Abba Eban added to the dispute by accusing Egypt of deporting Jews of various citizenships.

A parade of Arab speakers accused Israel of "aggression" or "violation" with Israel in the invasion of Egypt.

Egypt charged that the Israelis had perpetrated the "ugliest act of the century" during the attack on Egypt, and called on Hammarskjold to report as soon as possible on how far Israel has pulled back toward the 1949 armistice lines.

RUSSIAN COMMENT

Russia's Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily V. Kuznetsov jumped into the squabble, declaring that the Western powers were conducting a slander campaign the assembly should reject.

BURLINGTON (CP) — A 100-pound invalid, Miss Edna Giddings, 50, grappled with four masked armed bandits Friday night and finally broke a window, screamed for help and forced them to flee empty-handed.

The stocking - masked men knocked on the door of a home belonging to the widow of a wealthy furrier, Mrs. Harry Giddings, 7, saying: "Here are your flowers."

Then the men pushed into the house, in this town just east of Hamilton, forcing the house keeper, Mrs. Mae Edwards, 75, into her upstairs bedroom closet, blocking it with a dresser.

Miss Giddings, Mrs. Giddings' sister-in-law, was resting in bedroom when she heard Mrs. Edwards cry. One of the men, carrying a pistol, entered her room and shouted, "Where's the money?" She rushed to him and tried to tear his mask off. He broke away and ran out of the house.

Burlington 100-Pound Invalid Woman Routs Four Masked, Armed Bandits

Miss Giddings then smashed the window in the door of a bedroom.

George Karbanek was attending a party across the street when he heard her shout. He called police. He said he saw two cars pull away from the Giddings home.

Mrs. Giddings was working in the kitchen and was unaware of the robbery attempt. She is the widow of the founder of a South-ern Ontario fur store chain.

Parcels Coming To Belleville Lost in Fire

TORONTO (CP) — Fire raced through a wooden shed on the Toronto to Belleville Railway siding in downtown Toronto Friday night, causing an adjoining shed and burned up many packages addressed to eastern Ontario points.

The Toronto fire department said the blaze was believed caused by a careless smoker. They said damage to the wooden shed and the parcels amounted at $10,000. There was no estimate of damage to the packages, many addressed to Belleville, Brockville and Smiths Falls.

Snow Prospects Not Favorable

LONDON (Reuters) — Temperatures slipped overnight in Britain. Britain wondered whether a "white Christmas" was coming. There have been only two in the last 50 years — 1938 and 1956.

Forecasters said conditions remained nonconmmital about snow prospects.

Roads in northern England today were ice-coated in some areas, and fog lingered around industrial centres, but was clearing in the south.

POUND OFFICIALS WANT HOMES FOR SIX DOGS

Homes before Christmas are being sought by local dog pound officials for the six dogs brought in during the past two days.

In the pound are a male gold retriever; a wire-haired black and white terrier; a black and white female and terrier puppy with a pointed nose; a male Manchester terrier; a male black and tan part collie and black and tan part police and terrier.

A suggestion on the part of pound officials: get the dog before Christmas and get the tag next year.

CROW IS SEEN ON STATION STREET

Could spring be just around the corner? While going to work this morning and waiting for a bus near St. George's Church on Station Street, Mrs. R. D. Rodgers heard a strange noise and looking up in a tree she saw a crow sitting happily on the branches. Something must have disturbed the bird because it took wing and headed north. It is colder up there.

On the Stratford board 815 colored and 346 special cheese were offered with 77 colored and 139 specials being held over. Price was from 34c to 34 1-8c.

Next meeting of the cheese exchanges, both at Kingston and at Stratford will be on January third.

NO MAIL DELIVERY ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Christmas Day will be a holiday for city letter carriers and also for those in the rural districts, with no deliveries of mail being scheduled, it was reported today by Postmaster L. E. Massey.

Timely Request Made by Chief

The Christmas spirit is a fine thing, but don't let the Yuletide enthusiasm carry you too far.

That is the timely request of Police Chief Walter Probert who asks that householders refrain from offering alcoholic beverages to deliverymen making their rounds with deliveries of parcels.

"One drink may seem innocent enough, but a drink here and there soon adds up to proportions likely to affect the driver's driving ability and set the stage for an accident," the chief noted.

Heavy Offering Of Turkeys on Local Market

King Turkey was supreme on the local farmers' market this morning with a heavy offering of the No. 1 fare on the Christmas dinner table.

And with a generally plentiful supply of turkeys throughout the district the price was not lower than usual - a feature which is acceptable to pocketbooks now being severely depleted.

Fully drawn turkeys were available at 55c per lb. for birds weighing over 18 pounds, while for the "under 18" birds a price of 60c per lb. was quoted.

That is the general price but the careful shopper could do better.

Fifty cents per lb. was also the general price asked for fully dressed geese and ducks, but here again the odd vendor was quoting a slightly lower figure. Spoon fed chickens and mature fowl at 45c per lb.

Christmas trees were also in plentiful supply with prices generally ranging from $1 to $2.50 with up to $5 being asked for large trees.

On the inside market eggs sold at the same price as last week with extra large bringing 55c, firsts 48c, mediums 45c, and putlets' eggs 35c per dozen.

Vegetables were also quoted at last week's prices, with carrots 5c per bag and celery 5c per half peck; onions 50c for a half gallon, and potatoes $2 per bag or 50 lbs. Apples from Taylor and Delhogue apples brought 54 per hamper for those up to 80 and sold for $3.50. McIntosh ranged from $2.50 to $3.50 and Talman Sweets sold at $3.50 per hamper.

Canada Cement Workers Given Christmas Turkeys

Company appreciation for a fourth consecutive year of accident-free workers received Christmas turkeys.

At the close of the afternoon working shift employees gathered in their new recreation hall where they heard best wishes from the company and in turn made presentations to plant officials.

Plant manager J. H. Legate, extended best Christmas wishes to employees, as did plant superintendent Al Drydale who also complimented workers for their record as of December 1st of 1,445 days, and 2,754,434 hours since a lost time accident.

The turkeys are presented to the workers for going a year without a lost time accident.

Also heard briefly was Art Wheeldon, retiring Lieutenant, Local 219 of the United Cement, Lime and Gypsum Workers, A.F. of L. Assistant superintendent Bill Cameron acted as chairman.

Union workers made presentations to Mr. Legate, Mr. Drydale, Mr. Cameron and Nels Davis, office clerk.

A Christmas message in song and music was brought to the workers by Captain and Mrs. Cleavay of the Salvation Army.

Toys Distributed To Children At Hospital

Santa came late this year for the kiddies in the pediatrics ward at Belleville General Hospital.

Ordinarily Santa visits the small patients in the hospital immediately after the annual Santa Claus parade but this year pediatrics was quarantined at the time of the parade and with a heavy schedule ahead even Santa couldn't risk the chance of infection.

So his visit to the hospital was postponed.

But yesterday was the big day, and Old St. Nicholas, together with several clowns and Fire Chief Gerald Vance, visited the 15 kiddies in hospital distributing toys and gifts of candy.

The hospital visit of Santa was arranged through the fire department and the Santa Claus parade committee.

Police Blotter

City and provincial police reported a quiet Friday night today and both departments hope drivers will obey the simple rules of the road during the onrushing festive season.

The city force investigated a few minor accidents yesterday which didn't cause any injuries and only slight damage to the vehicles involved. A shopper yesterday put a bag of groceries on the sidewalk and went into a billiard parlor presumably to shoot a game. When he came out he found his parcel was missing. Two other gentlemen reported their cars stolen but a short while later notified the constabulary that they had found them where they were originally parked. And two other chaps who started the Yuletide celebrations somewhat prematurely were picked up by city police in an intoxicated condition.

France to Celebrate Christmas In Rising Prices, Gas Shortage

PARIS (Reuters)—France will celebrate Christmas with traditional feasting and merrymaking despite the shadow which rising prices and the gasoline shortage may cast over this year's celebrations.

Traditionally, French families sit down to their Christmas meal, the reveillon, after midnight mass, in the early hours of Christmas morning. Many families keep up the feasting, traditionally in their own homes, for several days after the rest of Christmas Day is spent quietly.

Although some food prices are higher this year than last, family tables will be spread with the traditional oysters and pate, fish, turkey, fruit, nuts and cake.

TRAVEL RESTRICTED

Gasoline restrictions may prevent many family reunions this year. Those who indulged in the drive to the country to spend the holiday with friends and relatives. They will either have to cancel their journeys or take the train, which may be considerably more expensive.

As Christmas Day approaches, excitement has already commenced in the bigger Paris stores. The taste of the French child of 1956 appears to be moving away from the lead soldier and the celluloid doll and the toy locomotive, to television sets for boys, miniature kitchen utensils for girls.

Paris will spend more than last year. An official of one store estimated that the increase is about three per cent.

In neighboring Belgium, shop assistants in speaking less lavishly than year than usual.

The main reason is that Roman Catholic organizations appealed to their members, who make up about half the population of Belgium, to give a proportion of the money they would have spent on Christmas celebrations to suffering fellow Catholics in Hungary.

John Chisholm To Head New Metro Police

TORONTO (CP) — Chief Constable John Chisholm, who first pounded a Toronto beat 36 years ago, says he'll set to become the first Metropolitan Toronto police chief Jan. 1.

He met Friday with the Metropolitan board of police commissioners and the final 1956 meeting and said all is ready for the amalgamation New Year's Day of the police forces of the City of Toronto and the 12 municipalities that make up the Metropolitan Toronto.

Chisholm, 59, has been Toronto city's police chief since 1946.

His new command will number 2,500 police from the city, from the towns of Leaside, Mimico, New Toronto and Weston, the villages of Forest Hill, Long Branch and Swansea and five municipalities — Etobicoke, Scarborough, York, East York and North York.

Chief Chisholm has long advocated a unified police force for the greater Toronto area, which covers about 240 square miles and embraces more than 1,204,360 persons.

In 1950 he told the Ontario municipal board that 13 separate forces hampered both crime prevention and detection and produced confusion, duplication and waste.

The changeover will take time. For a while many policemen will wear a variety of uniforms but all will wear common shoulder flashes identifying the new Metro force. Work is under way to convert radio car radios to a common metro frequency.

Yule 'Angels' Frighten Man After Operation

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) —The Christmas pageant here gave one serviceman the shock of a lifetime.

The annual pageant was put on by the Fairbanks high school choir at the Ladd air force base hospital. It had among its performers a group of girls dressed in angel costumes.

The girls were walking down the corridor when a serviceman patient was wheeled out of the operating room still feeling the effects of the anesthetic. The still-dazed patient saw the "angels" coming for him and cried in fright: "Good heavens, I'm dead."

Judicial Probe Will Be Asked By City Council

TORONTO (CP)—City council Friday night decided Monday or Tuesday to consider asking the Ontario government for a judicial investigation into the city's building situation in the city during the last 10 years.

A new Metropolitan Toronto licensing commission takes over the taxi licence issuing job from the city police commission and would be responsible for weeding out the incompetent and bootlegging in the licences in the past years.

The police commission has called a public meeting for Monday night to investigate charges with information concerning irregularities in taxi licensing. There were reports that licences normally sold for $15 have been resold for as much as $2,000.

Earlier Friday Mayor Phillips of Toronto set out on short his Nassau vacation after Alderman William Dennison accused him of "running out on the biggest mess in his administration." Alderman Dennison made the statement council meeting Friday with a petition signed by 14 of the 24 council members. Th ae special meeting was called by the city clerk.

Three Youths Charged With Armed Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Three youths were charged with armed robbery Friday night after a paper company holdup in which a man was stabbed.

Police said one of the accused was arrested after being lured up and robbed by two youths armed with a gun and a knife. He was charged after police found one of the other accused at his home.

Police said Barrie Sable, 23, grandson of the owner of Canadian Paper and Specialty Co., was taken to hospital with knife wounds. His condition was reported fair.

Police said they identified the two youths as Joseph Boyer, 19, Ian Muir, 17, and Richard Nicholson, 19, all of Toronto.

Police said the victims were ordered by the youths to line up against the wall at shift-changing time and hand over their money, about $500.

Plant owner Joseph Seigel, 63, Sable and Nicholson were reported among the three robbed.

Police said Muir was arrested in a lane near the plant when constables fired warning shots at a running youth. Police charged Nicholson later when they arrested Boyer at Nicholson's home a few blocks from the plant.

Cubs Entertain Parents at the Public School with Attendance Prizes

STERLING — On Monday evening the Cubs entertained their parents at a Christmas party in the public school with approximately 75 parents in attendance.

PROGRAM

Mrs. Joe Irish, Scoutmaster, led in a sing-song of Christmas carols, with Mrs. Burton Woodcock officiating at the piano.

Mr. K. P. Meyhew, chairman of the Local Cub committee, was master of ceremonies for the program and extended a hearty welcome to all.

John Murray gave a "Welcome Number" and Doug Holt, "Grandpa's Gift." The Cubs sang "Christmas Bells" and other appropriate selections; Robert Vandervoort, "Treat for the Birds," and Hankie Keunlie, "The Littlest Boy"; Bob Bell and Deonie Armstrong delighted with a trumpet duet; Gordon Sine recited, "Small Boy's Packet," and David Murray "If Santa Lived in a Shoe." Miss Barbara Woodbeck constituted a dance number.

The Cubs presented two short plays entitled "Let's Make a Santa," and "I'd Like to be a Santa Claus."

Bob Bell gave "Star Guide," and Murray Rodgers "A Gift for My Best Girl."

David and Steve Cooke rendered "What Bobbie Would Do."

Mrs. William Wilkins, known as "Kim" to the Cubs, told an interesting Christmas story.

Dennis Towns gave "Christmas Routine," followed by the Cubs who presented a play in unison, "Christmas Socks" and "This Little Candlelight of Mine."

Miles McDonell gave the closing "Good Night" selection.

An unknown Santa arrived and each boy received a small gift and a bag of candy. The group of Cubs had an enjoyable Christmas party.

The leaders of the Cubs were most appreciative of the co-operation of the parents, to whom was extended Christmas greetings, also to those who were unable to attend.

BIRTHS

TOMASO. — Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Tomaso, Lemoine Street, wish to announce the birth of a baby daughter, Linda Carol, at the Belleville General Hospital, on Thursday, December 20th, 1956.

IN MEMORIAM

McKENZIE. — In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, who passed away December 23rd, 1953.
Sleep on dear father, sleep in peace
Upright and just to the end of his days
Sincere and true in his heart and mind
Generous and kind
Ever remembered by daughter Violet McKenzie.

McKENZIE. — In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, who passed away December 23rd, 1953.
Sweet memories are all I have
Years of striving, little of joy,
Then God said, "Come home with me, my boy."

A cheerful smile, a heart of gold,
To the dearest dad and grandad the world could hold
Happy memories must remain true,
There's no wish beyond the world of Number"
You left us quietly, your thoughts unspoken
But you left a memory we are proud to keep Sadly missed by Pearl, Archie and Donald.

McKENZIE. — In loving memory of a dear father, Robert McKenzie, who passed away December 23rd, 1953.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Tears of sorrow are in our eyes,
Though you died three years ago,
We think of you every day.
Ever remembered by son Alvin and daughter-in-law Mary.

GOODING. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, who passed away December 23rd, 1955.
While I stand I give it a passing glance,
While I kneel I pray for you;
But best of all I will remember you
Is when I sit and talk to you awhile,
Remembrances are all I have left now.
Of a holiday I loved and will never forget.
—Loving and ever remembered by wife Pearl.

GOODING. — In loving memory of a dear father, Myrtle Gooding, who passed away December 24th, 1955.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
The pain we bore for night or day
But not too far for thought to reach,
A heart we cherished him who rests there
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Lovingly and ever remembered by daughter Marion, son-in-law Burton and grandson Ron.

WHITE. — In loving memory of a dear father, Harry Wesley Burley, who passed away December 23rd, 1948.
There's never a day passes,
But our thoughts reach out to you;
Never a day that we don't miss you,
But we wish you could share it too.
We miss your comforting love, your loving ways,
Please God, just let him know;
That we dream here on our knees.
We loved and miss him so.
—Sadly missed by son Harry, Goldie and grandchildren Shirley and Ronald.

A Lift for Living

The True Spirit of Christmas

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

In a beautiful church my attention was called some time ago to a children's door. At the side of the main entrance to the sanctuary was a door cut to the scale of a child's size. The symbolism is most suggestive. A door which all can open, which seems designed to fit him, is a most appealing entrance to the place where worship is offered. Him who said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

At Christmas we all feel we should like to enter the church through the children's door. Christmas is the red-letter day of childhood. We never forget the glow of our earliest Christmas experiences. The expectancy which quickened our pulse in the days preceding and even crept into our dreams; the mysterious bringer of gifts darting in the darkness of the night before Christmas; the surprises and shouts and parties when the day finally came—all these come back to us across the years.

In that atmosphere of childhood the beautiful stories of the Nativity seemed perfectly at home. The shepherds and the heavenly chorus, the Wise Men bringing their gifts to Bethlehem, the manger and the gentle oxen, the wondering mother and the adorable Child—these pictures were woven inextricably into the texture of our childhood thinking. If there is one time in the year when we would like to turn back the pages and become a child again, it is at Christmas. There is a perennial spark of youth in all of us and blessed are the occasions which fan it into flame.

Nevertheless, while the children's door is open and through it we might like to re-enter the Christmas scene, I am going to ask you through the adult door with the Wise Men. According to the Gospel story, they came out of the east nameless and unexplained. Let them go back as they came, slipping silently across the desert. Let them just keep the Gospel's simple label, "Wise Men." For the question they put and the homage they rendered were typical of the wisest men in the centuries since.

They came asking, "Where is He that is born King of the Jews?" The first answer was found in Bethlehem. The life of Jesus has been subjected to more critical study than any other in all history. The basic facts of His earthly career are established beyond serious doubt. Born in Bethlehem, reared in a carpenter shop at Nazareth, preaching His gospel throughout Galilee, calling a few peasants to be His disciples, healing the sick, rising to the heights of popularity, then heading into the stronghold of His critics at Jerusalem, arrested, tried before Pontius Pilate, crucified, dead, buried, then on the third day convincing His followers He had triumphed over death—such is the historic setting in which we find Jesus.

But if we would fully find the mysterious Person, we must look beyond—the historic Figure of little Palestine. If that were all there was to Jesus, He might have been born in His day, but there would be no reports, of sermons about Him in the papers next week.

SHORT MEMORIES

Mere historic events which take place only once are soon forgotten. Some years ago Professor Eddington compiled some interesting statistics on our speed of forgetting. He said in 20 minutes, we forget 41 per cent of what happened; in one hour, 55 per cent; in one day, 66 per cent; and in a month, 78 per cent. I do not know how he reached those figures and I do not vouch for them. If they were absolutely accurate they would certainly be disconcerting to us of the pulpit. We would know that by the time a church service is over our congregation would have forgotten half of what we said!

At any rate, we are aware how quickly we forget. But consider by contrast the marvel of Jesus' memorableness. What other person's birthday has stirred the hearts of millions around the world for so many centuries? What other person's mysterious end could provide a drama which can be re-enacted decade after decade as is done in the Passion Play at Oberammergau?

Do you see it is the organized perpetuation of the Christmas and Easter festivals which keeps Christ in the memory of the world? And that, then you are faced with the more difficult puzzle of accounting for the rise and continuance of the Christian Church. It is not the Church which keeps Christ alive: it is Christ who keeps the Church alive.

Christ lives because He is the Eternal Contemporary. Mention any other historic figure—Shakespeare, Washington, Lincoln—and our minds look back to recall them. But Christ is right beside us. His spirit can be in our hearts. His presence can be felt in the joy with which we give our Christmas presents.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WINIFRED E. WILSON

BIRDS AT CHRISTMAS

Which birds you see at Christmas time depends largely upon the locality of your home. There will be the usual few that summered with you, and others that come regularly from northern nesting grounds once extreme cold and snow are too much for them there, as well as the irregular visitors, which wander hither and thither, but might just happen to spend Christmas with you. These last are for the most part quite colorful, very attractive to look at, although, naturally, they cannot be expected to sing at this season.

Unless it be in that little section of Ontario which stretches between Lakes Huron and Erie down into the heart of the U.S., by Christmas the birds which require a diet of flying insects and those that depend entirely upon fish have flown to a more congenial climate. However, we still see the owls that cast about in swamps, as herring gulls; those that like tubers, stems of leaves of pondweeds and wild celery, as goldeneye ducks; gleaners of the seeds to be found in the bark of trees, as nuthatches; berry eaters, as waxwings; predators, as barred owls; and the seed eaters, which make up the large majority of the birds we come across in winter.

You cannot exactly keep on hand supplies of bark insects, rats and mice, but there are certain foods which can be made ready for some birds. Suet attached to a tree trunk is extremely enticing to many kinds in winter, most especially to chickadees; sunflower and canary seeds sprinkled on a feeding tray anchored to your window-sill draw the cold fusco, pink-finch, or even a song sparrow that may have missed the autumn exodus. Peanut butter tempts various types.

But the majority of the bright colored gypsies are attracted by berries and seeds of trees and shrubs that you should have planted long ago in preparation. Evening grosbeaks, stately birds in yellow, black, and white attire, are sure to visit any Manitoba maple once they are later, because the dangling seeds of this tree are their favorite food. Pine grosbeaks favor mountain ash and sumach trees because of their berries or fruit. These are truly lovely birds to see, the males a rosy red, the females a soft grey with a rusty yellow suffusion in parts. Crossbills, with the red crossbill with his greenish yellow mate and the white-winged, similar, but with a more pinkish tinge and white wing bars, come to coniferous trees. They are adept at breaking open the cones with their crossed bills and extracting the seeds.

Now give the birds a Christmas treat with your left-over suet, suts, raisins, cranberries, and apple cores.

Christmas Concert

RIVERSIDE SCHOOL S.S. 17

FRANKFORD.— The Christmas program for S.S. 17, Sidney Riverside school was held in the school on December 17. The two opening choruses were sung by the school, "An Old English Carol" and a "Carol for Christmas". All joined in "Away in the Manger".

Recitation "Little Star," by Ruth McCumber; song by the Junior Juniors, "Up on the Housetop"; play called, "Concert Rehearsals" by the senior members of the school; recitation "Now and Then" by Donald Rose; two-part song by the Seniors, "Joy Bells Ring"; recitation "A Confession" by Shirley Howes; song and drill by the Junior boys "March of the Wooden Soldiers"; recitation by Judy Weese, "A Good Child"; play, "Advice to the Lovelorn" by the senior members of the school; song, "Mustard Plaster"; an acrobatic, "Ten Little Stockings", by ten Junior pupils; a duet, "Joseph and Mary," by Misses Shirley Howes and Ruth McCumber; accordion music by Miss B. Wannamaker and the closing songs by the school of "Santa Claus Comes" and "Here Comes Santa Claus" were all enjoyed.

POPULAR RESIDENT

ABRAM'S RIVER, N.S. (CP)— Many visitors came when Mrs. Ernie Le Blanc celebrated her 101st birthday here. Oldest citizen of Yarmouth county, she is the mother of 15 children, of whom seven are living.

OLYMPIC AFTERMATH

Now that the Olympic Games are over, the customary post-mortems are being held in all countries, with the probable exception of Soviet Russia. The Russians, having won only won more gold medals than any other country but also having finished first in the unofficial point-scoring total, are probably quite content. Even if they were not, it is not a land where too much time is spent over inquiry into the cause of death.

In the U.S., though, where the Olympics have come to be considered as a quadrinennial opportunity for parading proof of the superiority of the American way of life, there is much head-shaking. Amongst the suggestions have been a change in rules governing the gymnastic events in which the Russians excel should not be considered on a par with track and field events. The Ogdensburg Journal takes issue with this criticism. "Only children try to change the rules when they cannot win the game," it says. "If it's a must that we win the Olympics, the way to do it is to take more interest in gymnastics, not to change the rules which nobody else is good. Beating them at their own game would seem more American-like than changing the rules because we didn't win."

If Games like this were the only ones raised in the post-mortems, the matter could be left to the sports pages. However, here in Canada there have been criticisms with wider implications. Jim Worsfold of Toronto, who managed the Canadian team, has stated that federal and provincial governments should take a more active role in providing sports facilities and setting up a national fitness program.

This is another suggestion that the best thing to do is to attempt to "beat them at their own game." But here too much more is at stake than in the suggestion advanced by the Ogdensburg paper for the U.S. to pay more attention to gymnastics.

In the first place, it would appear that a nation can be fit without producing the best athletes in the world and, conversely, that it might be possible to produce the best athletes without attempting "physical fitness." The two things ought not to be linked in this manner. Secondly, just because state-subsidization of athletes produced a winning team for Russia does not mean that Canada should tread the same path. We ought to consider the price, as well as the product. It would be gratifying to see Canadians dominating the next Olympic Games, but there are still many other areas in which Canada's athletics are held in which "private enterprise" is preferable, even if it means losing to a state-subsidized team.

Lastly, let us refer for a moment to the contention that the Russian victory at the Olympics represents a defeat for the free world. We refuse to believe that it greatly enhances Russia's prestige. It shows that not all Russians are starving to death, but the picture of a poverty-stricken Soviet Union is out-dated. The Russians are poor by our standards, but they are wealthy by the standards of much of the world. The keen gymnastics will do nothing to strengthen the Russian case in those areas where the Communists are fighting the West for men's minds. The fact that a Russian can run faster, in certain distance, than any athlete in the West is not going to make the Hungarians willing to accept the Russian yoke, is not going to convince a peasant in Asia of the superiority of the Communist system. The supremacy in the field of athletics brought automatic acceptance of the political convictions of the winning athletes, the whole world would long ago have accepted the American republican version of democracy.

PROBLEM FOR THE ARABS

The report that the oil-producing countries throughout the world are planning to step up their output, largely as the result of the Middle East situation, can hardly be termed surprising news.

It does serve, however, to focus our attention on the fact that even if the Suez Canal problem is settled in a manner which completely satisfies all the users, the pipe-users would be in a miracle—repercussions from Nasser's nationalization of the canal will be felt in Arab lands for many years to come.

Among the poverty-stricken countries of the world, the Arab nations enjoyed an unique and enviable opportunity. Their oil wealth if properly handled would have provided them with the necessary capital to assist in the difficult and complex task of lifting themselves by their boot-straps.

That opportunity may now be lost, for the oil-consuming nations of the world cannot afford to depend so heavily on an uncertain source of supply and the quarrel over Suez is not the only factor which makes industrial nations fear that the flow of oil from the Middle East might be suddenly interrupted.

The world's appetite for oil is so great, and increasing so rapidly, that even the most vigorous programs of expansion in other oil-producing areas would not rob the Middle East of a market for its oil eventually.

It is possible, though, that the Middle East crisis may delay for several years the opportunity for the Arab lands to improve the lot of their people.

If any comfort can be found in this situation, it is perhaps the fact that so little has been done to relieve the ruling cliques in most of these Arab countries are overly anxious to improve the lot of the peasantry. Perhaps, by the time that these oil firms regain confidence in the prospects for development of the Middle East fields, political developments will have occurred which will provide the poor of these lands with a greater chance of benefitting from the natural wealth of their homelands.

THE TESTS

From selfishness and pomp and pride
A brave man has to turn aside.
Endure life's various pains and aches
And laugh at blunders that he makes.

The Lord knew babies all would cry,
And when grown older, frown and sigh;
He knew, beyond the slightest doubt,
That some of us would sit and pout.

He wants us brave; He wants us strong
And wise enough to scorn the wrong.
He sent us down to live on earth
To face the tests and prove our worth.

Grouch's Letter to Santa

By I.M.S. in the Ottawa Journal

Heard a man say the other day that another fellow was so crabby he probably complained of last year's gifts when he wrote letters to Santa Claus.

At first hearing this sounded impossible. As Max Freedman once wrote of Mencken's frankness, "It does the woman in." This exceeds the permissible margin of error."

Yet as the day approaches, both timidly and the hocus more poorly Santa Claus does, some fix thing it's got to look a bit tawdry about the cuffs.

Not the man who can be so many places as he can, sneaking down chimneys without the frankness of soot on the beeman, must have some responsibility in the way the world is. And look at the world!

* * *

It's a free country isn't it? Take a letter to Santa Claus. I've got a list that'll singe his whiskers. Let's see if he reads it, cares about our troubles down here.

I'll have to hustle a bit though for I'm late. Slap it into an envelope bearing some of those Polar bear stamps. Muskox, that's the stamps and maybe it will catch the sled before it leaves.

* * *

I want peace and quiet; specially quiet.

I want to be able to think on one subject for more than a minute.

I want to be rescued from all the the-Liberals laid in the pipeline and to end a year in which its ears to the ground and its head high leaving no stone unturned.

* * *

Since it is rumored to be more blessed to give than to receive I'll settle for the latter, thanks.

All who say "g'bye now"; all who greet me by calling me "pal"; all who sneer at my taste in music; all who honk their horns without thinking; all plain citizens who think in terms of millions.

Ottawa people who think it smart to shop in Montreal or Toronto; Montrealers who think it a mark of rich of giving Swedish or American ice Persons; misfits and turn up their nose at anything "Made in Canada";

"Chaps" who after asking my opinion on Suez or Charlotte, and before I've given any, ask me do you really think"; other chaps who precede some pronouncement by "Come now" or "Do you ask my honest opinion?";

Drivers who smoke cigars in small spaces; women in slacks in the city; university students who think the public is paying for their independent mind is to dress like a local;

Motorboaters. Repeat, motorboaters.

* * *

And now if I may receive for a change, I'd like:

A television set; no earmuffs on a piece of wire;

Ink that'll let me renew my right not to read Time;

Good news from England; words that Shadow Cabinet will not be sickly arm and Bulgarin has bagged the Nobel prize for literature.

Indication that the public hasn't entirely forgotten the words of Shakespeare, Tennyson, Browning and Drew when certain people decided Parliament was a debating shop;

Health and togetherness in world affairs; the return of the governments of Canada, the United Kingdom and the United States after the coming crucial months;

Not a tied bow tie but I bow tie that I can't tie myself endangering other ties such as holy wedlock.

* * *

This Christmas there's an irksome thing around, Santa Claus, which I may as well be frank about. It's my temper. Can you give me anything for it that will enable me to see the following facts of life?

Manufacturers who make absurd automobiles which drag their long and expensive rears as unnecessary fins.

Painters, carpenters and most tradesmen who first rust will merely shrug their shoulders if you find they've loafed on the job and with an indifferent eye they'll tell you what you can do about it if you don't like it.

The store clerk who says he may have size 10 in the basement but is busy now; his sister behind the other counter who chews gum and says "You'll pay ask her if she knows where the furniture department is;

The plain ordinary you-and-me citizen who complains that his new glow or refrigerator or dozen oranges is faulty but "what's the use of taking it back, you'll just get into an argument."

The taxi driver who exposes you to the full blare of the company calls when you're driving home in exhaustion from office, chore or other—and so on.

Fact is, Santa, we're getting nerved about at the moment. But, as Islands take a long time to wrap and ship, while I'm still a paid-up member of this continent I may as well make up a kind of roster of people you should think kindly of, you and Jesus!

My dog Scamp, because he is never privileged otherwise.

Nasser, because he is an unmitigated nuisance and menace and in these uncertain days there is something to be said for anything that is unmitigated.

Grant Dexter and Vernon Kipp because almost alone they still write "the English" as it should be writ, sans frills, sans gimmicks, sans meander;

Tommy Burns and Dag Hammarskjold; Lester Pearson and Paul Speak—long may they do and think;

The new Canadians from Hungary out of whose momentary "a" of bloodshed there has widen...ent and, yes, homesickness;

Charlotte, for if there's one thing Parliament needs it is a consistent and troublesome thing to send her a seat therein;

Members of the External Affairs Department far afield in unglamorous places like Viet Nam, Egypt, Poland where there is no fishy that if I were a fish I'd be a flying fish—and my wife who, until you send that island, must live with me.

* * *

And oh yes, if you don't like the tone of this letter so what!

New Blows To Tradition

Montreal Gazette

At this time of year a certain number of children, of a certain age, are receiving a certain amount of some disillusionment. This year, the experience is not confined to children.

Two serious blows at long-treasured beliefs have been struck in one day. And the blows affect that land of traditions, England.

The first friends of the Princeton Library, in New Jersey, have published a facsimile edition of a book called "The Arte of Angling" which first appeared in England in 1577. It bears some remarkable resemblances to Izaak Walton's famous "The Complete Angler," which has made Walton's name immortal since its appearance in 1653.

One whole section of Walton's book, it is pointed out, follows the earlier volume "point by point, using most of the same words and phrases."

Meanwhile, in Sherwood Forest, the present Sheriff of Nottingham admits with sorrow that Robin Hood would have a difficult time hiding there now; the use of the forest in two wars has left only the deer. The new sheriff, at 57, feels he wouldn't have much trouble in getting Robin to Sherwood, now, and he wouldn't need a horse either.

In fact, Sheriff Roland Green has never been on a horse in his life. He's a yachtsman. And he describes himself as "a quiet sort of bloke."

However, this need not be taken as final. Izaak Walton was considered a quiet sort of bloke, too, and look what he was up to.

Find Equator Confuses Bees

Milwaukee Journal

Brazilian experiments show that bees of the northern hemisphere become confused and frustrated when they cross over the equator to the southern hemisphere.

Experiments have shown that bees have a mechanism that enables them to go unerringly to feeding grounds. They fix their course by the position of the sun. A sort of timing device compensates for the movement of the sun, keeping their "fix" constant.

In the northern hemisphere the sun moves clockwise. In the southern hemisphere it moves, as the British put it "anticlockwise." A northern bee can't compensate for this counter-clockwise movement and is constantly lost in the southern hemisphere. He flies off in the opposite direction to where he wants to go.

Wonder if this condition has human application. There are few leaders over the world who speak more highly of democracy and freedom than Latin American leaders. But there are few areas with more dictators. Could it be that politicians, like bees, get "lost in the sun" on the sun and get all mixed up in the southern hemisphere.

BRICKLAYERS

It is interesting to note how many noted writers were once bricklayers. Ben Jonson was a bricklayer. So was Allan Cunningham, Scottish poet and biographer of Burns. Hugh Miller, author and geologist, was a mason. Thomas Hood began as an architect. Sean O'Casey, author and playwright, was a carpenter. Bricklayer by trade. Nurmi, the great long-distance runner, was a stone mason.

Rex Beach whose books a few years back were among the best sellers, began as a lumber prospector and later a brick salesman. I am wondering if being a bricklayer has anything to do with literary forum, has something specially important to say so many have been an active member of the trade?

Every writer of distinguished ability seems to take great pride in the fact that he was once a bricklayer. I can understand this, for I once sold Kansas City bricks on a newspaper route in the streets of Ottawa, Kansas, where I was working my way through the college. A good many of my life has been devoted to the hunting out of interesting material for newspapers to run as features.

I knew a Governor of Kansas who was also a barber. And I had told to me the story of a man lawyer for James J. Hill who once shovelled snow from the streets of New York City, soon after he had graduated from college and the free! As a matter of fact, he and his pal both froze their feet.

To study "Who's Who" is very revealing. Most writers have been men and women of alert minds, and careful observers. I met there Irene Grant, the brilliant literary writer, who once taught in a mining camp near his birthplace after a wonderful record of five books written that would make anyone proud, has returned to that same school to be a teacher again by "popular request"!

The Favorite Narcotic

Whether Uncle Sam is required to specify how much of his income is from the manufacture and sale of booze, I don't know, but from time to time officials report that many arrests for drunkenness in the past year and from these statistics one can safely say that jail, hospital, and other costs in addition to normal police service, which every citizen pays for in order to maintain the freedom of addicts to indulge in their favorite narcotic — alcohol.

Let me say I'm not only a social abstainer but I am or can be as rabid about it as the addict is at the threat of being deprived of his regular supply.

I got this way, I think God, one day, and the W.C.T.U., because when I was a boy on Chapel Street in Canadaigua, motto, inspired by the W.C.T.U., asked my brothers and me to take the pledge but to use alcohol or tobacco before we were 21. Of course, we did as we were told. And, of course, we kept the pledge. Being so pledged made it easier, I'm sure, to say no when we were invited, dared or dared to smoke or drink.

Having practically no widespread smoking or drinking, we seemed content to worry along that way, until one day I came under the influence of a neighboring clergyman. But, I must remember, I was 26 years old and free to smoke if I wished. I mean to say tastidiousness had not yet developed to the point where I could not.

Anyway, I'm not only a teetotaler and a non-smoker but I'm also a rabid about it as the addict is at the threat of being deprived of his regular supply.

The Face on the Stamp

Father of the Postage Stamp

By NICHOLAS MIKA

Stamps have always held a fascination for people who study them closely, but there was a time when the little bits of sticky paper were considered utterly ridiculous. Today postage stamps not only serve the whole world, but collecting stamps is one of the most widespread hobbies. In the United States alone over sixteen million people are stamp collectors, or, as they call themselves, philatelists. Some of them invest their money in valuable issues of rare stamps, while others collect them merely because of their interest in design or the story they tell about culture and history. Wherever stamp collectors meet and whatever their reason may be, they become friends.

The tiny postage stamps have brought more people of different origins closer together than any movement of peace conferences of the past. There are stamps that show portraits of famous men such as inventors, scientists, painters and musicians. Other stamps display a hundred varieties of flowers, plants and animals. Stamps tell the story of industrial progress, of great sports events and many issues are sold for the benefit of the needy people in the world.

However, the greatest service of postage stamps it the fact, that with their invention for the first time poor people could send a letter. It began nearly a hundred and twenty years ago, when an English businessman suggested a drastic change in the postal system and began to fight for the penny rate on letters. His revolutionary idea was to have letters mailed prepaid at a rate of one penny at once—regardless of where it was going. And besides, he suggested to prepay each letter with a tiny piece of gummed paper adhered to the letter. To make it more effective and as a guard against forgery, it was to bear the portrait of Queen Victoria. This tiny piece of gummed paper that he had in mind was to be the first official postage stamp in the world. But before it finally went out on its triumphal conquest of the globe on May 1st, 1840, it took its inventor almost five years of bitter struggle with officials to have it accepted.

He published a pamphlet showing his simple way of overcoming the chaos in postal conditions. In careful calculations and statistics backed by figures, he painted the picture of the future postal service, a service enjoyed by everyone, rich and poor alike.

Up to that time the fees for each letter had to be collected, either from the sender or the receiver. What a waste of time! Can you imagine the postman having to collect for each letter he was carrying? The only good thing was that he never had too many letters to deliver, for the simple reason that people could not afford the outrageous rates. Mailing a letter was a luxury since the rates equalled just about half a day's wages. To write to a loved one many people had to save their pennies for several months or pawn some valuable possession.

No wonder that all kinds of tricks were used to cheat the post office. Codes in the address saved the receiver the expense of paying postage, because he merely had to look at the outside of the letter and then give it back to the postman with the remark that he did not have the money to pay for it. Since newspaper rates were cheaper, the more resourceful people underlined certain words and thus did a great deal of their business correspondence in public print.

But the little postage stamp together with the reforming suggestions of one man brought an end to these conditions. He did not dream of the triumphant path the little bit of sticky paper would make around the world, nor did he foresee that a stamp one day would have a collectors' value of a hundred thousand dollars. His purpose was to bring order out of chaos and raise the post to one of the greatest community services. When he first talked about his postage stamp, he was laughed at and called a dreamer. But when after its appearance the post offices began to be flooded with mail and letters began to circulate throughout the country, it was called a great invention.

The inventor's name is written in the golden annals of postal history as that of the father of stamps, Sir Rowland Hill.

The Dominican Republic printed a stamp bearing Sir Rowland's picture in 1940.

Police Chief Gives Driving Advice At Yuletide

"Use twice the caution and half the speed."

Such is the good driving advice aimed at an accident-free Christmas holiday season given by Police Chief Walter Probert.

Chief Probert stresses that with the co-operation of everyone accidents can be prevented. If every one would remember that each is responsible for his own as well as the safety of others, then the battle against accidents would be won.

"Especially in the Christmas season when traffic is heavier and there are more shoppers on the streets, caution is all the more required," the chief notes. "Remember — cars don't think, children don't think—you must do the thinking."

A word of advice for pedestrians who wish to avoid being hit by a car is to stay on the sidewalk until the intersection can be crossed with safety. Obey traffic signals and don't try to cross the street in the middle of the block.

"Just remember," he says, "that nearly 1,000 persons were killed or injured in Ontario last year attempting to do just that."

And to this the chief urges a special effort on the part of the motorist to keep the youngsters from harm. In their enthusiasm and thoughtlessness children dash out from behind cars, anywhere, any time, and it is up to the motorist to watch for them.

And finally, as a timely reminder, the chief urges motorists to bear in mind the one who drinks when he drives is inviting disaster.

HOOSIER CHILD CITY TO BE FEATURE OF "WIDE WIDE WORLD" NEXT SUNDAY.

Christmas preparations in a Child City, by nearly 800 boys and girls, from tiny tots of two and three to young men and young ladies soon to graduate from high school, will be a feature of next Sunday's NBC "Wide Wide World" television show.

The Moose Child City, Mooseheart, Ill., 45 miles west of Chicago, maintained and operated by the Loyal Order of Moose for children who have lost one or both parents, will be a feature of this popular telecast, the National Broadcasting Company announces.

Dave Garroway, whose daily television show "Today" and bi-monthly "Wide Wide World", have the highest daytime rating in the nation, will handle portions of the Mooseheart commentary.

Other commentary will be handled, the producers say, by the child residents themselves, graduates of the Child City who are now prominent in the business, professional and entertainment fields, and Moose officials.

Features of this "live" pre-Christmas telecast will include a group of Child City "Baby Vic-tage" youngsters, from 2 to 5-year-old, ringing Christmas carols around a giant Christmas tree; the arrival of Santa Claus; and several numbers by the Mooseheart student symphony orchestra.

This will be the first "live" telecast ever made from Mooseheart, and more than 300 technicians, producers, cameramen, engineers and others will be involved in the presentation. Special short-wave transmitting equipment has been provided to relay the pictures and sound to the Chicago NBC transmitters.

Broadcast time for "Wide Wide World" is 4 to 5.30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, 3 to 4.30 p.m. Central Standard Time, and 2 to 3.30 p.m., Mountain Standard Time. West Coast viewers are urged to consult their local TV listings to determine the exact telecast time in their areas.

A.O.T.S. Club Views Film 'On This Rock'

Another successful meeting was held Wednesday night by the A.O.T.S. club of Bridge Street United church. The highlight of the evening was the showing of the recently released United church film, "On This Rock". Produced under the direction of Amos Moorehouse and starring Murray Westgate, the well known TV personality, it tells the story of the work of the church on Canada's frontiers.

The story is set in the Knob Lake area of Northern Quebec, which has recently become an important mining centre. Filmed in full color the picture shows the vast undertaking of the men and machines who make it possible. The United is realizing that more than machines and the creature comforts are necessary made provision to have a student minister in the camp. These men work at their secular jobs during the week and attend to the spiritual welfare of the men on Sundays and during off duty hours. Through the work of these dedicated men at whom Doug Ross of Corbyville, was one the mining camp became a community as wives and children were brought in. A church and Sunday school became necessary and grew until a full time minister was needed.

NOMINATIONS PRESENTED

The meeting was chaired by vice-president, Joe Demers in the absence of president, Hayman Lee. After devotions conducted by the Rev. A. E. MacKenzie, Bill Slade, chairman of the nominating committee presented nominations for club officers for 1957. The committee had done its work so well that none of the club members felt any further nominations were necessary and the whole slate was handed into office. The church's popular minister, the Rev. H. M. Davis, will again be honorary president. T. K. Franklin will be president assisted by Ray Gunning as vice-president, Dr. Donald Scott as secretary and Jim Seekings as treasurer.

Plans were discussed for the A.O.T.S. club New Year's Eve house party to be held at Albert College. Sponsored by the club and supported by the church the prime purpose of the party is to provide an opportunity for members of the club and their friends to enjoy a social evening in congenial company. A secondary purpose but nonetheless an important one is to demonstrate, particularly to the young people that a social evening need not include social drinking. There will be dancing, cards and other games, a brief candlelight service followed by a buffet supper.

New Organ Dedicated at Christ Church

Recently a "red letter day" took place in the life of Christ Church Parish, Belleville, for seldom have so many events of lasting interest all transpired on the same day.

At the service of Morning Prayer, the Very Rev. A. T. Brierly Browne, D.D., Dean of the Diocese of Ontario, and one of the most distinguished churchmen in the diocese, held a dedication service to the Glory of God and the Church. The Items dedicated were as follows: two new visitors' books, a beautiful new rug which is in the sanctuary, a new choir pew, a new organ case, and the recently re-built organ.

Immediately after the prayers of dedication, Canon Smith led the lovely voice to the remainder of the service, and in the hands of Mr. J. E. Herdman, organist and choirmaster, gave evidence of the bright musical future in store for Christ Church.

FINE RE-BUILT ORGAN

The organ, re-built, re-voiced, enlarged, equipped with a fine all-electric console, and with electro-pneumatic action throughout, is now a fine instrument indeed, and, resplendent in its new case, has an appearance to match its beautiful voice. The re-building was done by Wm. Hill and Son and Norman and Beard, Ltd., London, England, Organ Builders to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II.

Following the service of Evensong, the organist and choirmaster, Mr. J. E. Herdman, gave a recital to demonstrate the tremendous scope of the new instrument, and the many music-lovers present were unanimous in their opinion that Mr. Herdman had given a fine display not only of the capabilities of the organ but also of his own virtuosity as a performer.

White Shrine Of Jerusalem Holds Party

The regular December meeting of the White Shrine of Jerusalem No. 11, in the IOOF Hall, Front St., took the form of a Christmas party.

The business part of the meeting, with Sol. Maude Patrick, W. H. P., presiding, was honored by a visit from Sol. May Steele D.D.

Following the meeting the Sojourners retired to the upstairs hall, which was tastefully decorated in Christmas colors.

Sol. Clifford Smith W. C. S. acted as chairman for the party. Among the honored guests were Mayor Jane Forrester, and Rev. Ray Rowley, pastor of Tabernacle United Church. Mayor Forrester brought the season's greetings from the city council, and expressed her pleasure at being with the Sojourners.

Mr. Rowley was guest speaker of the evening and gave an inspiring message on the significance of the three wise men in the Nativity Story.

Following the program, Sol. Patrick W.H.P., presented Mr. Rowley and Mayor Forrester with gifts from the White Shrine.

Santa Claus, (looking suspiciously like Sol. Billy Adams P.W.O.S.) arrived and led in the singing of Christmas carols. The distribution of Christmas gifts to all was followed by delicious refreshments prepared by Sol's. Kay Hall, Nan Cathcart and their committees, bringing an inspiring and happy meeting to a close.

Autumn Tour Has Great Appeal

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

No dateline this week. After noon, then two months of writing from the Far West, we're back home for the holidays, a jump ahead of the snow-tire-and-chain season, with a chance to reflect on some of the things we've seen, done, and learned.

As we've maintained right along, it's a wonderful country to travel in, surely never full of surprises and wonder and flavors than most of the rest of the world combined. "See America First" is more than just a chauvinistic slogan: it's too good a bet to miss for anyone who lives on this continent.

Of course Europe and Latin America have their appeals, but much of it stems from the obvious fact that the people are different, not just the country. It seems to us that much of the wonder of America is that the people are so much like everyone in a land so continuously varying.

No one could fail to be impressed by the standard of living enjoyed and available everywhere. In a little mill town in Wisconsin we saw homes rivalling the best of the big cities' residential sections.

It's possible, and even common, to live better while traveling than at home. In European cities only the best hotels have private baths, such as they are, and even in the finest resort areas around the world, water suitable for drinking doesn't always come from the tap. Air conditioned rooms are virtually nonexistent elsewhere.

EVEN SWIMMING POOLS

Yet even at the tiniest desert town motels here these conveniences are taken for granted. Swimming pools are becoming competitive necessities and soon will be expected by travellers at first class motels. How many of us can enjoy swimming pools and air conditioning at home?

Fine roads, luxuries elsewhere, aren't given a second thought here. They're getting better all the time, too, with highway construction and expansion to four lanes going on everywhere at an unprecedented pace.

First class accommodations and eating places are so numerous you merely have to make a choice most of the time.

Make no mistake, getting to know the rest of the world is an education in being a human being that everyone probably ought to have. But no one need apologize for taking advantage of the convenience of seeing this side first.

FALL TRAVEL

Autumn's gone now, but the travel hasn't. Hardly anybody seems to have discovered yet that Fall is really the season to travel. No stewing in bumper-to-bumper lineups, and gone until next summer are the swarms of tourists fiercely determined to have a good time at all costs.

Autumn weather is what you really think of when you think of travel. Bright blue skies day after day, warm and dry enough to be pleasant, yet cool enough to be comfortable. No torrential thunderstorms or egg-frying-on-the-pavement heat. Allergies are at a minimum and after a torpid summer you're in much better shape to enjoy a vacation. Anyway you can make better use of one at this time than you could have in July, when the heat forced you to take it easy.

Anyone who's travelled this time of the year can tell you Fall is the time to see the Rockies, Berkshires, or Shenandoah. Nature's best colors blossom and are pointed up by the clear air.

For once, the motels, hotels, and restaurants are as happy to have you for customers as you are to find a place to eat or stay. Where we had to search for a $14 a night accommodation for our family of four in July, we had our pick at $8 and $9 in October and November.

Even the car felt better and it no longer needed daily washing after each of the summer showers. Gone, too, were the buzz which spotted the hood and windshield with the gory ferocity of summer.

But if winter's here now, can Spring be far behind? Even if it is, there's still Florida in the Winter.

HISTORIC CARPET

The carpets made for the coronation of Queen Elizabeth at Westminster Abbey in 1953 were simply worsted yarn, 288 tufts to the square inch.

This and That

By HARRIET STEVENS

It is the weekend before the nineteen hundred and fifty-sixth birthday of the Child of Peace. For our weekend thought we offer soundly the last sentence of the second part of "The Philosophy of Civilization" by Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

"Only such thinking as establishes the sway of the mental attitude of reverence for life can bring to mankind perpetual peace."

The good doctor includes all life, but today a start might be made with more reverence for human life. Irreverence for man by man is a chariot drawn by the four horsemen and the reins are dragging in the dirt. The ideal of the Child of Peace and the dictum of Schweitzer seem adrift in a ruderless boat on a sea of turbulent hatred.

Must all be seen through the cynical glasses of pessimism? Can we look upon the hills? Can we raise our sights to the heavens to search in hope for the star of hope? Can we be optimists? We can. We must. Where Christmas festival season faith in truth can be reborn and rededicated.

One truth may be that, although evil men we have with us and always will, it is a mighty truth that most men and women are good, fine, decent, kind, honest and courageous. Hope lies in the closing of the minds of individual men and women in every land where they are free to think and to disagree honestly. But we must have the truth, must be given the truth free. The literal truth by those who assume the right of leadership and we must insist on the truth. "The truth will make you free."

The challenge to mankind allows no easy expedient, no lenient decisions, no superficial partisanship or sectarianism. All mankind is meritless. Science has shrunk the earth and spirit alone can make it free. The message of a little child who became a simple carpenter defies the ingenuity of great knowledge without spiritual strength.

This is That! hopes for our Christmas 1956 that we, in the free nations, will, as people thinking individually, insist and demand most strongly that we cannot be denied the "truth that will make us free."

And now we copy from last year's Christmas column. "This & That" attempts this afternoon that which it can do simply and sincerely — we wish you each and every one a Merry Christmas with the hope that Christmas 1956 is so bountiful spiritually, physically and materially that it spreads and penetrates through all our lives, throughout all the approaching year. "That" is our wish and prayer for "This" Christmas.

ADVICE To the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

KEEP YOUR FAITH IN YOUR HUSBAND AND LET HIM KNOW IT

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

Yesterday morning I got a mysterious telephone call.

The voice was a girl's, and she didn't tell me who she was. All she said was that she had been going out with my husband. Then she hung up.

I was shocked and horrified, and at the same time I was baffled as to why she should have told me just that and no more.

When my husband came home last night, I told him about the telephone call. He said he couldn't imagine who the girl was or why any girl should be pulling a trick like that. He said that the nights he had worked late, if I had called him at his office, I'd have found him there so I'd know he hadn't been going out with any other girls.

My husband and I are young people and have only been married a couple of years. He was just 20 when we married and I was 19. Now we have a baby six months old.

Do often say that if people get married too young, they feel that they have cheated themselves out of good times they should have had when young. Do you suppose this is what has happened to my husband and that he's trying to make up for the good times he missed when he was young, for what?

I just don't know who to believe —this girl or him. I love my husband very much, and it breaks my heart that anything should come up to shake my faith in him. But what am I to do or think? — Mrs. H.W.

Dear Mrs. H.W.:

When suspicion of a marital partner has been planted in the mind of the other partner in our marriage, there are only two things to do.

One is to bring the thing out in the open, talk it over quietly and try and get at the facts so that if the suspicion is actually found to be unjustified it can be destroyed at once, or, on the other hand, if it is confirmed, then it can be dealt with as may be advisable.

The other thing is for the one whose suspicions have been awakened to refuse to harden his mind, instead, retain faith in the other person unless, or until, further developments show that faith to be unjustified.

It is wise that you at once told your husband about the telephone call and gave him the opportunity to be honest about it if he had actually been guilty of an affair with some other girl. Apparently he denies it.

So, under these circumstances, it seems to me that the only wise course for you to take is to be strong enough to put your suspicions aside and determine to hold on as long as possible to the faith in your husband. To repeatedly question him and accuse him without definite knowledge that he has been unfaithful, can only serve to keep you both in an emotional uproar and make it impossible for you to reason calmly and really act as though you believed it, it may very well bring matters to a happy conclusion.

For few people, unless they are relentless criminals indeed, can go on indefinitely betraying a person who believes in them. If your husband is actually guilty, to have faith in him, and to assure him of that faith, will make him mend his ways. If he is innocent, and the telephone call is simply the conclusion of some girl with a disturbed mind who has developed a crush infatuation for him, you'll always be glad you didn't treat him as though he were guilty.

Women's Institute

ELDORADO W.I.

The Eldorado and Bannockburn Women's Institute held its Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. Clayton Blackburn, with a large number of members and visitors present.

Mrs. Charles Pigden, the president, opened the meeting.

Business was dealt with. It was decided $10 be given the Kiwanis and $10 to "CARE" also that a gift would be given to the shut-ins.

January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Barbara Thompson.

The program was given by Mrs. Charles Pigden "There is no one old enough to know better." A reading by Mrs. Cecil Blackburn, entitled "The Meaning of Your Christmas Stocking".

The "Origin of the Christmas Card in England", was given by Mrs. Earl Wartman.

A Christmas play by three members, Mrs. Doug Pigden, Mrs. Harold Pigden and Mrs. John Tompson, was much enjoyed.

An exchange of Christmas gifts took place.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants followed by a social half hour.

QUESTION:

Have you by any chance an ice cream recipe without cream? Could we use powdered milk? This is a gall-bladder diet.— Lilian L. F.

ANSWER:

VANILLA ICE CREAM

(Skim milk)

One-quarter cup skim milk powder, 1 cup water, 1-4 to 1-3 cup sugar (if you have a very sweet tooth use 1-3 cup), 1 tablespoon ordinary gelatine, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup whipped topping (see below). Stir milk powder into water and mix until dissolved. Heat all but 2 tablespoons of it in top of double boiler. Mix the two leftover tablespoons milk with the cornstarch until smooth. Add sugar to hot milk. Stir in cornstarch mixture until thickened, cover and cook 18 minutes, stirring once or twice. Beat egg until fluffy, add a little hot cornstarch mix to it, stir then return to double boiler. Cook two minutes stirring. Remove from heat, add vanilla and chill. Beat well, fold in whipped milk topping: Into a bowl pour 1-4 cup water and 1-3 tablespoon lemon juice. Beat in 1-4 cup skim milk powder over. Beat until very stiff. Freeze in freezer until stiffish in about seven minutes soft peaks will form. Add 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar, whip again into freezing tray, cover with tinfoil and freeze until of desired consistency.

QUESTION:

.....while I am very happy to be back in my own part of the country (Nova Scotia) I miss your chats. . .apart from being "never fail" recipes you keep everyone happy with lots of information about the do's and don't of being a good cook. . . how I'd love to bake your cake— husband hates Christmas cake . . . however I will make a small 3-lb one . . . would you explain it to me: How does this sound? 1 3-4 cups all-purpose flour 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon soda, 1-2 cup honey, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons white vinegar and book so nice—clever I think. Would saran and wax paper plus a seal-a-meal in a cool place be sufficient to keep cakes? Lastly would you send me a light dark cake recipe—about 4 lbs. and proper size-pans? When are we going to see your cookbook?—Mrs. Frank C.

ANSWER:

That cookbook will take shape some day. Answers are in order of questions. Yours: For Dear one!—similar to the addition of lemon juice. Yes, honey has keeping qualities. It helps keep cake moist and gives a subtle honey-flavor. Honey cakes are drier than maraschinos—sometimes around a maraschino cherry it is soggy. Use a small ring if they are not well enough greased. Saran wrap, wax paper plus a towel in a covered box, would be sufficient.

Am mailing the fruit cake recipes to you. Good luck down there in Nova Scotia. Write to us whenever we can help.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

IT CAME UPON THE MIDNIGHT CLEAR

It came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending near the earth,
To touch their harps of gold:
"Peace on the earth, goodwill to men,
From Heaven's all-gracious King":
The world in solemn stillness lay
To hear the angels sing.

Still through the cloven skies they come,
With peaceful wings unfurled,
And still their heavenly music floats
O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lowly plains
They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds
The blessed angels sing.

Yet, lo, the days are hastening on,
By prophet bards foretold,
When with the ever-circling years
Comes round the age of gold;
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world give back the song
Which now the angels sing.

As long as Christmas season's come and go, this magnificent hymn, written by the Rev. Edmund Hamilton Sears, will be a favorite with children and older folk alike. It already has passed through more than 100 Christmases: it was composed in 1849 and published a year later in a Boston magazine called The Christian Register.

The author, the Rev. Edmund Morrison, had received a copy of the hymn from the pen of Dr. Samuel Kelly Long before it appeared in print. By Morrison have been described as an acrostic, "Ten Little Stockings;" Mrs. B. Lee Clark gave a number of parties all the primary classes took part in "Twas Eight Days Before Christ" with Miss Helen Hall as narrator; a recitation by Miss Margaret Wilson and a duet by Miss Wilson and John Sutherland; Mrs. E. Carson's class sang a Christmas carol; vocal duet by Misses Elaine and Janie Sharpe; Mrs. D. Montgomery's class presented

Cut Flowers Respond to Care

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Flowers that are comfortable last longer. For a little forethought and care they will repay you with extra days of beauty. They like a bowl the same indoor temperature that you do 60 to 70 degrees. They like fresh air, a reasonable supply of humidity. They do not like drafts, direct sunlight, or hot radiators.

Those flowers with woody stems such as chrysanthemums, and roses and carnations should have the stems cut on an angle as soon as delivered. This will prevent the stem end being blocked, which would stop the flow of water up into the blossoms. Cut off one-quarter to one-half inch of stem. Air bubbles occasionally plug the stems and cause early wilting. Guard against this by placing roses in warm water around 100 to 120 degrees, just a little hotter than body temperature.

Blooms last longer if they are placed in a cool, moist room with a temperature of 45 degrees for the night and for those times when the flowers are not needed for display, or the family is away.

MAKE GOWN SOLUTION

Cut off all leaves which would be under water. They decay and contaminate the water. Bacteria will form but you can clean it up with one of the commercial preservatives. You can make your own solution by mixing one ounce of hydrazine sulphate in one quart water. Use two teaspoons of this with one tablespoon of granulated sugar for each quart of water in the vase.

Or, you can prolong flowers by changing the water each day and cut a little stem off at the same time. Contrary to popular belief aspirin will not prolong the life of flower, nor will copper pennies.

You can change the arrangement a little each day as the stems become shorter and the flower fewer. Cut a few sprays from the Christmas tree to round out the outline, or to make a new background. Select different bowls, and add a small statue, a pretty box, fan, or other accessory which adds a new color note, or echoes that of the flowers. Pottery birds or candlesticks will change the picture for a few days. Try several ways to get an interesting natural group, use your science and imagination to keep that flower arrangement fresh.

Soften the flowers stems becomes really short try them in a sand bowl, fill a small bowl, sugar basin, pitcher, or handsome cup with sand and water, then push in some foliage, cut suitably short and the last of the flowers. A few leaves and flowers from your house plants might be spared for the final setting.

PLANT HOLLY BERRIES

Keep some of the holly berries to plant for shrubs. There are several varieties and while they are slow growing they do make an interesting addition to the shrub border.

Keep your Christmas tree for the birds. When you take it out of the house set it up in the back yard where it can be seen from your windows. Put bird puddings from your seed store, or make them up from suet, seeds and cereals and tie them in the tree. Birds should be fed regularly once they come to depend upon you. They need special attention after heavy snowfalls, as their source of food, the weed seeds are covered over.

INDIA ISSUES WARNING

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Deputy External Affairs Minister Anil K. Chanda told Parliament today that India has warned Portugal that its "preventive action" will be taken against any Portuguese airplanes which violate India's air space. Chanda said a note to this effect was sent to Portugal through the Egyptian embassy in New Delhi Nov. 16.

CRASH WAY OUT

HELMSTEDT, Germany (AP)—Five East Germans made a daring dash to Western freedom Thursday night, crashing their truck through barbed wire and a wooden border gate near here in a hail of Communist machine-gun bullets. No one was wounded. The truck ran into a ditch immediately after crossing the border, and West Germans helped the refugees to get it running again.

Western Help Pays Off For Rangers In 3-2 Victory Over Black Hawks

Sport Slices

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

STRANGE GOINGS-ON!

Strange predicaments and bewildering situations are removing any possibility of this new Eastern Ontario Senior "A" league acquiring a hundrum existence.

From the time the managerial brains of the five regular entries started on extensive player shopping tours up to the present moment the loop has turned up a giddy whirl of surprises.

Players have come and players have gone. Attendance figures are going up and down at a speed that would make a metropolitan bond elevator look like a stalled car. Coaches have been fired. Others have quit. Teams have threatened to withdraw unless the box-office is upped.

Team rivalry has been keen throughout the season. Club rivalry has extended to newspaper sports columns, which in some cases has been uncomplimentary, to say the least.

One of the more noticeable features of the league race thus far, and which will likely be remedied in the near future, is the fall from playing grace of the Kingston C.K.L.C's. A loss-stricken record of eight games resulted in the firing of the playing coach, Les Douglas. An alarming lack of attendance forced the Kingston management to ask for (which it received) a special concession from the league which allowed it to withhold loop paid payments for five games or the equivalent of a thousand dollars. This, with which to acquire players to bolster the team.

The second bombshell which came out of a blue sky to not only bewilder the rest of the clubs, but its own faithful, was the resignation of the Pembroke Lumber King playing coach, Ike Hildebrand. That, mainly, is why this piece is being written.

Al Sheehan, the Pembroke Observer's sports editor, columned: "We hadn't the foggiest notion that Ike had considered handing in his resignation, or that the executive of the hockey club had considered asking for the same."

It was reported that Ike would continue with the Pembroke club in a playing capacity. At this writing this is possible as he told the Kings' management he wanted time to think it over and would be in Pembroke Saturday to give them an answer.

In the meantime, Ike is resting at his home in Peterborough, where, he told the Pembroke columnist he has been answering the phone continuously since arrival.

That figures, since players of the calibre of Hildebrand count on the loose, are quickly contacted by player-hungry clubs at other leagues likely this one.

In fact, Ike modestly admits, he did not realize his popularity among other clubs. This probably with league in about for he has not been unaware of the player battle that has been openly waged among clubs of the Western Ontario league, not to mention a few skirmishes in the eastern set-up.

Maybe Ike let the cat out of the bag when he told the Pembroke scribe: "Wouldn't it be funny if I ended up in Whitby. Stranger things have happened, but, much stranger things. It would be funnier still, to Whitby, if Ike appeared some night in a McFarland uniform.

The job of a playing coach on a senior "A" club is no sinecure. Most of the clubs carry former hockey-wise "old pros" who know a lot of the angles, one reason why this department has lined itself solidly against the one-referee-two-linesmen system. We can name a few of these veteran campaigners who take advantage of the referee's blind spot while linesmen look on helplessly. It is all so evident from the press-box aeries and most of the time from the customer pews.

From this corner it looks as though the Hildebrand resignation and his think-it-over decision has set the get-your-man machinery in motion in three senior "A" leagues. One openly admits he has received offers from "Windsor, Sudbury, and other clubs" adding his negrin-scratching quote regarding Whitby. There is an inference there all right, although it could be the Hildebrand sense of humor.

We are not trying to put ideas into the managerial head of one Drury Denyes, but it goes without saying that Ike would fit very nicely into the McFarland scheme of things.

Now for the long trek "around the horn" with the McFarlands. This afternoon they took off for Pembroke, where they battle the Kings tonight. Thence to Ottawa for a few hours in the hay, then the long hike to Cornwall for another engagement with the Cheviks Sunday afternoon.

WILBER TO SCOUT

BALTIMORE (AP) — Del Wilber, Chicago White Sox coach for the past two seasons, Friday was hired as a scout for Baltimore Orioles.

The American League club said Wilber, 37, would do most of his baseball scouting in the St. Louis area. He played mostly as a catcher while in the majors with St. Louis and Philadelphia in the American.

Larry Popein Sparks Attack With Gump Brilliant in Net; Bruins, Leafs Set for Reunion

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers, who have found the Western Hockey League a lucrative hunting ground for players, received another payoff from their westerners Friday night.

Larry Popein, who spent the 1952-53 and 53-54 seasons with Vancouver Canucks, scored once and assisted on two other goals as Rangers consolidated their fourth-place standing with a 3-2 victory over Chicago Black Hawks before 4,774 Chicago fans.

Popein's display was something the Ranger management has come to expect from its WHL graduates, among them defenceman Lou Fontinato and forward Andy Bathgate.

Sharing Popein's triumph was goaltender Lorne (Gump) Worsley, the teammate on the Canada 1953-54 team. Worsley came up with another big brilliant effort, kicking out 33 shots, while Al Rollins was handling only 21 at the other end.

SCORED ON BREAKAWAY

Popein's goal was scored on the first of two New York breakaways. Forward Lorne Ferguson later, Nick Mickoski scored the first of his two to tie it up. Before the period was over Gordie Hollingbery had scored for Rangers, assisted by Popein.

In the second period Guy Gendron intercepted a Chicago pass and with an assist from Fergie scored the final Ranger goal, answered only by Mickoski's tying goal two five minutes left in the game.

Tonight it will be old home week for seven of the Chicago-Detroit-Boston Bruins as they move into Toronto to play the fifth - place Maple Leafs. Leafs have let that many of the surprising Bruins slip through their hands either by trades, direct sale or draft.

Among them they make up a formidable team — defencemen Jack Bionda, Fern Flaman and Leo Boivin and forwards Cal Gardner, Fleming Mackell, Jack Caffery and Larry Regan.

Detroit Red Wings and Canadiens also clash in Montreal while Sunday night, Canadiens move to Detroit, Toronto is at New York and Boston gets a chance to fatten its lead against the last-place Hawks in Chicago.

Ortega Verdicts Tony DeMarco; Wants Title Shot

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — On the strength of two victories over ex-champ Tony DeMarco, Mexico's Gasper Ortega wants a welter-weight title shot at the winner of the Jan. 18 match at Cleveland between Carmen Basilio and Johnny Saxton.

"We want Basilio—or Saxton if he beats him—and nobody else," said matchmaker Teddy Stimson Friday night after Ortega had won his second split decision over DeMarco. "I am the top contender, now we want the champion."

DeMarco was rated No. 1 behind Basilio in the latest National Boxing Association rankings and No. 2 in Ring magazine. Ortega was No. 4 in both ruling systems.

The 10-round scrap, witnessed by about 2,500 fans paying about $6,000, was one of the best of the year in Madison Square Garden.

Ortega, a lanky import from Tlalpan, Mexico, beat DeMarco, Nov. 23 by fighting him, not boxing, and he repeated the same way. The Mexican almost finished off Tony in the first round when he drove him through the ropes with a flurry of punches, ending with a right uppercut.

PLAY ON BACK

DeMarco went flat on his back on the ring apron with his legs draped over the bottom rope. He just got back into the ring and up as his feet as referee Mark Conn counted nine. Although Tony supposedly is the heavier puncher and shook up Ortega in the second, he never could drop his man. Ortega weighed 148, DeMarco 146½.

New York's supplementary point system gave Ortega the nod in to a winner. Two officials had it even in rounds but gave Ortega the edge on points. Referee Mark Conn scored 4-4-2 with Ortega ahead 5-4 on points and judge Joe Agnello had it 5-5 with the points for Ortega 6-5. Judge Leo Birnbaum tabbed DeMarco by a 6-4 edge. The AP card was 4-4-2 with Ortega on top 6-5 in points.

A ringside poll of eight boxing writers showed a 5-4 split.

The DeMarco camp screamed at the decision. "I had it 6-3-1 for Tony," said manager Bob Agrippino. "We'd like to meet him again in Boston anytime."

Bilts, Ottawa Win Junior League Tilts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

By their play in the first half of the season Guelph Biltmores have almost turned the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A Series into a two-division league.

After 25 games, Biltmores have 30 wins for 60 points and an 11-point lead over Toronto Marlboros, their closest rivals.

Biltmores' 30th win came last night, a predictable 8-2 trouncing of Barrie Flyers.

The only Junior A team which looks capable of giving Guelph a big fight for league honors, the Ottawa Junior Canadiens, was the only other game Friday night, defeating Hamilton Tigers 4-3 in Ottawa.

Canadiens have won seven of eight games and are probably one of the strongest teams in junior hockey history. Since they play only an abbreviated OHA Junior schedule it will be accurately compared to the Bilts.

In Guelph Friday night it was once again the Bilts' Jones - Lee - Sweeney, Eddie Shack and Danny Belisle — who teamed the trick. Sweeney collected two assists while his linemate Shack had a pair of goals and Belisle also collected one. Also on the Guelph score sheet was Gerry Goyer with two goals and Bryan Webber with one. Billy Forhan and Danny Patrick scored for Barrie.

Defenceman Jean Picard scored two goals and assisted on two others to give Canadiens' their win over Hamilton.

Defenceman Gerry Wilson and Murray Balfour counted the Ottawa goals. Bob Attersley in a pair for Hamilton and Howie Young scored the third.

Chisox Power Remains in Hands of Woman

CHICAGO (AP)—The balance of power in the Chicago White Sox baseball system will remain in the hands of a woman.

Mrs. Grace Reidy Comiskey's will, filed in probate court Friday, gives control of the team to a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy C. Rigney, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Mrs. Comiskey, club president since 1941, died Dec. 10 and named Mrs. Rigney executor of the estate in a specific bequest. Mrs. Rigney received 500 shares of stock which, like Mrs. Reidy, the team's legal adviser, said "is a personal confidential family matter."

The rest of Mrs. Comiskey's 3,-632 shares were divided equally between Charles, an only son, and Mrs. Rigney.

When the 31-year-old Chuck becomes 35, he will hold 3,475 shares while his sister now has 3,975 of the 7,540 total.

Comiskey and his brother-in-law, John Rigney, presently are vice-presidents of the team. Dorothy Rigney is the club secretary announced that Comiskey and Rigney will run the club jointly.

Mrs. Comiskey became prominent after the club nearly crashed financially following the death of her husband, Louis, in 1939.

Mrs. Comiskey won a court battle and the Chicago bank acting as trustee for the estate turned the club back to the Comiskeys.

Mrs. Comiskey provided in the will, taking instead her dower right of one-third and a cash award of $60,000.

Mrs. Comiskey and her son had several squabbles in the last few years, in several clashes between Chuck and former box general manager Frank Lane. Mrs. Comiskey sided with Lane.

Football Bell Tolls Warning, Bars Cardinal Film Showing

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cardinals were doing a slow burn today but said they will abide by National Football League commissioner Bert Bell's ruling forbidding them from criticizing the officiating in their 10-3 loss to Chicago Bears.

The Cardinals were prepared to run films of the game on television and point out "23 rule infractions by the Bears" which they contend were not called by officials.

Bell informed the Cardinals Friday they would be subject to a fine and suspension if they showed the film as they planned.

Bell told the Cardinals they could make a duplication of the film but couldn't make reruns or show stills.

CARDINALS PROTEST

Walter Wolfner, managing director of the Cardinals, said "commissioner Bell and Bear owner George Halas don't want the public to see the known facts."

"It is impossible," said Wolfner, "to show infractions without stills and reruns. Although the Bears were allowed to show their film with stills and reruns, the commissioner now gives specific orders that if we show the film we are subject to a fine and suspension.

"We were penalized nine times during the game," said Wolfner, "two intentional grounding, one back touchdown runs of 65 and 85 yards by Ollie Matson."

The positive proof from the pictures 1/25th sec are 100 per cent correct in claiming that the 23 rules infractions by the Bears, not called, are not judgment plays but rules violations.

McFarlands Regain 2nd Place With Impressive 4-2 Win Over Cornwall

Clip Chevies' Unbeaten String With Fine Two-Way Effort; Kingston Sawops Whitby 10-4

The Belleville McFarlands tossed the Whitby Dunlops the "move-over, bub" sign last night when they halted the upsurging Cornwall Chevrolets in their tracks by a 4-2 score while the Kingston CKLC's were handing the Dunlops the worst shellacking in their history, swamping the Blairmen under a 10-4 count.

The Macs' victory hoisted them into undisputed possession of second place just three points behind the Dunlops who absorbed their second defeat in a row.

Playing one of their best two-way games of the season the McFarlands never left home for their win after spotting the Chevies a first period goal. Goalie Gerry Devaney was more or less sensational in the Chevy net and kept the Macs' score to what it was. The Macs outshot the Chevies 34-23.

Almost 1600 fans saw the McFarlands clip the Chevrolet's unbeaten five-game string in a performance that was a collective effort of the first water.

Maude Leonard, Bernie Lemonde, Paul Payette and Real Larouche spoiled the Macs' scoring threat as Chevies ace line of Jonnette, Kwong and Paul Payette stood out with Edwards getting both goals and Kwong a pair of helpers. Payette got one.

It was clean, sometimes rugged hard checking hockey with referees Ken Partis of Kingston having a more or less easy time. Only seven minor penalties were handed out by the official, four going to the Chevies.

Down a goal in the first period, the Macs exerted the offensive pressure in the second, but outshooting the visitors 10-2. They picked up three goals and in fairness to the Chevies it should be said that two of them were shots deflected off Cornwall players, while they battled one in to end the period with the Macs in front 3-2.

Bep Guidolin's crew took over the third heat scoring the only goal of the period but slamming home 14 shots to the Chevies eight in that session. Devaney again rose to puck - stopping brilliance, stopping Cornwall players cold on the doorstep at least six times.

Coach Gerry Plamondon of the Chevies took desperate measures with time running out in the third period. With the score 4-2 against him Plamondon yanked Devaney with 32 seconds to go in a last-second surge to snatch a tie. But the strategy backfired and the close—knit Belleville defence stayed off the threat.

Coach Bep Guidolin was back in harness and came up with a fine performance despite an injured leg. He assisted on two of the Macs' goals and was robbed by Devaney on three occasions when he neared in alone on the Cornwall goalie. Johnny Murdich did not play due to a fractured hand, but Real Larouche wearing a heavy mask, stood out, scoring one of the prettiest goals of the night.

Willie Menard, with his fine two-goal performance against Pembroke the other night and a fine effort again last night drew the player of the game award with Guidolin getting the night prize.

Cornwall drew the only scoring blood of the first period at 16.55 minutes, on a neat goalmouth passing play by the Chevies ace line of Jonnette, Payette and Kwong.

Devaney had to be good to stop the Macs' periodical attacks and on one occasion he robbed Guidolin on his doorstep. It looked like a goalies' night with close hard-checking play out front.

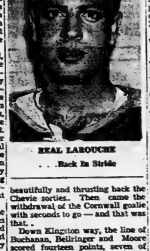
MacDonald and Jeannette drew the only penalties of the period for high-sticking near mid-period.

The McFarlands had the better of the play in the second period, outshooting the Chevies 10-5.

Real Larouche brought the crowd to its feet after six minutes of play climaxing a clever passing play with Willie Menard and Crawford with a low, hard shot that ended Devaney's scoreless minutes of hockey at 1.34.

Minute Menard put the Macs one up at 13.57 when his hard cross drive deflected off Batten into the Cornwall net. Crawford and Guidolin were given assists by referee Ken Partis.

With seconds to go Bernie Lemonde was credited with his first goal of the year when his drive deflected off Batten into the net behind Devaney. No assists were given this time.



The two-goal lead was shortened however, for ten seconds later Klinute Jonnette cut the margin to a goal when he took the puck behind the Belleville defence to beat Gordie Bell with Larry Kwong getting the assist.

Paul Payette put home the insurance marker midway through the third period on a fine passing play with Botley and Guidolin. The first stringer took Berp's pass and drove the puck high under the centre cross bar for the marker.

The Macs had a wide margin of play outshooting the foemen 14-8 in the hard-driving Chevies gave Bell some anxious moments. He stopped Henri cold from three feet out and a second later Larouche and Gilbert raced in on Devaney but were beaten by the goalie.

St. Hilaire and Pete Lepine started a pushing match and got thumbed for roughing by the official while the crowd showed its displeasure with boos directed on both the ice.

The Macs' defence was clicking

REAL LAROUCHE
. . . Back In Stride

beautifully and thrusting back the Chevies' scrics. It was game the withdrawal of the Cornwall goalie with seconds to go — and that was that.

Down Kingston way, the line of Buchanan, Bellringer and Moore scored fourteen points, seven of them goals, with Buchanan getting four for Ze CKLC's.

The line-up:

Cornwall — Goal, Devaney; defence, Bingley, Batten, Lepine, Limoges; forwards, Joannette, Payette, Kwong, Henri, Muir, Belleau; Plamondon, M. Savard, R. Savard.

Belleville Goal, Bell; defence, Botley, Crawford, Lemonde, Benoit; forwards, W. Menard, MacDonald, Gilbert, Payette, D. Jones, Larouche, M. Menard, St. Hilaire, Guidolin.

Belleville Minor Hockey Association

Shutouts were the main order in the peewee section of the B.M.H.A. this morning, no less than three in the four games played.

The Canadiens blanked the Red Wings 5-0, Black Hawks shaded the Barons 1-0 while the Rangers downed the Bruins 2-0. In the other contest, Bruins and Maple Leafs fought to a 3-3 deadlock.

Dean Williamson was a two-goal man for the Canadiens while one each went to Jimmie Rutherford, Jimmie Mairs and Don Hardwick. Peter Carver, R. Peate, Briant Skinner, Dennis Ray and Jim Johnson each earned assists.

Colin Male played the starring role for the Black Hawks, scoring the game's lone marker in their win over the Barons.

Allan Mott and Gordon Pinder each fired a goal as the Rangers won, Pinder also setting Mott up for his goal.

Maple Leafs gained their tie on the playing of Norman Richards. He tallied one goal and drew assists on the other two, scored by Jay Kiser and Ray Munroe. Billie Seams also notched on a goal, Peter Emerson, Jerry St. Denis and Bobby Ridley fired the Bruin goals with honorers going to Mike Murphy, Bill Leslie and Wayne Brunton.

Players, Stadia Show No Mercy To Charity

TORONTO (CP) — Arnold Taylor, Toronto Shriner who ran the first all-star Shrine football game between all NHL and Dutchmen temporarily disposed of, they have a new challenge—Winslow Shelaga.

He decreed the Shrine could cut down on expenses unless the players and stadiums co-operated.

Taylor was commenting on a statement by Karl Slocomb, president of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, that "there should be a greater return for charity from all the Grey Cup games" and not just the Shrine all-star football game.

Taylor, replying to Slocomb's remarks, said:

"We wanted the best, and had to pay to get it. Sure, we would have liked to have made more but the weather went against us both years. But it still meant over $60,000 in two years and that's a big lift."

Taylor said that next year the Shriners' plan to take all the players down to the crippled children's hospitals in Winnipeg and Montreal.

"Then, maybe they'll realize what it's all about," he added.

Bobcats Cross Claws With Pumas In Bowl Game

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The unbeaten Montana State Bobcats, banking on a bruising ground game, and the pass-minded St. Joseph's Pumas of Indiana were to tangle here today in the first Aluminum Bowl football game.

A crowd of 15,000 to 25,000, depending largely on the weather, is expected for the game, which will be Little Rock's first major game, sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, matches two teams with awesome records in small college football.

Montana State averaged 35 points a game in rolling to nine straight victories. St. Joseph's is more fond of moving through the air. Quarterback Ralph Curtis completed 36 of 76 passes for 522 yards and 12 touchdowns in the Pumas' eight victories and one loss.

Senior A Hockey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Stratford Indians have fought a running battle with Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen most of the season for top spot in the Ontario Hockey Association senior A western division. Now, with Dutchmen temporarily disposed of, they have a new challenger—Windsor Bulldogs.

Bulldogs moved into undisputed possession of second place Friday night with a 4-0 win over host Chatham Maroons. Indians stayed two points ahead by downing Owen Sound Mercurys 7-4, but they have played two games more than Bulldogs.

In the only Northern game, Sudbury Wolves maintained their hold on second place in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association Senior A southern division with a 3-1 win over Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Greyhounds.

Belleville McFarlands became the second senior team to take over second place as they edged Cornwall Chevies 4-2 in one OHA Senior A eastern division game; in the other, Kingston CKLC'S jumped from last-place to fourth with a 10-4 win over the first-place Whitby Dunlops.

Bulldogs goaltender Don Head recorded his third shutout of the season over the fourth - place Maroons. It was Windsor's fifth win in seven meetings with Chatham.

KLUKAY SCORED

National Hockey League veteran Joe Klukay scored once for the winners while Gord Hall, Eric Pogue and Lou Bendo got the others.

Indians had one of their rare high - scoring games before a hometown crowd, and at the expense of the last-place Mercurys, who have won only six of 34 games.

None of the Indians managed to flatten their scoring totals by any appreciable amount, however, as only Tommy Walker managed two goals.

Two of Owen Sound's counters were from the stick of Buck Fleetham. The others were scored by Fred Leslie and Vern Gardiner.

After a scoreless first period Andy Milne and Joe Zorzin scored for the Wolves in the second and Chick Chalmers answered for the Greyhounds. Bill Watson sabbed it away in the third period with the third Sudbury goal.

DIVIDE GOALS

Belleville goals were divided between Rhead Lawson, Minnie Menard, Bernie Lemonde and Paul Payette, as the McFarlands held a 34-23 shooting edge over their opponents.

Veteran Kilnute Jonnette bagged in both goals for the losers, and Larry Kwong picked up assists on both.

Kingston's upset win over Dunlops was paced by their Don Bellringer — Gerry Moore — Bucky Buchanan line, which scored seven goals. Whitby's woes increased by the loss of George Samolenko, Alf Treen and manager Wren Blair.

Buchanan picked up four goals and two assists, Bellringer had three and two and Moore one and two. Frank Chiarelli had two goals and Don Howarth one, to complete the scoring as CKLC's got their second consecutive win under new manager Joe Levandoski.

Bus Gagnon, Fred Etcher, Bob Attersley and Chuck Air scored for the visitors.

Eastern Squad Works in Secret

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Terry Brennan, the Notre Dame coach who has charge of the East squad for the 29 Dec. Shrine football game, says he will padlock gates next week for secret practices.

"I'm satisfied with the progress of the boys," said the Notre Dame coach.

Paul Hornung, Notre Dame quarterback on the East squad, said he had talked Friday with a representative of British Columbia Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union League. He said he had not signed anything.

The West team also planned secret sessions for the Shrine game.

Stop Fixers Only Way To Stop Fixes

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Abe J. Greene, National Boxing Association commissioner, said Friday "the way to stop fixes is to stop fixers for all time."

He said the NBA would back the commissions of Texas and California in their investigations of the alleged attempt to fix a fight between welterweights Art Aragon and Dick Goldstein.

The fight was scheduled for San Antonio but Aragon reported that Goldstein and his opponent offered him money to lose the bout. Greene conferred with Floyd Stevens, NBA president, by phone earlier Friday before Stevens sent telegrams to the Texas and California commissions asking for full information on the alleged fix.

Tony Trabert Whips Segura

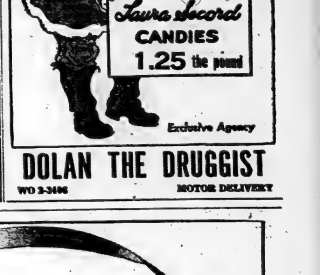
MELBOURNE (AP) — Tony Trabert of Cincinnati had his first win in the Melbourne professional tennis series at Kooyong Court's Friday night.

He defeated two strongly favored Pancho Segura of Los Angeles and won 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

In another match, Australia's Frank Sedgman's power tennis stymied countryman Rex Hartwig, 6-3, 6-3.



In doubles, Sedgman and Hartwig scored the second successive win over Trabert and Segura, 7-5, 6-3.

Bruins Recall Hershey Player

BOSTON (AP)— The Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League Friday recalled Allan Hickelson from Hershey of the American League to replace the injured Vic Stasiuk.

Hickelson, a 26-year-old winger, last been recalled twice before this season is till in the lolprod players. He will take Stasiuk's left wing post on a line with Cal Gardner and Bronco Horvath.

Stasiuk, who has 12 goals, suffered a torn muscle in his side against Detroit Red Wings Thursday night. He will be sidelined at least a week.

Twenty Seconds, Or Else

New Rules Tough on Pitchers But Will Speed Up Pastimes

NEW YORK (CP)—If baseball's rulemakers have their way, next year's games ought to be a mite shorter than usual.

One new rule adopted by the nine-man official rules committee at their annual meeting states that a pitcher must deliver the ball to the plate 20 seconds after he has received it from his catcher. Another says the batter cannot step out of the box after the pitcher has come to a set position or has begun his windup.

Until the change, pitchers were required to throw 20 seconds after they stepped on the rubber—which gave them all sorts of leeway to wander around the mound as they outwitted a tough hitter. Hitters formerly could be called out if they refused to take their place in the box, but nothing was said about stepping out of the box just as the pitcher made his delivery.

If the umpires enforce these two rules, says James Gallagher, head of the committee, "games should be speeded up."

OTHER CHANGES

Some of the major items in the revision:

A newly-written section of the manual spells out the authority of an umpire. It was discovered that the rules never had explicitly authorized the men in blue to eject players, managers, coaches or anyone else.

The amendments also include the new section determining a league batting champion. From now on, total appearances at the plate, rather than total official times at bat (which excluded walks, sacrifices and getting hit by the pitcher) will be the criterion for determining if a player is eligible for the championship.

Another change adopted at the meeting gives teams the option of using "distinctive" uniforms if they choose. Until this year the rules stated that white uniforms would be used at home and grey while on the road.

AT THE BELLE — Gregory Peck and Jane Wyman as Penny and Ma Baxter in "The Yearling", Technicolor illustration of Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings' novel. One of the most popular pictures ever made. It is now being shown in the Belle Theatre, Picton, in Technicolor. Also Technicolor Cartoon Revue. Two MGM outdoor masterpieces.

Head Showing Erratic Form, Edgy Nerves

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Australia's problem boy, Lew Hoad, being worked harder than he has in months, continued to show erratic form and edgy nerves Friday in warming up for next week's Davis Cup challenge round.

In contrast the underdog Americans, also practising in the main enclosure of the Memorial Drive courts, had what captain Bill Talbert called "our happiest session yet."

"Seixas is playing wonderfully well," the U.S. captain said. "He is in the best frame of mind I think I have seen him and Herbie Flam also is coming along splendidly."

While it apparently would take a major collapse of the Australian team to give the Americans much hope in the matches, starting next Wednesday, there was some consolation in the wretched-ness of Hoad.

The blond Wimbledon champion played four sets with junior members of the Australian team, Roy Emerson and Ashley Cooper, and lost his service five times.

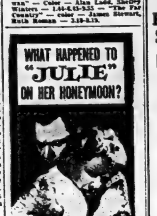
AT THE McCARTHY — Tim Hovey is a bit rebellious about being made by Maureen O'Hara to masquerade as a little girl in this scene from "Everything But The Truth", Universal-International picture in Eastman Color in which they and John Forsythe co-star. Opens Monday at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.



AT THE PARK — He's Girl Shy!—Following a string of dramatic roles, Robert Taylor switches to comedy in MGM's rollicking "Many Rivers to Cross," in which he is seen as a happy-go-lucky pioneer trapper who hankers to avoid matrimony until he meets up with predatory Eleanor Parker. The new picture, filmed in Cinemascope and color, opens this Monday at the Park Theatre. On the same program in Technicolor "The Court Jester" starring Danny Kaye. Matinee daily all next week except Christmas Day. Regular Christmas evening show at 7.00 p.m.

Clint Walker Saddle-Sore After Doing 28 Westerns

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In 18 months Clint Walker has starred in the equivalent of 28 feature westerns. And boy, he's kinda saddle-sore.

Clint is the giant hunk of man who stars fortnightly on Warner Brothers' Cheyenne, on ABC Tuesday nights. It is the sole TV survivor of the original three - part show Casablanca and King's Row were the other segments and has racked up amazing ratings.

"I'm grateful for the show," said Clint, "but I'm also pretty tired.

"I've had only a week's vacation in a year and a half. It takes seven or eight days to film the show and we have to do one every two weeks. The other days are taken up with sound dubbing, tests, publicity and personal appearances.

WANTS A FEATURE

"It's been a tough go, and I don't see how the situation is going to get any better if the show continues. I have been promised a feature picture, but there would be no time to do one under the present schedule," Clint admitted, "that be would like to escape the series.

"There are many disadvantages for an actor. We often start a show without a finished script and I'll get my lines 15 minutes before I'm supposed to say them."

Clint was signed by Warners on a regular contract, then tested for Cheyenne and won it. He was discovered while acting in The 10 Commandments.

"I was the parachute's guard," he explained. "I didn't have any lines, but I was always close to the pharaoh. That's a good thing. There were a lot of actors who were cut out of the picture. They couldn't cut me out."

Your Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Monday, December 24, 1956

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Star aspects urge self-restraint, thoughtfulness. Don't indulge in unholy appetites, pleasures.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Favorable for the good intentions and actions belonging to this holy season. Give aid to those less fortunate than yourself, hope to be lonely, ill. You'll be blessed.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Influences stress modesty, charity, helpfulness. There is nothing so richly rewarding as the knowledge that you have helped another.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Many interests and activities are honored now but today should induce quiet reflection (without neglecting duties) and gratitude for all blessings.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Planetary configurations frown on selfishness. Reach out and assist those in need — even of the bare necessities for existence.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Let nothing dampen your spirits, discourage you from pursuing worthwhile goals, doing good deeds. No matter what others do, you follow the dictates of your conscience.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — The unusual in ideas and endeavors highly sponsored. Follow a pattern of wholesome usefulness and nothing will irritate you.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Avoid over-aggressiveness. This applies to individuals and groups alike. Carry on leniently; pray.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — The aspects are neither too stimulating nor too restrictive now. Much will be determined by your position, your obligations — also what you desire to do.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Planetary aspects caution against making unnecessary drastic changes or quick decisions. Faith and high principles will see you through. Selling, buying, handling commodities favored.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — You are indeed favored during this fine Uranus period. The unusual, new and unique honored. Do not dally with the purposeless; give time, attention to truly progressive activity, family affairs.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Shipping, dealing in beverages, chemicals, toiletries, perfumes, etc., favored; also confidential matters. Surprises, happy doings, childrens' interests in top favor.

You born today possess high principles, are stable and, living rightly, are capable in a constructive, splendid way. You may be too sensitive at times and fail to show loved ones your deep affection. You may have unusual talent for writing, surely for organization work, stage, screen and like interests. Whatever you do, keep at it hopefully, cheerfully for you can reach a high level. Keep studying, improving; enjoy the outdoors. Birthdate: Matthew Arnold, poet, critic.

SNAPPY RESCUE

GRANBY, Que. (CP) — Traffic constable E. Brodeur zigzagged his motorcycle through heavy traffic and with one arm reached out and grabbed three-year-old Gerard Marquis, riding unnoticed on the back of his father's delivery truck. Th child was losing his grip.

ATTENTION!! CONTRACTORS

Opportunity For Winter Employment

It is the intention of the Corporation of the City of Belleville to provide a parking lot on premises presently occupied by buildings formerly known as the Belleville Lock Company, 270 Pinnacle St., Belleville, Ontario.

These buildings, of cut stone, brick, timber, frame and some steel, are from one to four stories in height. Mortar is generally of a soft variety.

Included is a four storey elevator, sprinkler systems throughout, steam-heating plant with stoker and various other features.

The Corporation of the City of Belleville therefore invites sealed proposals to remove these buildings and contents in accordance with specifications and plans prepared. Closing date for proposals 5 p.m., January 15th, 1957.

Arrangements to inspect the property and obtain specifications may be made through the office of the

CITY MANAGER;
City of Belleville, Ont.

Brakes Are Not Always at Fault

By EUGENE MILMOE

Generally, complaints about poor or noisy braking are traced to some part of the brake system itself—but, not always.

If the brakes tend to grab or to drag at one wheel, you might discover that loose or worn front wheel bearings are actually at fault. The bearings have also been found guilty in many squealing and chattering brake mysteries. Loose suspension parts are sometimes responsible for brake chatter, too, and it's not unusual to learn that a dry shock absorber is causing what you had assumed was a brake squeal every time you slowed down or stopped.

Wheel misalignment, incorrect tire pressures or sizes, a maladjusted steering gear and again, faulty bearings, can be the list of suspects when a car pulls to one side as the brakes are applied.

P.A. writes: "My car, a 1952 model with standard shift, has lately developed a grinding noise. A mechanic said it's from the transmission, but he can't be sure of the reason unless I let him take it down. The hum is noticeable in reverse and all forward speeds, but it isn't heard when the engine runs in neutral."

(A) A worn (front or rear) transmission bearing is probably the cause.

E.T. asks: "Please settle a discussion in our office by describing what the driver should do when his car starts to skid. We are principally interested in the correct steering and braking procedures."

(A) When your car starts skidding, turn or steer in the direction of the skid and keep your foot away from the brake pedal. As soon as you stop the skid motion and have control of the car, keep jabbing the pedal lightly in order to brake safely.

From E.F.: "When I had my 1951 model winterized this year, I filled up with the alcohol type of antifreeze and put in a new winter thermostat. Whenever the weather warms up now, the antifreeze boils away. Should I change back to the old thermostat?"

(A) In cold weather, alcohol tends to boil off when a high opening thermostat is used. Why not change to permanent-type antifreeze and leave the winter thermostat in? You should have no trouble after that.

* * *

Mrs. F.P. WRITES: "I have a 1946 model which runs beautifully and just passed inspection, yet there is a strong smell of oil always present. The latest opinion from a local garage blames the piston rings. This is the fourth one to tell me something different. What is your opinion? There is no leakage that I can see, the car does not use much oil and I rarely drive it over 35.

(A) A clogged crankcase ventilating system which increases oil pressure may be responsible for these fumes. However, worn rings can also bring about a pressure increase, allowing combustion gases to blow into the crankcase.

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT

Hearty Dinner Integral Part Of Christmas Day

LONDON (Reuters)—Wherever Christmas is observed, a hearty Christmas dinner is part of the holiday celebrations.

In France, it is eaten in the early hours of Christmas morning following midnight mass. In the British Isles, it is a midday affair after morning church service. Swedish-style, it is eaten on Christmas Eve.

Italy: Antipasto; codfish; roast kid, with spit-boiled chicken; dessert and wines.

France: Pate de foie gras (liver paste); oysters; de poisson (fish course); dinde farcie aux marrons (roast turkey with chestnut stuffing); buche de Noel (Christmas cake in shape of a log); cheese, fruit and wines.

Fugland: Soup; roast stuffed turkey with fruit sauce; roast potatoes and brussels sprouts; plum pudding with brandy; mince pie; wine.

Germany: Main course of roast goose, red cabbage and potato balls.

New Zealand (Where summer prevails): Fruit cup; whitebait (fried in butter) roast lamb and mint sauce, or cold ham, roast potatoes and peas; salads.

Brazil: Batida (a cocktail); bacalhau (cod fish, Portuguese style); rice and beans; pineapple.

Space Suits and Rocket Guns Moving Slowly But Demand For Cowboy Suits, Dolls High

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Young Canadian boys will repel the space invaders this Christmas—wearing 10-gallon hats and slinging six-shooters.

Little girls, meanwhile, will cautiously accept some aspects of the modern age—scale models of electric ranges, refrigerators and washing machines. But they'll be keeping house for their perennial favorites—dolls.

A Canadian Press survey of Christmas toy sales shows space suits and rocket guns have been moving slowly in stores across the country. But the demand for cowboy suits and dolls has been even better than ever.

FOR YOUNG MECHANIC

Other best sellers include remote-control aircraft, battery - driven trucks and bulldozers, electric trains, and construction equipment. Do-it-yourself kits — for children who like to assemble things — are also showing increased sales.

While youngsters are generally turning their backs on the atomic age, a few of the old-fashioned are fading from the picture. Toy soldiers, once the delight of generations of little boys, are virtually outdated.

One noticeable trend across the country is the general improvement in quality of toys on the market. Almost all Canadian provinces report parents are willing to spend slightly higher prices for better toys this year.

The estimated $30,000 toy industry has a few problems, however, with foreign imports — cheaper makes — noticeably Japanese — invading the market.

Most toy advances during recent years have been variations on traditional themes. A good example is the Flying Saucer—a circular sled of aluminum or fibre glass especially popular in the east. It features side handles for the rider to hold while spinning down snowy slopes.

Toy stores show the impact of modern scientific and educational advances, however. Plastic gives them additionably life-like appearance while. In keeping with today's progressive education trend, their behavior is designed to train budding mothers."

In the same direction, little girls from Toronto to Regina are asking for mopped-dirt cakes for cakes, puddings and pies Christmas just

Quebec City stores report parents are paying an average of $2 to $3 for a toy for children, while one Toronto department store reports the latest child-sized sports car from France at $300.

St. John's, Newfoundland, one of Canada's leading toy - industry centres, reports youngsters are more interested in horses than cowboy outfits. They also report a demand for cowboy suspenders of the type popular a year of television westerns.

BACK TO ROBIN HOOD

Meanwhile, the toy soldier era is echoed in a miniature castle complete with small rubberized versions of the fierce features a Burp Gun run by batteries—guaranteed to be the loudest toy that fires alarmingly real blasts.

Working model telephone systems and radio sets are popular generally. In Halifax a mechanical wrestler and skating rink are the retail players can be changed to represent several rival teams' also includes a trophy for presentation to family tournament champions.

The Week's News

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

News of war and international politics had competition this week from the usual preoccupation with "inside job" thefts in the business world, an English murder case involving a fashionable doctor and rich old ladies, and a bizarre level-crossing accident.

In Montreal, one of the city's biggest companies, the firm of Moat and Company, Just six years short of completing 100 years in business, the firm was forced into bankruptcy this week because of the embezzlement of $700,000 worth of negotiable securities. A 31-year-old clerk was arrested in Miami, Fla., in connection with the case.

The second theft concerned secret oil company maps worth millions of dollars. The Gulf Oil Company reported a trusted employee in its Pittsburgh offices, apparently weighed down with gambling debts, stole the company's maps of potential oil-producing areas and sold them to racketeering speculators.

MYSTERY MURDER

Wealthy widows in their twilight years go to Eastbourne, on the English south coast, to enjoy its mild climate and the sea breezes and rounding. Many of them die there. Last year Dr. John Bodkin Adams attended something peculiar about the circumstances under which some 200 of them died. Detectives showed special interest in their wills.

This week a chubby, round-faced doctor, John Bodkin Adams, 57, was arrested and charged with the murder of one of his patients, an 81-year-old widow. When she died six years ago, leaving $175,000, her death was certified as due to a stroke and her body cremated. At that time Adams said he had, on previous occasions, been the woman's death.

MACABRE ACCIDENT

Recipe for tragedy: take a 1938 jalopy, load it with 13 people, one weighing 250 pounds, then speed at between 70 and 80 miles an hour in the direction of an unprotected level - crossing. Result, carnage.

That's what happened last Monday night in Glengarry County, Ont., got to the crossing at the same time as a train, doing about 75 miles an hour. Twelve of the 13 car occupants were killed, making it the worst accident of its kind on record.

WELLINGTON — "Memories of the Manger" was the title of the Cantata presented by the senior and junior choirs of Wellington United Church on Sunday evening.

Lighted trees and a manger scene made an effective setting.

A capacity congregation was present. Much credit is due to Miss Jack McNeill and the choirs for an inspiring presentation. Order of the evening's program:

Organ prelude; junior choir, "Joyful Holy;" senior choir, "O Memories of the Manger;" senior choir, "The Light of Love"; junior choir, "Christmas is Come"; ladies quartet, "The Night Divine," by Mesdames H. Bell, A. Northcott, H. Bishop, G. Ayres; choirs and congregation, carol; solo, "O Lovely Night," by Mary Bladon; tenor and bass duet, "No Room"; choirs and congregation, carol; solo, "Heaven Is Very Near"; junior choir, "Angels We Have Heard on High"; men's quartet, "Hymn"; "The Angel's Song"; choir and congregation, "Hallelujah Chorus"; "O Little Town of Bethlehem"; solo, "Our Hearts Turn To Thee," by Dorothy Bladon; carol service, "The Shepherds"; all chorus, "Sleep Little Son"; solo, "Wonderful World has Need of Thee"; solo "A Shepherd and a Saviour," by Mrs. McNeill; junior choir, "Praise the New Born King"; and benediction by Mrs. A. Poulter.

Wellington

WELLINGTON—Last Saturday afternoon was a gala day for the children of Wellington and district, when they all gathered at the town hall to see Santa Claus.

Three films suitable for children were shown by Mr. M. Sniderman, which everyone enjoyed. Next came the big event when Santa Claus made his appearance and the eldest present was called to the platform to distribute the bags. Now.

On Sunday afternoon Branch 160 of the Canadian Legion, held its annual Santa Claus Christmas party in the Legion hall.

The children received games and sang carols until along came Santa Claus, each child receiving a present, bag of candy and an orange.

After Santa Claus had departed they all (about 100) sat down to a delicious pot-luck dinner served by some of the ladies present.

The Swamp College Euchre club held its semi-monthly party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Baitley. Five tables were in play with prizes going to Mrs. J. Watt, ladies' high; Mrs. R. Allison, ladies' low; Mr. Norman Allison, men's high and Mr. Jim Denard, men's low.

After the games were over, the hostess served refreshments.

This little village here on the lake front is a sight to see these nights. Various colored lights are strung across the road from one end of the village to the other. Lighted Christmas trees, with lots of color all through are making it look more like Christmas than any year yet. Also many of the newly formed business men's club and the Wellington council.

Union Rejects Board's Report, Calls Strike Vote

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian Pacific Railway Friday announced acceptance of a conciliation board's report in a dispute with the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen (CLC). The union has rejected the report and called a strike vote for next Wednesday.

Key issue in the dispute is the future of firemen-helpers on diesel locomotives.

D. I. McNeill, CPR's vice-president of personnel, released the text of a letter to the labor department stating that the railway accepted the board's recommendations, providing for a 15-per-cent wage increase, and adding:

"The company has an obligation to the public of Canada to eliminate the unnecessary expense resulting from the continued employment of firemen on road freight and yard diesels. Increased cost of transportation has made it necessary for Canadian Pacific to apply for general freight rate increases which are becoming more difficult to make effective because of the impact of competition and the insistence of various regions of Canada that higher transportation costs are adversely affecting their economy."

"These facts make it particularly urgent that all unnecessary expense be eliminated by Canadian Pacific. . . .

"The report offers little immediate relief to this burden of unnecessary costs now being borne by the shipping public. The company, however, has given full consideration to the reasons that have led the board to recommend substantial delay in the removal of firemen and protection for all firemen now employed by the company.

"Acceptance of the report means that most firemen will not be affected. . . . A small number now employed by the company will be transferred to other work with no loss of pay or, if they wish to resign, will receive severance pay."

37 Accidental Deaths So Far In Holiday Season

468 Killed in States With 397 Dead in Traffic Mishaps

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Highway deaths were reported in all but three provinces—Manitoba, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island—as Canadians today reached the mid-way point of the long Christmas holiday week-end, a five-day break for many.

A Canadian Press survey which began at 6 p.m. local time Friday recorded 37 accidental deaths—21 in road mishaps.

Fires took the lives of six persons, two were killed by burning in accident, one in a farm accident, and a baby boy suffocated in his crib.

By the time the holiday period ends at midnight Christmas Day, the death toll is expected to surpass the 68 recorded during last year's three-day Christmas holiday. The Canadian highway safety conference has predicted 90 persons will be killed in highway accidents during the holiday.

The only province without an accidental death of any kind was P.E.I.

31 IN ONTARIO

Eleven persons died in Ontario, nine on the highways. Quebec had 10 fatalities, seven in traffic. Saskatchewan had four traffic deaths, British Columbia three, Nova Scotia land two, and Alberta and Nova Scotia one each.

Ontario deaths:

Traffic—Mrs. Helen Logie, 28, of Brockville, in a head-on collision 30 miles east of Oshawa;

John Bonnar, 31, of Grimsby in a crash six miles east of Hamilton on the Queen Elizabeth Way;

Mrs. Alice Goodfellow, 83, of Agincourt, in a level crossing accident in Toronto;

John Hagins, 25, when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control on a foggy road near Acton;

Edouard Rochon, 20, of Hull, Que., struck by a car as he walked from his stalled truck to remove a bottle from the highway near Wendover;

Mrs. Edward Pitre, 75, hit by a car as she crossed a Windsor street;

Alfred Cain, 72, from injuries suffered when his car crashed into a hydro pole two miles north of Perth;

Wilfrid Bannon, 22, struck by a car in Windsor;

George Thompson, 23, when his car struck another automobile and plunged down a 15-foot embankment west of Belleville.

Fires—Mrs. Frances Peers, 56, burned to death in her Toronto home.

Miscellaneous — William Gladdings, four months, suffocated in his crib in Toronto.

CHICAGO (CP)—The tragic toll of dead and injured mounted steadily across the United States today as the long Christmas holiday slipped past the mid - way point.

Highway traffic accidents took their lives up to 5 a.m. EST, and the total for all accidents climbed to 468. There were 26 persons killed by fire and 45 in miscellaneous accidents with about 65 deaths listed for the four-day, 96-hour period.

The National Safety Council reported early today that unless drivers used greater caution during the remainder of the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday local time, the council forecast of a record 650 killed on the highways will be exceeded. Council President Howard H. Darnes said, "It is becoming increasingly evident that the estimate may be surpassed."

RECORD LAST YEAR

Last year's three-day Christmas weekend holiday period traffic death record of 609. The over-all Christmas holiday death toll in 1955 was 23 less than the all-time holiday total set during the 1955 New Year's Independence Day period in 1955. The Christmas record toll is 789 for 1951 for the same holiday period.

A mixture of snow, fog, freezing drizzle and rain made driving conditions hazardous Saturday and Sunday in many parts of eastern U.S.

The National Safety Council estimated that for each person killed outright or dying soon after in traffic accidents, 30 are injured.

In Meriden, Conn., a mother and her two children perished and four others were injured in a quick-spreading fire in a five-apartment apartment building Sunday night.

Jumps From Train

CANASTOTA, N.Y. (AP)—Florence Spofford, 80, of Peterborough, Ont., telephone operator, suffered severe injuries Saturday when she jumped from a westbound New York Central train as it neared the station here at 50 miles an hour. Her condition in hospital was listed as critical.

Police said Miss Spofford boarded the train at Utica, N.Y., and identified her as a passenger. A priest aboard the train had at first prevented her from jumping but later also leaped when no one was near her.

IRAQ'S PREMIER WARNS EGYPT OF INTERFERENCE

Nuri Said Angered By Nasser's Attacks

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Premier Nuri Said, Iraq's 68-year-old strong man, has warned Egypt and its "satellites" that the Iraqis themselves will determine what is good for them.

Iraq has been attacked frequently by Egypt, Syria and Russia for its membership in the Western-supported Baghdad pact which also includes Britain. The attacks have increased since the British-French attack in the Suez Canal zone.

His eyes flashing, Said told Egyptian President Nasser a dictator and said "there is no cause for him to criticize Iraq."

He said that the decision on whether Iraq adheres to the Baghdad defence treaty is a question within Iraq's sovereignty.

REJECT INVITATION

Meanwhile, in Syria Arab diplomatic sources said that Syria, Egypt, Jordan and Saudi Arabia have rejected the turn down Iran's invitation for a Middle East conference on disputes, including Israeli states. Informants said the four thought such a meeting would be premature. Iraq, Turkey, and Pakistan have accepted Iran's bid.

In Damascus, a reliable source said Syria would be handed over "runaway conspirators who prepared a plan to assassinate Nasser during the pilgrimage." The authorities have arrested 47 Syrians on charges of preparing a pro-Iraqi coup. Among them is ex-dictator Adib Shishekly.

Pope Proclaims Morality Of Defensive War in Message

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The Pope has proclaimed the morality of defensive war and called on the world to give the United Nations "the right and power" to prevent aggression.

In some of the strongest words of his 18-year reign, the head of the Roman Catholic Church condemned communism in his annual Christmas message for trying "to impose on all peoples, in one way or another, a special and intolerable way of life."

The message was carried by radio to hundreds of millions in countries around the world.

The Pope made it clear that, in the eyes of the Roman Catholic Church, the freedom fighters of Hungary had the moral right to resist Russian force with force.

Against communism, he said, "under the unanimous and courageous behavior of all who love the truth and the good can preserve their honor, and will preserve it." As usual, he did not call communism by name but he left no doubt of his target.

The 80-year-old pontiff said nations such as Hungary, which refuse to admit UN observers, could be refused membership in the United Nations.

The world organization, he continued, should have "the right and power of forestalling if necessary intervention of one state in another . . . and also the right and power of assuming by means of sufficient police force, the safeguarding of the country that is threatened. . . ."

"Only in the ambit of an institution like the United Nations can promises of nations to reduce armaments, especially to restrict production and use of certain arms, be mutually exchanged under the strict obligation of international law."

For the second successive year, the Pope endorsed President Eisenhower's "open skies" disarmament inspection plan which provides for aerial inspection to assure observance of disarmament pledges. And he solidly backed the West's demands for disarmament with iron-clad controls.

Wearing regal robes of white and gold, the frail but vigorous pontiff spoke today from his throne in the Consistory Hall of the Vatican Palace.

He emphasized that he has not abandoned the mission of peace which has been a chief objective of his reign.

"We remain closely allied to the cause of peace," the Pope said.

"There is no longer room for doubt concerning the aims and methods which rely on tanks, when these latter nobody can doubt bombers showing death in order to force civilian peoples into forms of life they either explicitly detest."

The Pope praised the "generous Hungarian nation on the part of all our beloved sons, of charitable organizations of entire nations, and also of fair-minded newspapers."

He closed his 7,000-word message on a note of encouragement: "Peace is the fruit of men's effort, but also a priceless gift of God."

In Communist Poland, the Catholic primate there was offered the use of Warsaw radio to broadcast a Christmas message. Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski was released from detention in October, after the new nationalist Communist government came to power.

Canal Clearance Work Delayed, No Egyptian O.K.

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—The question of using British and French salvage vessels in clearing the Suez Canal has again delayed work on the blocked waterway. A United Nations salvage fleet, following British and French ships, is ready to go to work but Egypt still has not given the go-ahead.

It was thought salvage operations could be started south of Port Said as soon as British and French vessels completed their withdrawal from Egypt. The last of the soldiers left Tuesday. Some British and French salvage ships remained behind as part of the 50-ship salvage fleet, with their crews wearing civilian clothes and the blue-and-white UN flag flying in place of their national pennants.

But the fleet has not moved from Port Said harbor. An Egyptian Suez Canal Authority official said the man back in Cairo from her home at gunpoint.

Wiegner faces charges of auto theft, assault and escape.

NO LONGER SPRUCE

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — The city clerk's office put up its counter-top Christmas tree Thursday, gaily decorated with ornaments and Christmas greetings. But the office heat proved too much for the three-foot spruce. By afternoon every needle had dropped off.

Young Wife Wants to Be With Her Mother

DENVER (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Cle Ann Wiegner said Saturday she has decided to go home with mother, apparently ending a three-week estrangement from her husband of five weeks, Mike, threatened grab by Mrs. Wiegner against Mr. and Mrs. John Mowatt "if they don't get Ann away from me."

Wiegner is an escapee from Napa Quilt, state mental hospital.

Police are recovering from injuries received when a stolen car in which they were speeding from 10 police cars here last Thursday crashed into a deep ravine.

Two days earlier, the Mowatts told police that Wiegner and his young man took Cle Ann from her

NEHRU REAFFIRMS SUPPORT OF COMMONWEALTH

Leaves Ottawa by Air To Visit With Eden

OTTAWA (CP)—Indian Prime Minister Nehru's Christmas gift to Canada appears to have been reaffirmation of his country's support for the British Commonwealth Association.

He even suggested that the Commonwealth "way," which he defined as peaceful co-operation and coexistence despite differences, might well be extended to cover all countries of the world.

Mr. Nehru left here by air Saturday night for London and talks with Prime Minister Eden of Britain. Two days of private conversations with Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson.

He told a press conference Saturday that the Commonwealth had suffered—but survived—a severe shock when Britain undertook armed intervention in Egypt.

PRESERVE ALL DIDBEES

He said the Commonwealth could preserve its unity in spite of the tendencies in the world, he said, that he was not prepared to break up any associations or bridge now in existence.

Mr. Nehru said his conversations with Mr. St. Laurent were not concerned with any particular problem because there were no problems between India and Canada.

The "two friends" had discussed world problems, he said, only in reference that India has found Canada has shown greater appreciation than most Western nations of the realities of Asia today.

Canada had performed a "very important service" in being, in some ways, a link between the Commonwealth and non-Commonwealth countries.

Warns Against Hysteria Over Few Red Agents

TORONTO (CP) — Immigration Minister Pickersgill said Saturday any hysteria over possibility of a few Communist agents slipping into Canada with Hungarian refugees could be put down by one of the refugees.

In an address to the Jewish Immigrant Aid Services of Canada, he said that with the best screening devised such numbers of people could not be moved without a Communist agents getting through.

White Christmas Only For North And Prairies

Travel Heavy as Canadians Rush to Spend Yule at Home

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Unless you live in Northern Ontario or the Prairies — or, of course, the Far North — your chances of enjoying a white Christmas are not good.

Holiday weather forecasts for most of the Maritimes, the Pacific coast and Southern Ontario were for clouds with some rain. Quebec and Northern Ontario colder but the best that can be expected is a spotty white Christmas.

Parts of Northern Ontario and the Prairie provinces have had snow ranging from a few inches in the southern regions to a foot farther north. More is expected in most areas.

The weather, putting people in the Christmas shopping spirit, has been kind to such places as Calgary where sales are the best in years. Storekeepers say they can't remember when shopping began so early, remained at a steady and finished with such a bang.

HEAVY TRAVEL

Travel by all methods is heavy as thousands make their way home for Christmas. The rail and railway lines are extra equipment into service in many areas.

Other transportation official reported: "It's terrific this year, better than in the days when we had indirect accommodations were booked up earlier this year than last, most of it in September and October."

Many areas report heavy highway travel, particularly in the Maritimes where roads are clear of snow. Southern Ontario reported above - average temperatures and even in the Ottawa area, where there has been snow, rain was expected to end the last sign of it before Christmas Day.

Many in the Toronto area who intended to leave by plane during the weekend were grounded by fog which grounded aircraft. Motor travel was also cut.

Generally mild skies and seasonable temperatures ranged over the western half of the country. Conditions contrasting with rather unpleasant weather for pre-holiday travelling and shopping in most of the east.

Showers were in the works for the Ohio valley and rain was expected along the Atlantic seaboard.

Tornadoes struck isolated portions of the deep south Sunday. The gulf coast was doused with two to six inches of rain.

Heavy snow in the east has followed snowstorms which blanketed portions of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Boy Loses Both Legs Under Engine As He Tries to Get Mother a Gift

EVERETT, Wash. (AP) — Christmas will not be as nine-year-old Robert Horbes Long had planned it but his mother will get the gift he intended to buy, which Robert nearly gave his life Saturday.

Robert had both legs amputated while he was hunting for bottles in the Newport, Wash., railroad yards here. The little boy told ambulance driver Lonnie Nichols he had been looking for bottles to sell "so I could buy mommy a Christmas present."

He had already collected 16 cents for bottles when he went to the railroad yards. A switching engine ran over him.

On his way to the hospital he told Nichols he knew he had lost both legs—the left one above the knee, the right one below the knee. He told Nichols he had lost the 16 cents.

Police and city firemen and railroad employees heard about it, and contributed. Nichols hasn't revealed how much was collected, but he says there was enough for a present. And what is left over will provide the nucleus for a fund for Robert's future.

About that present for his mother, Robert remarked: "I know what it is but he's not telling. And neither is young Robert.

FLOOD FATAL TO 25

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) Reports from Passa Quatro, a resort town in Minas Gerais state, Sunday night said 25 persons were drowned and 30 are missing in floods caused by heavy rainfall. Reports said collapse of about 20 houses, the report said.

Mason Estate Gives $955,000 To Hospital

SUDBURY (CP)—Bonds worth $190,000 and a cheque for $50,000 were presented Sunday to Sudbury Memorial Hospital by Mayor George Milner on behalf of the estate of W. E. Mason, longtime owner and publisher of the Sudbury Star until his death in 1942.

This brings to $955,000 the amount paid the hospital from the estate, Mr. Mason left 40 per cent of his estate for building the hospital, and this original amount has been increased by investments. The estate was probated at $1,600,000.

Today's Chuckle

Old age has many fine things about it. For instance, you can whistle while you wash your teeth.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Fog which covered much of southeastern Ontario during the night will dissipate early this morning, as a storm centre moves northeastward across the province. After the storm, cold air will push into all Ontario regions and afternoon temperatures today will be somewhat lower than in early morning. Some snowflurry activity is expected.

Little change is indicated for Christmas Day. A weak of Pacific storm is moving over the Rockies and should affect only extreme northwestern Ontario regions.

1,700 Christian Arabs From Israel Go Into Jordan on Yule Pilgrimage

JERUSALEM (AP) — A procession of 1,700 Christian Arabs from Israel crossed into Jordan today on a Christmas pilgrimage to Christendom's holy places.

The aftermath of recent Middle East hostilities made this a somber, almost sad Christmas in the Holy Land.

The crossing began at dawn, but by mid-morning hundreds had passed through the Mandelbaum Gate into the Jordanian Old City of Jerusalem.

Usually 7,000 to 10,000 make the pilgrimage. But there was only a sprinkling of pilgrims from foreign lands. The annual influx of tourists, archeologists, scholars and others was all but halted by the recent fighting.

Many of the pilgrims who made the crossing arrived in Israel by boat from Biblical Nazareth, Jaffa and other Arab communities in Israel.

They will return Tuesday evening after visits to Christian shrines in the old city and to Bethlehem, two miles south of Jerusalem in Jordan.

As Christian pilgrims gathered in Jerusalem on Israel, a police spokesman reported a raid by Jordanian infiltrators. He said they wrecked a dispensary in a village in northern Israel.

In Jerusalem, the divided holy city where barbed wire forces separate Arab and Jew, authorities expected only about 1,700 pilgrims to cross today from the Israeli sector into Jordan for the annual Christmas Eve services in Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity and nearby Shepherds' Field.

Most of the pilgrims are Christian Arabs, predominantly Greek Orthodox who came from Nazareth and Jaffa and other communities in Israeli.

Best Wishes For A Merry Christmas

Christmas Tree Fire in Hospital Takes Six Lives

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A gaily-lit Christmas tree shot flames and smoke through a hospital Sunday, claiming the lives of six persons and injuring seven others in critical condition.

The fire, set off by defective wiring in a Christmas tree light chain, roared up through a funnel-like stairway off the lobby of Doctors' Hospital. Sixty patients were in the 44-year-old, 125-bed medical center.

The victims, all of whom suffocated, were identified as:

Mrs. Ella M. Mullins, 82; Miss Caroline Vale, 73; Mrs. Lydia Beckes, 66; Mrs. Sara K. Stone, 75; Miss Mary S. Balliet, 47, and Clarence O. Green, 53, all of Minneapolis.

A baby boy in an incubator was rescued from the blaze and died a few hours later from a combined heart condition.

A stream of ambulances, public and private, from city and suburbs, jammed streets in the thickly populated district of Loring Park to take victims of the early morning fire to other hospitals.

TALKED OUT OF JUMPING

Firemen talked numerous people out of leaping from windows in the five-storey structure. Others at windows were guided down ladders, others — mainly the elderly and seriously ill — were swathed in bedsheets and carried to safety.

Three of the fatalities occurred at the scene. The others died later of smoke inhalation.

Green, a major in the Salvation Army, was suffocated in his bed, held captive by wrecked traction splints fitted for his broken leg.

Fire department and hospital officials placed the damage at $100,000.

Editor-in-Chief Of Vancouver Herald Resigns

VANCOUVER (CP)—Gerald M. Brown, for years prominent in Canadian newspaper life, announced Sunday night his resignation as publisher and editor-in-chief of the Vancouver Herald, effective Jan. 1. The Herald, a morning publication, is one of the Thomson newspapers.

He said no publisher was making the decision known to his staff, Neil J. McKinnon, executive vice-president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, announced in Toronto that Mr. Brown has been appointed assistant to the president and a member of the bank's executive group.

Land Area Designated Access Zone

A piece of land 19½ miles long by 300 feet wide has been designated as a controlled access zone for the construction of the superhighway 401 from Highway 38 to Napanee.

The newly-designated zone begins at the new Highway 38, and one-half miles west of the present one, and runs straight west, exiting about one-half mile north of Odessa to a point one and one-half miles north of Napanee.

From there, the new superhighway swings north around Napanee and runs parallel to the Old Belleville Road straight west about one and one-half miles north of Marysville and Shannonville.

Proceedings are under way to complete the purchase of the land required for the highway, part of which has already been bought.

No date has yet been set for initial surveys and preliminary construction for the new road.

The land required for modern highways is declared "controlled access" land before the actual construction begins as a money-saving move to prevent construction near the highway which might lead to conditions where a 30-mile per hour speed limit would have to be imposed, reducing the effectiveness of the highway.

According to the Highway Improvement Act of 1950, erecting buildings, fences, hedges, signs or any other construction is forbidden within 300 feet of the edge of the right of way and within 600 feet of the intersecting rights of way where another highway or road joins the controlled access section.

In addition, no entries or exits are permitted to the controlled access other than those which shall be named by the department of highways. Certain roads are closed where they intersect with the controlled access.

The wide 150-foot section on each side of the right of way is required for service roads as are needed beside the main highway, as construction builds up.

On the mark of the Queen Elizabeth Highway, west of Toronto, service roads have been built parallel to the "Queen E" to fill the needs of communities which have been left near the highway.

Entries and exits are permitted to the service roads.

Mayor Makes First Donation

Mayor Jane Forrester is pictured making the first donation on behalf of Hungarian relief. The Salvation Army doled out $1,000 of several hours on Saturday to the fund. Shown above are Capt. C. # 6 People Sent to Hospital In Dozen Motor Accidents

With streets and highways turned into a glare of ice as result of Saturday's freezing rain, city and provincial police were kept on the move investigating close to a dozen motor vehicle accidents which sent six persons to hospital.

None of the injuries was critical.

The long series of motor accidents commenced Saturday morning co-incident with the start of freezing rain. Between 9 and 10 three crashes reported on No. 2 Highway, near the golf course.

A car driven by Patricia McMaster, 178 Bridge St., Belleville, crashed into a tree and Miss McMaster was taken to Belleville General Hospital with facial cuts.

Shortly after two vehicles crashed near Bayside with only minor damage and no injuries.

However, a second crash occurred near 9:30 when eight cars vehicles driven by Stephen Stefureni, Detroit, and William Gandy, Trenton, collided. Mrs. Elanora Stefureni was taken to hospital.

THREE INJURED

Sunday three persons were taken to hospital as result of a two-vehicle crash on No. 14 Highway near the 401 Highway.

Patrick Whyte, Trenton, was northbound in a car. He entered the detour at the 401 crossing, his car struck the curb and went out of control, crossing the roadway to collide head-on with a southbound car driven by Leonard Furney, 56 Graham Street, Belleville.

Two passengers in the Furney car, Miss Fay Hamilton, 63 South Front Street, and Mrs. Muriel Jamieson, 96 Catherine Street, and G. McLaughlin, Trenton, in the Whyte car, were taken to hospital. Mr. McLaughlin was released following a consultation. None of the women suffered a broken ankle.

Still another accident on No. 14 Highway, this time at the 4th concession of Thurlow intersection, saw a car driven by John Melnechuck, RCAF, Trenton, go out of control and skid into a parked car 20 feet off the highway. Melnechuck was taken to hospital with a broken rib.

All injured were taken to hospital by Bush's ambulance.

ACCIDENTS IN CITY

In the city also there was a series of accidents, although no injuries resulted.

Early Sunday morning Douglas Hall, 36, was driving on Dundas Street, when a car came over the hill without lights. He swerved to avoid the oncoming car and slammed into a hydro pole. Heavy damage resulted to the car while the hydro pole was broken by the impact.

On Victoria Ave., cars driven by Clarke Potter, 105 Humewood Drive, and Morris Burke, 24 Bridge Street West, collided as brakes failed to hold on the slippery street, as cars turned to the centre of the roadway to pass another auto. Damage to the Potter car was about $400 and to the Burke auto $25.

IN MEMORIAM

AKEY. — In loving memory of a dear son, Stephen Akey, who passed away December 24th, 1951. He was a flower too sweet for earth, God took him for a while;
God wanted him when He gave him birth.
He took his smile,
—Mommy and Daddy.

ALEXANDER. — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Rachel Alexander, who left us four years ago today, December 24th, 1952.
Dear mother, you are not forgotten,
Though from us early you are torn;
There is a link death cannot sever,
As true always were before.
—Lovingly remembered and always remembered by her daughter Lil, son-in-law Delbert and granddaughter Margaret.

ALEXANDER. — In fond and loving memory of our dear mother, Rachel Alexander, who departed this life four years ago today, December 24th, 1952.
There is no parting from those we love,
No distance can divide;
For today in memory's garden,
Memories linger side by side.
Mother's life is a beautiful memory,
Her death is a sister's grief;
She sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In sunshine and perfect peace.
Some day I pray we will meet again,
Some day only God knows when;
Till then dear Mother,
In the better land,
I'll wait for you.
—Lovingly remembered by daughter Lil, son-in-law Delbert and granddaughters Mary, June and Joe.

ALEXANDER. — In loving memory of a dear father, Wesley Harley, who passed away December 23rd, 1948.
Just a thought of sweet remembrance
Just a memory as we pass
Just the love and sweet devotion,
Of a father dear and true.
—Lovingly remembered by son Kenneth, Laura and grandchildren Donna and Billy.

CORNELL. — In loving memory of a dear father, James W. Cornell, who passed away December 24th, 1954.
We often sit and think of him,
When we are all alone;
For memory is the only friend,
That grief can call its own.
—Ever remembered by daughter Lillian and son Pat.

CORNELL. — In loving memory of a dear father, James W. Cornell, who passed away December 24th, 1954.
Dad left us in silence,
No one knows why;
Recalls the love, the voice, the smile,
Of one that will never die.
—Ever remembered by son Gerald and Carol.

SCOTT. — In loving memory of Mrs. Irene Scott, who passed away December 24th, 1955.
There's no parting from the one we loved,
No distance can divide;
For today in memory's garden,
We walk hand in hand side by side.
—Lovingly remembered by son Freddie and sister-in-law, Gertrude Nash, and sister Marie of Sydney.

PATRICK. — In loving memory of a dear husband, Bert Patrick, who passed away December 24th, 1952.
He left a host of friends behind,
A sorrow too great to be told;
But in the hearts he loved him,
His memory will never grow old.
—Lovingly remembered by wife and Mrs. Gerald Bush and Patsy.

SHADDOCK. — In loving memory of a dear husband, Ben Shaddock, who passed away December 24th, 1952.
Always greatly missed and dearly loved.
—Wife Margaret.

WEESE. — In loving memory of Allan (Jack) Weese, who passed away December 24th, 1954.
He was a flower too sweet for earth,
God took him for a while;
But memory of him gave him birth,
And took him with a smile.

40 Crippled Children Guests At Shrine Club

Santa Claus made a brief visit to about 40 Belleville and district crippled children at the Shrine Club on Highland Ave on Saturday afternoon.

The occasion was the annual Shriners' sponsored Christmas party under the direction of president John R. Bush and the chairmen of the crippled children's welfare and entainment committees, Lee Grills and Kenneth Vivian.

During the afternoon's gaiety the children enjoyed comic movies, which were projected by Neil Halam, and dancing provided by Gale Labby, of Shannonville, and her troupe consisting of Cheryl Juby, Linda Johnson and Terry Stolicker who performed toe and tap dances on crutches. Evelyn Warham provided the piano accompaniment for the Juby dancers while Jimmy Conrad played the piano of Sheila Canning's dance. Mr. Conrad also provided the musical background for carol singing.

Ice cream, soda pop, chocolate milk, sandwiches, candies, hats and favors were given to each child. Walter Thompson of Trenton, supplied the hats and favors.

Highlighting the afternoon was a 30-minute visit by Santa. The white whiskered gentleman of the Pole entered the club amid hearty cheering and gradually made his way to the gaily and beautifully decorated tree where he passed out a gift to every child.

From Trenton came Norman Banfield and about 10 crippled children, joined with the Belleville children in enjoying the well arranged party.

Transportation was provided by Shriners Horace Wright, Tom McCrea, Ken Stephenson, Lisle Crawford, Jack Bush, Lee Grills, Bram Hughes, Al Pierce and Jack Allin. Two foremen from Grill's Dairy, Bill Coleman and Ed. Dougham, also helped to transport the children.

Two nurses from the local St. John Ambulance brigade were in attendance.

CHARGE HUSBAND

GRIMSBY (CP) — Palmer Hill, 21, Saturday night was charged with attempted murder after two shots were fired at his wife. Police said they were called to the Hill home to stop an argument. Both shots missed the woman.

WILLIAM BURNS

MARMORA — A life-long resident of Marmora village passed away in Toronto on Friday, Dec. 14th, in the person of William Burns. He was 81 years of age.

The late Mr. Burns was the son of John Burns and his wife, Jessie Carpenter. He had resided in Marmora all his life until a few months ago when he went to live with his daughter, Miss Clara Burns.

He was an employee of Deloro Refining and Smelting Co. for about fifty years, being one of the first men employed by the Company which is now known as Deloro Mining and Reduction Co.

As a young man he was always keenly interested in the village affairs. He was a member of Bethel Methodist Church.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Elizabeth Dowdard, about a year ago.

He is survived by three daughters and three sons: Miss Clara Burns, Miss Fergs Burns, Mrs. J. Allison and Mr. Frank Burns, all of Toronto, and Arthur Burns of Mimico, and Gordon of Peterborough, and three grandchildren, Sharon, Barbara, and Jimmy Burns; a twin sister, Mrs. George Logan also survives.

The funeral was from the Kay Funeral Home, in Peterborough, where the body rested for the weekend, thence to Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, where Requiem Mass was conducted on Monday morning. Interment was in Sacred Heart cemetery.

WILLIAM JAMES SPRY

The funeral of William James Spry was held from the home of his sister, Mrs. Fred Fletcher, 191 Bridge Street East, on Saturday afternoon. The funeral was under the direction of the Grant Funeral Home, North Front St. Rev. H. M. Davis of Bridge St. United Church, conducted the service in the home and also at the graveside in the 12th Line cemetery in Sidney township.

The bearers were: Jones Spry, Arthur Morrison, Myron Mowbray, Morley Pudlow, William McGie and Roy McKeown.

THOMAS PHILLIP DAFOE

MADOC — The funeral of Thomas Phillip Dafoe, life-long resident of Gilmour, was held on Friday afternoon, December 21st from his residence, to Gilmour United Church where service was conducted by Rev. S. Fuller. The church was filled to capacity and there were many beautiful floral tributes testifying to the high esteem the deceased was held in the community.

Interment took place in Gilmour Cemetery.

The bearers were Burton Baker, Roy Sprackett, Clayton McKenzie, Gordon Reid Lee; Roy Shortt, Jnd Lee; Ross Mathews, Asst. Lect.; Clayton Burkitt, rec. Lect.; Roy Shortt, Asst. Lect.; Ormie Barton, treas.; Thomas Mathews, Chaplain; Baker, O.T.

The committee is composed of Jack Sharpe, Rev. K. E. Beare, Herbert Manning, Murray Bateman and Geo. Thompson.

Brief addresses were given by the elected brothers and by several visiting members, including District Master Earl McAdam, after which lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

PIANO MANUFACTURER

TORONTO (CP)—Thomas Leeming, 87, co-founder of the piano manufacturing firm of Gourlay, Winter and Leeming, died Sunday. He was 87.

Ontario School for the Deaf lane, died suddenly Sunday evening. The body is being taken to the Belleville General Hospital, but not arrived.

Surviving besides his parents is one brother, Larry Garnet Reid, at home, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Reid, R.R. 2, Trenton, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richardson, R.R. 6, Picton.

The funeral announcement appears elsewhere in this edition.

Backyard Turned Into Skating Rink Causes Car to Slide Into River

A gently sloping backyard turned into a skating rink by a quarter inch of ice which coated everything as a result of Saturday's freezing rain, proved an unfortunate set of circumstances for Roy Chisholm, 12 Hamilton Road, who Sunday afternoon suddenly found himself and his car in the centre of Moira River.

Roy was turning his car in the back yard intending to go out the alleyway when the rear end skidded around according to the motion, skidded down over a series of terraces and into the centre of the river, into about three feet of fast-running water just below the bridge there.

The unfortunate motorist was marooned in his car until the arrival of firemen, who tossed him a rope. Roy tied the rope to the car and a tow truck hauled the car to the bank.

The car suffered no damage but the incident provided an hour's diversion for Sunday afternoon motorists passing the scene.

Jail Inmates Will Get Tasty Dinner

The boys "on the hill" are going to fare very well on Christmas Day, according to jailer Robert Scott.

Christmas fare for inmates at the Hastings county jail will be roast pork, potatoes, corn and mince pie.

The Salvation Army under Captain C. Ivany will hold a special service and will show Christmas film as well as shorts and each inmate will receive a bag of treats—compliments of the Salvation Army.

Jail matinee, for the holiday will be about average, it was stated.

Springbrook L.O.L. Officers Are Elected

At the annual meeting of the Springbrook L.O.L. 442, Rt. Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, P.S.M. of Ontario East, presided for the election and installation of the following officers: Peter Hagerman, I.P.M.; Byron Seeley, W.M.; Art Broadworth, D.M.; Ralph Wellman, Chaplain; Alex Grabinski, D.C.; Denton Burkitt, 1st. Lect.; Roy Bateman, 2nd Lect.; Roy Shortt, 2nd Lect.; Ross Mathews, Asst. Lect.; Clayton Burkitt, rec.; Ormie Barton, treas.; Thomas Mathews, Recording Sec.; Ormie Barton, Financial Sec.; Baker, O.T.

The committee is composed of Jack Sharpe, Rev. K. E. Beare, Herbert Manning, Murray Bateman and Geo. Thompson.

Brief addresses were given by the elected brothers and by several visiting members, including District Master Earl McAdam, after which lunch was served and a social hour enjoyed.

Police Continue Safety Check

That provincial police officers are continuing their drive in checking motor vehicles for mechanical defects and this way making the highways more safe, was revealed by Provincial Constable Ted Adgington and Frontenac, a total of 1,000 vehicles were checked, 341 charges being laid and 729 warnings issued.

At the same time the report showed 139 reportable accidents in which four persons were killed and 56 injured.

CAUSE CRASH, ROB MAN

BRANTFORD (CP) — Paul Rorren was beaten up and robbed of $100 Sunday after his car crashed into a ditch. Police said Rosen saw two hitchhikers on the road, swerved to miss them and went into the ditch. They attacked and robbed him.

British Catholic Film Institute O.K.'s 'Baby Doll'

LONDON (Reuters)—The Catholic Film Institute, a non-official British organization, has decreed that the controversial American movie Baby Doll—condemned by Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York—may be seen by Roman Catholic adults here.

Cardinal Spellman has warned American Catholics to avoid the movie "under penalty of sin."

A story of Baby Doll, directed by Elia Kazan and written by playwright Tennessee Williams was attended here Wednesday night by church leaders and critics.

Father John Burke, ecclesiastical director of the Catholic Film Institute in Britain, said the movie is "a powerful denunciation of sexual and racial intolerance and as such is something for thoughtful people to see."

Father Burke added that the motion picture "presents British film goers with a fine screen problem" from the moral point of view.

The critics' opinion in British newspapers is divided, but none supported the view that the movie should be banned.

The Daily Express critic says that after watching the movie "I felt as if someone had been wiping my forehead with a dirty dishcloth." He describes it as "an inspired story in human decay."

Fires Take Heavy Toll of Life and Property

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Two mothers died with their young daughters in widely separated Canadian communities when their homes destroyed by weekend fires.

In the coastal village of Remo, B.C., Mrs. Mabel Grant dashed into her burning home Saturday to retrieve her baby daughter, three-year-old Jessie. They both died in the flames.

Mrs. Eva Post, 35, and her daughter, Violet, 5, were burned to death near Bath, N.B. They were alone in their frame home when fire broke out.

Two other fire deaths were reported:

At Toronto, Mrs. Jack Peers, a 50 - year - old semi - invalid, was burned to death when fire swept two rooms of her home. Her husband suffered a burned hand and shock in the blaze, believed by firemen to have been started by a cigaret Mrs. Peers had lit.

At Winnipeg, Nathan Finkel was overcome by smoke while investigating a fire caused by an overheated furnace in the basement of his home.

A rash of other fires marred the holiday weekend in Canada, too, at times.

A widow, Mrs. May Andrews, and her three young children were left homeless in Eastern Passage, Halifax, when fire destroyed their three-room house. All their Christmas gifts were destroyed.

A Bathurst, N.B., widow, Mrs. Lawrence Lecomte, and her family of four also lost their presents as they narrowly escaped their flaming home.

THREE THEATRE FIRES

Three other fires were reported. A blaze, believed to have originated in an over-heated oil furnace, destroyed the Capital theatre in Bridgewater, N.S. A matinee in the Capitol theatre in Saint John, N.B., was interrupted for 40 minutes while a fire in the popcorn machine was put out. In St. John's, Nfld., firemen battled for 2½ hours to quell a blaze in the old Crescent Theatre. No official damage estimates were available for any of the theatre fires.

In Ontario, clumsy thieves using an acetylene torch in an attempt to open a safe at the Confederation Coal Company in Windsor burned down the office, causing an estimated $ 25,000 loss. The thieves vanished.

30 FLEE ROOTEL FIRE

A 40-room hotel burned to the ground in Squamish, B.C. Thirty guests left the building as the manager, clad in long underwear, rushed from room to room giving the alarm. One of the owners estimated the loss at $150,000 to $175,000.

Near Ottawa 5,000 bees were burned when a four-storey poultry barn burned down. Loss was estimated at about $40,000.

An oil well was reported burning out of control in the Valleyview area 200 miles northwest of Edmonton Sunday night. No one was injured when the fire broke out in the afternoon.

HORSES DOOMED

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)—Wild power that roam bleak Sable island off the Nova Scotia coast are faced with extinction unless food is taken out to them, a group of transport department employees said in a report to the Halifax Dartmouth Free Press. The herd, estimated to number 300 a year ago, has been reduced to half that number.

Bowery Lies Within Stone's Throw of Plushest Properties

NEW YORK (AP)—For more than 60 years, a 14-block stretch of concentrated squalor—the Bowery—has housed New York's collection of misfits.

This weird community has been cut right out of miles of mind, and prefers to be, even though the Bowery lies within a stone's throw of some of the city's plushiest properties. Most New Yorkers would be surprised to learn that about 15,000 homeless men, plus a scattering of women, live there.

Through war and crisis, depression and prosperity, the Bowery denizens has plodded on, timeless way, preoccupied only with the inescapable round of scrounging for liquor, food and a place to flop.

IMPENDING DOOM

But today the cold peace along the Bowery is threatened. Demolition of the Third Avenue elevated railway is paving the way for civic improvements. A $30,000,000 slum clearance project is planned for the area.

In another five or 10 years, city officials figure, the sordid hodgepodge of gin mills, flophouses, greasy-spoon eateries and fifth-hand clothing stores will yield to handsome apartment developments, industrial plants, playgrounds and parks.

Few outsiders will mourn the change. But for the handful of persons concerned, the end will be the fare of the lonely derelicts, the impending doom of the old skid road raises bewildering questions.

WILL GO ELSEWHERE

The Bowery, 1½ miles long, is bounded by Cooper Square to the north and Chatham Square to the south. The area harbors several gospel rescue missions.

One, the Salvation Army's alcoholic rehabilitation center, is run by Major Olive McKeon, an energetic woman who has been at her Bowery station 11 years.

"If you build up the area," she said, echoing the fears of others familiar with the situation, "the men will still have to go somewhere. They may develop several smaller boweries. But one thing this will happen, no one can say 'just a lush.'"

Bowery phantoms, notoriously unable to give thought for the future, are accepting the pretents of change apathetically. "We'll have to flop somewhere else," one bearded veteran shrugged. In a city as large as New York, there seem to be always some downhill if another goes up.

STRIKING EFFECTS

The recent dismantling of the El, which ran along Third Avenue for many years, has had one striking effect already—like ripping a bandage from a wound. For a stretch of perpetual shadow now receives undiluted sunlight, a thing it hasn't done since 1873. New, modern street lighting has altered the nocturnal setting somewhat.

Although unconfortably spotlighted, it's still the Bowery tragedy still follows its ancient plot with an unchanging cast: Young, idealistic men who have lost every vestige of faith and self-respect; old-timers unwilling or unable to work; feeble - minded people, psychopaths, and crippled men; hard-core drunkards who are too poor to live anywhere but the Bowery; and he who sees and sleep in missions or alleys and doorways, with garbage cans for pillows, and the cold pavement the fall.

These are the men trapped in the gloomy maze of the Bowery and the similar skid roads of other cities. Always the nation is a focal point of existence.

Here they gamble and flophouses, marshalling a total of 10,000 beds, dispense cheap food and rent a dollar to spare. Twenty cents will buy indescribable meat balls and spaghetti at the Bowery restaurant day-before-yesterday's bread.

You can still get a bottle of wine for 25 cents to connect "Smoky Pete," the Bowery version of the uptown cocktail. Canned heat or other forms of raw alcohol complete the lethal brew.

Withdrawal of Anglo-French Troops Opens New Crisis

LONDON (Reuters)—Anglo-French troops completed their withdrawal from Egypt Saturday and opened the way for a new stage in Suez negotiations. Here is a summary of the developments since Egyptian President Nasser nationalized the Suez Canal just under five months ago:

July 27-31. Britain and France protested strongly in diplomatic notes. Britain said it would not accept an arrangement which would leave the canal in the control of a single power. It also demanded effective precautionary measures of a military nature had been taken."

Aug. 1. Britain, American and French foreign ministers decided to call a 24-power conference in London next month.

Aug. 3. British called up reserve soldiers. Two days later British paratroops, sailors flocked to Mediterranean.

Aug. 16. The first London conference opened with delegates from 22 of the 24 invited powers present. Egypt and Russia were absent.

Delegates sent Australian Prime Minister Robert Menzies to Nasser with plans for an international Suez Canal Board.

Sept. 9. Menzies reported failure.

Sept. 12. Eden announced plans for a Suez Canal users association designed to represent major canal using countries.

Oct. 13. Proposals for the association were vetoed in the UN Security Council by Russia and Yugoslavia.

Oct. 16. British and French prime ministers met in Paris as border raids in the Middle East became more frequent and Jordan warned that "other methods" would be used if the UN did not halt Israeli "aggression."

Oct. 29. Israeli forces crossed the Egyptian frontier in thrust into the Sinai Peninsula.

Oct. 30. Britain and France issued an ultimatum to Egypt and Israel to end hostilities; otherwise British and French troops would occupy key positions to guard the Suez Canal. Britain and France vetoed a U. S.-sponsored resolution in the UN Security Council designed to end fighting in the Sinai Peninsula.

Oct. 31. British bombers attacked Egyptian airfields. President Eisenhower declared the United States would not be involved in Middle East hostilities.

Nov. 2. Egypt blocked the canal by sinking ships.

Nov. 3. Anglo - French troops landed in Egypt. Egyptian troops surrounded in Port Said, surrendered. Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin proposed Russian and American forces join to stop Middle East fighting. The United Nations House rejected his proposal as "unthinkable."

Nov. 6. Britain announced a cease-fire. UN Secretary - General Dag Hammarskjold reported to the UN assembly on establishment of an international peace force as suggested by Canada's L. B. Pearson.

Nov. 7. Russia threatened to ten "volunteers" to fight for Egypt.

Nov. 10. The vanguard of UN forces reached Egypt by air.

Nov. 14. The first UN troops (Norwegian) reached Port Said, Egyptian government was reforming for a three-week rest in Jamaica to recover from Arab. Britain and France began withdrawal of first troop withdrawals.

Nov. 15. Pearson, acting for Eden in the House of Commons, repeated government denials of any collusion with Israel before France and Israel.

Nov. 24. The UN General Assembly called for withdrawal "forthwith" of British, French and Israeli troops from Egypt.

Nov. 28. Danish UN troops took over Port Said from British troops.

Dec. 2. Britain and France announced withdrawal of the last British troops.

2 Timber Wolves Being Broken to Use as Sled Dogs

WOLLASTON LAKE, Sask. (CP) Two fullblooded timber wolves are being broken in as sled dogs this winter by Wayne Bradford, manager of the Saskatchewan Government trading post at this northern Saskatchewan town.

Mr. Bradford captured the two wolves, a male and a female, nine months ago when they were just a week old. The mother, and seven other pups were shot after they had become a menace to district trappers.

Taking two of the wolf pups home, Mr. Bradford placed them with a litter of Husky pups still being weaned by their mother. The Husky apparently didn't notice the difference and accepted the wolves as her own.

Mr. Bradford said the pups are playful. His four-year-old son Billy played with them all summer.

"From the way the two of them wagged their tails sometimes, I found it hard to believe they were actually wolves," Mr. Bradford said.

When he first tried the wolves on a sled, Mr. Bradford found that instead of trotting as normal sled dogs do, the wolves preferred to gallop. He hopes he can eliminate this peculiarity during the winter months.

In any case, the wolves, much larger than normal Huskies, are worth five huskies on a sled team anytime, says Mr. Bradford.

The Story of Bethlehem

BY CHARLES BRADLEY

No one knows for how many thousands of years men have lived in Bethlehem.

It was there—a tiny triangle of stone houses spreading easily over a limestone hill six miles south Jerusalem on the road to Jerusalem—when Moses led the Jews out of Egypt.

It's ancient people, still only dimly known to archaeologists, had named it Ephrata. The Jews, when they came to the promised land, named it Bethlehem or house of bread. They did not change the name.

Perhaps the name came originally from the richness of the cornfields on the field below. There was always bread in Bethlehem.

It had not changed at all by the time of the Book of Ruth, one of the literary gems of the Old Testament. The Book of Ruth is a simple moral tale—the story of a young widow who returned to Bethlehem in order to be with her mother-in-law. They did not have enough corn" to support her mother-in-law.

Life in Bethlehem, we learn from the story of Ruth, was good and the unsophisticated mores of the people it described served to lay down a practical code of morals by which man could live with man with a minimum of friction.

It seems curious, now, to think of the rich and important Boaz marrying Ruth in order to do his duty by his deceased brother, but it was an arrangement, apparently, which served well.

Ruth was the great grandmother of David, the greatest of the Hebrew kings and nearly, perhaps, the greatest of the Hebrew poets.

It was from Bethlehem, the village of his birth, that David went forth as a youth to slay the dreadful day that Saul and his people feared Goliath and the Philistine Army.

INTIMIDATED ALL MEN

Goliath dared any man to face him and no man, at first, dared.

David, the youngest, smallest and least impressive of a large and important family, did dare—because he had faith in the rightness of his cause and believed that God would see him through.

The same sense of security and of the rightness of things which runs through the Book of Ruth seems to have infected David.

Perhaps he understood that the simple community in Bethlehem was better left undisturbed. In any case, after he became king, he did not set other kings into done, glorify his native village or endeavor to build it into a great city.

It is strange, in fact, that Bethlehem never did become an important town. From its hill, it commands a great plain and a main road. To a military tactician, it bristles with possibilities. Once, indeed, in a remote period never properly identified, the Philistines did build a fort there. It does not, however, seem to have lasted long.)

The explanation seems to be that it was set apart. As far back as the Book of Ruth, at least, it had a spiritual significance and was not to be tampered with.

It is the village of Christ's birth, David or even Ruth would have been quite at home to the Christ, so the story goes, was born in a manger located in a cave. (The New Testament is not clear about the cave) while, in the Gospel According to St. Luke, angels appeared to certain poor shepherds watching their flocks by night.

For reasons which are now difficult to follow, the chronicles of Christ's birth seem to have gone out of their way to emphasize the poverty of the situation.

The cave, in the limestone, is no doubt simple enough and no doubt it was used by the thrifty villagers as a natural stable.

But St. Luke appears to have felt himself under the necessity "shepherds." Historians are convinced that, then now, the fields were and grew corn. It is entirely unlikely that the shepherds were watching their flocks just there.

WERE HUMBLE MEN

More likely they were watching their flocks on the hill which slopes down behind the village to the plain. They probably were intended to designate the fact that they were unimportant, humble men and emphasize the significance of Christ's mission by making it clear that it was to ordinary men that the angels spoke to reveal themselves.

There is, too, a story to the effect that Christ, in fact, was a descendant of David and of Ruth. If true it would establish an interesting continuity both in the history of the Bible and the history of Bethlehem.

The records do not, however, confirm or deny the story and since Joseph and Mary were driving to stay in a stable, it seems reasonable, at least, to conclude that neither had any close relatives in the village.

Little more is heard of Bethlehem until the year 127 when the Emperor became interested in it. He apparently knew that the village itself, had some strange mystical significance.

In any case he had a grove planted for the worship of Adonis over the cave in which he believed Christ was born.

The Grove of Adonis remained there for the next two generations. Time determined to erase what he considered to be a serious blasphemy The grove was taken down and a church built on the site.

Other Christian churches and several monasteries followed until, now, the distinguishing mark of the village is the abundance of Christian institutions. Gradually, too, the villagers became Christians until now they are Christian almost to a man.

The final chapter in the history of the village came with the arrival of St. Jerome. Jerome was determined to translate the Bible into Latin.

His stately, exact Latin, reflects the calm and quiet of the village and the continuity of style which run through his classic translation parallels the continuity he must have found in Bethlehem.

Sitting there in the bare study he must certainly have come to feel the atmosphere of the Old and New Testaments.

Probably no other village in the world has been the scene of more history than Bethlehem. It has changed the world with so little change in its own character for the centuries.

So-Ed Club Holds Fine Christmas Party

Wednesday evening was the occasion of the annual So-Ed party arranged by this event was celebrated in the well decorated auditorium of the local YMCA. Near life-size colored silhouettes of reindeer, that jovial old man Santa himself, adorned one of the walls of the hall, while a large fully decorated tree, and the lighted candles created the festive atmosphere.

The evening commenced with a half an hour of general social and instrumental guidance between 8 and 8.30 p.m. Interviewed with Betty Leadley playing the piano. At 8.00 p.m. dance programme was performed, and the occasion were distributed and subsequently made use of. The first half of the program consisted of six dances including waltzes, tangos, square dances and an elimination dance, the surviving couple from which were winners were Joyce Bailey and Duncan Ivison.

Refreshments were served at 10 p.m. after which dancing continued with a polka which helped everyone to digest the food consumed previously. Foxtrots, jive numbers, including a vocal refrain by that questionable male and teenagers' delight "Elvis", tangos, mambos, and rhumbas followed; two of the South American numbers were Cuban dances, Albinos Destalova and her partner, Herman Vandenbrock and Carolyn Forbes and partner, Jack were the winners.

Prizes for the evening were

Boys are prone to falls, but seven-year-old John suffered really serious injuries when he fell down a 40-foot chute. His fractured hips and arm are now being treated at the Sick Children. Friends of the Hospital are currently helping thousands of children like John by sending donations to the Hospital's annual Christmas appeal. Reason for the campaign is the Hospital's estimated operating loss of $231,925 this year, which must be made up, due to increasing costs and the growing number of children who come to the Hospital each year. Please send donations to The Hospital for Sick Children, 555 University Avenue, Toronto.

Mr., Mrs. William J. Johnston Celebrate Golden Anniversary

RAWDON—On Thursday afternoon and evening, December 20, over 200 relatives, friends and neighbors called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Johnston, 5th concession, Rawdon, on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

The guests were received by their son, Murray Johnston and their daughter, Lela, Mrs. Ivan Sayles.

The living room was decorated with Christmas roping in a red and green arrangement and over the conglaulatory cards were displayed in strategic points around the room.

The dining table was covered with a cut-work snowy cloth underlaid with gold crepe while golden streamers—tascaded from the ceiling to the table and were caught with a large white wedding bell. The table was centered with a decorated and lettered, tiered anniversary cake. The W.M. members of Salem United church catered for the event with one group of servers in the afternoon and a new group for the duties at night. They served delectable refreshments and the pervading spirit of tea. Souvenir serviettes lettered with the date and names of the happy couple were attractive in white and gold.

The wedding party were seated in the living room. The bride of 50 years and her sister, Amelia (Mrs. Roy Thrasher) of Mount Pleasant, Rawdon; the bridegroom and his brother, Boulter Johnston. The ladies were gowned in navy dinner dresses with lace trim, each wore a handsome corsage of carnations. The men in the wedding party wore boutonniers.

Two large bouquets of red roses added to the festivity. The oldest grandsons, Duane Johnston and Harold Sayles, were in charge of the guest book. Fifty-three registered guests in the afternoon and even more in the evening.

Mrs. Murrey Johnston presided over the very fine tea table. Her son, daughter and six grandchildren assisted in the honored couple with a 400-day clock. Salem United church congregation gave a pair of golden yellow flannelette sheets. The brothers and sisters a matching wool blanket; the nieces and nephews, a white chenille bedspread with a gold pattern of flowers. There were also chocolates, gold vases, cups and saucers, silver and flower pitchers, and a large array of individual gifts.

GUESTS PRESENT

Guests were present from Belleville, Trenton, Frankford, Seymour, Brighton, Stirling, Campbellford, Ivanhoe Springbrook, White Lake, Moira, Wellman's, Mount Pleasant, Bethel, Tweed, Rawdon, and other parts. They included: Rev. Mr. C. Ferguson, Rawdon United church circuit; and the Rev. and Mrs. George Teskey, Frankford United church circuit.

During the afternoon, Mr. Johnston took several still flash pictures.

At the evening gathering Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Foster, Moira, sang "Star of the East," and Mrs. Foster rendered solo "Silent Night," "Bless This House."

Mrs. Ivan Thrasher, the bridesmaid of 50 years ago, presented the opal ring which had been in the bridegroom's family for years. Sayles, the youngest granddaughter; as a special keepsake of this happy event. This was a complete surprise to the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were married on Christmas night, 1906, and 15 years ago on December 20th their daughter "Lela", and Ivan Sayles were married, thus the date of December 20th, was chosen for the celebration, and the weather was ideal for the occasion.

Mr. Johnston has one brother, Boulter Johnston of Rawdon, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Elliott, in Alberta. Another sister, Emily, Mrs. Wilbert Hagerman is deceased.

Mrs. Johnston has one brother, Cyrus Summers, Mount Pleasant, and two sisters, Mrs. Roy Thrasher, and Mrs. Japsey Sharp, both of Rawdon township.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston are both valued members of Salem United church. Mr. Johnston is an elder and also served as Sunday school superintendent for a number of years. Mrs. Johnston taught a Beginners' Sunday school class at Mount Pleasant Methodist church previous to her marriage and then served as a Sunday school teacher for many years at Salem. She is also an active member of the Women's Association.

Mr. Johnston has been a member of Tanner Orange Lodge, No. 509 for 58 years. He has served as Master of Tanner Lodge, Master of the District and is now a Past County Master.

On Christmas Evening, December 25, 1906, a wedding for sixty guests was held at the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Summers, (nee Emma Linn), Mount Pleasant Street, Rawdon, when their daughter, Gertrude Ethel was married to bride of William John Johnston, son of the late Robert Johnston and his wife Mary Jane Jones, 5th concession, Rawdon. The attendants were the bride's present sister, Annie, and the bridegroom's brother, Boulter, with Rev. David Rendall of Rawdon Methodist circuit, officiating.

Flower girl was Miss Eloise Watson, now Mrs. Charles Brown of Belleville, and the pianist, was Miss Emma Morton, now Mrs. A. Yarker, New York City.

Several folks who had attended the wedding in 1906, were also in attendance on Thursday and did a bit of reminiscing. A friend of course kicked the pride into the fun.

The six grandchildren are, Duane Johnston, Harold, Ross, Helen, Ruth and Douglas Sayles.

Orange Brethren, Rawdon relatives and friends extend congratulations and best wishes to the jubilarians and wish for them many more years of happiness along their matrimonial voyage.

Trenton Drivers Use Caution On Icy Streets

TRENTON (Special) — Driving with care suggested by the extremely icy condition of the streets, motorists in Trenton were involved in only one accident over the weekend. The one accident was a minor one.

West of Trenton in the Brighton area, however, no less than a dozen accidents were reported on Saturday and Sunday.

Cars skidded over the hilly and one overturning in the ditch near Appledene Farms west of Trenton, causing $300 damage. Another car slammed into the overhead railway bridge was heavily damaged but passengers escaped injury.

Other Saturday mishaps injuries were reported and Dr. B. Campbell of Brighton, treated at least half a dozen persons for minor injuries.

GOBBLERS APLENTY

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — An apparent turkey price war started Friday as dealers tried to get rid of large stocks before Christmas. Retailers were selling dressed birds 18 pounds and over, but low as 48 cents a pound, not-dressed as low as 43 cents.

CHRISTMAS IS FOR THE WHOLE WORLD

Last week, in a television address to the people of the United States which he was visiting, Premier Nehru of India referred to the present season of peace and goodwill.

There was no doubt in the minds of any of his listeners that Nehru was referring to Christmas. But Nehru is not a Christian. Why, then, did he refer to a Christian holy day?

The answer is that Christmas has long since ceased to be the possession of Christians alone.

Christmas has been undergoing a double-pronged development, an evolution in two opposite directions.

In Christian lands, pagan customs have been mixed with the Christmas story and commercialism has all too often surrounded the season and beclouded the true meaning and message of Christmas. In such lands it is proper and right that every effort should be made to "bring Christ back to Christmas"—or perhaps it would be more accurate to alter the phrasing and to refer to an effort to bring Christmas back to Christ, for Christ and His teachings have not changed in all the centuries since His birth, death and resurrection.

In lands which are not Christian, on the other hand, there appears to have been developing a growing realization that the message of Christmas is not for Christians alone but for all men. Thus Nehru can speak, without hypocrisy, of this season as one of peace and goodwill.

Christians ought not to resent this effort by men of other faiths to share in the spirit of Christmas. Instead they should welcome it, for it is often in these lands that the spirit of Christmas is today most urgently needed and, at the same time, in some of these lands great men spoke of peace and goodwill many centuries before Christ was born. The Golden Rule, which many regard as containing the essence of Christ's message, had been stated in other but similar words in many lands. It would have been strange if it had not been, for it is the message of Christianity that all men are the children of one God and it would have been remarkable if He had not spoken to His children between the time He first created them and the time when He sent His only Son to dwell among them.

TOO BIG A CONCLUSION FROM TOO LITTLE EVIDENCE

The by-election in the constituency of Melton Mowbray in Leicestershire, England, provides indisputable proof of one thing—the practical impossibility of proving that a by-election provides indisputable proof of anything.

It also provides new evidence that there is almost nothing under the sun which looks the same from two different viewpoints.

What happened in Melton Mowbray is simple—the Conservatives retained the seat, but their majority was sharply reduced from that which they enjoyed at the last general election. One way of saying it is that the Conservatives' margin of victory was cut from 10,780 votes to 2,362. Another is that there was a 7.6 per cent swing in favor of the Labor party.

What comes to interpreting these results, the London Daily Herald and the London Daily Express galloped off jubilantly in opposite directions.

The Herald, of course, has supported the Labor Party's criticism of the Eden Government's intervention in the Egyptian-Israeli war. Therefore it was not surprising to learn that the Herald maintained that the drop to Labor indicated that British public opinion opposed this intervention.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, on the other hand, approved of Eden's original intervention but opposed the subsequent agreement by the French and British Governments to withdraw from the Canal Zone upon the arrival of the United Nations force. The Express, therefore, was convinced that the sharp decline in the vote received by the Conservative candidate is "a direct reflection of the people's disappointment in the Suez climb-down."

It would be impossible to conceive of two interpretations more diametrically opposed.

The odd thing is that both the Herald and the Express may be half right.

People who voted Conservative in the general election but who disapproved of the government's original intervention may have voted for the Labor candidate in the by-election.

Conservatives who disapproved of the later decision to withdraw from Egypt may have stayed at home instead of casting their votes for the Conservative candidate.

We know of no way, to estimate how many voters were influenced by the first factor and how many by the second.

Even stranger is the spectacle of a debate as to whether or not this single by-election proves that Eden could not win a general election if he went to the country today.

Mathematically a 7.6 per cent swing to Labor throughout the country would elect a Labor government to power with a majority of about 190 seats.

However, any observer of political events knows that a voter disgruntled with his party is much more likely to register a protest vote in a by-election, which cannot alter the government, than in a general election. Conservatives who believe Eden should not have sent troops to Egypt and Conservatives who think he should not later have withdrawn those troops would alike hesitate long before casting a Labor vote in a general election.

Altogether aside from this aspect is the fact that everybody appears to be overlooking the possibility of special local circumstances in Melton Mowbray. The Conservative member elected at the general election was Anthony Nutting. His personal popularity may be much higher than that of the candidate in the by-election, Miss Mervyn Pike. And, if this is true, the circumstances under which the by-election became necessary would make it doubly certain that a much greater popularity would be reflected in the vote, because Nutting resigned from the House in protest against the Eden Government's policies. Anybody who voted for Nutting because he was Nutting, rather than because he was a Conservative, would almost certainly vote against Miss Pike.

Nehru Man Of Old School

Hamilton Spectator

The visit of Mr. Nehru to Ottawa at this critical time is an event of some importance. Of all the nations in the world, India is the one which has managed most successfully to maintain a precarious balance between the Western and the Communist worlds. She has also remained in the Commonwealth. Considered in an unprejudiced light this is no mean feat, and it is doubtful whether there is another statesman controlling so many human beings in India or elsewhere, with a mind that is so acute and subtle enough to direct such a foreign policy.

Mr. Nehru comes to North America fresh from entertaining in his own country Mr. Chou En Lai, and the fact that he is able to do this without any embarrassment is a tribute to his political gifts and, it must be admitted, the sincerity with which he begins to speak his political views.

The truth is, Mr. Nehru belongs politically to a school of liberal humanitarianism which seems curiously out of date in a "tough" age. Nevertheless, he would seem to be well night untenable in the modern world to anyone except a fool, but he has proved that he maintains it often give his policies and his utterances a chameleon-like quality from whichever side they are viewed.

He has, however, be little understanding of Mr. Nehru's attitudes in world affairs without some knowledge of his Brahminical background, with its superimposed upon the philosophical and religious approach to worldly affairs. Brahminism, for instance, has been overlaid by an English education and, in addition to its political arena, it is still the ultimate determinant. For although Brahminism is not the religion of Mr. Nehru is more the politician, he is still a Brahmin. Therefore, to treat from the concrete to the abstract is natural and delightful to him. Things are never what they seem, there are half-truths, and the like. Things are tones and so on, and the panchayats control the villages.

"You are not consistent," said a critic to Ghandi, who had revealed all these things to the puzzled and luminating flashes of truth to explain the apparent inconsistency. Consistency is for little minds, and mine is not a little mind" the Mahatma replied.

This sort of thinking is not easy for the Western mind to understand. He feels that it allows almost anything to be explained away.

But Mr. Nehru is a practical statesman. He is maintaining a "bridge" between Britain and the United States, then India under Commonwealth ties, and between the West and Asia. However, besides Mr. Nehru may be, he cannot ignore the importance to India of the Suez Canal. He recognized the Anglo-French action, but he has insisted that the spirit of the canal's charter be maintained. How this can be achieved in the face of Nasser's intransigence has not yet transpired.

It may be that the manner in which the West hopes this will be accomplished will be revealed in the talks Mr. Nehru has had in the United States, and will have in Ottawa and London.

Any hopes that Mr. Nehru will abandon his "neutralism" and align India with the West are obviously futile. To do so would mean jettisoning India's immense moral influence in the Afro-Asian bloc and the whole meaning of her existence. That much hope could be entertained shows a lack of understanding of what India believes to be her destiny in the world.

Picturesque Phrases

Calgary Albertan

We're just talking over the top of our head, mind you, but we thought that we would like to put our readers in the picture language-wise and let them in on a couple of dandy new phrases that are apparently going the rounds in what has become known as the Madison avenue (New York) advertising and public relations fraternity.

Here are some samples:

"Can we get any mileage out of that suggestion?" "Let's throw this on the ground and walk around on it." "Let's see how the crumbles." And a real favorite with us, "Shall we run this up the flagpole and see who salutes?"

Stepped on By a Camel

Toronto Saturday Night

The reticence of the English is a fine thing in a world given to shouting and overstatement. But it can be very aggravating at times, especially to North Americans with over-developed bumps of childish curiosity.

A couple of weeks ago, we came across this item clipped from a London newspaper by a tourist: "A Mr. Smathers (Liverpool) was in the Seething Street Hospital recovering from injuries received when he was stepped on by a camel." That was the complete story.

After a few days of nail-chewing, we could stand it no longer and sought more information from London. Where was Mr. Smathers when he ran afoul of the camel? The cure was a brusque reply: "Zoo. Where else?"

Miss Mary Moult and Miss Audrey Sheffield are home from the Normal School, Peterborough, to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Charles Elliott is home from the Peterborough Normal School to spend the holidays.

Many kindnesses and seventy deserving families received toy hampers filled to overflowing with good things for Christmas. The giving of the hampers was made possible by organizations in city churches, fraternal organizations, the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, the fire department, the Salvation Army, Kinsmen's Club and many private citizens. Seventy-two tots under ten years of age trust fund of the late Senator H. Corby, were delivered today. The Army and Navy Veterans and the Canadian Legion are taking special care of returned war veterans who are unemployed and in need and families of deceased veterans.

The staff of the local post office has worked to the limit night and day — some day employees have returned to assist in the night work. It has been the busiest Christmas season on record at the post office, according to Postmaster J. C. C. Trusiach. Mr. Trusiach informs us that there will be full service in all departments on Christmas Day. Every holiday has been cancelled by order of the Postmaster General and the public will receive service on all days of the year.

Hull Extends 'Summertime'

Ottawa Journal

It is good to see that the city of Hull, through its council, has taken steps to give its people a longer period of what is called Summertime. Next year, the council has decided, daylight saving will be extended for a month and Hull clocks will revert to standard time the last Saturday in October instead of the last Saturday in September.

This year October was a lovely month and The Journal remarked, in this column, on the fine mild days and evenings, that it was a pity the people of Ottawa had been denied the opportunity of extending their daylight hours out of doors.

New York and other American communities this year had Summertime to the end of October. There was a month in which this time belt was in conflict with its neighbors for many of them across the border.

Ottawa's board of control, considering a request this week from the Railway Association for the extension into October, referred the question to Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. Board of Control should have said, as Hull has said that it approves the change.

Stay Alert and Stay Alive

There were 609 persons killed in traffic accidents last Christmas three-day weekend; and 300 more over the 1956 New Year's weekend in the U.S.

Even if the toll were ten times greater, I doubt that any comment or any other person may make or will make any driver who feels the need of a drink or whose turn it is to buy a round or who is invited to have a drink even hesitate.

But here is a little hint, and as usual, I have received requests from several organizations to "co-operate" with them in the effort to persuade persons who have to drive in holiday traffic to make the "cure for the road" coffee.

I'm fairly-wide-eyed and unsophisticated about the alcoholic traditions of Christmas and New Year's office parties but from what I have seen of such synthetic good cheer and conviviality I'd say it would be a blessing for the wives, husbands, children or parents of the promoters of the leading actors of such affairs were kept under police surveillance from Dec. 23 to Jan. 2.

One or the organisations urging me to back the attack against automobile fatalities, The Fraternal Order of Police, John Harris, the National Secretary, refers me to a recent study by the Harvard School of Public Health, which reported that coffee, when taken in ordinary amounts, can improve alertness, postpone drowsiness, and reduce the effects of fatigue.

I agree with the F.O.P. (if you can't fight 'em join 'am) that coffee is a temporary but effective means of combating weariness and making drivers more alert. Of course, rest is the only real antidote when the driver is overtired.

An excellent rule for any driver, be he a salesman, a social, economical, moderate or heavy drinker, is to pull well off the road and take a nap when he becomes very weary or drowsy on a long drive.

Alcohol in any quantity, from that in a glass of beer or wine, to the heavy dose in a glass of vodka, on invariably slows reaction time, and in driving, split-second timing may be life-saving.

The Fraternal Order of Police has published a safety slogan, "Stay Alert and Stay Alike, Make It Coffee When You Drive." This makes good sensee to anyone with an elementary knowledge of physiology and psychology — if one is sober.

One under the effect of a single drink or a few drinks of liquor is likely to lose his critical faculties of driving and after another drink or two he is ready to knock down any of anyone who tries to stop him.

The PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The problem of the last-minute gift, the forgotten friend, is best solved by books. You know that horrible sensation, usually encountered around eight p.m. tonight, when there is a ring at the door bell and some anonymous messenger hands in a Christmas gift from someone you had entirely forgotten in making out your list.

Among my friends are a middle-aged married couple of comfortable means who have no young friends than they know what to do about it, now that the age of depression on Christmas Eve. Every year they make new friends. They lose their old friends by death, no means all of this large congregation of friends are on the basis of exchanging Christmas presents. But never a year goes by but that some new-made friend, or one old friend that surrenders to a sudden impulse to remember, will not pop in with a gift. And since my friends are the sort who, grateful for their own good fortune, would far rather give than receive, they are put into a state of panic on such occasions.

For some years, they had the habit of laying in a store of extra Christmas gifts for forgotten and unexpected callers—ties, silk stockings, embroidered handkerchiefs, boxes of candy, boxes of cigars, cigarets, even a few toys.

"It was hard," explained my friend, "to keep an assortment of spare gifts. Often, the assortment would not meet the occasion. So about five years ago, we turned to books. We go into a book store and buy about a dozen books we would like to own ourselves. Then if the need arises for unwanted gifts, we are happy to have them anyway, and have some fine fiction, a couple of popular non-fiction, a couple of cheap books that would suit a grown-up or a child—actually, I have a book about history book about natural history has.

"And thus we are always prepared. In a store like Woolworth's you can select the right book, gift wrap it, pay for a taxi and have it delivered."

Another thing I know. While the gift of a book may please the dilner for the Christmas party, the husband who has the habit of putting on his hat and coat Christmas morning and going for a walk around the neighborhood, in which they live, distributing a few of the left-over books to friends of his neighbors, old and young.

Creating, of course, the same problem for them that he so dreads in himself.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

YOU ARE YOU

Nothing is so unbelievable as the fact that of all the millions of human beings on this earth there is not a single duplicate! We are all different, separately and undowed. You buy an instrument and there is a book of instructions that accompanies it. Well, we are born into this world with no guide as can be discovered a book of instruction as to how we are to live against and live in an inviable book. Sooner or later, however, each of us learns to use the body and the mind with as little so as to live the healthiest and happiest life.

You are You! Make no mistake of this fact, for no one is going to expect that you are ever going to be anyone else but yourself—and that is a golden opportunity each one of us has, if we will only exercise it! We are our own complete selves! You are you and I am I. Let us not get confused over our associations with others. Each of us is what we are that we may be able to get along with all types of human beings—helpfully and happily.

What heights there are to which every of these may rise the world of hidden wealth there is with each one of us! No one can ever be a great prodigy greatness. In time, however, it usually appears, and then this wonderful something all of us have heard that oft repeated statement, "Genius will out." But it is more than that. It's the will, the mind, the ambition, the determination to create that lift people out of disturbing circumstances and genuine fulness in life—You. Dominate. Be no one else but yourself. Stand apart. Be a unit. Be confident. Listen to others. Then make your own decisions. In all your dealings be just and considerate. Respect the knowledge of others and learn from them. Be a conscientious You are You. Stay that way and always be a person, one worth listening to and emulating.

Strength for The Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THE SHEPHERDS

Strange, is it not, that when God chose to manifest Himself unto mankind in the form of a child, He bypassed all the religious leaders of that day and chose a few humble men of His message a group of indescribably humble people.

There was the humble carpenter, Joseph, and his wife Mary. As we read and recall the story, one sees Zacharias and Elizabeth. But when the actual birth of Christ comes not a person of any consequence was informed of this wonderful event. Only a few shepherds keeping watch over their flocks by night. Surely these were the ones for the Lord and found themselves surrounded by the divine glory. To them was given the message: "For unto you is born this day in the city of David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord."

The first person born after the promise of a Saviour had been made was Abel, a keeper of sheep. Jesus was the Lamb of God. David, the shepherd king. During His ministry, Jesus was to refer to Himself as the Good Shepherd. The first sermon ever preached was preached by an angel and the congregation was composed of lowly, simple men, who were doing their duty at the simple tasks to which God had appointed them.

God can only speak to the open mind, and that is usually the mind which stays close to nature and duty.

THE VIGIL

If you were six or seven or eight,
Could you sleep soundly
Christmas eve,
Or would you lie awake and wait
For Santa Claus to come and leave
Would you imagine every sound
And every voice you heard below
Meant Santa on his annual round
And reindeer pounding on the snow?

If you were young instead of old,
Such innocence instead of wise,
Could you believe as you were told
And say your prayers and shut your eyes?
Could you drop quickly off to sleep
And never think of horn or dress,
Or long a restless vigil keep
And wait for Santa Claus to bless?

And told while you could see or hear,
No reindeer would be overhead
And Santa Claus would not appear,
Could you be sure, when sound asleep
And all the city noise was stilled,
Old Santa to your room might creep
And leave your Christmas stocking filled?

Well, once your daddy, just as you,
Pretended he was fast asleep,
He stayed awake the long night through
A watch for Santa Claus to keep.
He hoped to catch him at his task;
He open pried each heavy lid.
"And did you catch him?" do you ask.
He often tried, but never did.

If you'd been snugly tucked in bed

Budapest Turned Into City of Hitch-Hikers

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

BUDAPEST (AP)—This city of 2,000,000 people has turned into a city of hitch-hikers.

The miserable public transport system is one of the pathetic things observed after the Hungarian revolution.

Public transport was bad enough before — just as housing and reconstruction were miserable and a just tribute to boosted Communist enterprise.

If you park your car and happen to leave a window partly down it becomes a letter box. When you return, you find your seats littered with letters from Hungarians to relatives and friends in Australia, Sweden, the United States, Canada, Austria, everywhere.

AND SLOGANS

Park it overnight with the windows up and you find slogans pasted on the car or scrawled in the mud and dust that cake it.

Sometimes the pro-government Communist will sneak up on your car during the night and paste typewritten slogans warning against strikers.

Driving in post - revolutionary Budapest is especially painful in late afternoon. Dusk comes now at 4 p.m., when thousands of people are getting out of offices and shops and trying to get home before dark.

Transport today is worse than it was in beat-up Germany immediately after the war. At any hour of the day you see street-cars just loaded, loaded that people cling like flies to the platforms and rear bumpers.

People don't bother to thumb a ride. They just throw themselves in front of the car.

That means you have to stop. Stop for one and you've got a load.

There are only about 500 taxis, all with high fares under state control. After the revolution about half their drivers disappeared.

EXPECT RECORD TOLL

CHICAGO (AP)—Motorists taking to the highways for the long Christmas weekend Friday faced the threat of an unprecedented number of traffic deaths for the holiday. The National Safety Council estimated automobile accidents would cause a record 600 deaths, unless drivers and pedestrians exert unusual caution.

LEAVE FOR SANDRINGHAM

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen left London Friday for Sandringham, the royal country house where she will spend Christmas with the Royal Family. Crowds cheered and shouted "Merry Christmas" as the Queen, Prince Charles and Princess Anne, the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret boarded their train.

Christmas Tree at Plainfield Home

During the last four weeks there dolls and filled stockings, too many has been much activity in the Babies Convalescent Home in Plainfield. Many friends of the Home have been moving might and main to help the Vellemans make a real Christmas party for the Home for Mentally Retarded Infants. Although the patients do not fully comprehend the spirit of Christmas, they are attracted to the pretty colored lights and the Christmas music which is coming over the P.A. system in their ward.

The staff is delighted with the many clothes they have now for "their" babies. Manufacturers as well as merchants have done much to make this party a real success.

There is no end to the flow of toys and playthings, which are coming in. Rocking horses, rocking chairs, some of them musical chairs, games and rubber toys, items to mention are under the tree. Stuffed dolls and animals and nylon dresses, dressing gowns and pyjamas are under the tree and are admired by those who are able to understand and seen by those who like the pretty colors. Some of the patients are totally blind and still others are unable to say: "we understand that this is Christmas time."

Church organizations in Belleville, Trenton and Toronto have played a great role in making financial and material contributions. The RCAF as well as the Army, Navy and Air Force Auxiliaries have done their share. Many private people and service organizations have been helping with donations.

The donors have done a twofold deed; they have made the home happy, which is caring for infants and they have lifted the spirit of the Vellemans and their staff 10. They are saying: A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all."

Christmas Eve Notes

As Conducted by Mary Moore

Eleanor helped me gift-wrap some fruit cakes that were being mailed last week and five-year-old Roddy wanted to be in on the act. He and his brother David wound gummed tape around those parcels like old veterans until their bed time.

When Eleanor announced "just one more parcel each before bed, boys" some squawks went up, then Roddy, the five-year-old philosopher, said "Let us keep everything agreeable and pleasant. It's Christmas you know."

Out of the mouths of babes . . .

As a little side present to his Vera Vague-ish wife, a twinkly-eyed husband whom I know, is going to go out to the kitchen about ten minutes before dishing time, on Christmas day, and offer to make the gravy. All their married lives his wife has simply breathed out a wish for an eleventh-hour gravy maker—and this year he has decided to be it. It was for him that I gave the recipe for Giblet Gravy last Thursday.

When our sister Doris was a little girl our mother taught her to make the stuffing for chickens and turkeys. Mother died when Doris was seven but ever since she has claimed the privilege of making the stuffing—because mother taught her her special secrets. To this day our career girl does it in their house when turkey-stuffing time arrives, protected with a huge apron, dishpan in lap, she patiently pulls the loaf of bread into crumbs. It is the best stuffing in the world. If you have an eager-beaver little one you could have that help from now on too.

As you know, we thought we would have Marianne and Gary here for Christmas, but better still they have Herbie back in Calgary since the Queen's own Rifles was returned there. All the baby furniture such as crib, play pen, high chair, new plastic crib mattress cover, etc., that were in place in anticipation of their arrival are being re-stored, and thanks are being given for restoring Herbie to his loved ones.

Naturally we lament the thought of that empty high chair at the Christmas dinner table, but a young new family being together at Christmas is more important than the expectations of a doting grandmother . . . and besides all that, Pete says he'll say "grace" to me on Christmas morning and if absolutely necessary, sit on my lap! Who could ask for more? Who could hold more?!

Why do I tell you these yarns? Because you are my friends. You are very close and dear to me. Some of the letters I receive from you leave me a bit dewy-eyed.

At this time of year I renew my resolves to be worthy of your trust; to try to do a better job for you and for the newspapers who rely on me; but most of all I strive to do a Christian service.

If I succeed in any measure it is because you inspire me. It is with thanks in my heart that I wish you a Merry Christmas with your loved ones.

TRAFFIC DEATHS UP

TORONTO (CP) — The death rate from Ontario accidents so far this month is higher than the December rate last year, Commissioner E. V. McNeil of the Ontario Provincial Police said Friday. He urged motorists to exercise care, courtesy and common sense in their driving habits during the Christmas and New Year festive seasons.

FINZA LEAVES HOSPITAL

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Singer Enzi Finza, the noted basso, who has been a patient at Greenwich Hospital since Dec. 3, left for his country home in nearby Stamford Friday. A hospital spokesman said Finza has made "satisfactory progress" since suffering his second heart attack within four months.

ADVICE To The LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A MARITAL FAILURE WOULD BE BETTER THAN A BREACH BETWEEN YOU

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

My husband and I are greatly disturbed because our eldest son wants to marry a divorcee two years older than himself, with two children.

We feel that this would be a serious mistake for a young man of 23 who has not yet had time to acquire the experience and maturity needed to assume the responsibility for a ready-made family, and we've tried to point this out to him. Nothing we can say, however, has any effect on him except to make him very angry and resentful, so that there is constant arguing in our home between my husband and myself on the one hand, and our son on the other.

What do you think our attitude should be in this matter? And could it be possible that our opposition is only making our son more determined to go through with this? — Mrs. H.N.

Dear Mrs. H.N.:

You've put your finger on a very important truth when you ask if your opposition to your son's proposed marriage might only make him more determined to go his own way. For whatever may be the reason for parents' disapproval of either a son's or a daughter's choice of a mate, to stir up a storm over it almost certainly results in defeating the purpose.

On the other hand, let's say you finally do win your point through pleading, arguing, reproaching, and dark prophecies of disaster which eventually wears the young man down to the point where even surrender seems preferable to continuing the nerve-wracking battle. In winning the battle in such fashion, aren't you almost certain, as the saying goes, to lose the peace?

For the victory will cost you dearly in terms of your son's attitude towards you, and the next time you may not be allowed the chance to break up the romance. To avoid risking any further opposition, your plan may not even tell you when he is thinking of marriage again, and the first you may hear of it might be a telegram of phone call to tell you the deed has been done. Would that earlier victory be worth the price of such a subsequent defeat?

As I see it, the all-important thing is that parents remain friends with their children at all costs. With that in mind, how should they meet the kind of problem with which you and your husband are attempting to deal?

If you are not to quarrel or argue, should you keep your disapproval entirely to yourself and let matters take their course? Should you obviously wash your hands of the situation with an "All right; make your own bed and lie in it" attitude?

Certainly not. On the contrary, let the son or daughter in love see that you want to take a reasonable view of things. Make a point of getting acquainted with the person he or she wants to marry, so that you'll really know that person well enough to be able to judge his character fairly and without prejudice: Encourage your child to talk about his romance, thus giving you the opportunity to bring in your ideas naturally, in the course of a friendly discussion.

It might even be that if you did take a friendly attitude toward the woman your son wants to marry, and took the trouble to get acquainted with her, you might find that the marriage would work out better than you now think, and that the young couple would have a very good chance of working out their problems together. Aren't you right now, disapproving a mere opinion you have formed about their possible marriage rather than the particular individual he wants to marry?

If, however, after having made yourself thoroughly conversant with all angles of the situation, you still feel the marriage would be unwise, say so quietly and without emotion, explaining your reasons clearly. After that, never harp on the matter. From then on, leave the decision up to the young man himself. You will have done all you can, and it's better that, in the end, he should make his own choice. For even a marital failure on his part would, I think, be better than a lasting breach between you. Don't you agree?

Day Days of

Mary Crane emptied the last tub and stood in against the shed to drain, sighing her thanks that if she must wash clothes on Christmas Day the job was at least over and done with by noon. She had just returned to the kitchen when a knock came at the door. It was her neighbor, Hattie Jamieson, decked out in her finest.

"All tall and bright and—and beautiful."

"Aren't you the one," Hattie exclaimed, "washing clothes on Christmas Day!"

Mary conceded it wasn't the best way to pass the day, but added that it must be done.

"I wonder if you'd do me a favor?" Hattie asked. "John and Fanny have asked us to come to town for Christmas dinner and the tree tonight. You know, times were a little tough for Henry and me this year, so I took those two little State orphans to board. Now, I don't want to leave them at home alone, and Fanny wouldn't want them to come mingle with her youngsters." She sighed faintly. "Would you let them come stay with you for the evening?"

"Why, of course," Mary replied, smiling. "It will make Christmas for me, who was spendin' it alone. What time will they come?"

"Fanny's sending the car for us about five o'clock, and we'll drop them off here on the way."

After Hattie had left, Mary mused that she didn't suppose the Lord thought Fanny's children too good to mingle with these two orphans, but after a moment she realized there was much to be done. By five o'clock she had walked to the store and spent her few pennies on two tiny pair of red mittens, which were now hanging on the little spruce tree Mary had cut in the back yard. And in the kitchen a hot, hearty supper was waiting.

Mary sat in the living room, waiting. "Lucky I did that extra washing today, so I feel justified spending those pennies on the youngsters. These children must have a Christmas, and maybe —" she sighed—"I shan't have a home another year!"

Waiting there la the old rocker, her head dropped slowly, and Mary Crane fell asleep . . .

"One thing I'd like to do before dinner," rich old Andrew Craig said to his wife. "S'pose there's time? You remember Mary Crane had some tough luck a few years back. She borrowed money from the bank on her house and couldn't keep up the payments. Well, the directors decided not to give her any more time.

"I couldn't help remembering our lean years, Sue, when Mary was our neighbor and worked day and night to pull you through pneumonia. So I just gathered in that debt—it was only a few hundreds—and had some papers made out to Mary. I'd kind of like to take them out to her on Christmas night."

Sue pulled his head down and kissed him. "It will take just ten minutes to pack a basket for you to take along," she reckoned swiftly. "If you drive there and back in half an hour, you can do it. Remember, we have guests coming!"

It was snowing when Andrew alighted from the car. A lamp showed him Mary's kitchen thru the window, the cheery tree, and the sleeping old lady. He tip-toed in and placed his basket on the table, papers on top. The latching of the door aroused Mary.

Her small guests rushed in a few minutes later to find Mary holding the papers to her heart, her face alight with joy.

"Merry Christmas, Mary," cried the little girl. "There was a man on your steps when we came down the lane. We saw him plain as could be!"

"You're right," said Mary, "Andrew Craig is a man, if ever there was one."

"Not the man in the fur coat," insisted the child. "It was another just behind him. All tall and bright and—and beautiful."

"Well," said Mary, "I'm not surprised. Some folks might say it was shadows and lamplight and snowflakes, but"—tapping the papers —"wherever there's things like this goin' on Christmas night, I'm persuaded He's there!"

PANTOMINE SEASON

Boxing day brings the opening of the pantomine season, a British institution which is the delight of all children. Pantomines, mostly fairy tales, are descended from morality plays and religious masques of hundreds of years ago. They have become modernized since the 19th century and are now lavish and entertaining musical productions.

BOXING DAY

The day after Christmas is known as Boxing Day, a name derived, it is believed, from the custom of apprentices, in mediaeval times in Britain, who collected gifts of money and food for themselves in earthenware boxes. The custom persists today in gifts by the householders to postmen, garbage men and tradesmen who have served them during the past year.

HISTORIC GAP

Falk's Strait between India and the northern shore of Ceylon has a minimum width of 40 miles.

On Christmas eve, Nancy hurried breathlessly into her rooming house. Surely the package from home would be there. But Mrs. Groggins, the ugly little landlady, shook her head.

"Nothing," she said. "The mailman went right by this afternoon."

Up in her room Nancy spent a lonesome Christmas eve. She read awhile to forget her hunger, then went to bed. Next morning it was the destitute Mrs. Wilson who awakened her.

"Merry Christmas, Miss Bell!" she shouted, walking into the room unlivited. Nancy was irritated, momentarily, by this highly painted, shallow creature. But she quickly regained her composure. It was Christmas, after all.

"It was swell of you, dearie, to pay Mrs. Groggins a week's rent in advance last night," Mrs. Wilson said, settling herself into the most comfortable chair. "I don't know what would have happened, because I'm caught a bit short just now and couldn't pay!"

Nancy thought fast

Nancy said it was all right, that she had been glad to do it, but then she felt hungry and remembered there had been no dinner—and now no breakfast. All because of Mrs. Wilson!

"I was just about to drop out for a bite to eat," her visitor explained, "and seeing you're all alone, I thought you might like to come along."

Nancy remembered the lone 25-cent piece in her purse. "Thank you so kindly, Mrs. Wilson," she answered quickly. "But I'm — I'm not feeling so well this morning. I'll just have a cup of coffee in my room.

About noon she dressed, for Jim was calling for her at one o'clock. What a ravenous appetite she would have.

But one o'clock passed, and no Jim. Nor at 2 or 3, and Nancy's spirits began to give way. Had he, too, chosen to punish her on Christmas?

Downstairs she heard Mr. and Mrs. Groggins welcoming their guests for the day, and she took a vicarious pleasure from it. She heard the dinner bell, the clatter of dishes as they dined, and then the shuffling of chairs as the well filled guests retired to the living room. By that time it was five o'clock and Nancy sat by her window, figuratively biting her fingernails. She was almost hysterical with fear, and she began to worry.

At six o'clock she put on her coat and dashed down the stairs, headed she knew not where. Perhaps to find Jim, perhaps merely to escape her room. She reached the entrance, turned the knob and pulled open the door—and there was Jim, just arriving!

Tearfully she threw herself into his arms, shivering from fright. "Oh, Jim!" she cried. "Where have you been?"

"But didn't you get my message?" he asked. "I had to work in the laboratory this afternoon, and telephoned Mrs. Groggins at 12.30!" His brow was furrowed.

Just then there was a voice behind them. "Miss Bell!" it was Mrs. Groggins. "A message for you. It came just before dinner, but then our guests arrived and I didn't get around to bringing it up."

Nancy took the slip from her hand, wiping away a tear. She heard Jim cursing.

"Let's get out of here, honey," he said, quietly.

A short time later they were dining by candlelight while a string ensemble played soft Christmas music in the background. Jim looked up from his coffee and smiled, then reached out into his pocket.

"There was a big package on your desk at the office," he said softly. "It came today. From your folks, I guess. Too big to carry with me," but maybe this will take its place.

He reached for her left hand, then for the second finger, and at its tip he poised a diamond ring. Then he looked at her, asking assent.

"Yes darling," she said softly. "It's the merriest Christmas ever!"

As it came upon a midnight clear, may the joy of Christmas shine anew in your heart, and its abundant graces enrich your days throughout the coming year.

VICTORIA and GREY TRUST COMPANY
160 FRONT STREET

It was three nights before Christmas and Margaret was packing to go home. Contrary to traditional sentiment, she was not happy about it, for she had planned to stay in New York with Ralph. With considerable forethought she had even planned the day; church in the morning, Christmas dinner with Amy and Bill, a walk down Fifth avenue at twilight, a snack of supper, and the theatre.

But Ralph had been invited to a "swell house party in Philadelphia." Margaret slammed down the top of her suitcase. She could have borne up under a Christmas with a lonely mother, or a widowed sister.

"What about me?" she had longed to cry out, but she had, instead, smiled and said that it was just too marvelous, wonderful meanwhile if Mr. Johnson would let her have an extra day off. Ralph had only to go to Philadelphia, two hours away, while she had no one within 500 miles!

Several hours later she stood on the porch of a white frame house.

Now she was ready, bag in hand, for the midnight train. As she waited for the taxicab, she smoothed her black tailored woolen frock over her slim hips. If New York hadn't been particularly kind to her, it had at least taught her how to dress.

She couldn't sleep on the train. Closing her eyes, she saw the cluttered desk which she had left at Roswell's Advertising agency, and Mr. Johnston's kindly face when he had told her to go home for Christmas. She saw Ralph's desk in the manager's office. Ralph dancing in Philadelphia, Ralph opening Christmas gifts—and just Ralph, with whom she would never again share good times.

There was a three-hour wait for the local train at Pittsburgh, but Margaret was too tired and depressed to leave the station. After buying a magazine featuring an article on men, and an astrological delineation of her birthsign, she settled herself into the practical task of trying to determine her future in this most unpredictable world. Several hours later, not much wiser but much more weary, she stood on the porch of a white frame house.

The door opened and Margaret blinked.

"I win!" shouted Ralph triumphantly. "She came on the midnight train!"

Mrs. Brown rushed out to the hallway and enfolded her daughter in an ample, motherly embrace. "Margaret! Why child, you're a sight! Your face is as black as coal!"

Margaret withdrew herself from her mother's arms and looked at the two of them coolly. "Well, if it isn't asking too much, just what is this? Not a weekend in Philadelphia, I believe!"

Ralph took her bag and magazine and helped her out of her coat. "Don't be like that, Margaret! I bet your mother a box of candy against a mince pie that you'd come down on the midnight train."

"And what, exactly, are you doing here?"

"Margaret!" chided her mother.

"I invited myself. A surprise for you, and then I wanted to talk to your Dad about something . . ." Ralph was awkwardly turning the magazine in his hands. "Jumping fishes," he exclaimed. "Look at the little red book!" He opened it to a centre page and read: "The natives of this sign are more than likely to have short tempers."

"Give it to me!"

Ralph held it tantalizingly out of reach and Margaret stamped her foot. "Ralph Wells," she said, "I come home for a rest and the first thing you do is make fun of me. If I have a complete breakdown it's your fault. Give me that book!"

"There, there," comforted her mother. "You go upstairs and get washed. You'll feel better."

Margaret started up the stairs, then turned in sudden remembrance. "Are you staying over Christmas?" she asked Ralph.

"I had expected to."

"You might as well. There's a dance Christmas eve."

At the top of the steps she turned again. "And don't forget, half of that pie is mine. After all, I did the coming home!"

"Okay."

"She's tickled to death to see you," whispered mother Brown cautiously. She patted his arm, and Ralph understood.

To all our friends, an old-fashioned Christmas wish. May all the joys of the season enrich your heart this day and forever.

FOR YOUR FRIENDLY PATRONAGE DURING THE PAST YEAR!

Doug Preston

Kate Yarrow had so often heard neighbors remark that she would be an old woman before her time, that she had begun to think of herself as quite middle-aged. Actually she was not quite 30, nor had her full days as mistress of the Yarrow household turned her hair gray or her cheeks wan.

Sometimes, since she had taken her mother's place, Kate did think she was imposed upon. But she blamed no one. Her father was generous enough with the money, and she had Martie in the kitchen and old Sam for outside work. But five inconsiderate younger brothers and sisters, a preoccupied father and a grumbling grandfather made a household that required supervision.

Bill did not neglect his privilege

For the past two years, Kate thought, there had really been no Christmas. But this year would be different. The brothers, all in boarding school or college, had accepted invitations to spend the holidays with roommates. One sister was visiting an aunt, and the other had gone south with her exacting but youthful grandfather. And Kate's father was spending the season with a thoroughly capable widow who, it had been whispered, he was considering as a possible second wife.

So as soon as the last member of her brood had faded down the driveway, Kate told Martie and Sam to take a two-day vacation —and then settled back to spend Christmas by herself. She ran into the capacious living room, and with a completely undignified leap planted herself sprawling upon the divan. Everyone but Kate sprawled on that divan. Kate never had time. Now she would begin the Christmas holidays by staying there for hours.

Before dinner-time she donned her best red evening frock and over this her smock. Then she went down to the kitchen to make herself a meal, admiting for the first time that it was rather lonesome in the old house. She heard loud rappings on the old brass knocker, and went to open the door rather timidly.

But her timidity gave way to annoyance. There was her old brother, Tom, who had stated that morning ostensibly to pass the holidays with a group of bachelor friends. And here he was back—with five young men in tow! They were heavily laden, turkey feet protruding from one of the bundles.

"Well, we began talking it over," Tom said, "and decided Christmas at the club would be a frost.

So I asked the fellows to come home with me. I was afraid you wouldn't have things for the feast, so we stopped and got what we thought you'd want. Bill, here, even got mistletoe, though I told him there'd be no pretty girls!"

Then, turning to one of the young men whom Kate had never met, the tactless brother went on. "Bill, this is my sister. Now I'll run along and get the car in the garage. And, sis, you might take the fellows up and show 'em where you want 'em to sleep!"

Bill alone of the young bachelors noted the look of disappointment on Kate's face. Later, after she had prepared an impromptu Christmas eve supper and had laid aside her smock, she heard Bill say from the other end of the table: "I thought Tom said there would be no pretty girls here. Boys, let's drink a toast to Sister Kate!"

It was past midnight that night when Kate left the kitchen. The boys had helped with the dishes under Bill's orders, but there would be pies and puddings to make for the next day and Kate knew she would have her hands full. She was up early to prepare the festive breakfast and all day she worked in the kitchen.

It was late Christmas night when she had finished the last work in the kitchen. As she passed through the hall, Bill stood waiting for her. There, above them, hung the mistletoe —and Bill did not neglect his privilege.

"It isn't just because of the mistletoe," he told Kate, holding her still close to him. "I loved you when I first saw you. It has been outrageous for us to impose on you this way."

"It's all been worthwhile, Bill," Kate replied, "because I've made myself believe that I was doing it all for you—alone!"

Give us the virtues of those who surround you.

Bless us all—
Make us as philosophical as the fisherman,
Carefree as the drummer,
Merry for exploring the world as the troubadour,
Eager for work as the bugler,
Patient as the spinner,
Kind as the ass,
Strong as the ox which keeps you warm.
Give us the sacred leisure of the hunter.
Give us also the desire of the Shepherd for earthly things,
The pride of the trade of the knife grinder and the weaver,
The song of the miller.
Give us the knowledge of the Magi,
The cheerfulness of the pigeon,
The impulsiveness of the cock,
The discretion of the snail,
The meekness of the lamb.
Give us the goodness of bread,
The tenderness of the wild boar,
The salt of the haddock,
The good humor of old wine,
The ardor of the candle,
The purity of a star.
Propriety of a few of the metaphors may be disputed, nevertheless, nostalgia prompts speculation regarding a world of humanity endowed with the virtues so earnestly and innocently enumerated by the little ones.

106-YEAR-OLD CUSTOM

It is only just over 100 years since the Christmas tree custom became popular in Britain, when Prince Albert introduced it from Germany. But in fact is was given to Germany in the first place by the 8th Century English missionary, Boniface, who replaced the pagan sacrifices to Odin's sacred oak by a fir tree adorned in tribute to the Christ child.

Our Most Famous Christmas Trees

Most famous of the nation's Christmas trees are growing on the wooded rolling acres of the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N.Y. Developed as a result of hobby which occupied much of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's spare time, the groves of Yule trees now are scattered on odd patches and parcels of land throughout the estate.

The trees, about 270,000 in number, are principally of Norway spruce, white spruce and Douglas fir, with a few balsams also included.

Although the tree growing was a hobby with the late president, he insisted that the project pay its own way. Consequently about 3,000 to 3,000 trees are marketed every Christmas season.

We're coming your way to wish you a good old-fashioned Merry Christmas abounding in the great gifts of health, happiness and contentment.

WHERE'S Daddy?

By DANIEL F. LINDSAY

Kelly O'Neil walked slowly up the front steps. Her mother watched her from behind the curtain. Being five years old and having a problem had her near tears. She reached up on tip toes and opened the door.

"Kelly, honey. Come in here a minute." Kelly polished the hood of her snow suit back and went into the living room.

"What do you want, Mommie?" She shook her blonde curls free.

"Oh, nothing much," her mother smiled. "I just want to know why my little girl looks so sad?"

"Well, Mommie," she slipped her coat off, "it's that girl down the street."

"Year, dear, what about her?"

Kelly could stand it no longer. She burst into tears and running over laid her head on her mother's lap. "That girl says," she sobbed, "that there isn't any Santa Claus."

"Well, now," her mother leaned down and gently bit the tip of her ear, "who'd ever believe a tale like that?"

"Santa was just coming out"

"You don't believe her?"

"Of course not," she smiled down into the worried blue eyes. "We know there's a Santa Claus."

B-but she said Daddy was him."

"Oh, pooh. Sit down there on the floor and I'll help you get your snow pants off."

"We could ask Daddy," Kelly suggested.

"Yes, we could," she had an inspiration. "Better still we can wait until tomorrow night and see for ourselves."

"We can?" she sat up in surprise.

"Sure. You go to bed just like always then when he comes I'll wake you up."

She got up from the floor all excited. "You mean we can peek?"

"That's just what we'll do."

"George," she turned to husband that evening after had been put to bed, "our d ter has quite a problem."

"Women always have problems," he smiled over his newspaper. "What is it this time?"

"She knows about Santa."

"That's too bad," he pursed his lips, "but what can we do?"

"Get someone to put her toys under the tree while she watches."

"Sure," he laid the paper down, "why couldn't I do it?"

"She heard you were Santa."

He chuckled. "She isn't the only woman in the family who thinks that."

"How about Bob Perkins?" she ignored his attempt at humor. "He's the right build."

"Okay," he agreed, "I'll arrange it in the morning."

"Kelly," her mother shook her gently, "Santa is downstairs."

"He is?" she sat up rubbing her eyes, "He is!"

"Okay," she slipped out of bed and into her slippers. In the early morning light she looked like a tiny blonde elf.

"Put on your robe."

She got it and took her mother's hand. They crept down the stairs. Mommie held her back while she made sure Santa wasn't smoking a cigar. He was placing gifts around the tree. She motioned her to look. Kelly peeked around the corner with big eyes. Then her head darted back.

"Where's daddy?" she asked in a stage whisper.

They heard footsteps on the stairs. Daddy crept down. Kelly peeked around the corner again. Santa was just coming out with an army barracks bag over his shoulder. The three of them ran and hid behind the staircase. As soon as the front door closed Kelly was up the steps like a shot.

"Hey, Sweetheart," Daddy called after her, "he left the toys in the living room." He stopped as he heard his wife's laughter.

"What's the matter with her?" he glared at her suspiciously. "Doesn't she like them?"

"I'm afraid, dear, that you'll never understand the feminine mind."

"What do you mean . . . where's she going?"

"To get her coat."

"Her coat . . . why?"

"She's going down the street to tell the little girl that she's all wet. Because she has just seen Santa in her front room."

The Holy Thorn Of Glastonbury

In honor of the Hawthorn, which legendarily shielded Christ while He rested in the woods before the crucifixion, Joseph of Arimathaea chose a thorn staff when he started on his long journey to Britain shortly after the death of Christ. Arriving at last at his new home in Glastonbury, Joseph stuck his walking stick into the ground; the staff began to grow and soon acquired the habit of producing flowers each Christmas eve.

When Britain adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1753, 2,000 persons assembled at Glastonbury on December 25—new style—to see if the Holy Thorn would bloom in agreement with the new calendar; when it did not, many refused to participate in the usual observances of Christmas. The evil of changing calendars was proven when the thorn blossomed on January 5—Christmas eve —old style—and many ministers in the vicinity of Glastonbury appeased their congregations by announcing that Christmas would be observed according to the old calendar.

A cutting of the Glastonbury thorn was brought to America in 1900 and planted near St. Alban's school in Washington, D.C., by the late Right Rev. Henry Yates Satterlee. The cutting grew into a tree, blossoming for the first time in December, 1918; since then, it has blossomed each year at Christmas time and attracts thousands of visitors annually.

Star of Bethlehem Phenomenon of Age

The Star of Bethlehem has been the subject of extensive research and discussion.

Modern astronomers have considered several natural phenomenon theories without attaching too much weight to any such hypothesis.

Skeptics regard the whole thing as mere invention, colored with Oriental imagery, designed to honor Christ; and faith accepts the star as the supernatural phenomenon which proclaimed the birth of Jesus.

The first chapter of the Gospel according to St. Matthew begins:

"The book of the generations of Jesus Christ, the son of David, the son of Abraham . . ."

And confirming Bethlehem as the city of David, the angel of the Lord declared:

"For unto you is born this day, in the city of David, a Saviour which is Christ the Lord." St. Luke 2:11.

Considering tradition, which accepts that King David's shield formed a six-pointed star, the Star of Bethlehem appropriately " . . . stood over where the young Child was," St. Matthew 2:9.

Edible Manger In Ukraine Rituals

In the Ukraine an elaborate Christmas eve supper breaks a 39-day fast during which no meat has been eaten. Twelve courses are served, one for each of the twelve Apostles: buckwheat and mushroom soup, pancakes in flax, prunes, fish, bread, and nuts are included in the menu.

An additional course of honey prevent sickness, and porridge is also served: called Kouia, the dish represents the holy crib: the porridge represents the straw—as in the manger—and the Holy Infant is symbolized by honey and fruit: the honey is also considered symbolic of the spirit and blood of the Saviour.

Miracle Play In Modern Texas Town

Los Pastores, the hybrid Spanish-Indian miracle play introduced to Mexico centuries ago by Spanish monks and presented in San Antonio during the Christmas season, is enacted primarily for its spirituality.

A group of amateur actors go from house to house by invitation and because it is traditional that no one prompted by idle curiosity should witness the performance, only the initiated can find the scene of presentation.

Usually someone's back yard becomes the stage; the doorsteps serve as background for the Nacimiento. Manger scene: various objects are set on the stairs; pieces of crockery, tinsel, pincushions, patron saints — anything the household considers especially beautiful. In the center of the lowest step, the Christ Child (a life-sized doll placed on a platter with divers gaudy candy) is surrounded by plaster shepherds, dockers, etc.

A test opposite the Nacimiento gives evidence of representing hell: a bonfire has been built within and live devils emerge therefrom.

The play has no definite time for beginning, but finally, a girl starts to walk back and forth reciting. Overdressed shepherds drone a seemingly endless song. Ermilano, the comic relief, carrying a rosary of spools, also represents the soul of its earthly journey and is often accompanied by the white winged Archangel Gabriel.

It is a never-ending performance; seven devils, six in colored black with animal masks and the fork-tailed Lucifer in brilliant red, are finally vanquished; likewise, a wild Indian is overcome and kisses the Christ Child; the shepherds and all in attendance kiss the Child, solemnly and as slowly as possible.

Future Foretold By Drowsy Hens

After a special family Christmas dinner, the girls of the household placed five piles of grain upon the kitchen floor; each pile was given a name, such as Hope, Ring, Money, Thread and Charcoal. A drowsy hen was fetched from the henhouse and allowed to walk around the kitchen floor and choose a pile of grain.

Obviously the hen's choice of Money meant wealth; Ring, foretold a wedding within a year; and Hope, promised the fulfillment of a wish or a long journey. If the sleepy chicken chose the grain designated as Thread, a life of toil was predicted for the marriageable maiden of the household, and Charcoal was considered an omen of death in the family.

Old songs were sung to accompany such goings-on, while the girls and women vied to devise complete stories based on the antics of the hen.

Faith and Peace Are Eternal

Twenty centuries have passed since the Inn at Bethlehem was overcrowded because of Caesar Augustus and his census.

The bigwigs who crowded the inn were committed to oblivion, by their contemporaries and, except for the census and resultant conditions at Bethlehem, it wouldn't matter too much if Augustus completely vanished from the history books.

It is generally immaterial that, as puppet king of Judea, Herod fortified the kingdom and kept it out of the clutches of Cleopatra, rebuilt the city of Samaria, and endowed several pagan temples long since crumbled into dust. Few people know, and fewer care, that his wife and two sons were murdered at his command. This sort of a Romanized Jew is remembered chiefly because of his hypocritical treatment of the Wise Men and because he authorized the slaughter of the Holy Innocents — and even this deed of incredible cruelty might have been forgotten if the innocents were not associated with the Babe of Bethlehem who grew into the Christ and bequeathed a new philosophy of love and peace to all mankind.

Some men question what has been accomplished during the 20 centuries since Bethlehem.

True enough, some of the records have been written with indelible inks of hatred and prejudice and splattered with much blood; but cynics had best not rest their argument too confidently upon the gory records written or provoked by men who either did not know Christ or openly rejected his commands.

On the other hand, the glad tidings announced to a few shepherds at Bethlehem have inspired courage and faith and love such as no earthly decree or proclamation has ever called forth.

Faith and Peace are eternal quests — and twenty centuries are mere fleeting moments of Eternity.

YULE MEANS DECEMBER

The word "Yule" for Christmas comes from the Anglo-Saxon "geol" meaning December.

ANCIENT DECORATION

Houses and public buildings are decorated with holly and mistletoe under whose pale green leaves and milky berries every woman may permissibly be kissed on pain of forfeit. Mistletoe is never included in Church decorations in Britain, however, for in remote pre-Christian times the Druids, priests of Celtic tribes, featured it in their religious festivals.

SANTA CLAUS WILL ONLY V ISIT CHILDREN IN DREAM LAND

'The Night Before Christmas' Written in 1822 by Professor After Shopping for Turkey

Editor's Note: Santa Claus belongs to the ages now, but there was a time and not so long ago when few people would have recognized him, even if they saw him on Christmas Eve. Here is the story of a man who did just that and gained immortality from the meeting.

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Santa Claus came to our town on a cold snowy Christmas Eve in 1822.

Only one man, Dr. Clement Clarke Moore, a professor of Greek and Hebrew at the General Theological Seminary, recognized him. And then only by accident.

Moore, a gentle man of prodigious learning, lived on West 23rd Street in a rambling old mansion overlooking the Hudson River.

If it hadn't been Christmas Eve, a time for geniality and generosity, Moore might have grumbled or pleaded the weather when his wife asked him, late in the evening, to trek down to the market for a turkey.

STORY FOR DAUGHTER

Following a long family tradition, she had been packing Christmas baskets for the poor families and discovered at the last moment that she was one turkey short.

Moore cheerfully set out. The walk might do him good, he decided, give him time to collect his thoughts for the Christmas story he had promised to tell six-year-old Charity, the oldest of his three daughters and his favorite.

She would be waiting up when he got back, and it had better be good.

Moore's previous literary accomplishments, written some years before, had been well received by his fellow scholars but were hardly designed for the family fireside.

But there was nothing in Moore's past to tell him that immortality awaited him that night at the family fireside, that his own grave in Trinity cemetery would be visited each Christmas Eve for decades, maybe centuries—down to 1958 and beyond—by children carrying lanterns and singing carols.

STAR? LIGHT SNOW

Luck was with him. The market was open and the poulterman still had several fat toms hanging on the hooks before his stall. By the time he headed for home, the snow had stopped falling and the winter sky came alive with a million stars.

Moore, an amateur poet, paused for a minute to savor the magic of the moonlight on the frozen Hudson and the dancing shadows it made of the chimney pots on the crisp white snow.

Did a line come to him then?—"the moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below."

At the Jacksonville Inn, where the road from town led up to his estate, Moore met his caretaker, Jan Duychinck, a bearded, jovial Dutchman with a round dimpled face, a short stub of a pipe and an endless fund of stories and legends about little old New York, when it really was little bur hardly old.

They chatted about Christmas and old Dutch customs and, ultimately, St. Nicholas, the fourth-century bishop of myra, who rode through the sky on a horse and upon each Dec. 6, hit feast day, bringing gifts for good little Dutch children and birch rods for those who had been bad.

It was a familiar legend. Washington Irving had written about it several years before, and children of English stock in the city had borrowed portions of it for their own Christmas ritual.

FERTILE IMAGINATION

The gentle professor conjured up a totally different picture of the gift-bringing saint. In Moore's imagination, St. Nick was fat and jolly—like an Dutchman—and rode down the star-ways in a wonderful miniature sleigh drawn by eight tiny reindeer.

Home in his study, Moore took quill in hand and began to write the story he had promised his children and the whimsical lines that would make him famous:

"'Twas the night before Christmas, when all through the house not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse . . ."

In less than an hour he was finished.

A friend of the family, who heard the poem read that night in the Moore household, sent a copy of it to the editor of the Troy, N.Y, Sentinel, where it was published for the first time the following year with the title A Visit from St. Nicholas.

ONE HOUR'S WORK

But it was 11 years before it appeared in print under Moore's name and, after years of arduous scholarship, he gained a lasting fame with the trifle of an hour's work.

The poem has since been translated into nearly every known language, it remains today the most popular poem ever written in America.

But before sunset next Monday afternoon, Christmas eve, a procession of children will wind its way from the beautiful Chapel of Intercession in uptown Manhattan to the grave of Dr. Clement Clarke Moore, the man who first gave Santa Claus to New York and, inevitably, to the world.

Santa Claus has his eye on you and you'd better go to bed early on Christmas Eve so that he can fill your stocking. If you stay up too late, he is likely to pass you by for other little boys and girls who are dreaming of him. (Central Press Canadian).

Sense of Crisis in Britain Does Not Seem to Dampen Enthusiasm for Christmas

LONDON (CP) — Christmas bells will ring over a troubled Britain but the sense of crisis still doesn't seem to dampen the seasonal enthusiasm. Yuletide, 1956, has all the usual trappings.

Poultry is plentiful and prices are generally lower than in previous post-war years. Grocers promise supplies, particularly provided there is no last - minute "hoarding" of foodstuffs.

Rumors that the closing of the Suez Canal would cut off Christmas tangerines from Spain proved foogied. The only gastronomic shortage likely are for certain spieces and the ever-popular tea. Most other oriental items are resold round the Cape of Good Hope, were in stock early, but almonds have gone up in price by a high of 14 shillings a pound. Raisins and dates are also affected.

CUT IN GASOLINE

Just how the festivities will be affected by gasoline rationing and the sudden jump in prices is hard to foresee. Many mobile-owning families often take advantage of the holidays to go to get distant relations. The 200-to-3-month quota will certainly restrict these activities.

Wines are plentiful. Prices and choices vary from the eight-shilling bottle of Spanish white to a 30-shilling bottle of choice Bordeaux red. Rum, whisky and gin are still around 35s a 24-ounce bottle.

Canadian and American whiskies, previously subject to a token quota, will be in good evidence. The government announced in January that North American whiskies may be imported in any quantity.

Christmas decorations have changed little in the streets. Department stores gaily-colored Chinese lanterns made of parchment and clusters of multi-colored balloons. Giant models of Santa Claus and his reindeer loom on the entrances of department stores.

TOYS PLENTIFUL

Inside, things are just as bright. In the children's department toys cater for various tastes, including the newest developments in space - man outfits. Model trains, those in which boys seem still command a strong hold on the young and young-at-heart.

Little miss isn't forgotten either.

Elaborate dolls store dolcfully at unraptured youngsters. Carefully constructed dolls' houses in the windows display the last word in interior decoration. For the mother who wants to please her daughter into household chores, there are the "useful" toys—the miniature tea sets, pots, pans and flat irons.

Around the London footlights the curtain goes up on some 40 plays, there are more pantomimes, two circuses and a varied selection of ballet, opera and classical concerts.

If father wants to escape the celebrations there is no alternative.

In Scotland the main part of the celebrations come with the new year. Hogmanay is the Scotsman's holiday.

SHIFT TO TOWNS

Roughly two-thirds of Sweden's population now live in urban districts, against less than one-sixth a century ago.

Who Were The Wise Men Of The East?

By LES ARMOUR

Certain wise men of the East, following a star, and bearing gifts, St. Matthew records their appearance at Bethlehem simply, factually, without embroidery. But he tells us nothing else about them — except that they were Magi.

And there one of the great mysteries of history begins.

There are only temporary records of their appearance. St. Luke despite the mass of detail in his account of Christ's birth, does not mention them.

St. Matthew does not even tell us how many of them there were or what it was they brought with them. Clearly, they had come to do homage to Christ. But where had they come from? East must mean, at least, east of the Jordan; though at that time, "east" was taken to include even Arabia.

The fact that they were Magi is not much help, however, because the term by then was ambiguous. Throughout the Roman empire it had come to mean only a band of fraudulent fortune-telling astrologers. Farther east, however, it meant certain wise disciples of Zoroaster in Persian prospect and founder of one of the East's major religions) who, thought they were indeed astrologers, were highly thought of as scholars and as disciples of a noble religion.

Scholars take it that St. Matthew referred to the latter meaning because he obviously spoke of them with respect and did not intend his readers to take them to be frauds, or even simple fortune - tellers, say, that they were men of substance and integrity.

They also take it, therefore, that "east" meant somewhere in the direction of Persia.

There, however, they feel oblized to drop their speculations on St. Matthew's text.

SCHOLARS DISAGREE

And there the sceptics step in. Surely, they say, it is strange that St. Matthew was alone in recording the appearance of the wise men. Surely it is natural that, long after the events, stories of strange and almost miraculous occurrences should have grown up around the birth of Christ and it would not have been unusual for someone in question.

St. Matthew's position to have mistaken a harmless myth for fact.

The scholars, however, do not agree with the sceptics. The Rev. Edward Hayes Plumptre, Professor of Divinity at King's College, nineteenth century, went into the subject thoroughly and became the acknowledged expert on the mysterious wise men.

He concluded that St. Matthew couldn't have been taken in by a myth because the myths of the period were clearly distinguishable as such. They were highly embroidered, fanciful tales full of miracu lous and fogical absurdities.

Beside them, St. Matthew's straightforward, unvarnished account stands out sharply.

Furthermore, he says, there are reasons for the non-appearance of the report in any other history. Most of the records of the last tumultous years of Herod's reign were destroyed. And St. Luke, the other historian in whose work one would expect to find the reference, probably saw Matthew's gfraseiie before he wrote his own. There is evidence that he endeavored to supplement rather than to repeat what Matthew had written.

But what about later tradition which holds that the wise men were three in number, that they names were Caspar, Melchoir and Balthazar, and that they brought gold, frankincense and myrrh?

Prof. Plumptre, and all the scholars who have followed, were sceptical.
